From Budget Response to Adoption: The Road to Responsible Prosperity

The Council's role in the Fiscal 2016 budget cycle was predicated on ensuring Responsible Prosperity for all New Yorkers. Through over 200 hours of hearing testimony on the Fiscal 2016 Preliminary and Executive Budgets, and over 100 hours negotiating amongst Council Members and with the de Blasio Administration, the Council made tremendous strides to ensure that the City of New York's Fiscal 2016 Adopted Budget represents the principles of Responsible Prosperity – a budget that is transparent, progressive, efficient, and equitable, and aims to ensure access, opportunity, and justice for ALL New Yorkers. We were successful.

This year marked the second year of a budget process free of the burdensome and detrimental “Budget Dance” during which funding cuts were made frequently and broadly by the Mayor to essential services, with little purpose other than to force the Council to focus on these services rather than broader budgetary issues.

Without the distraction of such an ineffective process, the Council was able to focus its energy on the issues that really matter – examining agency operations, promoting transparency in the budget, and putting forth a Council initiative spending plan totaling over $300 million that provides access, opportunity, and justice for all New Yorkers.

Budget Hearings and Budget Response

The Council's budgetary priorities and vision for New York City were first expressed, as a collective body, in its Response to the Mayor's Fiscal 2016 Preliminary Budget. This Budget Response specified the changes to the Preliminary Budget that the Council sought to be included in the Executive Budget.

The Council made its voice heard and the Executive Budget, released by the Mayor on May 7th, included many of the Council's priorities that were not previously included in the Preliminary Budget, such as increased funding and headcount for the Human Rights Commission; increased funding for the Anti-Gun Violence Initiative; an increase in the number of shelter beds for runaway and homeless youth; restoration of CUNY Prep; baselined funding for Priority 5 vouchers, tree pruning in the City's parks, and the elimination of school lunch fees in most middle schools, and the addition of new or revised units of appropriations into the Executive Budget.

Even with these notable victories in hand, the Council continued to diligently advocate for the inclusion of budget actions that would reinforce the principles of Responsible Prosperity within our City and our budget, including addressing the unintended consequences of baselining Council initiatives, outlined below.

For over three weeks in May and June, the Council held engaging and robust hearings that delved into the details of the Executive Budget. These included testimony from the Office of Management and Budget at both the start and end of the hearings to ensure that the Council had adequate opportunity to closely examine all aspects of the Executive Budget, from its structure to the City's Ten-Year Capital Strategy to the agency-specific budgets. Throughout this process, the Speaker and the Council's Budget Negotiating Team continued to represent the priorities and concerns of all 51 Council Members to the Administration. In working with their colleagues in delegations, participating in the budget hearings, and proposing new initiatives, all Council Members were actively engaged in crafting the Fiscal 2016 Adopted Budget.

It was this engagement and collaborative spirit that allowed the Council to see an unprecedented level of inclusion of Budget Response items in the Adopted Budget - a total of $148 million. This is truly a testament to the deliberative approach that the Council took in determining which proposals to put forth, as well as to the way Council Members joined together as a united body to speak as one and advocate fiercely for our priorities.

Fiscal 2016 Adopted Budget

Through the collaborative efforts of the Speaker, the Finance Chair, all Council Members, and the Mayor, the Council is proud to present a budget agreement which does not include any funding cuts to core services or programs that the City's residents rely upon every day, maintains or enhances funding levels to all the Council's existing initiatives, and in fact creates 35 new Council initiatives. The following list demonstrates some of the noteworthy inclusions in this year's budget agreement:

- Provides Free Breakfast and Lunch to Thousands of Students. The budget agreement reached by the City Council and the Mayor includes funding to start providing breakfast in the classroom to thousands of students in 530 elementary schools across the City and continue to provide universal free lunch to middle school students at all stand-alone middle schools.
- Implements 6-Day Library Service Across the City. The City Council will invest $21 million and the Mayor will invest $22 million, for a total of $43 million, into our three Library systems to increase access to libraries and ensure 6-day service in every public library across the City.
- Strengthens Community Policing and Put More Police Officers on the Streets. The City Council secured an agreement to hire 1,297 new police officers and to civilianize an additional 415 jobs to put more police officers on the beat and keep New Yorkers safe. The City Council also led the charge to control costs within the Police Department's budget by implementing a multi-year plan to limit overtime spending.
- Establishes a Citywide Bail Fund. The City Council will provide $1.4 million to establish a Citywide Bail Fund to keep those accused of non-violent, low-level offenses from having to go to jail simply because they cannot afford to pay bail. The Council's Bail Fund will provide bail of up to $2,000, save the City millions of dollars in incarceration costs, and help make the City's criminal justice system more just.
- Invests in Senior Housing. The budget agreement will fund the construction of 5,000 new units of senior housing with onsite support services.
- Supports our City's Youth by Creating a Year-Round Jobs Program and Expanding the Summer Youth Employment Program. The City Council will provide $12 million to create a Year-Round Job Program for 6,000 young adults and, in conjunction with the Mayor, will invest $21 million to expand the Summer Youth Employment Program to provide approximately 53,000 youth with summer jobs. Additionally, the City Council will add 950 summer youth jobs through our Anti-Gun Violence Initiative.
- Supports New York City's Veterans. With the Mayor, the City Council will provide $2.8 million to double funding for the Mayor's Office of Veterans Affairs, increase support for homeless veterans, assist with job placement and legal and mental health services, and enhance the City Council's Veterans Initiative.

- Increases Funding for the City Council’s Unaccompanied Minors Initiative. The City Council will provide an additional $500,000, for a total of $1.5 million, to provide every unaccompanied minor in New York City with an attorney, and to provide immigrant adults with children in the surge docket with legal services, health care, education, and social services.
- Expands the CUNY Accelerated Study in Associate Programs (ASAP) Program. The City Council and the Mayor have agreed to vastly expand the ASAP Program to assist students in earning associate degrees within three years by providing a range of financial, academic, and personal supports. The increased funding will ultimately bring enrollment to 25,000 students and lead to higher graduation rates.
- Combats Human Trafficking. The City Council will provide $750,000 to provide services to survivors of human trafficking in specialty courts.
- Eliminates Disparities in Health Care for Immigrants. The City Council will provide $1.5 million to launch the Immigrant Health Initiative to eliminate disparities and increase health care services for immigrant New Yorkers.
- Expands High School Athletics. The City Council and the Mayor will jointly invest $2.4 million to expand physical educational and wellness programs and support athletic leagues in small schools to ensure that a more diverse student population can participate in sports programs and that schools are fulfilling their State physical education mandates.
- Protects Our Homes. The City Council will add $1 million to the Fire Department’s program to provide free smoke detectors. The City Council will also provide $2 million for the new Home Loan Program Initiative to provide direct, low-interest home improvement loans to the owners of one-to four-family homes in all five boroughs.
- Invests in Parks Maintenance. The City Council is providing $8.65 million for park maintenance to ensure that service levels are maintained throughout the City.
- Enhances the Worker Cooperative Business Development Initiative. The City Council will include an additional $2.1 million to expand our Worker Cooperative Business Development Initiative which will allow for the creation of 22 new worker cooperatives.

Units of Appropriation

While not included as part of Schedule C, the Council made it a priority to advocate for increased transparency in the budget with changes to units of appropriation. Units of appropriation are the basic building blocks of the budget and represent strict spending guidelines for the Administration. Therefore, adding or changing units of appropriation can serve as a major step toward improving transparency at the City. For Fiscal 2016, the Council has secured the following new units of appropriation and changes to existing units of appropriation:

- New unit of appropriation for the Mayor’s Office of Contract Services;
- New unit of appropriation for Universal Pre-Kindergarten within the Department of Education’s budget;
- New unit of appropriation for Early Intervention;
- Rename unit of appropriation 001 in the Miscellaneous Budget to Labor Reserve;

- Move funding with the Department of Education's budget for networks and clusters from the General Education Instruction and School Leadership unit of appropriation to the Regional Administration unit of appropriation;
- Move all budget codes for epidemiology services into the Epidemiology Services unit of appropriation within the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's budget; and
- Move charter school support costs to the Charter School unit of appropriation within the Department of Education's budget.

In addition, the Administration has committed to make four changes to units of appropriation, object codes, or the general presentation of the budget by the Fiscal 2017 Preliminary Budget. Those changes are:

- New unit of appropriation for Legal Services within the Human Resources Administration's budget;
- Revise the New York Police Department's Budget Function Analysis such that program area descriptions include new units, budgeted overtime is presented by program area, and spending is delineated by funding source;
- Create an object code for charter schools in the Expense and Contract Budget; and
- Include a separate section in the School Construction Authority's Five-Year Capital Plan to detail sources of funding.

Terms and Conditions

The Adopted Budget includes a total of 30 terms and conditions. These measures require agencies to facilitate information sharing and reporting as project-specific spending advances. In addition to all of the terms and conditions that were attached to last year's budget and are being reattached to this year's budget, some of the 13 new terms and conditions for Fiscal 2016 include:

- Quarterly reports from the Administration for Children's Services on the number of youth aging out of foster care who subsequently enter into a Department of Homeless Services' shelter;
- An annual report from the New York City Housing Authority detailing physical improvements made pursuant to the Mayor's Action Plan for Neighborhood Safety and the Roof Repair Program;
- An annual report from the Department of Education detailing how funds are spent by the Public School Athletic League; and
- Quarterly reports from the New York Police Department on the demographics of newly hired police officers, the assigned intersections of school crossing guards, and the budgeted headcount and vacancies of school crossing guards.

Issues Related to Baselined City Council Initiatives

In late 2013, the prior Administration baselined $504 million worth of Council-funded services. In Fiscal 2015, many agencies began to formally procure some of the baselined initiatives through a Request for Proposal (RFP), as required by the City's procurement process. As a result, many community-based organizations that received Council funding in the past were prevented from continuing to receive City funding for the ensuing fiscal year. This year, at the strong urging of the Council, the Administration has agreed to continue funding certain organizations providing physical and mental health that were in danger of losing funding. The Administration has also committed to working with the Council as it continues the RFP process for the remainder of the funds to ensure that the RFPs are crafted in a manner that would be inclusive of the organizations that are providing these vital services across the City and would minimize the disruption of those services.

Discretionary Funding

Each year, Council Members allocate discretionary funds to not-for-profit organizations in order to meet local needs and fill gaps in City agency services. While not a large part of the budget, this funding allows the City to take advantage of Council Members' localized knowledge to better target services to residents. Council rules adopted last year raised the already high standard of transparency by which this funding operates in requiring that the method used to allocate funding among Members be publicly disclosed.

In this budget, each Member is allocated a base $400,000 in expense funding. Members are further allocated an additional $25,000; $50,000; $75,000; or $100,000 depending upon the level of poverty in the district.

This year's Schedule C reflects the Council's commitment to Responsible Prosperity and funding those Council initiatives that promote this principle. Our fiscally responsible spending plan is a testament to the power of collaboration, transparency, dedication, and inclusion that will uplift New Yorkers in every neighborhood across the five boroughs.

Fiscal 2015 Adopted Expense Budget Adjustment Summary/Schedule C
New York City Council Finance Division

Introduction

Schedule C designates funding for community based not-for-profit and other public service organizations. Expenditure of any funds for each organization identified in Schedule C is contingent upon the satisfactory completion of: 1) a detailed initial review process; and 2) all applicable City procurement requirements at the time of contract award. Even then, funding may be used only for appropriately reimbursable expenses, as determined by the administering agency.

For-profit entities may not receive discretionary funds, except when the primary not-for-profit funding recipient subcontracts with a for-profit entity as part of the delivery of services. Such proposed subcontracts, however, must be:

- only an ancillary part of the program to be funded - not the primary basis for the discretionary award; and
- pre-approved by the contracting agency and the City Council.

The New York City Council (Council) and the Mayor's Office of Contract Services (MOCS) have established the following initial review for all organizations listed in Schedule C:

- The Council reviews the public purpose for which the funds would be used and for any potential conflicts of interest; and
- MOCS reviews for demonstrated compliance with New York State charity registration requirements.

While approved subcontractors of organizations that receive discretionary funding are not generally required to submit a pre-qualification application, they are, however, subject to conflict of interest disclosure requirements, as are not-for-profit organizations. Prior to the designation of community based not-for-profit and other public service organizations, Members are required to disclose on the record any potential conflicts of interest with organizations funded by other members. A record of such disclosures for organizations funded in this document can be found on the Council's website, available at http://council.nyc.gov/html/budget/fy16_documents.shtml.

For organizations requesting discretionary funding, the Council reviews past performance, compliance with laws, rules, regulations, and policies, including corporate status, any reported investigations, audits, inquiries, and other relevant information.

For organizations requesting funding in excess of $10,000, MOCS conducts a second layer of pre-qualification review. Through this process, MOCS reviews each organization to determine whether it meets integrity requirements and is in compliance with applicable laws and regulations, including charities registration. MOCS also reviews each such organization to determine whether the organization is qualified to provide the proposed services. Organizations that were approved during prior fiscal years will again be reviewed and their qualifications recertified in order to receive any proposed funding for Fiscal 2016. Further, for any organization receiving funding through a fiscal conduit, the fiscal conduit must also be approved by MOCS through the pre-qualification process. Only organizations receiving less than $10,000 total in discretionary funding may be eligible use a fiscal conduit.

For those organizations identified in Schedule C without an asterisk, the Council has completed its review process and, where applicable, MOCS has preliminarily reviewed or prequalified the organization and any associated fiscal conduit, and the organization has attended MOCS corporate governance, fiscal management and compliance training, if required to attend.

For those organizations identified in Schedule C with an asterisk either MOCS or the Council's review process has not yet been completed; the New York State Attorney General's Office has not yet provided the Council with final verification of the organization's charitable filing status; or the organization is required to attend MOCS corporate governance, fiscal management and compliance training. All such reviews and requirements must be completed prior to contract award.

Further restrictions to ensure the appropriate use of City funds will be incorporated through the City's procurement process.

All organizations receiving funding pursuant to an initiative will be subject to pre-qualification review and approval by the Mayor's Office of Contract Services.

Anti-Poverty

When allocating funding this year, the Council used a poverty indicator to provide a basis for which to fund programs. Poverty was estimated at the Council District level using 2012 American Community Survey data, specifically the number of individuals below the federal poverty level. Funding provided to the listed organizations will help to address income disparities throughout the five boroughs.

The Council's allocation of $8.9 million to the criminal justice programs funded in this area represent innovative and highly effective paths to criminal justice reform. Programs in this area demonstrate that criminal justice can promote safe neighborhoods, provide survivors with the tools to rebuild, and provide offenders a true chance at reform and re-entry to society. Building on the success of existing programs the Council has allocated funding for a bail fund, a program that both reduces incarceration costs and brings further equality to the justice system without impacting public safety. Together, the programs funded by the Council underscore the Council's belief that breaking the cycle of poverty and crime requires a holistic and thoughtful reform of public safety and criminal justice. Funding for criminal justice services reflects an increase of $3.1 million, or 54 percent, above the Fiscal 2015 amount of $5.8 million.

The Fiscal 2016 budget continues the historic trend to increase resources to combat domestic violence with an enhancement of $680,000 for the Domestic Violence and Empowerment Program (DoVE). Education

The City Council prioritized the needs of New York City public school students, and the teachers and staff that support them across all five boroughs. The education initiatives provide direct benefits that support school budgets and students’ needs. Through the Council’s strong encouragement and persistence, the Administration added the following: $53.1 million over four fiscal years to fully implement Breakfast in the Classroom in all standalone elementary schools by Fiscal 2019; baselined funding of $11.25 million for free lunch in all standalone middle schools; a total of $12.5 million for 30 additional special education teams for K-12 students and a headcount increase of 94 positions specifically for pre-kindergarten special education committee team needs; and $6.6 million for physical education needs in schools.

While the Council and Administration worked collaboratively on the above-mentioned issues, the Council continues to invest in areas the Administration chose not to, like the need for an LGBT liaison, further investment in restorative practices, and enhancements to critical initiatives like the Small Schools Athletic League and Teacher’s Choice. In addition, as a reflection of the Council’s commitment to the advancement of young people in science and technology, the Council also established two new initiatives (NASA GLOBE and STEM Teacher’s College) to continue to close the digital and technological divide.

Health Services

The Health Services initiatives funded by the Council in Fiscal 2016 reflect the Council's continued commitment to vital prevention and supportive services for the most vulnerable populations such as children, women of childbearing age, immigrants, medically underserved populations and the uninsured. The Council has provided $2.3 million in new funding for services related to increasing health care and coverage, providing automated external defibrillators, and expanded services for hepatitis B and C treatment and prevention.

In addition, the Council has committed funding to advance the Ending the Epidemic Campaign, a three-point plan to end the AIDS epidemic in New York State. Since 80 percent of people newly diagnosed with HIV in New York State hail from New York City, the City Council advocated for the City to match the Governor's $10 million commitment to Ending the Epidemic. To ensure that this plan is successful, the Council included $3.9 million in community-based prevention and supportive services.

Finally, the Council successfully advocated for the inclusion of $13.8 million for health services that were provided by community-based organizations and was baselined in Fiscal 2014. After receiving extensions in Fiscal 2015, this funding was slated to be procured and repurposed in Fiscal 2016, with over 100 organizations scheduled to lose vital funding. These services, which the Council has supported for over 10 years, includes funding for HIV prevention services for vulnerable populations, oral health services for underserved children, comprehensive services for uninsured patients, reproductive health services, cancer prevention services and services targeting communities with high infant mortality rates. Most importantly, the Council will work with DOHMH and the Administration in Fiscal 2016 to revisit the procurement of these services to ensure the Council's priorities are reflected in DOHMHs budget.

This initiative offers an innovative approach with specialized services, including incorporating trauma-informed care into shelter services to build resiliency among children and youth; creating of an aftercare program to provide comprehensive case management, employment, financial counseling, crisis intervention, and family supports to help families achieve economic self-sufficiency and reduce the likelihood of returning to shelter; and evidenced-based practices to prevent child maltreatment in high-risk cases to protect child well-being and development.

Housing Initiative

Housing agencies and related programmatic activities rely heavily on federal subsidies. However, federal resources for housing agencies remain under severe pressure and there is tremendous uncertainty as to future federal funding. This requires housing agencies to coordinate with elected officials on programmatic activities to ensure that community needs are met at the City level. In addition, the implementation of Housing New York, Mayor de Blasio's plan to create and preserve 200,000 units of affordable housing over the next ten years, will bring substantial new construction, significant population growth, and increased pressure on existing infrastructure and the City's housing market. To this end, Council funding will provide a critical resource to ensure that communities access the tools, resources, and programming necessary to address local housing needs. In Fiscal 2016, the City Council will provide approximately $11.9 million to HPD's annual operating budget. Most of this funding, about $8.9 million, is allocated to local community-based organizations which are tasked with carrying out the goals of Council housing initiatives, including tenant advocacy and education, code enforcement advocacy, housing court assistance, and other housing-related public education. In addition, the Council will provide approximately $3.4 million to NYCHA's annual operating budget for the ongoing operation of 15 senior centers and the creation of a participatory budgeting process.

Immigrant Services

For Fiscal 2016, the City Council included $12.4 million for immigrant services that reflect the Council’s continued commitment to ensuring that immigrant New Yorkers have access to legal assistance, educational services, and other services. This includes a continued commitment to the nation’s first government-funded legal representation program for detained and non-detained immigrants, consular identification services, legal and social services for children in removal proceedings, and free legal services to assist immigrants on their paths to U.S. citizenship. In addition, the City Council included $1.5 million for services focused on reducing health disparities among foreign-born New Yorkers and $500,000 to expand services to adults with children in removal proceedings in New York’s immigration courts.

In addition, the Fiscal 2016 Preliminary budget lacked adequate funding for services related to administrative relief and other services that were earmarked for the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program. To address this shortfall, the Council successfully negotiated with the Administration to include an additional $5.6 million to expand legal services, outreach, and other critical services for immigrant New Yorkers.

Legal Services

As has been the practice for the last fifteen years, the Fiscal 2016 budget includes funding to support the work of legal service providers through a number of City Council initiatives. The organizations depend on the partnership with the Council in order to provide free civil legal services to low and middle income New Yorkers citywide. In Fiscal 2016 the City Council will allocate $14.2 million to supplement City funding that provides legal services. These services are focused on civil justice issues, such as housing and employment which help to ensure low and moderate income New Yorkers' legal cases are heard equitably and effectively. By increasing access to civil legal services, these programs also send a strong message that all New Yorkers have the right to be treated fairly by landlords and employers, and help to minimize a source of instability for many of these households.

Of note, in Fiscal 2015, the de Blasio Administration shifted funding and responsibility for civil legal services from the Departments of Homeless Services, Housing and Preservation Development, Youth and Community Development, Aging, and the Mayor's Office of Criminal Justice to Human Resources Administration (HRA) in an effort to ensure maximum service impact to low-income New Yorkers and provide accountability. HRA has established and staffed a new unit to handle legal matters. The Fiscal 2016 Executive Budget includes $49.2 million in Fiscal 2016 increasing to $65.2 million in Fiscal 2017 and in the outyears for legal services at HRA.

Libraries

Libraries offer free and open access to books, periodicals, electronic resources and non-print materials. A number of public services such as reference and career services, and educational, cultural and recreational programming for adults, young adults and children are also provided. Large funding deficits to the library systems beginning in Fiscal 2011 required the Council to add funding so that New Yorkers continued to have access to the resources provided by the library systems. As part of the negotiated Fiscal 2016 Budget, the Administration agreed to partner with the Council to boost library funding by $43 million to allow all three library systems to provide six day service at nearly every one of the over 210 branches.

Mental Health Services

For Fiscal 2016, the City Council included $12.1 million for mental health services that reflect the Council’s continued commitment to ensuring that vulnerable New Yorkers with behavioral health needs have access to competent community-based services. This includes funding for autism services, a suicide prevention hotline, and adult recreation and rehabilitation programs. In addition, the City Council included $1 million for mental health care for lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer (LGBTQ) youth across New York City and $1.9 million to provide mental health services to court-involved youth and families. Moreover, the Fiscal 2016 Preliminary Budget lacked adequate funding for services to prevent overdose deaths. To address this shortfall, the Council successfully negotiated with the Administration to include an additional $1.25 million to expand the availability of naloxone, a medication used to reverse opioid overdose, and buprenorphine, a medication which treats addiction to or dependence on narcotic medicine.

Finally, the Council successfully advocated for the inclusion of $8.7 million for health services that were provided by community-based organizations and was baselined in Fiscal 2014. In Fiscal 2016, this funding was slated to be procured and repurposed, with over 100 organizations scheduled to lose vital funding. These services, which the Council has supported for over 10 years, includes funding for autism services, mental health services for children under five who have experienced trauma, mental health services for seniors, medically supervised outpatient programs (MSOPS), Article 16 developmental disability clinics, and other mental health services.

Most importantly, the Council will work with DOHMH and the Administration in Fiscal 2016 to revisit the procurement of these services to ensure the Council’s priorities are reflected in DOHMH’s budget.

Parks and Recreation

Maintenance of the City’s parks system has improved, in part, due to the collaborative efforts of the Council and the Administration. However, the improvements have not been distributed equally throughout the City. Parks in low- and moderate-income neighborhoods are generally less well maintained than parks in wealthier neighborhoods that are supported by private organizations. In an effort to promote fairness, this year the Council worked with the Administration to baseline more than $10 million, including $5 million for Parks Enforcement Patrol (PEP) officers, $2.6 million for tree pruning, and $3.1 million for repair of sidewalks damaged by trees. The Council increased its allocation to Parks Equity and the Maintenance Initiatives. These initiatives will invest $11.4 million in Fiscal 2016 to ensure continued improvement in parks maintenance, tree stumps removal, and increased support for various local neighborhood parks citywide.

Public Safety Initiative

In Fiscal 2016, the Council allocates $13.3 million towards a variety of public safety initiatives and programs that support the Council’s efforts towards the provision of public safety and awareness across the City. Through its partnership with the Administration, the Council enhanced its funding of the New York City’s Crisis Management System, which uses a community-based approach to reducing gun violence. While, the Vision Zero Education efforts build on the Administration’s vision to improve traffic safety citywide and reduce traffic-related fatalities on City streets. The Council’s public safety initiatives include funding to distribute smoke detectors citywide and expand the NYPD’s Juvenile Robbery Intervention Program. The Council’s funding ensures the safety and security of all New Yorkers. Lastly, in the Fiscal 2016 Budget the Council has secured a commitment from the Administration to increase the police force by 1,297 officers, redeploy 415 officers to enforcement functions by hiring 415 civilian staff, and control overtime spending. The addition $170 million provided in Fiscal 2016 will allow the Police Department to implement a transformative neighborhood policing strategy.

The Department for the Aging's (DFTA) Fiscal 2016 budget lacked adequate funding for many senior services that elderly New Yorkers rely on daily. To address this shortfall, the Council successfully negotiated with the Administration to include an additional $4.8 million to address the homecare waitlist of 504 seniors awaiting homecare services and $2.8 million in baseline funding for citywide elder abuse services, which is an unprecedented funding amount for elder abuse services. Additionally, in Fiscal 2016, the Council allocated more than $24 million for senior services initiatives, including enhanced funding for core senior centers operating costs, funding to address the case management waitlist of almost 2,000 seniors awaiting case management services, initiatives that aid seniors to age safely in place, and an initiative that supports senior centers that predominantly serve immigrant senior populations.
