Whereas, The legislation would amend the Small Business Act and establish a credit union outreach program for the purposes of increasing credit union participation in the 7(a) loan program; and

Whereas, According to a recent report by the United States Small Business Administration's Office of Advocacy, small business loans issued by credit unions under $1 million have risen substantially over the last decade when compared to total loans issued by both community banks and commercial banks; and

Whereas, Credit unions are filling a critical void in the marketplace for small businesses which are the business lifeline of New York City; now, therefore, be it
