Proposed Int. No. 80-A

By Council Members Gioia, Gentile, Nelson, Sanders Jr., Stewart, Weprin and Liu

A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to registering private ATM machines.

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Legislative declaration.

The Council finds that acts of identity theft are plaguing New Yorkers. Federal Trade Commission statistics indicate that identity theft is the single most common consumer fraud complaint in the nation. The Federal Trade Commission reported that between 1998 and 2003, 27.3 million Americans were wronged by identity theft. Nationwide, identity theft costs businesses and consumers roughly $50 billion per year. In New York City in 2003, there were more than 10,000 reported victims of identity theft. New York City has the ninth highest per capita incidence of identity theft among major metropolitan areas nationwide, and approximately two-thirds of the reported cases of identity theft in New York State originate in New York City.

Identity thieves are constantly developing new methods to harm consumers. One disturbingly easy method of obtaining personal identifying and financial information involves “skimming,” or swiping an Automated Teller Machine (“ATM”) card or credit card in a device programmed to steal the data encoded in the card. Skimming is often accomplished with a hand-held device or through an instrument installed in a seemingly innocuous ATM. A significant cause of the problem is that, unlike bank-operated ATMs, private ATMs located in places such as grocery stores, nightclubs and gas stations are not regulated by federal or state law, and therefore are vulnerable to manipulation by unscrupulous machine operators or third parties. In addition, because no permit is required for private ATMs, their operators are currently largely untraceable and law enforcement efforts to investigate potential sources of identity and monetary theft are severely handicapped.

In 2003, approximately $1 trillion was transacted through the country’s approximately 375,000 Automated Teller Machines. Of that $1 trillion, roughly $50 million was stolen. A recent City Council investigation found that there are more than 1,500 unlicensed, unregistered and unregulated ATMs in New York City’s delicatessens and convenience stores alone, and that private ATMs can be leased for as little as $75 a month and purchased for as little as $1,000.

The Council finds that legislation requiring the registration of private ATMs, which are those leased to many businesses throughout the city but not regulated by the state or federal governments, would enable law enforcement to better monitor their use and would deter the manipulation of these machines by wrongdoers. County governments in the New York City area have enacted similar legislation.

§2. The administrative code of the City of New York is amended by adding a new subchapter 13 to chapter 4 of title 20 to read as follows:

SUBCHAPTER 13

AUTOMATED TELLER MACHINES

§20-699.7 Definitions.

§20-699.8 Registering private ATMs.

§20-699.9 Terms; Applicable fees.

§20-699.10 Requirements for registered ATMs.

§20-699.11 Contracts between ATM distributors and operators.

§20-699.12 Electronic fund transfers.

§20-699.13 Exemptions.

§20-699.14 Banking regulations.

§20-699.15 Penalties.

§20-699.7 Definitions. Whenever used in this subchapter:
