INVOCATION

The Invocation was delivered by Venerable Youwang, spiritual leader and Executive Director of the International Buddhist Progress Society, located at 154-37 Barclay Avenue, Flushing, NY 11355.

Good afternoon.

Thank you Council Members and guests.

Thank you for inviting me to provide this Invocation for this new year.

Tomorrow, Friday February 12th is the Lunar New Year.

The year of [the] Ox.

I hope this prayer includes a wonderful new year for all of us.

May I tell you about the Buddha, our Teacher?

He was a very wise man in much of what he shared with us.

It's common in the spirits of all faiths:

that is to be kind to one another,

to do no harm to one another and the world and to help relieve suffering.

Now, more than ever, we need to remember these shared beliefs.

The COVID-19 pandemic has devastated much of our world but we believe that New York City will stand resilient and emerge stronger through these challenges.

Let us now pray in Buddha's name and the name of your spiritual leaders.

Today, we ask the Buddha's wisdom to help guide our community leaders;

to use wisdom to govern

in the conflicting interests in the issue of our times;

to know the true sense of the welfare and needs of people in our community;

to understanding the importance of justice for all,

old and young, rich and poor, black and white and all shades in between;

to protect our natural resources, understanding that all citizens, and in fact,

all sentient beings are dependent upon open spaces, pure water and clean air;

who have the ability to work together in harmony

even when there is honest disagreement.

Let us pray that this body deliberates in a manner that is without ill will that brings comfort to the citizens and progress to the community.
 That all decisions are made with foresight and deep understanding of the needs of all citizens.
 And that this body leads the community in the manner that celebrates our diversity, understanding that we are all interconnected;
 that our welfare and happiness are dependent upon respect and the acceptance of all people, no matter their race, religion,
 sexual orientation, in their original home.
 Leadership requires the courage to make difficult, and at times, unpopular decisions.
 May our Council members have courage to lead our community today and always.
 May our leaders find personal peace and joy in their public responsibilities by helping others and assuring a bright future for all.
 We offer this verse penned by Venerable Master Hsing Yun, our founder of [international] monastic order.

[speaking in foreign language]

“May kindness, compassion, joy and equanimity pervade all worlds;
 may we cherish and build affinities to benefit all beings;
 may Chan, Pure Land, and Precepts inspire equality and patience;
 may our humility and gratitude give rise to great vows”.
 At last, I would like to use our venerable Master Hsing Yun’s blessing for this year, “Cultivate our hearts that blooms all seasons”.
 Thank you very much for having me.

Council Member Koo moved to spread the Invocation in full upon the record.

During the Communication from the Speaker segment of this meeting, the Speaker (Council Member Johnson) acknowledged that the number of coronavirus deaths in New York City had reached 27,949 as of February 10, 2021. He noted that it was important to ensure that the COVID-19 vaccines were distributed equitably as more and more New Yorkers become eligible. He also urged everyone to continue to remain vigilant and to work together in fighting this virus.

During the Communication from the Speaker segment of this meeting, the Speaker (Council Member Johnson) asked for a Moment of Silence in memory of the following individuals:

NYPD Sgt. William Brautigam passed away on January 31, 2021 at the age of 47 due to complications from 9/11-related illnesses. On behalf of the Council, the Speaker (Council Member Johnson) offered his thoughts and prayers to his family and noted that Sgt. Brautigam's bravery would forever be appreciated.

Legendary actress Cicely Tyson passed away on January 28, 2021 at the age of 96. The Speaker (Council Member Johnson) noted that Ms. Tyson was a daughter of Harlem whose accomplishments made New York City proud. He added that she embodied a level of grace that was unmatched and she dared to refuse roles that demeaned black women. He acknowledged that her legacy would not be forgotten.

Journalistic photographer Corky Lee passed away on January 27, 2021 at the age of 72. The Speaker (Council Member Johnson) noted that Mr. Lee not only captured the intricacies of life for Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders in New York City but also involved himself in correcting history. He added that Mr. Lee's work had helped ensure that their stories were heard and amplified through the power of photography. On behalf of the Council, the Speaker (Council Member Johnson) offered his thoughts and prayers to his loved ones.

The Speaker (Council Member Johnson) asked for a Moment of Silence in memory of the individuals named above and in memory of those who had lost their lives to COVID-19.

At this point, a Moment of Silence was observed.

REPORTS OF THE STANDING COMMITTEESReport of the Committee on Environmental Protection

Report for Int. No. 1592-A

Report of the Committee on Environmental Protection in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to the transfer of land, buildings and facilities of Rikers Island to the department of citywide administrative services

The Committee on Environmental Protection, to which the annexed proposed amended local law was referred on June 13, 2019 (Minutes, page 2208), respectfully

REPORTS:I. INTRODUCTION

On February 11, 2021, the Committee on Environmental Protection, chaired by Council Member Costa Constantinides, voted on Int. No. 1592-A, in relation to the transfer of land, buildings and facilities of Rikers Island; Int. No. 1593-A, in relation to a feasibility study of renewable energy and battery storage on Rikers Island; and Int. No. 1966-A, in relation to a pilot program to test sewage for SARS-CoV-2.

The Committee previously held a hearing on Int. No. 1592-A and Int. No. 1593-A on January 29, 2020 and received testimony from the New York City Mayor's Office of Sustainability, Mayor's Office of Resiliency, Department of Environmental Protection, utility companies, decarceration advocates, environmental and climate justice experts and interested members of the public. The Committee previously held a hearing on Int. No. 1966-A on October 26, 2020 and received testimony from the Department of Environmental Protection and wastewater infrastructure experts. More information about this legislation is available with the materials for these hearings, which can be accessed online at <https://on.nyc.gov/3tC2UhD> and <https://on.nyc.gov/3p3eaA1>.

II. INT. NO. 1592-A

Int. No. 1592-A would establish a process for the transferring of the land, buildings and facilities of Rikers Island from the Department of Correction to the Department of Citywide Administrative Services. In biannual evaluations, any portion not in active use for the housing of persons, or providing of services for such persons, would be so transferred, with the entirety being transferred no later than August 31, 2027. The bill provides examples of some such active uses, which may also have and require attendant operational and management functions that are necessary to safely provide housing for incarcerated persons, and direct services to such persons, on Rikers Island. Additionally, the legislation establishes a Rikers Island Advisory Committee, consisting of relevant commissioners, persons impacted by Rikers, and experts in environmental justice and sustainability, which would evaluate and provide recommendations on potential uses of the island for sustainability and resiliency purposes. Such recommendations may be made at any date after its initial meeting. Additionally, as there is no current specific plan for the future use of Rikers Island and in order to encourage informed deliberation on future possible uses, the bill would require that within three years the advisory committee submit recommendations that include at least three options for prospective uses of Rikers Island that the advisory committee recommends be considered for further study or possible implementation. This local law would take effect immediately.

III. INT. NO. 1593-A

Int. No. 1593-A would require that a feasibility study be conducted as an appendix to the long-term energy plan, to ascertain whether different types of renewable energy sources, combined with battery storage, are feasible on Rikers Island. The long-term energy plan, as amended by Local Law 99 of the year 2019, was to be completed by December 31, 2021, but this legislation would extend that date to June 30, 2020, in order to incorporate the feasibility study required by this legislation as an appendix to the initial long-term energy plan. This local law would take effect immediately.

IV. INT. NO. 1966-A

Int. No. 1966-A would require the Commissioner of Environmental Protection, in consultation with the Commissioner of Health and Mental Hygiene, to create a pilot program to test the city's wastewater treatment plants for the presence of SARS-CoV-2, the strain of coronavirus that causes COVID-19, and submit a report with the results of the program. This local law would take effect immediately.

V. UPDATE

On February 11, 2021, the Committee adopted Int. No. 1592-A, Int. No. 1593-A, and Int. No. 1966-A by a vote of four in the affirmative, zero in the negative. Accordingly, the Committee recommends the adoption of this legislation.

Int. No. 1966-A

By Council Members Constantinides, Powers, Kallos, Yeger, D. Diaz and Ayala.

A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to creating a pilot program to test sewage for SARS-CoV-2

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Chapter 5 of title 24 of the administrative code of the city of New York is amended by adding a new section 24-531 to read as follows:

§ 24-531 Wastewater testing program. a. Definitions. For the purposes of this section, the following terms have the following meanings:

PCR using N1 Primer. The term “PCR using N1 Primer” means the measurement of the copies of the targeted viral RNA segment in a wastewater sample using a polymerase chain reaction based method.

SARS-CoV-2. The term “SARS-CoV-2” means severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2, which is the strain of coronavirus that causes the disease COVID-19.

Wastewater-based epidemiology. The term “wastewater-based epidemiology” means the chemical analysis of pollutants, viruses and biomarkers in raw wastewater to obtain qualitative and quantitative data on disease activity among inhabitants within a given wastewater catchment.

b. The commissioner, in consultation with the commissioner of health and mental hygiene, shall establish a pilot sampling program to quantify the levels of SARS-CoV-2 RNA in sewage at each city wastewater treatment plant in accordance with this section. Such sampling program shall occur on a frequency of no less than twice per week and shall include, but not be limited to, the measurement of the number of copies of SARS-CoV-2 RNA through the PCR using N1 Primer testing method or another testing method that reflects industry best practices.

c. The duration of such pilot sampling program shall be no less than six months and the commissioner, in consultation with the commissioner of health and mental hygiene, shall collect sewage samples in an amount necessary to measure the copies of SARS-CoV-2 RNA.

d. No later than January 31, 2022, the commissioner shall submit to the mayor and speaker of the council a report, which shall include, but not be limited to the following:

1. Results of sampling, disaggregated by the site where the sample was collected, date sample was collected, and date sample was tested, in order to monitor the leading indicators of increases or decreases in COVID-19 presence in each drainage area throughout the study;

2. The total cost of such pilot program;

3. Analysis of the effectiveness of the pilot program in testing for SARS-CoV-2;

4. Recommendations to expand the pilot program to include sampling at manhole sites and pumping stations if wastewater-based epidemiology detects SARS-CoV-2 in an amount, as determined by the commissioner of health and mental hygiene, that indicates a localized concentration of COVID-19;

5. Recommendations to extend the pilot program for up to an additional six months if more testing is necessary, as determined by the commissioner, in consultation with the commissioner of health and mental hygiene;

6. A plan for weekly testing at each city wastewater treatment plant if the commissioner of health and mental hygiene or state commissioner of health declares that the incidence of SARS-CoV-2 is appropriate for such action or if the centers for disease control and prevention issues a SARS-CoV-2 pandemic declaration;

7. Recommendations to use a sequencing testing method other than PCR using N1 Primer to test samples, if the commissioner determines that such additional testing method is beneficial; and

8. Recommendations for making the pilot program permanent.

e. The information required by paragraph 1 of subdivision d of this section shall be maintained on the website of the city.

§ 2. This local law takes effect immediately.

COSTA G. CONSTANTINIDES, Chairperson; STEPHEN T. LEVIN, CARLOS MENCHACA, DARMA V. DIAZ, Committee on Environmental Protection, February 11, 2021 (Remote Hearing).

II. BACKGROUND

a. 311 Overview

The 311 Customer Service Center (“311”) is a citywide program providing non-emergency government services to New York City residents, visitors, and businesses.¹ 311 is housed within the Department of Information Technology & Telecommunications (“DoITT”), the agency responsible for providing information technology, infrastructure, and telecommunications services to City agencies, boards, and offices. 311 was first launched in 2003 as a call center.² Prior to its establishment by former Mayor Michael Bloomberg, the City relied on approximately 40 agency help lines and a general mayoral phone line, almost all of which were folded into 311.³ Today, 311 is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, via multiple channels.⁴

In Fiscal Year 2020, 311 received over 21 million calls, a more than 10 percent increase over the year before.⁵ In addition, over 420,000 text messages were sent to 311, representing an increase of 68 percent.⁶ About 2.2 million inquiries were made via the 311 mobile app, and the 311 website had approximately 10.5 million visits.⁷ The average wait time for a 311 caller was one minute and 38 seconds during peak hours, and one minute and three seconds during off-peak hours.⁸ From March 13 to April 16—during the peak of first wave of the COVID-19 pandemic in New York City—311 received more than 180,000 calls per day, and average wait times were significantly longer: six minutes and 38 seconds during peak hours, and four minutes and 27 seconds during off-peak hours.⁹

b. Agency service level agreements

A customer contact with 311 generally generates either a service request, when the customer is seeking a City agency to take an action, or an informational request, when the customer has a question regarding a City service.¹⁰ There are datasets for both types of requests on the City’s Open Data portal.¹¹ Once a customer makes a complaint or request, a unique number is generated which is shared with the customer and can be used to track the resolution of the case.¹² Service requests are submitted to appropriate City agencies, based on complaint type.¹³

Service level agreements (“SLAs”) outline the time frame within which an agency is expected to respond to a particular service request.¹⁴ Some SLAs are as short as an hour while others can span several days, depending on the severity of the threat to public safety.¹⁵ 311 communicates this information to customers so they have an expectation for when the service request will be fulfilled. However, 311 is unable to follow an agency’s workflow for each request. It relies on each agency to document a clear resolution for each request and mark each request as closed.¹⁶

During a Committee oversight hearing on February 4, 2019, the Departments of Environmental Protection (“DEP”), Buildings (“DOB”), Finance (“DOF”), Health and Mental Hygiene (“DOHMH”), Transportation (“DOT”) and Housing Preservation and Development (“HPD”), and the Taxi and Limousine Commission (“TLC”), each testified to how they prioritize and respond to disparate requests relayed by 311.¹⁷ Each agency has numerous complaint types, each with an assigned response time under an SLA. For example, DEP has 123 unique complaint types, DOB has nearly 100 and HPD has more than 150.¹⁸ Agencies testified that the majority of service requests are responded to within the time provided in their SLAs.¹⁹ However, not all are responded to in a timely fashion. For example, DOF reported that 67 percent of its requests were closed within the SLA timeframe in Fiscal Year 2018.²⁰ DOHMH reported that it responded to rodent complaints within its 10-business day SLA target 81 percent of the time.²¹

Both 311 representatives and members of the public can look up the status of a request if they have the corresponding service request number, and can see the SLA deadline for that request.²² Tracking service requests

a. Satisfaction surveys

During the Council’s January 2019 oversight hearing, 311 testified that it conducts an annual, 25-question customer satisfaction survey through a vendor.²⁵ 311 conducts four additional in-house surveys using a Likert scale,²⁶ which is a type of rating scale used to capture more nuanced responses to questions than the simple binary “yes” or “no.”²⁷ These surveys were conducted entirely in English, with results showing generally high levels of customer satisfaction with 311 service. In Fiscal Year 2019, 311 reported that a customer satisfaction survey of 765 callers conducted by CFI Group, Inc. gave 311 a “composite score of 84,” which is reportedly “on par with the best performers in the private sector.”²⁸

However, Council Member Koo, then-chair of the Council Committee on Technology, expressed some skepticism towards the results of 311’s surveys, contending that a survey that does not capture the feedback and criticism of non-English users would not accurately represent the customer satisfaction of all 311 users.²⁹ In response, 311 Executive Director Morrisroe said 311 could look at how it can expand its survey capability to languages other than English.³⁰

III. LEGISLATIVE ANALYSIS

Int. No. 374-A

Int. No. 374-A (Brannan) would disqualify any person who has been convicted of certain felonies that relate to public corruption and depriving the public of honest services from being elected to, or holding, the offices of Mayor, Public Advocate, Comptroller, Borough President, or Council Member. The felonies included are grand larceny (if the property stolen included public funds), theft or bribery concerning programs receiving federal funds, making false statements in violation of section 1001 of title 18 of the U.S. Code (if committed through the use of, or in connection with, the elected office held by the person at the time of commission), wire and mail fraud, interference with commerce by threats or violence, and felony attempt or conspiracy to commit any of the aforementioned felonies. Under the bill, convictions that have been vacated or pardoned under state or federal law would not prevent a person from being elected to, or holding, office.

This bill would take effect immediately.

Int. No. 1525-B

Int. No. 1525-B (Koo) would require 311 to conduct at least five customer satisfaction surveys annually and would mandate that each survey be offered in the ten “designated citywide languages,” as determined by data from the United States Census Bureau and the NYC Department of Education.³¹ The bill would also require the Department of Information Technology and Telecommunications to submit an annual report to the Council Speaker and the Mayor containing the results of any such survey, disaggregated by the language in which the survey was conducted.

This bill would take effect 90 days after becoming law.

Int. No. 1830-A

Int. No. 1832-B (Cabrera) would require 311 to post each agency’s SLAs on the Open Data portal, provide a link to such posting on the 311 website, and maintain a separate page on the 311 website providing general background information on SLAs.

This bill would take effect 120 days after becoming law.

REPORTS:

I. INTRODUCTION

On February 11, 2021, the Committee on Health, chaired by Council Member Mark Levine, held a hearing on Introduction Number 2064-A (Int. 2064-A). The legislation was previously heard at a joint hearing of this Committee with the Committee on Women and Gender Equity, chaired by Council Member Helen Rosenthal, on October 28, 2020, at which the Committee received testimony from the New York City (NYC) Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DOHMH), the NYC Commission on Gender Equity (CGE), advocacy groups, health professionals and other interested parties. On February 11, 2021, the Committee passed this legislation by a vote of seven in the affirmative, zero in the negative, and zero abstentions.

II. BACKGROUND

Reproductive Health

Reproductive health, broadly defined, refers to the health and social conditions of human reproductive systems during all life stages.¹ This includes, but is not limited to:

- Family planning services and counseling, terminating a pregnancy (also known as abortion), birth control, emergency contraception, sterilization and pregnancy testing;
- Fertility-related medical procedures;
- Sexual health education;
- Access to medical services and information; and
- Sexually transmitted disease prevention, testing and treatment.²

While this Committee Report adopts a broader definition in the interest of understanding the full spectrum of issues relating to reproductive health, it should be noted and is perhaps not surprising that many definitions of reproductive health focus more narrowly on addressing the reproductive health needs of women.³ These definitions include, but are not limited to, those addressing reproductive decisions—whether a woman seeks to reproduce or avoid reproduction, the impact of the process of reproduction on health and the associated issues related to a woman’s autonomy, privacy and agency over such decisions.⁴

The World Health Organization (WHO) identifies 17 “Reproductive Health Indicators” which further provide a framework for assessing the state of reproductive health.⁵ These WHO indicators include:

1. The total fertility rate;
2. Contraceptive prevalence;
3. The maternal mortality ratio;
4. The percentage of women attended by health personnel during pregnancy;
5. The percentage of births attended by skilled health personnel;
6. The number of facilities with basic obstetric care;
7. The number of facilities with comprehensive obstetric care;
8. The perinatal mortality rate;
9. The percentage of live births with low birth weight;
10. The positive syphilis serology in pregnant women;
11. The percentage of anemia in pregnant women;
12. The percentage of obstetric admissions owing to abortion;
13. The percentage of women with genital cutting, also known as female genital mutilation or female circumcision (“FGM/C”)⁶;
14. The percentage of women who report trying for a pregnancy for two years or more;
15. The incidence of urethritis in men;
16. HIV prevalence in pregnant women; and
17. Knowledge of HIV-prevention practices.⁷

Research has shown that deficiencies in these indicators are largely conditions that can be alleviated with a combination of better access to health services, improvement in economic and social conditions and increased protections for those seeking reproductive health care services.⁸ Accordingly, in recent years, important measures have been established at the federal, state and local levels to ensure that the right to receive reproductive health services are protected, a process often referred to as reproductive justice.⁹ Generally speaking, reproductive justice seeks to ensure reproductive rights,¹⁰ or the rights of individuals to have access to sexual and reproductive healthcare and autonomy in sexual and reproductive decision-making.¹¹ The Council currently provides approximately $1.3 million in discretionary funding for a range of services related to reproductive and sexual health services.¹²

⁶ Note: This paper utilizes the term “female genital cutting,” rather than “female genital mutilation” to give deference to the affected women and girls, often migrants, who live in the midst of a dominant discourse categorizing them as “mutilated” and sexually disfigured. While “female circumcision” is another common term, “female genital mutilation” is also referenced in recognition of the fact that it is the most commonly used term, including in terms of usage in legislation and treaties. Further, while this paper also utilizes the acronym FGC, FGM is also often shortened to FGM/C in recognition of updated and current language. See S. Johnsdotter, The Impact of Migration on Attitudes to Female Genital Cutting and Experiences of Sexual Dysfunction Among Migrant Women with FGC, 10(1) CURRENT SEXUAL HEALTH REPORTS 18-24 (2018), available at <https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC5840240/>; S. III. ISSUES AND CONCERNS

a. Contraception / Non-Surgical & Long-Acting Reversible Contraceptives (LARC)

Long Acting Reversible Contraception refers to several FDA-approved methods of birth control that are intended to last for at least several years without requiring any user action (such as taking a daily pill).¹³ Long Acting Reversible Contraceptive (LARC) methods include intrauterine contraceptives, implants, and injections, and are considered the most effective form of birth control in preventing unwanted pregnancy, beside abstinence.¹⁴ Despite its efficacy, only 5.8% of adolescents and women ages 15–19 have ever used a LARC method, with 3% ever using an IUD and 2.8% ever using a contraceptive implant.¹⁵ Some barriers to use of LARC methods by young women and adolescents include lack of familiarity or understanding about LARCs, lack of access, low parental acceptance, high costs of initiation, and obstetrician–gynecologists’ and other health care providers’ misconceptions about the safety of LARC use in adolescents.¹⁶ When cost barriers were eliminated and the LARC method was explained, research found that more than two thirds of females aged 14–20 years chose a LARC method.¹⁷

In May 2016, then Speaker Melissa Mark-Viverito published the Young Women’s Initiative (YWI) Report and Recommendations.¹⁸ One of the recommendations in the report was to “create a dedicated fund for access to contraceptives, including long-acting reversible contraception (LARC), which incorporates culturally relevant counseling, focuses on patient choice and integrates age- and developmentally-appropriate support for young people.”¹⁹ At the time of this announcement, of the 145 School Based Health Centers (SBHCs) serving over 345 schools in the five boroughs of New York City, only 50 high school sites provided comprehensive reproductive health services including “on-site dispensing of hormonal and long-acting reversible contraception.”²⁰ At around the same time, DOHMH began a “#MaybethelUD campaign” to promote LARC methods as an accessible option for young people wanting to prevent unwanted pregnancy.²¹ The YWI fund utilized Colorado’s privately-funded Colorado Family Planning Initiative as a model.²² In total, the fund set aside $365,000 to provide LARCs at no cost to clients who were uninsured, ineligible for Medicaid, or otherwise lacking the resources to pay out of pocket.²³ Funding was used to cover applicable LARC service fees or to purchase LARCs, using the Title X Family Planning Program, the 340B Drug Pricing Program, and any other cost-saving programs available.²⁴

Currently, DOHMH maintains several health clinics centered on patient sexual health, immunization, and Tuberculosis (TB) services.²⁵ The Department’s eight sexual health clinics provide low- to no-cost services for sexually transmitted infections (STIs), and accept all types of insurance, including:

- Medicare Part B
- Fee-for-Service Medicaid

Additionally, if an interested party has no health insurance or cannot pay the fee, they may still receive health services through these clinics.²⁷ Currently, due to the COVID-19 pandemic, these sexual health clinics are only serving patients at a reduced capacity, as sites are being utilized for COVID testing.²⁸

b. Breastfeeding

In 2018, the City Council passed Local Law 185, which requires employers covered by the Human Rights Law to provide lactation rooms, as well as refrigerators, in reasonable proximity to work areas for the purposes of expressing and storing breast milk,²⁹ and Local Law 186, which requires employers in the City to establish, and distribute to all new employees, policies describing lactation room accommodations, including the process by which an employee can request such accommodation.³⁰ Additionally, Local Law 186 requires the NYC Commission on Human Rights to establish and make available a model lactation room accommodation policy.³¹

These laws, which went into effect in March 2019, expand the rights of working mothers in the workplace.³² This includes acknowledgement of workplace barriers to expressing breast milk, including allowing for milk expression in the work schedule, accommodations to express and store milk, and workplace support.³³ While efforts to improve breastfeeding practices are often stymied by a lack of information, cultural and family traditions, and stigmatization of women in public places and at the workplace, studies consistently show that breast milk is generally safe, clean and includes antibodies,³⁴ and that breastfed children are more likely to survive and thrive.³⁵ Moreover, breastmilk substitutes constitute a $70 billion industry dominated by a few American and European companies, and increasing breastfeeding rates for infants younger than six months of age to 90 percent in the U.S. could save the American healthcare systems at least $2.45 billion.³⁶

According to DOHMH, breastfeeding rates differ by race/ethnicity, poverty, neighborhood poverty and age in NYC.³⁷ As such, the City has been working to promote breastfeeding through several initiatives, including a Baby Café in Brownsville, Brooklyn, to provide spaces for pregnant and breastfeeding mothers to meet other parents and to learn from lactation consultants on staff, the compilation of an online accessible breastfeeding

c. Unnecessary and Harmful Medical Procedures: Preventing Surgeries on Intersex Youth

People who are intersex are born with sex characteristics that do not fit typical binary notions of male or female bodies.⁴⁰ Intersex is an umbrella term used to describe a wide range of natural bodily variations, including variations concerning one's genitals, gonads, and chromosome patterns.⁴¹ Intersex traits can be visible at birth, become apparent at puberty, or may not be physically apparent at all.⁴² According to estimates listed by the United Nations, between 0.05 percent and 1.7 percent of the population is born with intersex traits.⁴³

Children born with variations in their sex characteristics are often subjected to "normalizing" surgeries that are irreversible, risky, and medically unnecessary.⁴⁴ Such procedures can cause permanent infertility, pain, incontinence, loss of sexual sensation, and lifelong mental suffering, including depression.⁴⁵ The surgeries are often performed when the child is too young to consent.⁴⁶ Despite their risks and lack of medical necessity, surgeries continue today, including in New York City.⁴⁷ There is much advocacy around promoting education and awareness of the harms of such surgeries, resulting in more medical professionals and institutions condemning the practice, as well as cities and states attempting to outlaw the surgeries outright.⁴⁸

d. Female Genital Cutting

Female Genital Cutting (FGC), also known as Female Genital Mutilation, is defined by the WHO as "all procedures that involve partial or total removal of the external female genitalia, or other injury to the female genital organs for non-medical reasons.”⁴⁹ FGC is a historical and cultural practice performed in over 30 countries, including in the United States.⁵⁰ FGC is practiced in households across educational and socioeconomic divides, and occurs among many religious groups⁵¹ for various sociocultural reasons, varying from one region and ethnic group to another.⁵² While FGC is condemned as a human rights violation by many international treaties and conventions,⁵³ where it is practiced, FGC is often performed in line with social norms “to ensure that girls are socially accepted and marriageable, and to uphold their status and honor and that of the entire family.”⁵⁴ Other historical reasons and purposes expressed for the practice, beyond safeguarding virginity before marriage or enhancing fertility, range from cleanliness and beauty to acting as a rite of passage into adulthood.⁵⁵

However, FGC has no known health benefits, and women and girls who have undergone FGC procedures are at great risk of suffering both short- and long-term health complications, including increased risks during childbirth, psychological trauma, and even death.⁵⁶ Further, the painful and traumatic procedure is performed mainly on children and adolescents between the ages of infancy and 15 and without anesthetic.⁵⁷ It is therefore also frequently performed without full, informed consent, with or without coercion.⁵⁸ Accordingly, FGC has been widely recognized as a violation of basic human rights, including the principles of equality and non-discrimination on the basis of sex, the right to life when the procedure results in death, and the right to freedom from torture or cruel, inhumane or degrading treatment or punishment, as well as the rights of the child.⁵⁹

It is estimated that over 200 million women and girls worldwide have experienced FGC.⁶⁰ According to the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), if the current rate continues, a further 68 million girls could be subjected to FGC by 2030.⁶¹ In the U.S., the risk for FGC is especially high in areas with substantial ties to countries where FGC is legal or frequently practiced.⁶² According to the Population Reference Bureau (PRB), a nonprofit organization specializing in statistical collection and supply, approximately ten percent of the at-risk women and girls in the U.S. (or 48,000) live in New York, which is second only to California.⁶³ Additionally, most women and girls at risk of FGC in this country reside in cities or suburbs of large metropolitan areas, and the New York-Newark-Jersey City Metro Area ranks first among all metropolitan areas in the country, with an estimated 65,893 women and girls at risk of FGC.⁶⁴

e. Access to Abortion

While New York was the first state in the country to make abortion legal in 1971, if a pregnant woman requested it,⁶⁵ it was not until the New York state legislature passed and Governor Cuomo signed the Reproductive Health Act (RHA)⁶⁶ into law in 2019 that the full protections provided under *Roe v. Wade*⁶⁷ were codified into New York state law.⁶⁸ The RHA did not enact any major changes in the way abortion is provided in New York, but it is significant in that it brought New York into line with Roe v. Wade by:

- Removing abortion from the state Penal Code,⁶⁹
- Legalizing abortions performed after 24-weeks' gestation in cases of fetal non-viability or threat to a woman's health;⁷⁰
- Expanding upon those who can provide abortions to include health-care professionals other than doctors, such as nurse practitioners and physician assistants;⁷¹ and
- Repealing Public Health Law § 4164,⁷² which required an abortion after the 12th week of pregnancy be performed in a hospital and only on an in-patient basis, and repealing Penal Law §§ 125.40, 125.45, 125.50, 125.55 and 125.60, related to homicide, self-abortion, and related offenses.⁷³

It is estimated that nearly one in four women in the U.S. will have an abortion in their lifetimes.⁷⁴ In an age where the cost of unintended pregnancies continues to be high, and can be prevented through proper sex education, access to contraception and abortion,⁷⁵ and surgical abortion is one of the safest surgical procedures for women in the U.S.,⁷⁶ the RHA provides enhanced protections for women and ensures access to safe, legal abortion in New York.⁷⁷

f. Title X

Title X, officially known as Public Law 91-572 or “Population Research and Voluntary Family Planning Programs,” is the sole federal program dedicated to family planning services.⁷⁸ Title X was created to promote positive birth outcomes and healthy families by allowing individuals to decide the number and spacing of their children, and provides funds assist low-income patients with accessing services such as contraceptive counseling and testing for sexually transmitted infections.⁷⁹ Title X has recently undergone substantial changes, the effects of which are still being ascertained.

On June 1, 2018, the Trump Administration issued a proposed rule change for the federal Title X family planning program that would make significant changes to the program and to the types of providers that qualify for funding.⁸⁰ A final Title X Rule was issued by the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) on February 22, 2019 and finalized on March 4, 2019.⁸¹ The current regulation has five major provisions:

(1) service;⁸² (2) training;⁸³ (3) research;⁸⁴ (4) information and education;⁸⁵ and (5) the prohibition of abortion.⁸⁶ While the Administration highlights that non-directive pregnancy counseling, including non-directive counseling on abortion, is permitted under the rule,⁸⁷ reproductive health advocates have expressed concerns about restrictions to health providers that receive federal Title X funds under the regulations and the “domestic gag rule” created by the rule’s provision on abortion.⁸⁸ Advocates explain that in addition to restricting abortion access, the regulations:

- Block the availability of federal funds to family planning providers like Planned Parenthood that also offer abortion services;⁸⁹
- Curtail counseling and referrals to abortion services by Title X funded providers;⁹⁰
- Eliminate current requirements that Title X sites offer a broad range of medically approved family planning methods and non-directive pregnancy options counseling that includes information about prenatal care/delivery, adoption, and abortion;⁹¹ and

- Direct new funds to faith-based and other organizations that promote fertility awareness and abstinence as methods of family planning.⁹²

When the Federal government implemented the “gag rule” that would have undermined the integrity of family planning programs in August 2019, at least six states,⁹³ including New York,⁹⁴ and a number of organizations, such as Planned Parenthood and Public Health Solutions,⁹⁵ who receive funding through Title X, formally withdrew from the Title X program.⁹⁶ To help make up for the $25 million per year in Title X grants that the two grantees of Title X in New York, Public Health Solutions (PHS) and the New York State Department of Health (NYSDOH), were no longer receiving,⁹⁷ and ensure that New Yorkers continued to have access to sexual and reproductive health services, New York State included $14.2 million in funding for such services in the Fiscal 2021 State Budget.⁹⁸ However, funding gaps remain, and advocates have expressed concern that limiting providers has major repercussions for low-income women across the country that rely on them for their family planning care.⁹⁹

IV. BILL ANALYSIS

INT. NO. 2064-A

This bill would require DOHMH to create an advisory board to study gender and racial equity in healthcare and inequities related to gender at hospitals in New York City, and to analyze factors and social determinants leading to such inequities. The advisory board would consist of a multi-disciplinary panel of representatives and be required to submit a report including recommendations for addressing and eliminating such inequities by December 1, 2021, and December 1 annually thereafter. This law would take effect immediately.

The bill originally focused on gender equity, and was expanded to also include racial equity. Additionally, the advisory board was expanded to include a broader and more diverse range of experts and advocates.

Report of the Committee on Housing and Buildings

Report for Int. No. 2044-A

Report of the Committee on Housing and Buildings in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law in relation to accessory sign violations and waiving penalties and fees for signs that are accessory to a use on the same zoning lot.

The Committee on Housing and Buildings, to which the annexed proposed amended local law was referred on August 27, 2020 (Minutes, page 1711), respectfully

REPORTS:

Introduction

On February 10, 2021, the Committee on Housing and Buildings, chaired by Council Member Robert Cornegy, Jr., held a hearing on Int. No. 2044-A. The original bill was first heard on January 19, 2021. More information about this bill, along with the materials for that hearing, can be found at <https://on.nyc.gov/3tHMK6q>.

Int. No. 2044-A

In 2018, a significant increase in the issuance of Department of Buildings (DOB) violations related to accessory signs impacted many small businesses across the City. In response, Local Law 28 of 2019 established a two-year moratorium on the issuance of accessory sign violations. For certain respondents of judgments related to accessory signs, it also established a temporary DOB assistance program to facilitate the installation of accessory signs in compliance with the applicable laws and regulations, which included a 75% waiver of certain permit fees related to such installations.

The temporary DOB assistance program established by Local Law 28 of 2019 expired six months after its enactment, and the moratorium on violations expired in early 2021. However, due to the COVID-19 crisis, the installation of compliant accessory signs has been delayed. Further, impacted small businesses are increasingly unable to pay for the installation of compliant signs or withstand the financial burden of a new violation. To address these concerns, Int. No. 2044-A would extend the moratorium and the temporary DOB assistance program established by Local Law 28 of 2019 for another two years. It would also increase the 75% waiver of permit fees related to installing an accessory sign to a 100% waiver.

This bill would take effect immediately and be retroactive to January 1, 2021.

Update

On Wednesday, February 10, 2021, the Committee adopted Int. No. 2044-A by a vote of nine in the affirmative, zero in the negative, and zero abstentions.

WHEREAS, the Council has considered the land use and financial implications and other policy issues relating to the Project.

RESOLVED:

The Council finds that the present status of the Disposition Area tends to impair or arrest the sound growth and development of the City of New York and that a designation of the Project as an Urban Development Action Area Project is consistent with the policy and purposes stated in Section 691 of the General Municipal Law.

The Council waives the area designation requirement pursuant to Section 693 of the General Municipal Law.

The Council waives the requirements of Sections 197-c and 197-d of the New York City Charter pursuant to Section 694 of the General Municipal Law.

The Project shall be developed in a manner consistent with the Project Summary that HPD has submitted to the Council on January 4, 2021, a copy of which is attached hereto.

Pursuant to Section 577 of Article XI of the Private Housing Finance Law, the Council approves an exemption of the Exemption Area from real property taxes as follows:

- a. All of the value of the property in the Disposition Area, including both the land and any improvements (excluding those portions, if any, devoted to business, commercial use or community facility use), shall be exempt from real property taxation, other than assessments for local improvements, for a period commencing upon the later of (i) the date of conveyance of the Disposition Area to the Sponsor, or (ii) the date that HPD and the Sponsor enter into a regulatory agreement governing the operation of the Disposition Area ("Effective Date") and terminating upon the earlier to occur of (i) a date which is forty (40) years from the Effective Date, (ii) the date of the expiration or termination of the regulatory agreement between HPD and the Sponsor, or (iii) the date upon which the Disposition Area ceases to be owned by either a housing development fund company or an entity wholly controlled by a housing development fund company ("Expiration Date").

HPD shall deliver written notice of any such determination to the owner of the Disposition Area and all mortgagees of record, which notice shall provide for an opportunity to cure of not less than sixty (60) days. If the noncompliance specified in such notice is not cured within the time period specified herein, the Exemption shall prospectively terminate.
- c. In consideration of the Exemption, the Sponsor and any future owner of the Disposition Area, for so long as the Exemption shall remain in effect, shall waive the benefits, if any, of any additional or concurrent exemption from or abatement of real property taxation which may be authorized under any existing or future local, state or federal law, rule or regulation. RESOLUTIONS

Report for voice-vote item Res. No. 512-A Report of the Committee on Hospitals in favor of approving, as amended, a Resolution calling on New York State to require medical schools to train all students about "implicit bias".

The Committee on Hospitals, to which the annexed amended resolution was referred on September 12, 2018 (Minutes, page 3488), respectfully

REPORTS:

I. Introduction

On February 11, 2021, the Committee on Hospitals held a hearing and a vote on Resolution Number 0512-A (Res. No. 0512-A). Proposed Res. No. 0512 was originally heard on September 18, 2019 during a hearing held by the Committee on Hospitals, chaired by Council Member Carlina Rivera, on the Delivery of Culturally Competent & Equitable Health Care Services in New York City Hospitals. On February 11, 2021, the Committee passed this resolution by a vote of five in the affirmative, zero in the negative, and zero abstentions.

II. Background

Cultural Competence and Health Equity

According to the Commonwealth Fund, cultural competence is the ability of systems to provide care to patients with diverse values, beliefs, and behaviors.¹ Culture has been defined as “an integrated pattern of learned beliefs and behaviors that can be shared among groups [and] includes thoughts, styles of communicating, ways of interacting, views on roles and relationships, values, practices, and customs.”² Culture is shaped by multiple influences, including race, ethnicity, nationality, language, gender, socioeconomic status, physical and mental ability, sexual orientation, and occupation, among other factors.³

To provide culturally competent health care, delivery of care must be tailored to meet patients’ social, cultural, and linguistic needs.⁴ A culturally competent health care system can help eliminate health disparities and inequities.⁵ Health inequity is defined as a specific type of health inequality that denotes an unjust difference in health, such as when health differences are preventable or unnecessary, and when individuals face an unfair amount of health risks because of one or more of their identities.⁶ Culturally competent health care can ultimately help improve health outcomes and quality of care for all individuals, regardless of age, race, ability/disability, income, gender, and sexual orientation.⁷

Health inequities are pervasive in the American health care system. In the United States, Black people are 40 percent more likely to have high blood pressure and 30 percent more likely to die from heart disease than other groups.⁸ The prevalence of diagnosed diabetes is twice as high in Mexican-American and Puerto Rican populations than in the non-Hispanic White population.⁹ Native Americans have the highest rates of diagnosed diabetes, with a prevalence rate of about fifteen percent in the adult population.¹⁰

Studies have also shown the individuals who identify as lesbians have more barriers and are not screened for cervical cancer as often as heterosexual women, even though there are higher rates of cervical cancer in the lesbian population.¹¹ Transgender and gender non-conforming (TGNC) individuals are more likely to experience discrimination, marginalization, and poor physical and mental health outcomes, which can result in a variety of physical and mental health conditions.¹² When surveyed by The National Center for Transgender Equality, TGNC respondents rated their health as “poor” or “fair” at a rate 4 percent higher than the U.S. general population, and were experiencing serious psychological distress at a rate almost 8 times the rate of the U.S. population.¹³ Further, the TGNC community is exposed to physical and psychological dangers from forced conversion therapy, from societal pressure to “de-transition,”¹⁴ and from external physical and sexual violence toward the community.¹⁵

The same inequities exist in New York City. Although White women in New York City have higher rates of breast cancer diagnoses than Black women, at about 133 vs. 99 per 100,000 respectively, Black women are more likely to die from breast cancer.¹⁶ The difference in diagnoses and death rates likely results from Black New Yorkers having the lowest rates of early diagnosis for both breast and cervical cancer.¹⁷ Although colorectal diagnosis and deaths have decreased since 1994, Black men and women in New York City are still more likely to die from this type of cancer.¹⁸ Furthermore, colorectal cancer mortality rates correlate with wealth disparities. New Yorkers living in the poorest areas are more likely to die from colorectal cancer than those from the richest areas, with a death rate of about 26 vs. 19 per 100,000 respectively.¹⁹ This display of wealth disparity is greatest in the Asian population, with a gap in the rate of death of 51 percent between communities with the highest wealth and those with the lowest.²⁰ Following the Black population, Hispanic New Yorkers have the second highest rate of death due to colorectal, breast, and cervical cancers.²¹ Diabetes is another health concern that disproportionately affects minority communities. Regardless of the poverty level of the neighborhoods in which they live, Black, Latinx, and Asian/Pacific Islander populations have higher rates of diabetes than White populations.²²

The health outcomes of pregnant people and their children also display terrible rates of inequity. Recent data suggests Black mothers in NYC are 12 times more likely to die from pregnancy-related causes than White mothers.²³ From 2006 to 2010, residents of the Bronx had the highest pregnancy-related mortality ratio with 26.0 deaths per 100,000 live births, followed by Brooklyn with 25.7, Queens with 24.6, Staten Island with 17.4 and Manhattan with 13.9.²⁴ Furthermore, government data suggests that Black infants are more than twice as likely to die as White infants; 11.3 per 1,000 Black babies, compared with 4.9 per 1,000 white babies, a racial disparity that is actually greater than in 1850, 15 years before slavery was abolished in the U.S.²⁵ Research points to race, rather than educational attainment or income level of the patient, as the cause of such discrepancies.²⁶ In fact, a Black woman with an advanced degree is more likely to lose her baby than a White woman with less than an eighth-grade education.²⁷

In New York City, many TGNC individuals may avoid healthcare services because of discrimination or previous negative experiences.²⁸ Those who do access healthcare services may avoid discussing gender with providers or have difficulty finding providers who adequately understand their social and health concerns.²⁹ They also have less access to health insurance, according to a survey of 359 people within the LGBTQ/TGNC community by the City Comptroller's office.³⁰ In addition to the TGNC population, those with disabilities tend to face health care accessibility issues.³¹ Almost 1 million New Yorkers, or roughly 11.2 percent of the city's population, have disclosed that they are living with a disability.³² Inadequate access to care causes preventable health conditions, which contributes to people with disabilities experiencing worse health status than people without disabilities.³³ In 2014, 44.4 percent of New Yorkers with disabilities rated their health as fair or poor, compared to only 9.1 percent of those without disabilities.³⁴ Additionally, those with disabilities likely require greater health services than those without disabilities.

Individuals with Limited English Proficiency (LEP) may face increased barriers to accessing health care.³⁵ Immigrants disproportionately have LEP, meaning they “speak English less than ‘very well,’”³⁶ compared to the general population.³⁷ The American Medical Association's Journal of Ethics reports that individuals with LEP Poverty on its own had been disproved to explain infant mortality, and a study of more than 1,000 women in New York and Chicago, published in The American Journal of Public Health in 1997, found that black women were less likely to drink and smoke during pregnancy, and that even when they had access to prenatal care, their babies were often born small Though it seemed radical 25 years ago, few in the field now dispute that the black-white disparity in the deaths of babies is related not to the genetics of race but to the lived experience of race in this country”).

experience high rates of medical errors, have worse clinical outcomes, and receive lower quality of care by other metrics than their English-speaking counterparts.³⁸ Research has also found that having parents with LEP is associated with worse health outcomes among children.³⁹

These inequities impact New Yorkers and their health. In New York City, approximately 49 percent of all immigrants have LEP, including nearly 63 percent of undocumented immigrants.⁴⁰ H+H serves many of the city's uninsured, including those that are ineligible for health insurance, i.e. the undocumented. Only 69 percent of non-citizen New Yorkers have health insurance compared to 94 percent of those who are U.S.-born, and only 42 percent of undocumented immigrants have health insurance.⁴¹

Nearly 41 percent of all foreign-born New Yorkers who speak a language other than English at home speak Spanish,⁴² and more than 80 percent of people who are Latinx ages five and older report speaking Spanish at home.⁴³ English proficiency among those who are Latinx is associated with improved health literacy and more positive interactions with health care providers.⁴⁴ Among Latinx adults, 67 percent report their health as "excellent," "very good," or "good," compared with 81 percent of non-Latinx adults.⁴⁵

Conversely, in 2017, the New York State Department of Health (NYSDOH) issued a report suggesting that when pooling all people who report English as a second language (ESL), the ESL population had equal or better preventative care and health outcomes when compared to the non-ESL population.⁴⁶ However, this data groups ESL individuals of different backgrounds into a single category.

Federal, State, and Local Action

Section 1557 of the Affordable Care Act prohibits health programs or facilities that receive federal funds from discriminating based on race, color, national origin, age, disability or sex.⁴⁷ However, recently the Trump Administration has tried to roll back some of these protections,⁴⁸ potentially harming members of the TGNC community, individuals seeking abortion care, individuals with LEP, and others.⁴⁹ New York State, in turn, has strengthened protections for individuals seeking medical care, including those who are transgender⁵⁰ and women/pregnant people.⁵¹ Those with disabilities have additional protections. Under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act, New York State (NYS) Human Rights Law, and regulations promulgated under the New York State Public Health law, facilities have legal responsibilities to ensure that individuals with disabilities have full and equal access to programs and services.⁵² An individual with a disability must have access to the same health care services that someone without a disability receives.⁵³

New York State also has a Patients' Bill of Rights, which clearly outlines that a patient in a hospital in New York State has the right to receive treatment without discrimination as to race, color, religion, sex, gender identity, national origin, disability, sexual orientation, age or source of payment.⁵⁴ New York City's Department of Health and Mental Hygiene has also implemented a Center for Health Equity which works to ensure that every New Yorker, regardless of where they live, has the opportunity to lead their healthiest lives.⁵⁵

In addition, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services has an Office of Minority Health (OMH), which was created in 1986 as a result of the Secretary's Task Force Report on Black and Minority Health.⁵⁶ OMH works to develop and promote policies, programs, and practices to achieve health equity, and funds demonstration programs at the regional, state, and local level that contribute to health policy.⁵⁷ It also improves data collection, fosters research and evaluation, and performs other activities to address health inequity.⁵⁸

Center for Linguistic and Cultural Competency in Health Care

Within OMH is the Center for Linguistic and Cultural Competency in Health Care, which was created to address the health needs of populations with LEP.⁵⁹ OMH, alongside federal and nonfederal partners across the country, developed National Standards for Culturally and Linguistically Appropriate Services in Health and Health Care (National CLAS Standards).⁶⁰ The National CLAS Standards aim to improve health care quality and advance health equity by establishing a framework for organizations to serve the nation's increasingly diverse communities.⁶¹ Their principle standard is to provide effective, equitable, understandable, and respectful quality care and services that are responsive to diverse cultural health beliefs and practices, preferred languages, health literacy, and other communication needs.⁶² OMH also developed a framework and toolkit to guide health care organizations' efforts in evaluating their implementation of the National CLAS Standards.⁶³ Federal and State laws prohibit national origin discrimination against individuals with LEP when they are provided health care services, and New York State also has specific protections for individuals with LEP that require language interpreters in hospital settings.⁶⁴ The NYSDOH included implementation of the National CLAS Standards as a part of its long-range planning in their Prevention Agenda 2013-2017: New York State's Health Improvement Plan, and has acted in line with the Standards in a variety of ways, including provider trainings, assessments of health plans, and surveys.⁶⁵

H+H and Cultural Competency

In 2011, the New York City Council Committees on Civil Rights and Health held a hearing about H+H's cultural competency.⁶⁶ During the hearing, H+H spoke about their investments in training and services and their delivery of culturally competent and linguistically appropriate services.⁶⁷ H+H discussed their cultural competency training for all new staff as well as periodic ongoing trainings, and their language services.⁶⁸ In Fiscal Year 2011, H+H facilities provided interpretation services in response to more than 600,000 language interpretation requests in more than 160 languages, and, between FY 09 and FY 11, these figures grew to more than 1.5 million language interpretation requests at an estimated cost of more than $10.4 million.⁶⁹

In 2016, H+H released a Plan to Enhance Equitable Care, which outlined its commitment to provide each individual patient with a positive experience and to raise the bar on equitable care.⁷⁰ The report speaks to the importance of addressing health inequities and calls on “today’s doctors, nurses, and all other clinical and administrative staff [to] understand, take into account and incorporate cultural differences and social determinants of health [into their practice], and cannot assume these characteristics will be the same for all patients.”⁷¹ The report also outlines five priorities: (1) an organizational assessment to obtain defined benchmarks to measure progress on their health equity agenda; (2) governance of race, ethnicity, and language data to ensure they are collecting meaningful and real data about their patients; (3) building up of organizational capacity through training, education, and enhancing recruitment strategies; (4) improvement of staff and community communication and engagement; and (5) standardization of policies and practices to ensure staff are educated and trained properly.⁷²

Furthermore, H+H has received recognition for its work, including special designations from the Human Rights Campaign.⁷³ In 2019, 23 of H+H’s patient care locations, across all five boroughs, received the designation “2019 LGBTQ Healthcare Equality Leader” from the Human Rights Campaign Foundation, and it was the fourth consecutive year H+H received the designation.⁷⁴ H+H also addresses health inequity through its work as the lead entity for New York State’s largest Delivery System Reform Incentive Payment Program (DSRIP) Performing Provider System, known as OneCity Health.⁷⁵

III. Implicit Bias

What is Implicit Bias?

Unlike explicit bias, where consciously held beliefs influence the way a person evaluates or behaves towards a certain group, implicit bias results from unconscious attitudes or stereotypes.⁷⁶ Implicit bias should not be confused with biases that individuals choose to withhold for social or political correctness.⁷⁷ Harvard University started Project Implicit in 1998 in order to understand thoughts and feelings outside of conscious awareness.⁷⁸

⁷⁸ Project Implicit: About Us, Harvard University, 2011, <https://implicit.harvard.edu/implicit/aboutus.html>

They created the Implicit Association Test (IAT) to measure the association between groups of people based on race, age, gender etc. and evaluations, such as “good” or “bad”.⁷⁹ Through this testing, researchers found that most people have stronger positive feelings for one group over another, and these feelings are sometimes contradictory to what one consciously believes.⁸⁰ In other words, individuals who show preference for one group over another consciously believe that they have equal preference for both groups. Their results have also shown that even members of stigmatized groups tend to show preference for the more “socially valued” group.⁸¹ For example, although Black people who took the test tended to have more positive implicit attitudes towards Black people than White people who took the test, Black people who took the test still showed a stronger positive bias for White people over Black people.⁸² The presence of implicit bias can result in both action and inaction and can cause harm throughout all institutional practices.⁸³

Consequences in the Health Care Setting

Historically, there were many assumptions about what it meant to be healthy depending on the patient’s perceived identity.⁸⁴ For example, doctors used to firmly believe that people of color felt less pain than White people.⁸⁵ Although this idea is no longer accepted, studies have still shown that doctors prescribe more pain medication to White people than to people of color who present the same symptoms.⁸⁶ The presence of implicit bias can have serious negative effects on patients’ health, including high mortality rates.⁸⁷

While implicit bias is not the only factor contributing to disparities in health care and health inequities, clinicians’ unconscious actions can certainly amplify the issues.⁸⁸ This is increasingly troubling because not only do minority groups report receiving lower quality care, but they also have poorer health outcomes.⁸⁹

Implicit Bias Training

In recent years, cultural competency and implicit bias training have become a greater priority.⁹⁰ The purpose of cultural competency and implicit bias training is to better understand the populations that one serves.⁹¹ Researchers do warn, however, that these trainings need to be thought through carefully, so they do not perpetuate stereotypes.⁹² The training also helps clinicians become aware of their biases as a step toward

IV. Conclusion

At today's hearing, the Committee voted on Res. No. 0512-A, calling on New York State to require medical schools to train all students about "implicit bias".

Accordingly, this Committee recommends its adoption, as amended.

(The following is the text of Res. No. 512-A:)

Res. No. 512-A

Resolution calling on New York State to require medical schools to train all students about "implicit bias".

By Council Members Rosenthal, Rivera, Ayala, Reynoso, Lander, Cornegy, Dromm, Chin, Ampry-Samuel, Cumbo, Adams, Rose, Barron, Louis, D. Diaz, Menchaca, Koslowitz, Gibson, Kallos, Treyger, Rodriguez, Eugene and the Public Advocate (Mr. Williams).

Whereas, In recent years, the health care community has shifted its focus to further address health inequity and its impact on individuals from traditionally marginalized communities, including people of color, people with disabilities, people who are lesbian, gay, bisexual, intersex, transgender, queer, questioning, gender non-conforming and/or non-binary (LGBTQ+/TGNCNB), children, individuals who are overweight, those experiencing behavioral health issues, and those who are female; and

Whereas, According to the Perception Institute, implicit bias is when individuals have attitudes towards people or associate stereotypes with them without their conscious knowledge; and

Whereas, Research has shown that people have implicit attitudes regarding race, gender, age, disability, weight, and sexual orientation, and several general patterns of bias have repeatedly been shown in research, such as socially-dominant groups often having implicit bias against subordinate groups; and

Whereas, According to Health Affairs, studies consistently recognize the role of implicit bias in worsening health outcomes, increasing health care costs, and exacerbating health disparities, resulting in disparate maternal health outcomes, substandard pain management for Black patients, unequal cardiovascular testing for women, lesser mental health services for patients with mental illness, and mistreatment and avoidance of obese patients; and

Whereas, Research shows that racial disparities can have an impact on a person's health outcomes and care in New York City, which is illustrated by the City's maternal mortality and morbidity rates; and

Whereas, According to the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DOHMH), Black, non-Latinx people are eight to twelve times more likely to experience maternal mortality than their white counterparts; and

Whereas, According to the Center for the Independence of the Disabled New York (CIDNY), 44.4 percent of New Yorkers with disabilities rated their health as fair or poor in 2014, compared to only 9.1 percent of those without disabilities; and

Whereas, According to Independence Care System (ICS), because of lack of access to care for people with physical disabilities due to providers' lack of understanding of the populations' accessibility needs, people with physical disabilities have higher rates of obesity, arthritis, asthma, cardiovascular disease, diabetes, high blood pressure, high cholesterol and stroke; and

Whereas, National surveys of individuals who are transgender reveal that one-third of those who saw a health care provider had at least one negative experience related to being transgender, and nearly one-quarter reported that they did not seek the health care they needed due to fear of being mistreated as a transgender person; and

Whereas, Studies have shown that individuals who identify as lesbians have more barriers to care and are not screened for cervical cancer as often as heterosexual women, even though rates of cervical cancer are higher among lesbian women; and

Whereas, Children who are intersex, or are born with variations in their sex characteristics, are often subjected to "normalizing" surgeries that are irreversible, risky, and medically unnecessary; and

Whereas, Even though most babies born with intersex traits are healthy and do not require surgery, medically unnecessary operations still occur today, including in New York City; and

Whereas, According to DOHMH, although the number of new HIV diagnoses have decreased between 2014 and 2018, Black and Latinx people are still disproportionately impacted compared to their white counterparts; and

Whereas, With health outcomes so closely tied to one's race, gender, and other identities, our health care system must do a better job addressing health inequity; and

Whereas, As of now, not all medical students in the state of New York receive implicit bias training, which could hamper the goal of health equity for all; and

Whereas, According to experts, all medical students should receive ongoing, comprehensive training on implicit bias; and

Whereas, Training should include information about structural racism in the medical field and activities to promote reflection on one's own implicit biases; and

Whereas, All implicit bias trainings must include an explicit bias component; and

Whereas, Our medical system perpetuates racism, ableism, and other forms of oppression by not addressing both implicit and explicit bias, and medical professionals may also possess explicit biases which can result in the harm of a patient; and

Whereas, It is critical to have well-trained and culturally competent and humble providers who are educated about bias to ensure the fairer treatment of all individuals, and to ensure medical outcomes are not skewed because of bias, whether implicit or explicit; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls on New York State to require medical schools to train all students about "implicit bias."

A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to creating an office of community mental health and a citywide mental health emergency response protocol

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Title 17 of the administrative code of the city of New York is amended by adding a new chapter 20 to read as follows:

Chapter 20
COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH

§ 17-2001 Definitions. For the purposes of this chapter, the following terms have the following meanings.

Community mental health. The term “community mental health” refers to the provision, treatment, management and support of mental and behavioral illness within a community setting, including, but not limited to, hospital care, outpatient care, care provided by not-for-profit and community-based-organizations, emergency management, employment support, and housing support.

Mental health emergency. The term “mental health emergency” means (1) a medical or behavioral health condition manifesting itself by acute symptoms of sufficient severity (including severe pain) such that a prudent layperson, who possesses an average knowledge of health and medicine, could reasonably expect the absence of immediate medical or behavioral health attention to result in a significant risk of serious harm to oneself or others; or (2) where a person’s actions, feelings, and behaviors can reasonably be expected to put them at risk of being unable to care for themselves or function in the community in a healthy manner; or (3) any other situation or circumstance designated as a mental health emergency by the office.

Office. The term “office” means the office of community mental health.

Public safety emergency. The term “public safety emergency” means a crime in progress, violence, or a situation likely to result in imminent harm or danger to the public, as defined by the office.

§ 17-2002 Office of community mental health. a. Establishment of office of community mental health. The commissioner shall establish an office of community mental health. Such office shall be headed by a deputy commissioner who shall be appointed by the commissioner.

§ 17-2003 Mental health response protocol. a. No later than December 31, 2021, the office shall develop a citywide mental health emergency response protocol and post such protocol on the department’s website. Such protocol shall establish guidelines:

1. for all emergency call operators, including, but not limited to, 911 call operators, to identify calls as potential mental health emergencies;

2. regarding the information that must be provided by a member of the public to establish that a mental health emergency is also a public safety emergency before authorizing the dispatch of a law enforcement officer; and

3. for all emergency first responders to utilize when responding to potential mental health emergencies, including the following circumstances:

(i) when the mental health emergency response unit responds without the assistance of the police department;

(ii) when the police department responds to public safety emergencies prior to the mental health emergency response unit, including guidelines for whether and how to engage with any member of the public suspected to be experiencing a mental health emergency,

(iii) when the police department and mental health emergency response unit staff are engaged in a joint response, including when and how to defer to office of community mental health employees on engaging with individuals suspected of experiencing a mental health emergency;

(iv) when emergency call responders should include the mental health emergency response unit during a 911 call; and

(v) how emergency responders should respond to a mental health emergency before mental health emergency response unit arrives at the scene.

b. Any changes to such protocol shall be posted on the office’s website within 24 hours of such change.

§ 17-2004 Mental health emergency response unit. a. The office shall include a unit of mental health clinicians and peers that shall respond to all mental health emergencies.

b. Res. No. 1537

Resolution calling on the Governor of the State of New York to sign an executive order allowing candidates to gain access to the ballot through means other than petitioning, in the interest of public health and safety.

By Council Members Cabrera and Kallos.

Whereas, In New York State, candidates for public office must collect a certain number of petition signatures to qualify for the ballot, depending on the office they are seeking; and

Whereas, Pursuant to the New York City Charter, the required number of signatures for New York City elected offices are 3,750 for Mayor, Comptroller, and Public Advocate, 2,000 for Borough President, and 450 for City Council; and

Whereas, On March 14, at the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic in New York, recognizing that in-person signature gathering could exacerbate the spread of COVID-19, Governor Cuomo issued an executive order suspending petitioning for the June 2020 primaries and reducing the required number of signatures by 70 percent; and

Whereas, The Governor's executive order has not been extended to apply to petitioning requirements for the June 2021 primaries, and the Charter-mandated thresholds therefore apply; and

Whereas, Petitioning for the 2021 primaries runs from February 23 to April 1; and

Whereas, New York Senate bill 2733 (S.2733), sponsored by Senator Rachel May, and Assembly bill 3356 (A.3356), sponsored by Assembly member Bichotte Hermelyn, would reduce the required number of signatures for candidates running for office in 2021 by 70 percent, and would adjust the June 2021 primary petitioning period to March 2 through March 25; and

Whereas, S.2733/A.3356 passed their respective chambers on January 26, 2021, but have not yet been signed into law by the Governor; and

Whereas, According to the New York City Campaign Finance Board, as of late-January, over 400 candidates have registered with the Board to run in the 2021 local elections; and

Whereas, Since the start of the pandemic, New York City has confirmed approximately 500,000 COVID-19 cases and over 21,000 deaths; and

Whereas, The COVID-19 pandemic is still raging in New York, with the State reporting over 10,000 new cases a day and the City reporting over 5,000 new cases a day during late-January 2021; and

Whereas, A more contagious strain of COVID-19, first identified in the United Kingdom, has now been found in several states, including New York; and

Whereas, The rollout of the COVID-19 vaccine in New York has been slow, and according to the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, much of the population is unlikely to even be eligible to be vaccinated until summer 2021; and

Whereas, State- and City-mandated social distancing measures are still in effect and necessary to reduce the spread of the virus and keep the public safe; and

Whereas, Collecting petition signatures in such a large election cycle will necessitate close contact and exchange of paper and writing utensils between tens of thousands of people in New York City; and

Whereas, This face-to-face contact poses a severe and unnecessary health risk to candidates and New Yorkers who sign petitions, many of whom may be older or immunocompromised, during an ongoing global pandemic; and

Whereas, There are other means to demonstrate seriousness and meaningful support for one's candidacy for public office, such as qualifying for the City's public funds matching program, raising another threshold of financial contributions, or paying a fee; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls on the Governor of the State of New York to sign an executive order allowing candidates to gain access to the ballot through means other than petitioning, in the interest of public health and safety.

Referred to the Committee on Governmental Operations.

Any provision in any law, rule, regulation, contract, grant or other document relating to the subject matter of such functions, powers or duties, and applicable to the agency or officer which heretofore exercised the same shall, so far as not inconsistent with the provisions of this local law, apply to the agency or officer to which such functions, powers and duties are assigned pursuant to this local law.

k. Nothing contained in this local law shall affect or impair the rights or privileges of officers or employees of the city of New York or of any agency existing at the time that this local law takes effect, or any provision of law in force at the time that this local law takes effect and not inconsistent with the provisions of this local law, in relation to the personnel, appointment, ranks, grades, tenure of office, promotion, removal, pension and retirement rights, civil rights or any other rights or privileges of officers or employees of the city of New York generally or officers or employees of any agency.

n. Any license, permit or other authorization in force on the effective date of this local law, and issued by an agency, where the power of such agency to issue such license, permit or authorization is assigned pursuant to this local law to another agency or officer, shall continue in force as the license, permit or authorization of such other agency or officer, except as such license, permit or authorization may expire or be altered, suspended or revoked by the appropriate agency or officer pursuant to law. Such license, permit or authorization shall be renewable in accordance with the applicable law by the agency or officer with such power pursuant to law, including this local law.

§ 9. This local law shall not be construed to change, require a change or authorize a change to the collective bargaining representation or rights of any employees affected by this local law. § 10. To the extent that any memorandum of understanding or other agreement between the mayor, the police commissioner and the chancellor, whether in effect on the effective date of this local law or thereafter, is inconsistent with this local law, the terms of this local law shall control.

§ 11. The provisions of this local law are severable and if any phrase, clause, sentence, paragraph, subdivision or section of this local law, or the applicability thereof to any person or circumstance, is held invalid, the remainder of this local law and the application thereof will not be affected thereby.

§ 12. This local law takes effect immediately.

Res. No. 1538

Resolution calling on the New York State Legislature to pass, and the Governor to sign, legislation removing the New York City Police Commissioner's exclusive authority over police discipline.

By Council Members Cumbo, Levin, Rosenthal, Van Bramer, Kallos, Miller and Koslowitz.

Whereas, The Civilian Complaint Review Board (CCRB) is a police oversight body made up of appointees from the Mayor, the Police Commissioner, the City Council, and the Public Advocate; and

Whereas, The CCRB is responsible for receiving, investigating, hearing, making findings, and recommending actions regarding complaints against members of the New York City Police Department (NYPD) alleging excessive use of force, abuse of authority, discourtesy, or use of offensive language; and

Whereas, While the CCRB can recommend discipline against officers, the Police Commissioner has final authority over discipline and can choose to disregard these recommendations and may impose lesser or greater discipline, or no discipline at all; and

Whereas, The CCRB tracks the rate at which the Police Commissioner follows the CCRB’s recommendations, which is known as the “concurrency rate”; and

Whereas, According to the CCRB’s most recent annual report, the concurrency rate was only 51 percent in 2019, and for the most serious cases—those where “charges and specifications” are recommended by the CCRB for prosecution at an administrative trial—the concurrency rate was only 32 percent; and

Whereas, An analysis published by The New York Times in November 2020 found that the NYPD “regularly ignored the [CCRB’s] recommendations, overruled them or downgraded the punishments, even when police officials confirmed that the officers had violated regulations,” and found this “pattern of lenient punishment holds true for about 71 percent of the 6,900 misconduct charges over the last two decades in which the [CCRB] recommended the highest level of discipline and a final outcome was recorded”; and

Whereas, That same analysis “shows that since [Mayor] de Blasio took office in 2014, the [NYPD] has overruled the [CCRB’s] recommendations in more than half of the cases in which the [CCRB] sought the most severe discipline”; and

Whereas, Removing the Police Commissioner’s exclusive authority over police discipline and allowing the CCRB to impose discipline in certain cases would increase accountability and public trust in the NYPD; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls on the New York State Legislature to pass, and the Governor to sign, legislation removing the New York City Police Commissioner’s exclusive authority over police discipline.

g. The chairperson may designate a third party to assist with such investigation and shall determine the functions of such third party. Any such third party shall keep confidential any information it obtains from the commission, or from any agency, another governmental unit or a person cooperating with the commission. For each such investigation, such report shall include but not be limited to the date of initiation and any date of completion or termination, the current status, a description of any investigative findings and recommendations set forth in a written statement of final determination and a description of any reports from the police commissioner in response to a written statement of final determination.

Res. No. 1539

Resolution calling upon the New York State Legislature to adopt and the Governor to sign legislation to exempt small businesses in New York City from the local sales tax.

By Council Members Gjonaj, Rodriguez, Perkins and Yeger.

Whereas, The New York State sales and compensating use taxes lay out a broad-based state sales tax, including on charges and sales of services, and provide cities, counties, and school districts of the State the authority to impose taxes of a similar nature, as well as other types of taxes, on a local basis; and

Whereas, Unless specifically exempted, the State and local sales tax applies to retail sales of tangible personal property and to certain services, and a compensating use tax applies to the use within the State of tangible personal property and services purchased outside the State; and

Whereas, In New York City, a local sales tax has been imposed with a total sales tax rate of 8.875 percent, which includes the City local sales tax rate of 4.5 percent, the State sales tax rate of four percent and the Metropolitan Commuter Transportation District surcharge of 0.375 percent; and

Whereas, According to a publication issued by the Office of the New York State Comptroller, Local Sales Taxes in New York Allocations, Collections and Withholdings, New York City ranks among the top localities in the State with the highest city portion of the local sales tax rate as of January 1, 2020; and

Whereas, Furthermore, according to an article in the Tax Foundation dated January 6, 2021, State and Local Sales Tax Rates, 2021, New York ranks among the top five states with the highest average local sales tax rate nationwide; and

Whereas, New York City was among the first cities in the nation impacted by COVID-19, and as a consequence, the local economy has suffered, affecting various City's industries and small businesses; and

Whereas, According to a report issued by the New York City Comptroller, Save Main Street: A Crash Program to Help Save NYC Small Businesses, of the 758,000 private sector jobs that have been lost in New York City through June, 187,000 were in food services, 71,000 in retail, and 36,000 in personal services; and

Whereas, Furthermore, according to the Comptroller's report, at least 2,800 small businesses closed permanently between March 1st and July 10th, including 1,289 restaurants and 844 retail establishments, marking a permanent loss of jobs, wages, and wealth; and

Whereas, Consumer spending has also declined in the City, dropping as low as 53 percent in March 2020, according to an article written by the Partnership for New York City, Consumer Spending during COVID-19; and

Whereas, Between the loss of jobs and wages, the sharp decline in consumer spending and the operational restrictions imposed on businesses in the City, small business revenues have dropped 50.1 percent as of December 2020, in comparison to January 2020, according to data compiled by Opportunity Insights, Economic Tracker; and

Whereas, In an effort rebuild the local economy and to encourage local buying, goods and services sold by small businesses in New York City should be exempted from the local sales tax; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the New York State Legislature to adopt and the Governor to sign legislation to exempt small businesses in New York City from the local sales tax.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Res. No. 1540

Resolution calling upon the New York State Legislature to pass, and the Governor to sign, a bill which would amend the General Municipal Law to afford municipalities the ability to prioritize locally owned and operated businesses to contract with.

By Council Members Gjonaj, Rodriguez and Yeger.

Whereas, The COVID-19 pandemic has wreaked havoc across New York City; and

Whereas, As of early February 2021, there have been more than 630,000 COVID-19 cases, and 27,600 deaths; and

Whereas, In Addition to the death and disease caused by the virus, the various steps taken to mitigate the spread have had severe financial effects; and

Whereas, A Comcast survey of around 600 small businesses, for example, showed that 86 percent of respondents faced a decline in business revenue in 2020; and

Whereas, More than half of the respondents had a grim outlook for their 2021 prospects too, predicting that it would take up to a year to return to previous notions of 'normal'; and

Whereas, In New York City, between March 2020 and July 2020, close to 3000 small businesses were closed permanently because of the pandemic; and

Whereas, Business advocacy group The Partnership predicts that a third of the City's small businesses will never reopen; and

Whereas, There have been various attempts by all levels of government to assist businesses during this time; and

Whereas, However, there have been many flaws and problems with many of the programs; and

Whereas, For example, only 12 percent of eligible businesses in New York City received assistance through the federal Paycheck Protection Program; and

Whereas, There were also inequities with the roll-out of two of the City-initiated support programs; and

Whereas, More than half (66 percent) of the money from the Small Business Continuity Loan Fund went to businesses in Manhattan; and

Whereas, The remainder was distributed between the four other boroughs with 18 percent going to businesses in Brooklyn, nine percent going to those in Queens; five percent going to businesses in Staten Island, with businesses in the Bronx receiving less than one percent; and

Whereas, A similar pattern was seen with the distribution of funds from the Employee Retention Grant Program; and

Whereas, Again, Manhattan businesses received a majority (53 percent) of the funds, while only 25 percent of businesses in Brooklyn, 16 percent of businesses in Queens and three percent of businesses in the Bronx and Staten Island received assistance through this program; and

Whereas, With one of the largest contracting budgets in the Country though, New York City could do more to support local struggling businesses; and

Whereas, For example, by prioritizing local businesses for contracts, the City could harness its purchasing power has a way to bolster the City's businesses; and

Whereas, In the spring of 2020, at the height of the pandemic, the NYC Economic Development Corporation (NYCEDC), a nonprofit funded through both private and public money, partnered with local businesses and manufactures to help supply much needed personal protective equipment (PPE); and

Whereas, Through this partnership, NYCEDC contracted with nine local manufacturers to produce over four million face shields, which supported more than 505 local jobs; and

Whereas, NYCEDC also worked with local manufactures, including a coalition of Broadway costume designers who were out of work due to the pandemic, to produce more than three million protective gowns; and

Whereas, Understanding that the pandemic was not going to end quickly, NYCEDC quickly pivoted to developing COVID-19 testing kits again by utilizing local expertise; and

Whereas, By developing a local supply chain, NYCEDC reported that, by the early summer of 2020, local manufacturers were producing 50,000 testing kits per week; and

Whereas, In fiscal year 2020, the City procured $22.5 billion worth of goods and services through almost 114,500 transactions; and

Whereas, If city agencies were able to prioritize local procurement of these goods and services, as NYCEDC did during the pandemic, it would support New York City's struggling businesses and grow others, while keeping the money within the local economy; and

Whereas, State law, however, prevents the City from making this policy decision; and

Whereas, In most cases, the State's General Municipal Law § 103 requires contracting agencies to strictly award contracts to the lowest responsible bidder; and

Whereas, This means that the City is unable to give preference to a vendor simply because they are local; and

Whereas, Although this process helps to mitigate cases of nepotism, bribery, fraud or corruption, it also greatly limits the City's procurement policies, preventing the City from considering both social justice issues and our local economy; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the New York State Legislature pass, and the Governor sign, a bill which would amend the General Municipal Law to afford municipalities the ability to prioritize locally owned and operated businesses to contract with.

A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to creating a right of security against unreasonable search and seizure that is enforceable by civil action and requiring the law department to post online certain information regarding such civil actions

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Title 8 of the administrative code of the city of New York is amended by adding a new chapter 8 to read as follows:

CHAPTER 8
THE RIGHT OF SECURITY AGAINST UNREASONABLE SEARCH AND SEIZURE

§ 8-801 Definitions.

§ 8-802 Right of security against unreasonable search and seizure.

§ 8-803 Civil action for deprivation of rights.

§ 8-804 Immunity not a defense.

§ 8-805 Relief.

§ 8-806 Indemnification.

§ 8-807 Statute of limitations.

§ 8-808 Construction.

§ 8-801 Definitions. For purposes of this chapter, the following terms have the following meanings:

Covered individual. The term “covered individual” means:

1. An employee of the police department; or
2. A peace officer, as defined in section 2.10 of the criminal procedure law, who is employed by the city or appointed by the police commissioner as a special patrolman pursuant to subdivision c or e of section 14-106.

Person aggrieved. The term “person aggrieved” means a natural person who is allegedly subjected to, or allegedly caused to be subjected to, the deprivation of a right created, granted or protected by section 8-802 by a covered individual even if the only injury allegedly suffered by such natural person is the deprivation of such right.

Prevailing plaintiff. The term “prevailing plaintiff” means a plaintiff whose suit was a substantial factor or significant catalyst in obtaining the results sought by the litigation.

§ 8-802 Right of security against unreasonable search and seizure. The right of natural persons to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated; and no warrants shall be issued but upon probable cause supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

§ 8-803 Civil action for deprivation of rights. a. A covered individual who, under color of any law, ordinance, rule, regulation, custom or usage, subjects or causes to be subjected, including through failure to intervene, any other natural person to the deprivation of any right that is created, granted or protected by section 8-802 is liable to the person aggrieved for legal or equitable relief or any other appropriate relief.

b. A person aggrieved may make a claim pursuant to subdivision a of this section in a civil action in any court of competent jurisdiction by filing a complaint setting forth facts pertaining to the deprivation of any right created, granted or protected by section 8-802 and requesting such relief as such person aggrieved considers necessary to insure the full enjoyment of such right.

c. This section does not limit or abrogate any claim or cause of action a person aggrieved has under common law or pursuant to any other law or rule. Despite the availability of an alternative remedy under common law or pursuant to any other law or rule, the person aggrieved has and maintains a private right of action pursuant to this section. Exhaustion of any administrative remedies is not required for a person aggrieved to commence a civil action pursuant to this section. The remedies provided by this chapter are in addition to any other remedies that may be provided for under common law or pursuant to any other law or rule.

§ 8-804 Immunity not a defense. Immunity is not a defense to liability pursuant to this chapter, including any form of absolute or qualified immunity. It is not a defense to liability pursuant to this chapter that a covered individual has governmental or governmental function immunity, including but not limited to any immunity for discretionary acts involving the exercise of reasoned judgment taken during the performance of governmental functions. It is also not a defense to liability pursuant to this chapter that (i) the covered individual was acting in good faith or believed, reasonably or otherwise, that the conduct of such individual was lawful at the time it was committed or (ii) any right created, granted or protected by section 8-802 was not clearly established at the time of its deprivation by the covered individual or (iii) the state of the law was otherwise such that the covered individual could not reasonably have been expected to know whether the conduct of such covered individual was lawful.

§ 8-805 Relief. a. In any civil action involving a claim made pursuant to section 8-803 against a covered individual, a court shall, in addition to awarding any other relief, including injunctive or other equitable relief, as such court determines to be appropriate:

1. Award to a prevailing plaintiff on such claim (i) compensatory damages and, in such court's discretion, punitive damages or (ii) at the election of such plaintiff, damages of $1,000;
2. Award to such plaintiff reasonable attorney's fees and court costs; and

§ 8-806 Indemnification. a. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in section 50-k of the general municipal law or any other provision of law, a covered individual who is employed by the city shall, with respect to any judgment or settlement entered against such individual for claims arising pursuant to section 8-803, be personally liable for a portion of such judgment or settlement equal to the lesser of $25,000 or 5 percent of the amount of such judgment or settlement, and the city shall not indemnify or save harmless any covered individual, whether employed by the city or otherwise, for such portion; provided that, if such portion or a part thereof is uncollectible from such individual and the city would, in the absence of this section, have been required or reasonably likely to indemnify or save harmless such individual for such portion or part thereof, the city or an appropriate insurer thereof shall satisfy any such portion or part thereof not satisfied by such individual. The provisions of this section shall not be construed to (i) impair, alter, limit or modify the rights and obligations of any insurer under any policy of insurance or (ii) authorize or require indemnification of a covered individual.

b. Indemnification of a covered individual who is not employed by the city shall be governed by subdivision g of section 14-106 and any other applicable laws.

§ 8-807 Statute of limitations. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in section 50-k of the general municipal law or any other provision of law, a person aggrieved must make a claim pursuant to section 8-803 in a civil action within 3 years after the alleged deprivation of a right created, granted or protected by section 8-802 occurred.

§ 8-808 Construction. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter and notwithstanding section 8-130, any right created, granted or protected by section 8-802 shall be construed in the same manner as any right created, granted or protected by section 8 of the civil rights law and section 12 of article I of the state constitution.
