2 SERGEANT-AT-ARMS: Good morning. This is a 3 microphone check for the Committee on Governmental 4 Operations, State and Federal Legislation. Today's 5 date is April 19, 2024, located in the Committee
6 Room, recording done by Pedro Lugo.

7 SERGEANT-AT-ARMS: Good morning and 8 welcome to the New York City Council hearing of the 9 Committee on Governmental Operations, State and 10 Federal Legislation.

11 At this time, can everybody please 12 silence your cell phones.

13 If you wish to testify, please go up to 14 the Sergeant-at-Arms' desk to fill out a testimony 15 slip.

16 At this time and going forward, no one is 17 to approach the dais. I repeat, no one is to approach 18 the dais.

19 Thank you for your cooperation.

20 Chair, we are ready to begin.

21 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: [GAVEL] Good 22 morning. My name is Lincoln Restler, and I am the 23 Chair of the Committee on Governmental Operations and 24 State and Federal Legislation. That's a mouthful. I'd 25 like to welcome my Colleagues who've joined us this

1 morning, especially Council Member Brewer who I'm 2 very happy to see and, of course, Brooklyn's newest 3 Council Member, the one and only David Carr. It's 4 good to see you both.

6           At today's hearing, the Committee will be 7 conducting an oversight will be conducting an 8 oversight hearing on New York City's lobbying laws 9 and necessary reforms. Governing doesn't happen in a 10 vacuum. We rely on external stakeholders for policy 11 expertise and technical information, but we must 12 ensure that there is transparency, accountability, 13 and integrity in our government and that certain 14 actors do not have an outsized influence. We need to 15 put careful limits and reporting requirements in 16 place to prevent people from profiting off of 17 government service and to demonstrate to our 18 constituents that this is a fair and just city with 19 leaders who are prioritizing the needs of our 20 constituents over special interests or self-dealing.
21 It's been over a decade since the City Council has 22 held a lobbying oversight hearing or considered 23 legislative updates to our current lobbying laws. I 24 want to thank Speaker Adrian Adams for her support in 25 holding our hearing today.

2           In the past decade, the lobbying industry
3 has exploded. In 2023, lobbyists were paid over 131
4 million dollars to lobby City officials. That's 5 nearly double what they brought in since our last 6 lobbying oversight hearing over a decade ago. It's 7 past time to take a fresh look at our lobbying laws 8 and consider what improvements we can make to 9 strengthen them. It is our responsibility to make 10 exceedingly clear to the public who has the ear of 11 their elected officials and how much they are paid to 12 exert their influence.

13           In addition to examining the 14 effectiveness of our City's lobbying laws, we will be 15 hearing three bills today that I believe would help 16 increase transparency and integrity in our city.
17 Intros 76 and 77 will close loopholes in existing 18 lobbying rules to end the revolving door of senior 19 staff exiting City government and immediately using 20 their power to lobby on behalf of shady clients. I 21 will offer the example of the Mayor's first Chief of 22 Staff, Frank Carone. He was involved in the hiring of 23 all senior officials. He was involved in every key 24 policy decision that was made by the Adams 25 Administration and, yet, he freely admitted that he

1 was building a future lobbying practice while working 2 in this very building. When he left City government
3 at the end of 2022, he was legally permitted to lobby 4 99 percent of City workers the very next day. The 5 only restriction he faced was advocating on behalf of 6 clients to people who worked in the Office of the 7 Mayor, but every other Mayoral agency was fair game.
8 To offer some insight into the scale of his practice 9 at Oak Tree Solutions, New York Magazine recently 10 reported that Carone's firm is generating at least 24 11 million dollars annually in lobbying fees.

13           Beyond senior City Hall staffers, current 14 laws fail to take into account the relationships that 15 the most senior agency leaders build across City 16 government, which is why our legislation would ban 17 the most powerful policy makers from lobbying any 18 City agency after leaving public service, not just 19 the one they work for. Our legislation would finally 20 make New York City's post government service lobbying 21 restrictions consistent with the widely heralded 22 paragon of good governance, Albany, New York. No one 23 should be allowed to leave a position of power in 24 City government and exercise that power to influence 25 City agencies as they pass through the revolving

1 door, and that applies to city Council Members, too.
2 That's why our second piece of legislation proposes 3 an expansion of anti-lobbying rules to ban former 4 Council Members from appearing before any City agency
5 for two years, not just the Council.

7           The loopholes in our existing system 8 undermine the integrity of our government and the 9 faith that New Yorkers have in us when their needs 10 are being overlooked at the expense of special 11 interests. We need to ensure our public officials are 12 committed to the public good, not to enriching 13 themselves.

14           Intro. 742, sponsored by my Colleague, 15 Council Member Gale Brewer, would prevent individuals 16 who have worked as a campaign fundraiser or political 17 consultant from lobbying the elected official whose 18 campaign they worked for a period of two years. When 19 a Council staffer leaves my office, they must wait 20 for a period of time before engaging the Council on 21 work-related issues. The same should be true for our 22 campaign staff.

23           I want to thank our Committee Staff, 24 Counsel Jayasri Ganapathy and Erica Cohen, for their 25 hard work in putting together this hearing. I'd also

1 like to thank my Communications Director, Nieve 2 Mooney, for her terrific work. She's also getting 3 married next week, so happy almost wedding, Nieve,
4 and I lastly want to thank my Chief-of-Staff, Molly 5 Haley, for putting so much work into this and being 6 extraordinary.

8           During the hearing, I will be calling on 9 panelists to testify. I'd like to remind everyone who 10 is testifying via Zoom that you will be on mute until 11 you are called on to testify at which point you will 12 be unmuted by the host.

13           For those of you who are testifying in 14 person, be sure to sign up with the Sergeant-at-Arms 15 in the back, even if you registered in advance. You 16 may approach the witness table when your name is 17 called and turn on your microphone before giving your 18 testimony.

19           At this hearing, we will be inviting 20 testimony from the Conflicts of Interest Board and 21 the City Clerk's Office, and then from members of the 22 public.

23           During the hearing, if Council Members 24 would like to ask a question of the Administration or 25

1 a specific panelist, please let me know and I will 2 call on you in order.

4 For all panelists, when called to 5 testify, please share your name and the organization 6 you represent, if any.

7 We will be also including the Campaign
8 Finance Board to answer questions as well.

9 We will now call representatives of the 10 Administration to testify. We will be hearing 11 testimony from the City Clerk Michael McSweeney, and 12 Deputy Clerk Damaris Acosta, Ethan Carrier, General 13 Counsel at the Conflicts of Interest Board and 14 Carolyn Miller, Executive Director of the Conflicts 15 of Interest Board, and we will also be joined for 16 questions by Paul Ryan, Executive Director of the 17 Campaign Finance Board.

18 At this time, I'd like to firstly 19 recognize Inna Vernikov. Thank you very much, Council 20 Member, for joining us this morning.

21 I'd like to call on the Committee Counsel 22 to administer the affirmation.

23 Oh, and Council Member Shahana Hanif. I
24 didn't see you sneak in there. Good morning.

2           Why don't we go to Council Member Brewer 3 for her opening remarks, and then we'll swear in the 4 folks testifying today. Thank you.

5           COUNCIL MEMBER BREWER: Thank you very 6 much, and thank you, Chair Restler, for your focus on 7 this issue. Many years ago, I was Chair of Government 8 Operations Committee, and I know how important this 9 topic is to the City of New York.

10           I want to just start by saying I have a 11 lot of respect for lobbyists. I think they bring 12 information that is crucial. They often have 13 lengthier careers in topics that sometimes because of 14 term limits and the way our City operates, more 15 expertise than many others, and it's vastly needed by 16 our City so I want to say that to start with.

17           Intro. 742, which I am a sponsor of, 18 along with Council Member Restler and others. He said 19 it correctly. If I have a staff member who is leaving 20 and becomes a lobbyist, they have to wait a year in 21 order to talk to me about any substantive issue.
22 However, just like many other people, I employ 23 individuals who helped me get elected, known as a 24 campaign advisor, sometimes it's a company, sometimes 25 it's an individual, sometimes it's a combination of 1 people. Those individuals, in my opinion, should 2 stick to campaign work. They should not be contacting 3 me about issues. According to the wonderful briefing, 4 and I always want to thank the Staff because these 5 briefings are phenomenal, lobbying of City Council 6 Members in 2023 accounted for 24 percent, and 7 lobbying of City Council Staff was 17 percent, 8 spending on lobbying the Mayor and his Staff 9 accounted for 9 percent, which apparently was much 10 more than previous Mayors, who averaged between 4 and 11 6 percent and, as you heard from the Chair, there's a 12 lot more money involved in lobbying today so it is 13 important for me, when you think about the Mayor, the 14 Public Advocate, the City Comptroller, the Borough

15 President, and Council Members, all of whom, I 16 believe, employ individuals to help us get elected. I 17 personally don't want somebody who's helping me get 18 elected, for whom I have great respect, coming to me 19 with an issue. Number one of lobbying topics is real 20 estate followed by non-profits, and I may have a lot 21 of respect for the real estate firms and a lot of 22 respect for the non-profits but, if they want to talk 23 to me, they should call me individually. I'm happy to 24 talk to almost anybody. There may be a few people I 25

1 don't want to talk to, but most people I will talk 2 to, and so the issue is do it that way, do not have 3 your campaign people. Similarly, somebody who's 4 working with you on substantive lobbying issues, I 5 don't want them to be running somebody's campaign. To 6 me, that is a mix that should not exist. To my 7 experience, most people separate them. They either do 8 campaign work or they do lobbying work. They don't 9 mix. But there are some that do, and I think that's a 10 situation that should not exist. Thank you very much, 11 Mr. Chair.

13 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Thank you so much,
14 Council Member Brewer. I will say that in preparing 15 for this hearing, I did look back to transcripts from 16 when you were Chairing the Committee and was very 17 impressed, and it's unfortunate that we're still 18 talking about some of the same issues that you were 19 advocating for 15-odd years ago today, but that's 20 where we are and we're going to keep pushing.

21 Without further ado, I'd like to invite 22 the members of the Administration who are here to 23 testify or members of City government who are here to 24 testify. I'll call the representatives again up to 25 join the panel, City Clerk Michael McSweeney and

1 Deputy Clerk Damaris Acosta, Ethan Carrier and 2 Carolyn Miller from the Conflicts of Interest Board, 3 and Paul Ryan from the Campaign Finance Board, and 4 Patrick Synmoie from the Clerk's Office as well.

6 COMMITTEE COUNSEL GANAPATHY: Thank you,
7 panelists. Will you please raise your right hand so I 8 can administer the affirmation?

9 Do you affirm to tell the truth, the 10 whole truth, and nothing but the truth before the 11 Committee and respond honestly to Council Member 12 questions?

13 ADMINISTRATION: I do.

14 COMMITTEE COUNSEL GANAPATHY: Thank you.
15 You may proceed.

16 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Should we start with 17 COIB and then perhaps the Clerk's Office after that?

18 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Yeah, that's 19 just fine with us. We just want to make one little 20 note before we start. We're not part of the 21 Administration. We're an independent City agency.

22 I am Ethan Carrier. Good morning, Chair
23 Restler and Members of the Committee on Government 24 Operations, State and Federal Legislation. I'm the 25 General Counsel at the Conflicts of Interest Board.

1 Here with me is the Board's Executive Director, 2 Carolyn Lisa Miller. We are here on behalf of COIB to 3 offer testimony about Intros 76 and 77 of 2024.

5           Since its creation by the voters of the 6 City of New York in 1989, COIB has been entrusted to 7 administer the City's Conflicts of Interest Law found 8 in Chapter 68 of the City Charter to fulfill a 9 critical mission to preserve the trust placed in 10 public servants of the City, to promote public 11 confidence in government, to promote the integrity of 12 government decision-making, and enhance government 13 efficiency. COIB supports the Council's interest in 14 furthering this mission. However, when considering 15 proposed amendments to Chapter 68, it is critical to 16 maintain the delicate balance of both public 17 interests at play here, the need to limit the reality
18 and appearance of undue influence by former public 19 servants on government decision-making versus the 20 need to continue to attract highly qualified people
21 to City service. By seeking to amend Chapter 68
22 through legislation rather than through a Charter 23 Revision Commission, that balance may not be 24 achieved, the interests of the impacted stakeholders 25 will likely not be fully accounted for, and

2 unintended consequences could well result. First, 3 some brief historical background. The first post-
4 employment communication ban imposed on former public
5 servants in New York City was proposed by the 1986-88 6 Charter Revision Commission and approved by the 7 voters in November 1988. That restriction found in 8 Charter Section 2604(d)(2) was narrowly tailored and 9 straightforward, prohibiting almost every public
10 servant from appearing, a defined term in Chapter 68 11 that essentially means communicating for 12 compensation, before their former City agency for one 13 year. For elected officials, deputy mayors and the 14 heads of six named city agencies, the restriction 15 extended to the branch of government served, which 16 for Council Members was the City Council and, for the 17 other named officials, was the entire executive 18 branch. This new prohibition supplemented two long 19 standing post-employment restrictions, Charter
20 Section 2604(d)(4), which prohibits a former public 21 servant from profiting from or communicating with any 22 city agency about a particular matter on which they 23 worked at the City, and Charter Section 2604(d)(5), 24 which prohibits a former public servant from using or 25 disclosing confidential information obtained from

1 City service. In essence, Charter Section 2604(d)(2) 2 was added to serve as a one-year buffer for former 3 public servants communicating with their former City
4 agency, even on matters that they had nothing to do
5 with in their City work and involve no confidential
6 information. Charter Section 2604(d)(2) remained 7 unchanged for 32 years. During that 32-year period, 8 COIB provided extensive guidance and education to 9 former public servants about the application of the 10 one-year post-employment communication ban, including 11 31 advisory opinions and countless pieces of formal 12 and informal advice to individual public servants.

14           The first and only changes to the 15 original one-year communication ban were proposed by 16 the 2019 Charter Revision Commission created by the 17 City Council. The proposal substantially increased 18 the complexity of the ban by creating a multi-tiered 19 restriction. The first tier is most public servants 20 still subject to the same one-year ban. The second 21 tier is elected officials and the same small group of 22 high-level officials identified in the original first 23 year post-employment ban for a branch-wide
24 prohibition. They have the same branch-wide 25 prohibition, but now for two years instead of one.

1 The third tier is a new group of public servants, the 2 head of an agency that is not a board or commission, 3 the executive director, or highest ranking public 4 servant employed by a board or commission, and any 5 paid member of a board or commission. For this third 6 tier, they are now subject to a two-year ban, but 7 only for their agency served. The proposed amendments 8 were approved by the voters in November 2019 and 9 became effective for public servants who left City 10 service in January 2022.
11

12           So some concerns about process. These 13 significant changes are the only changes to the 14 restrictions to Chapter 68 since it was approved by 15 the voters in November 1988, and they took effect 16 just over two years ago. Two years is too short of a 17 time to judge the impact of those Charter amendments, 18 in particular, the impact on that delicate balance 19 between limiting the appearance and reality of undue 20 influence on government decision-making with the need 21 to attract the best professionals to City service.
22 There may come a time when it becomes clear that 23 amendments to the post-employment communication ban 24 are necessary, but now is not that time. Moreover, if 25 such a time should come, proposals to amend the 1 Charter should be considered through a Charter 2 Revision Commission process. This is how the 3 prohibitions of Chapter 68 have been amended

4 historically, and for good reason. The Charter
5 Revision Commission engages in a longer deliberative
6 process and seeks through multiple public hearings 7 the input of a large cross-section of stakeholders.
8 Here, such stakeholders would include the current 9 public servants impacted by change in their post-10 employment job opportunities, hiring managers at City
11 agencies such as the Department of Housing, 12 Preservation, and Development, who have struggled to 13 retain and replace essential professionals in the 14 current job environment, and those who work in 15 transition teams or appointment offices on the 16 recruitment, appointment, and retention of agency 17 heads and people to serve on city boards and 18 commissions. Finally, if any changes to Charter 19 Section 2604(d)(2) were to be made now, they should 20 be limited to the referendum on the conduct of 21 elected officials in Intro. 76. To proceed as now 22 proposed, that is to enact both Intro. 76 and Intro.
23 77, would effectively restrict the conduct of non-24 electeds first. Then, if and when such referendum was 25

1 on the ballot, there would be no real choice for 2 voters because what voter would want a ban on elected 3 officials to be less restrictive than other senior 4 government officials?

6           Some concerns about substance. Chapter 68 7 itself and the 2019 amendments were the result of an 8 extensive deliberative process with substantial input 9 and consideration. Any serious change to the 10 regulation of former public servants' conduct should 11 be carefully crafted and as narrow as possible to 12 balance the admirable purpose of ensuring the 13 integrity of government decision-making while not 14 unduly restricting the future professional lives of 15 current public servants. Any additional restriction 16 might have serious collateral consequences for the 17 recruitment of qualified people for important 18 positions throughout City government. COIB's concerns 19 about the substance of Intro. 77 reflect only what 20 this agency has identified in the brief time it has 21 considered this legislation. We would anticipate that 22 additional substantial concerns would come from the 23 many voices that would emerge in a Charter Revision 24 Commission process.

Some concerns about part-time and unpaid policy makers. Chapter 68 imposes lesser restrictions on the conduct of part-time public servants with the implicit understanding that their public service must co-exist with their primary, private employment.

Intro. 77 erases this distinction by adding public servants charged with substantial policy discretion, what we call policymakers, to the category of those with a two-year post-employment communication ban.

Many policymakers are part-time public servants, largely those who are members of boards and commissions and some part-time members of boards and commissions are unpaid. Intro. 77 would impose a one-year post-employment citywide communication ban on part-time unpaid policymakers followed by a second-year of an agency specific ban. The unwanted consequences of this proposed change are demonstrable in one such Commission, Landmarks Preservation. LPC

Commissioners are policymakers who serve part-time and unpaid. Under Charter Section 3020, the 11

Commissioners of the LPC shall include at least three architects, one historian qualified in the field, one city planner or landscape architect, and one realtor.

Under the current law, an architect serving as an LPC

1 Commissioner is prohibited from communicating with 2 LPC during their City service and for one year after 3 departure. Under Intro. 77, that architect would be 4 prohibited from communicating with LPC during their 5 City service but, after departure, would have a much 6 more extensive restriction citywide for one year and 7 then LPC for a second year. A citywide communication 8 ban would effectively preclude an architect from 9 maintaining their practice in the city by prohibiting 10 them from communicating with agencies essential to 11 construction, such as the Department of Buildings, 12 the Department of Transportation, and the Department
13 of Environmental Protection. The City needs industry 14 professionals to be willing to serve on LPC. It is 15 difficult to imagine any architect, city planner, or 16 realtor willing to make that level a professional 17 sacrifice for an unpaid City position, and it is 18 likely that current LPC Commissioners who are active 19 industry professionals would resign before Intro. 77 20 takes effect. The same circumstance exists for many 21 other similarly situated City Boards and Commissions, 22 including many barely paid members of Boards and 23 Commissions, and the recruitment challenges would 24 impact elected officials other than the Mayor. The

2 Taxi and Limousine Commission and the Board of 3 Correction, for example, both have part-time unpaid 4 Board Members appointed by the City Council and would 5 be subject to a two-year post-employment 6 communication ban, including a citywide ban of the 7 first year.

8 I'm going to talk a little bit about 9 full-time policymakers. Policymakers is a term
10 defined in Board Rule Section 1-02. These are public 11 servants designated as such by their agencies. The 12 designation criteria are imprecise and vary greatly 13 depending on the agency's size, hierarchy, and 14 service structure, whether operating centrally or in 15 district or borough offices. Mindful of this, over 16 much of 2023, the Board worked to amend Board Rule 17 Section 1-02 to create a more uniform set of 18 policymakers across differently sized and structured 19 City agencies but failed to identify criteria that 20 would not be either over-inclusive or under-21 inclusive. Without a better option, the Board elected 22 to leave the policymaker definition as is and engage 23 in more fact finding and auditing instead. In its 24 current form, policymakers is a widely overbroad
25 category upon which to impose a two-year post-

1 employment communication ban. It likely includes 2 hundreds of public servants without the portfolios or 3 responsibilities that would cause them to have any 4 influence on an agency other than their own. For 5 policymakers at agencies already experiencing 6 difficulties with hiring and retention, approximately 7 60 at the Department of Housing, Preservation, and 8 Development, over 100 at the Department of Health and 9 Mental Hygiene, for example, there is a strong 10 possibility that there would be resignations before 11 Intro. 77 took effect and even greater challenges in 12 recruiting good candidates.

14 A couple of other overbroad categories.
15 While there may be others, COIB has identified two 16 other anomalies that would result from Intro. 77's 17 new multi-tiered structure. In Intro. 77's second 18 category, the Executive Director or highest-ranking 19 public servant employed by a board or commission 20 would be subject to a one-year citywide ban followed 21 by a second-year agency-only ban. This would mean 22 that district managers at Community Boards earning 23 between 75,000 and 95,000 dollars per year on average 24 would be prohibited from communicating with all of 25 City government for one year, the result

1 disproportionate to their influence with any City 2 agency other than their own Community Board. In 3 Intro. 77's third category, policymakers "in service 4 of the Executive Office of the Mayor" would be 5 subject to a two-year citywide ban. This would mean
6 that the 19 members of the Mayor's Advisory Committee
7 on the Judiciary, part-time unpaid policymakers,
8 would be subject to a two-year citywide communication 9 ban. Members of the Mayor's Advisory Committee on the 10 Judiciary who include law firm partners, arbitrators, 11 and the CEOs of the City not-for-profit would likely 12 resign before being subject to such an expansive 13 prohibition, and it is hard to imagine what qualified 14 individuals would be willing and able to replace 15 them.

17           These are just a handful of the examples 18 of the impact of the proposed amendments on the 19 hiring and retention of qualified individuals to 20 serve in City government, whether as full-time 21 professionals or part-time board members. We would 22 anticipate that those who work in recruitment and 23 hiring of agency heads and board members would have 24 even more examples. COIB stands ready to work to 25 advance, as the Charter mandates, both the integrity

2 and efficiency of City government, and we are 3 available to answer any questions the Council Members 4 may have. Thank you.

5 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Thanks for that.
6 We'll now turn over to the Clerk.

7 Actually, if you don't mind, I just want 8 to thank Council Member Paladino for joining us 9 today. Sorry. Mr. Clerk.

10 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: Chairperson
11 Restler, Council Members, it is an honor to be 12 invited to testify in the Council Chambers today. I 13 thank the Committee on Government Operations and 14 State and Federal Legislation for this privilege.

15 Let me start by acknowledging some of my 16 Senior Staff Members who are in attendance today.
17 Damaris Acosta, Deputy City Clerk in charge of the 18 Lobbying Bureau, , newly returned Deputy General
19 Counsel Jaime Chirichella who has joined us but not 20 at this table, and General Counsel Patrick Synmoie.

21 Since Local Law 129 of 2013 has been 22 enacted, lobbying compensation has doubled as you 23 pointed out earlier. Our 2014 Annual Report listed 24 lobbying compensation in the amount of almost 63
25 million dollars. Our most recent report in 2024

1 listed compensation to the tune of almost 131
2 million. In 2014, we reported that 1,972 statements
3 of registration were filed as compared with 2,282, 4 which were reported in 2024. The Office of the City
5 Clerk is responsible for the regulation of all 6 lobbying activity in New York. Our Office first 7 regulated lobbying of local officials in 1972, when 8 the Council passed Local Law 79 of 1972 and then 9 Local Law 86 of 1973.

11           Through the Lobbying Bureau, we conduct 12 outreach, training, compliance reviews, audits and 13 investigations, and enforcement to ensure that all 14 entities who attempt to influence New York City 15 government, namely lobbyists and clients, not only 16 file requisite reports timely and accurately, but 17 adhere to the text and spirit of the law. Our primary 18 goal has been and continues to be transparency in 19 government. The promotion of transparency in 20 government is a tool that not only educates the 21 public but also serves as a cornerstone to protect 22 integrity in government and to combat waste, misuse, 23 fraud, and corruption.

24           New York City Administrative Code 25 Sections 3-211 through 3-223 regulate the conduct of 1 lobbyists and their clients. There are two types of 2 lobbyists, the professional standalone lobbyist and 3 lobbyist client filers who are essentially in-house 4 lobbyists. A lobbyist is a person, business, or 5 organization that is retained by a client to engage 6 in lobbying in New York City. A lobbyist client filer 7 is an entity whose employees lobby on behalf of the 8 person, business, or organization itself. The client 9 is any business, person, or organization who retains, 10 employs, or designates another entity to engage in 11 lobbying activities on its behalf. Currently, there 12 are approximately 200 lobbyists, 450 lobbyist client

13 filers, and 2,282 clients registered in e-Lobbyist.
14 In 2023, 2,891 statements of registration were filed 15 by lobbyists and lobbyist client filers.

17           The law defines lobbying as an attempt to 18 influence 11 specific activities, including 1) 19 legislation by the City Council, 2) local legislation 20 by the Mayor, 3) contracts or public monies, for 21 example, discretionary funds awarded by Council 22 Members, 4) determinations involving zoning or land 23 use, 5) determinations regarding the sale or purchase 24 of real estate, 6) any determination regarding a 25 rule, 7) agency rate-making proceedings, 8) the

1 agenda or determination of a New York City Board or 2 Commission, 9) calendaring or scope of a Council 3 oversight hearing, 10) Mayoral Executive Orders, and 4 11) any support or opposition of federal or state
5 legislation, rule, or regulation by a New York City
6 elected official or employee. The lobbying reporting 7 system is a self-reporting system and the 8 determination of whether an activity is reportable is 9 a detailed fact-specific three-part analysis. The 10 filer must first review the 11 defined activities, 11 which I just stated, the list of excluded activities, 12 and the reporting threshold of over 5,000 dollars per 13 year, and determine whether reporting is required.
14 The obligation is on the filer upon consultation with 15 their counsel, if they have one or they choose to 16 retain one, to review the facts and law and report 17 accordingly. Ultimately, the filer must look to the 18 nature and intention of the communications, who is 19 communicating with whom and for what purpose, and 20 determine whether reporting is required.

22 Required reports are client-based and 23 include a statement of registration and up to six 24 periodic reports for each client, fundraising and 25 political consulting reports if applicable, and

2 termination notices if applicable. Every client is 3 responsible for filing termination notices as well as 4 a client annual. I want to emphasize the point that 5 the Lobbying Law apply applies the same to all 6 entities, regardless of whether an entity is a for-7 profit or a non-profit organization. This includes 8 foundations, not-for-profit organizations, and 9 charities. Per the Administrative Code, all people 10 and all entities that attempt to influence the City 11 government fall under the jurisdiction of the Office 12 of the City Clerk regardless of trade or profession.
13 I would like to point out that there is no such thing 14 as illegal lobbying as lobbying is a constitutionally 15 protected form of freedom of speech. The question 16 falls as to whether communication with elected 17 officials or officers or employees of the City 18 government are reportable.

19           Since its inception in 1972, the Lobbying 20 Law has been amended multiple times. However, the 21 most significant amendments occurred via Local Law 15
22 of 2006 and Local Law 129 of 2013. The amendments 23 contained in Local Law 129 of 2013 were based in 24 large part upon the recommendations of the Lobbying 25 Commission. The Lobbying Commission consisted of a

1 panel of experts from all areas of government, both 2 public and private sector. The amendments of 2013 3 were expansive and included an expansion of the 4 definitions of lobbying, increasing the City Clerk's 5 reporting requirements, codification of daily late 6 fines for late reports, implementation of a mandatory 7 training program for all lobbyists, initiation of a 8 one-time amnesty program, and the creation of a 9 system for applications for waivers or reductions of 10 late fines and civil penalties. The amnesty period 11 commenced on January 1, 2016, and continued through 12 June 30, 2016. The Lobbying Bureau received 127
13 applications for amnesty and, ultimately, 120
14 entities were granted amnesty, allowing them to file 15 reports without penalty.

17           From 2013 to 2023, the rules of the City 18 have been amended four times to implement numerous 19 important changes, including the amendment of the 20 rules in their entirety in 2015 to conform to newly 21 mandated provisions of Local Law 129 of 2013, the 22 amendment of Section 1-16(d) (2) regarding the 23 deadline for submission of amnesty applications, the 24 addition of Sections 111(c) (2) and (3) to add a 25 provision defining what constitutes minor

1 authorizations by the City Planning Commission on 2 minor decisions related to real property and most 3 recently, 4) amendments to remove automatic 4 extensions granted due to late enrollment per Section 5 111(c) (2).

7           In 2018, the Lobbying Bureau announced 8 the New York City Lobbyist Search Database. The 9 enhanced capabilities of this system greatly assisted 10 our continued efforts to promote transparency in 11 government. The enhancements included dropdown menus
12 by year, lobbying subjects and lobbying targets, text 13 search capabilities including the ability to search 14 by any lobbyist, client, employee, or government 15 target name, the ability to print reports, and the 16 expansion of the available information, including 17 retainer agreements and fundraising and political 18 consulting reports. NYC Lobbyist Search, which is 19 updated twice monthly, has allowed the public to 20 access lobbying information more quickly and more 21 efficiently. The implementation of NYC Lobbyist 22 Search allows any member of the public to have 23 information at their fingertips rather than submit a 24 FOIL request, which can be a lengthy and time-25 consuming process.

2           In addition, we were able to partner with 3 the NYC Office of Technology and Innovation, OTI, 4 formerly known as DoITT, to create a lobbyist data 5 platform as part of NYC Open Data. The program allows 6 any member of the public to download the entire 7 lobbying database without confidential information in 8 CSV format. Both Lobbyist Search and NYC Open Data 9 have served as a tool for not only the public but 10 also the media and fellow governmental agencies from 11 all levels and from all over the country to conduct 12 their own research and investigations. For example, 13 recently we received inquiries from the City of 14 Chicago and the Federal Reserve Board, Department of 15 Research and Statistics, and we've had many more 16 going back years before that. Each year, the Lobbying 17 Bureau staff reviews over 20,000 reports submitted on 18 the e-Lobbyist system for timeliness and 19 completeness. On average, the Lobbying Bureau
20 collects between 200,000 and 250,000 in registration 21 fees each year. In addition, each year, the Lobbying 22 Bureau continues its efforts to uncover unreported
23 NYC lobbying by comparing statements of registration
24 filed with the New York State Commission on Ethics
25 and Lobbying in Government, CELG, with the statements of registration filed on the e-Lobbyist system. In 2022, 6,777 state reports were reviewed. In 2023, 9,141 reports from the state were reviewed.

Since 2013, late filers have been afforded the opportunity to apply for a waiver and/or reduction of late fines and civil penalties.

Applications are reviewed by a Committee per the standards set forth in the Administrative Code. The Committee takes the following factors into account in determining whether a waiver or reduction is appropriate including whether and how the lobbyist or client has filed late in the past, the annual operating budget of the lobbyist or client, whether the lobbyist lobbies solely on its own behalf, for periodic reports the number of lobbying matters, number of hours spent, working on those matters, and the amount of compensation and expenditures that were not reported during the relevant period and the significance of the impediments to timely filing faced by the lobbyist or clients.

Pursuant to the rules, significant impediments are used in Section 1-12(f)(ii)(D) of the rules are limited to the death of the principal officer or designee or immediate family members thereof, the illness of the principal officer or designee, or a force majeure.

The Lobbying Bureau works diligently to timely and accurately respond to all requests for filing assistance and provides written responses and advisory opinions interpreting the law. In 2023, we responded to over 5,000 requests for filing assistance and interpretations of the law. Each year, our annual report contains data and analytics on the type and numbers of requests received.

The Office of the City Clerk is engaged in numerous outreach and training initiatives. Every new lobbyist is required to attend training within 15 days from its first registration. Every experienced lobbyist attends training every two years. Training is held via Microsoft Teams platform and is also available via pre-recorded video. Each year we conduct approximately 10 to 15 sessions, which are attended by 300 lobbyists on average. Notably, our help desk is available via phone and email to answer basic questions or for step-by-step e-Lobbyist filing assistance and opine on complex inquiries.

When it comes to lobbying in New York
City, the constant pattern has been one of growth.

1 Each year, as mandated by the Administrative Code, we 2 publish an annual report which contains detailed 3 analytics including the number and complaints
4 received from the public, the number of random audits
5 conducted by the City Clerk and the outcomes thereof, 6 compliance programs developed and implemented for 7 lobbyists and clients, the number and type of 8 requests for assistance related to the Lobbying Law
9 received by the City Clerk, the number of lobbyists 10 and filing and statements of registration for the 11 first time, the subject matter of lobbying activity
12 most frequently reported by lobbyists, the lobbyist 13 targets most frequently reported by lobbyists, the 14 lobbyist that received the highest compensation, and 15 such other information and analysis as the City Clerk 16 deems appropriate.

18 We are pleased to provide feedback with 19 respect to the proposed law changes and answer any 20 questions regarding the enforcement of the City's 21 Lobbying Law. Thank you for your time and attention.
22 I'd be happy to answer any questions from the 23 Committee.

24 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Thanks so much, Mr.
25 Clerk. Appreciate you and your team being here, and 1 thank you, Mr. Ryan, we appreciate you being here for 2 questions.

4 I think I'll start with some questions
5 for COIB then kick it over to my Colleagues, and then 6 ask questions of the other agencies. So just firstly, 7 my understanding is that COIB has a relatively small 8 staff, just 21 positions currently budgeted. I think 9 that's down 16 percent from 25 positions prior to the 10 Mayor coming into office in 2021. Is that right, and 11 do you have sufficient resources to meet all of your 12 charter mandates, and what impact does the recent PEG 13 that the Mayor imposed, which would cut two 14 positions, have on your operations?

15 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: We endeavor.
16 Right now, we have 22 employees. The PEG is for 21 17 so, when the next employee, whomever he or she might 18 be leaves, we won't be authorized to hire a new 19 replacement for that person. We've lost someone in 20 our Education Unit. We've lost a paralegal who 21 supports the legal work of the entire agency and, 22 most recently, an attorney in our Enforcement Unit, 23 which an Enforcement Unit of four people, losing one 24 person is essentially 25 percent of the ability of 25 the agency to pursue complaints of violations of the

2 Conflicts of Interest Law so we have always been a 3 very small City agency. We consider ourselves 4 punching above our weight as it were but, in an 5 agency that in January 2022 was 25 people and now is 6 just 22 people, it's a very significant to lose those 7 individuals who work to give advice, to pursue 8 enforcement, and to train over 300,000 City 9 employees.

10 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I think we'd all
11 agree that the COIB (INAUDIBLE) count has long 12 punched above its weight. Just in all seriousness, as 13 Mr. Carrier testified at the beginning of his 14 remarks, COIB is not technically a Mayoral agency, 15 but it's subject to Mayoral approval on your 16 headcount and your budget. Is that problematic that 17 you're both tasked with kind of ensuring ethics 18 compliance of the Mayor and he's responsible for 19 determining your staff capacity, and budget.

20 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: The Conflicts
21 of Interest Board has long sought an independent 22 budget in various, when there have been Charter 23 Revision Commissions, the Board has testified seeking 24 an independent budget like the Campaign Finance Board 25 and other similar agencies have. The Board proposed

1 extensive series of Charter amendments back in 2009
2 and submitted them to the City Council at that time,
3 also with the request for an independent budget, so 4 there are challenges to have the same sort of 5 category of individuals who are subject to the 6 regulation of the Conflicts of Interest Board aAlso 7 decide the staffing and budget of the Conflicts of 8 Interest Board.

10 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Great. We did read 11 those 2009 recommendations and would certainly 12 support them. A review of COIB's enforcement actions 13 showed that there had only been approximately 30 14 fines imposed for post-employment violations in the 15 previous decade. How do you monitor potential 16 violations, and I'll just add my back of the envelope 17 math is that we see turnover about 20,000 people a 18 year in City government so over a decade we're 19 talking about 200,000 people that have left City 20 government, but we've seen only 30 post-employment 21 violations issued so that's less than one-tenth of 1 22 percent. How have we been doing it? What more can we 23 be doing to identify folks who are violating this 24 rule?

2 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: I'd say first
3 that the City workforce is huge, people work 24 hours
4 a day, Sanitation workers start shifts in the middle 5 of the night, City doctors, City teachers have very 6 regulated schedules. It's very difficult to reach 7 City employees to educate them about their 8 obligations under the Conflicts of Interest Law. That 9 all being said, among the provisions that's most 10 commonly understood by people is the gifts rule and 11 the one-year post-employment communication ban, and I
12 would say that it's quite effective that most times 13 when our educators go into City offices to teach 14 people about the Conflicts of Interest Law, most 15 people will raise their hand that they understand 16 that they can't communicate with their former City 17 agency for one year so I think in some ways the lack 18 of enforcement actions is a reflection of a very 19 effective educational structure by our agency and by 20 agencies themselves for their own employees. Many 21 agencies have in the offboarding, there's probably a 22 better word for that, procedure to tell people about 23 the post-employment restriction. We have no 24 investigators on our staff. That was a structure that 25 was created by the Charter Revision Commission back

2 in 86-88 to separate the enforcement mechanisms from 3 the investigation mechanisms so we rely on the 4 Department of Investigation to investigate, but I 5 will say that because most City employees are aware 6 of that one-year agency-only ban, if a former 7 colleague communicates with them about a private 8 business or a not-for-profit or some other city 9 contract, the contact is very limited. It's just that 10 one communication, and someone reports it either to 11 the agency or to the Conflicts of Interest Board.
12 There could always be more education. We are very 13 serious about doing enforcement so, if there's a 14 complaint that we receive, we pursue it, we prosecute 15 it, and we endeavor to educate the public servant
16 involved because usually the complaint happens so 17 quickly that they're still in their first post-18 employment year, and so we can ensure that no further 19 violations occur.

20 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: When we're finding 21 approximately three violations a year and 20,000 22 people are leaving City service, it's possible that 23 everybody's just complying with the rules and the 24 law. It's possible that the loopholes are so big that 25 people can drive a truck through them, or it's

1 possible that we just don't have the enforcement
2 capacity to catch people that are doing the wrong 3 thing.

5 I want to ask about, why don't we shift
6 to the hypothetical situation of the Mayor's Chief-7 of-Staff who had approved all hiring decisions, been 8 involved in every key policy decision in the Mayor's 9 first year in office, decides to leave City 10 government. Could you just remind us what are the 11 restrictions currently on who he can appear before 12 after he leaves City service?

13 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Before I do
14 that, let me just add a fourth category to the three 15 that you listed of why it is there aren't that many 16 post-employment violations. When you have a City 17 workforce that's very well-educated about what the 18 post-employment restrictions are, when a former 19 public servant of that agency tries to contact his 20 former colleagues, they know what the rules are, and 21 they tell that person we won't talk to you so they're 22 in fact shutting this communication down before 23 anything substantive actually happens. I think that 24 happens all the time. I actually get calls from 25 attorneys at City agencies just saying, hey, we're

1 just confirming, this guy wanted to talk to us, we 2 said we can't, we're right, right, he's still in his 3 first year, the restriction applies that way. That's 4 right, and there's no reason to like fine somebody 5 money when the City agency identifies it right at the 6 outset and nothing...

8 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Of course, it's...

9 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: That fourth
10 category is important, I think actually covers 11 thousands of such attempts probably each year.

12 With regard to the senior staff at the 13 Mayor's Office...

14 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Specifically Chief-15 of-Staff leaves the Mayor's Office, what are the 16 exact restrictions that are on him when he departs 17 City service.

18 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Right, so the 19 Chief-of-Staff at the Mayor's Office is one of the 20 people who continues to have a one-year post-21 employment communication ban with his former agency 22 served, which for the Mayor's Office would be the 23 Mayor's Office and all the Mayor's Offices of...

24 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Right.

2                   GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: So all the sort 3 of satellite entities created by...

4                   CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Just to confirm the 5 Mayor's Chief-of-Staff is not permitted to speak to 6 people who work in the Mayor's Office, about 1 7 percent of City government, but is permitted to 8 engage and appear before the very next day every 9 Mayoral agency in the City of New York.

10                  GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Yeah, though, 11 that 1 percent is a little misleading of a number, 12 right, because it's the Mayor's Office.

13                  CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: It's 1 percent of 14 the city workforce. It's maybe 3,000 or so employees 15 out of well over 330,000, and he can appear before 16 every agency head in the City of New York and lobby 17 them the very next day, 24 hours later. Correct?

18                  GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Yes, so he is 19 not subject to a one-year communication..

20                  CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Right.

21                  GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: But hold on.
22 That's not the only post-employment restriction he's 23 subject to. He's also subject to the lifetime 24 particular matter ban, which would prohibit him from 25 communicating with any City agency, whether

2 compensated or not, about any particular matter on 3 which he worked when he was at the Mayor's office.

4 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I do want to come 5 back to that. It was reported widely that, while 6 working in this building as Chief-of-Staff to the 7 Mayor, he solicited and signed clients or solicited 8 clients and agreed to lobby on their behalf after he 9 departed from City service. Is that right?

10 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: I have no idea.

11 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: It's been widely 12 reported in Politico, City and State, and many other 13 outlets and, in fact, Brendan McGuire, the former 14 Chief Counsel to the Mayor who's now his defense 15 attorney, had to correct on the record his statements 16 because Mr. Carone admitted. You're aware of these 17 reported articles in the press?

18 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Yes, I've seen
19 the articles. I'm just saying I that's, and I 20 wouldn't be able to comment on anything else that I 21 might know about...

22 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Well, I'm going to 23 keep asking questions so is it permissible for a City
24 employee to build a book of clients, lobbying clients

1 while working in City government for future lobbying 2 practice?

4 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: It really 5 depends on the details of those circumstances. I 6 don't...

7 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Give us some insight
8 here.

9 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: I don't want to 10 comment here about the particular conduct of any 11 particular public servant, and that's inevitably...

12 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: How about we do a 13 hypothetical? Chief-of-Staff to the Mayor.

14 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: We know who 15 we're talking about here.

16 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Yes.

17 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: So I don't want 18 to, I don't want to comment about the particular 19 conduct of any particular public servant.

20 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Okay, but I'm 21 concerned, what's the status of COIB's investigation 22 into this matter?

23 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: That would be 24 illegal for me to disclose to you, even whether there 25 is such a thing, but let's focus on Intro. 77, right?

2           CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: No, I'm going to 3 drive the questions on this one. Somebody works in 4 City Hall, is recruiting lobbying clients, right, and 5 you're not able to confirm whether that is 6 permissible? The Chief-of-Staff to the Mayor, the 7 most powerful person in City government shy of the 8 Mayor himself, is recruiting lobbying clients for his 9 future practice, you're not able to confirm whether 10 that's legal or not.

11           GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Chair Restler, 12 I'm not able to say the answer to that question for 13 two reasons. One is I don't actually know the facts 14 of the circumstance...

15           CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: But it's been widely 16 reported in the press exactly which clients he 17 retained prior to leaving office.

18           GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Again, because I 19 don't know or could not disclose the facts of any 20 such circumstance...

21           CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: And you're unwilling 22 to confirm, it's been 16 months since his departure, 23 whether COIB has looked into this matter and its 24 legality.

2                   GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Chair Restler,
3 as I said before, I would be violating Chapter 68 if 4 I disclosed whether the Board..

5                   CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: How long does it 6 typically take COIB to determine whether to look into 7 a matter of this type.

8                   EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: Just so that 9 we can back up, we're implementing a law that was 10 created in '19, by a Charter Revision Commission that 11 is intended to protect the rights of individual 12 public servants and their ability to seek advice from 13 the Conflicts of Interest Board so every single 14 public servant who seeks advice from the Conflicts of 15 Interest Board, we provide confidential advice to 16 that person and we will disclose to nobody whether 17 that person has sought advice and what advice they 18 received.

19                   CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: But that wasn't my 20 question.

21                   EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: Similarly, 22 when there's a complaint about a public servant,
23 whether in the press or by an individual person, 24 whether we've received a complaint is confidential as 25 a matter of law under the City Charter. That's the

2 way the Charter is structured. Whether we referred it
3 to DOI for investigation, that's confidential as a 4 matter of law. If you saw it from DOI, whether or not 5 DOI's conducting an investigation, we believe also 6 DOI would keep that confidential. They're required to 7 by the Charter. The only time the Board can speak 8 about the past conduct of a public servant is when 9 the five-member Board has made a final finding that 10 public servant has violated the conflicts of interest 11 law. I can confirm that no such finding has been made 12 by Frank Carone. That's the only time...

13 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I understand.

14 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: No staff
15 member, no Board Member could answer the questions 16 that you're posing as illegal.

17 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: So I'm asking 18 approximately how long does it take on average for 19 COIB to come to that determination that wrongdoing 20 may have occurred?

21 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: So that's the 22 question?

23 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Yeah.

25

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: Right, that's a question that's, right, we don't have investigators at the Conflicts of Interest Board.

CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I understand.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: So DOI conducts its investigations. They have a broad mandate, and they've also experienced budget cuts so how long a DOI investigation takes can vary widely from a year to much longer than that depending on the nature of the conduct alleged, the investigation, what it's required, witnesses, subpoenas, and other things, but I'm not the expert on how DOI conducts its investigation.

CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I understand. I'm just looking for context on how long it might take for you all to look into a matter like this, and do you look into similar matters based on reports of potential illegality in the press?

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: Not potential illegality. When we read articles in the press or we receive complaints that, if true, would constitute violations of the City's Conflicts of Interest Law, which is a limited law which regulates very specific conduct, we refer those complaints or press reports

1 to the City's Department of Investigation for 2 investigation. Every single complaint we receive is 3 reviewed by an attorney and is evaluated for whether 4 that, if true, would constitute a violation of the 5 conflicts of interest.

7 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: But you are actively 8 monitoring press reports and, if there are concerns, 9 you will investigate them accordingly.

10 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: If there are 11 reported conduct that would constitute a violation of 12 the Conflicts of Interest Law, which, again, there's 13 many things that public officials may do that's way 14 beyond what the limited Conflicts of Interest Law 15 regulates.

16 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Right, but you're 17 unwilling to testify today when the Chief-of-Staff to 18 the Mayor of New York engages Northwell Health, the 19 largest private employer in New York State, as a 20 client that he's going to lobby on their behalf prior 21 to leaving City service, that Northwell Health gets 22 11 million dollars in new City contracts
23 significantly more than they've ever received 24 immediately after Mr. Carone leaves public service,

2 you're unwilling to testify whether that may be a 3 potential violation.

4 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: I would hope 5 that my insistence, our insistence, on following the 6 mandates of the Conflicts of Interest Law would not 7 be read as unwillingness but rather as adherence to 8 the legal requirements of confidentiality that our 9 Board is required to uphold.

10 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: As you noted in your 11 testimony, the post-employment ban does not just 12 restrict lobbying, it prohibits all communication for 13 compensation, through the end of last year in the 14 case of Mr. Carone. We all know that he and the Mayor 15 have been in active communication during that time 16 period as he serves as the Chair of his reelection 17 campaign. I realize you're not going to offer any 18 insight into specific guidance that you've offered, 19 but can you confirm that COIB is monitoring the 20 situation or if any guidance has been provided to 21 ensure that there has not been illegal communication 22 in the previous year?

23 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: The Conflicts
24 of Interest Law, the City Charter mandates as a 25 matter of law that any communications we have with

2 any individual public servants seeking advice is 3 confidential and any advice that person received is 4 confidential so if any Council Member had sought 5 advice from the Conflicts of Interest Board and a 6 reporter called us and said did so and so Council
7 Member seek advice from the Conflicts of Interest 8 Board, we wouldn't say whether they asked, what they 9 asked about, or what we told them. Again, I cannot as 10 a matter of law...

11 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I hear that, but 12 oftentimes we'll hear elected officials, public 13 officials say I consulted with the Conflicts of 14 Interest Board, they told me this was fine, and we 15 have no insight whether you did tell them it was fine
16 or whether they're accurately describing the guidance 17 that they received. When an elected official publicly 18 misrepresents the guidance they've received from the 19 Conflict of Interest Board, what will you do then?

20 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: The law
21 prohibits the Board from disclosing whether someone 22 sought advice or what advice they received.

23 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I have to say when 24 we're identifying three cases out of 20,000 people
25 leaving City service for violating post-employment

1 restrictions and we're unable to really drill down
2 that somebody in the most senior role in City 3 government is creating a lobbying practice while 4 working at City Hall, that there's potentially 5 legality happening, I find myself quite frustrated.

7 I just want to move on to the substantial 8 discretion policymaker list. Could you describe the 9 proposed changes to the substantial discretion 10 policymaker list that you're pursuing in recent 11 updates to the capital rules?

12 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Yeah, the Board
13 is in the process of considering some proposed 14 changes to the policymaker rules that are just about 15 the process of doing that work, that is trying some 16 efforts to, the current law has agencies designating 17 policymakers once a years. The Board concluded that 18 wasn't frequent enough because of turnover, you want 19 to have more accurate risk list so that's being 20 updated to be twice a year now and is requiring that 21 agencies provide some additional information, 22 including some organizational charts so that the 23 Board and the Board staff can do a better job of 24 evaluating whether or not the people that agencies 25 are designating are, in fact, the people who have the

1 authority and responsibilities that should be 2 designated as policymakers, they're not leaving 3 people out or adding people on that shouldn't be 4 there. In addition to that, the Board is codifying a 5 practice the Board began several years ago where the 6 Board has taken over the responsibility of notifying 7 policymakers of their additional legal obligations 8 directly rather than relying on agencies to do that 9 just to ensure that it's happening and that the 10 communications about those are uniform. Those 11 procedural things, there was a public hearing for 12 that yesterday and the Board at an open meeting 13 sometime in the near future will evaluate those 14 procedural changes.
15

16 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: In addition to 17 potentially requiring organizational charts, which I 18 think would be helpful for verifying the accuracy of 19 these lists, have you considered other requirements 20 such as agency heads or Deputy Mayors signing off on 21 the accuracy of these policymaking lists? We've found 22 there's like wild discrepancy from agency to agency 23 on who gets added to these lists and who doesn't, and 24 so we think it would be helpful for there to be some 25 senior officials who have more global views verifying

1 the accuracy of who is actually on the substantial 2 policymaking list.

4                   GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Right, the Board 5 hasn't contemplated that because it hasn't been our 6 experience that agencies have been reluctant to add 7 people to the policymaker list when the Board or even 8 Board staff suggests that they should be on there so 9 the truth is there's just not really much of an 10 incentive for a City agency to limit that list at the 11 moment because the additional restrictions that those 12 public servants are subject to are not particularly 13 onerous, there's a fundraising restriction and a 14 restriction on holding very high offices for 15 political parties, and while it would also mean that 16 they would have to file an annual disclosure report, 17 almost all of the people who are designated as 18 policymakers are already annual disclosure filers
19 anyway by virtue of the managerial level of position 20 that they're in so agencies don't really push back on 21 those lists, and I think at the moment it's mostly 22 just a matter of when agencies have reorganized they 23 maybe have not looked again at whether or not the new 24 organization, the people in their new roles in the 25 agency really match up with the way the rule would

2 require, and so there's a little bit of cleanup that 3 probably needs to happen and that's mostly what we've 4 been aimed at.

5           CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I just want to say 6 on the record, having worked in City government for 7 over a decade, I totally disagree with your 8 assessment that people don't care about being on or 9 off the list. People actively try to stay off the 10 list. You're not able to fundraise, be on a host 11 Committee, you can't be involved in all kinds of 12 political activities that people care about if 13 they're on this list and, in my experience, when I 14 worked in the de Blasio Administration, there was 15 wild discrepancies agency to agency on how they 16 approached this list and a lack of uniformity in who 17 was considered a substantial policy maker and, while 18 we appreciate some of the improvements that are 19 considered in the rules, we don't believe you're 20 going nearly far enough in ensuring that the right 21 senior policymakers are being accurately reflected on 22 this consistently across the board.

23           I have a bunch more questions for you 24 all, and I haven't even had a chance to bother the 25 Clerk yet, but let me kick it over to Colleagues who

1 may have questions, I know everyone has busy days.

2 Let me start with Council Member Brewer, if that's 3 okay, former Chair of this Committee as she has a 4 bill, and then we'll go to Council Member Carr.

6 COUNCIL MEMBER CARR: Thank you very much,
7 and I'm not exactly sure who would help, but I think 8 it would be the Clerk's office. The idea is what we 9 described Intro. 742, persons who are active in 10 political campaigns could not be lobbying and 11 lobbyists who are active as lobbyists could not be 12 campaigners, but if they are insistent on having the 13 conversation between the campaign and the elected 14 officials so is that something that you could carry 15 out in terms of enforcement? Do you think you have 16 the capacity to do that? It does have an additional 17 type of person, perhaps, and maybe what kind, if it 18 was to be the law, what kind of information would you 19 need in order to enforce it?

20 DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: We would 21 certainly be willing and able to carry it out. It 22 would require some changes, but I also would like to 23 point out that there is a limitation in the law 24 because it includes for-compensation political 25 consulting. It does not include political consulting

2 and fundraising that is done pro bono, that is not 3 compensated so that is an important distinction and 4 it does curb the amount of reporting that is engaged 5 in by lobbyists, for example, because if they're not 6 compensated for their political consulting, they do 7 not have to disclose it, but we could certainly 8 undertake, with proper legal changes, we would be 9 able to carry it out. We'd have to make technological 10 changes to our filing systems, which obviously we'd 11 have to do that in consultation with OTI and there's 12 budgetary constraints and technological issues that 13 have to be worked out, but we do feel that it would 14 be in line with our current operations and 15 enforcement and that we would be able and willing to 16 follow any policy changes.

17 COUNCIL MEMBER BREWER: All right, thank 18 you. One other question just generally and maybe it's 19 in the briefing and maybe you mentioned it, but 20 what's the percentage of people that you find and how 21 do you find them? Is it from individuals who make 22 complaints? How do you find people who you feel are 23 abusing the law? How does that mostly get 24 communicated to the City Clerk?

2 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: We get phone calls.
3 We get tips from time to time. It's not a great 4 number, and we're not getting contacts from good 5 citizens who are trying to advise us of unreported
6 lobbying. It's usually another lobbyist or somebody 7 in the community with a beef, and they're carrying 8 out a vendetta. That's usually where the primary 9 source of information comes from.

10 COUNCIL MEMBER BREWER: Interesting. All 11 right. Thank you very much. Thank you, Mr. Chair.

12 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Council Member Carr.

13 COUNCIL MEMBER CARR: Thank you, Chair. I 14 guess this question is for COIB. You talked in your 15 response to the Chair's questions earlier about how 16 agency officials will contact you and say that they 17 shut down attempted communications by former 18 employees who were still within their scope of their 19 post-employment ban talking to their former agency.
20 What's the point at which you deem that to be 21 actionable on your part? Because you're saying like, 22 oh, the communication was shut down, nothing ended up 23 happening because the agency knew better, but that 24 doesn't mean people aren't making multiple attempts 25 at that over the time with different agency

1 personnel. At what point does it rise to the level
2 where nothing happened, but you'd still want to maybe 3 have that referred or considered on your part?

5 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: Yeah, there's 6 a variety of factors that go into it, and it's the 7 decision that's of the Board itself, it's not a staff 8 decision about whether to pursue enforcement.

9 Certainly, if we had a record that they received 10 formal written guidance before they left City service 11 and they still made a prohibited communication, then 12 we know that the sort of the pre-shutdown hadn't 13 worked and then enforcement would be appropriate. If 14 the contact wasn't just a casual, let's set up a 15 meeting, but the meeting itself, then we would likely 16 pursue enforcement. Because the post-employment
17 communication is not lobbying. It's a whole wide 18 array of communications that former City employees 19 make, and many City employees stay in the fields in 20 which they worked in City service so we're talking 21 about an ACS case worker who goes to work for 22 private, not-for-profit foster care agency and if, at 23 that private foster care agency, they call ACS to 24 say, hey, we're wanting to make sure we have all the 25 right information or case files or something like

1 that, what would be a prohibited post-employment 2 communication, not lobbying. We would want to look at 3 that and make sure that person understood what their 4 obligations were. If they're at a big meeting about 5 the contract, then that's probably something we 6 pursue it for.

8 COUNCIL MEMBER CARR: So you said the 9 Board makes all the decisions. Is there no time when 10 staff will say that this isn't worthy of Board 11 attention? You're presenting every case to the Board.

12 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: No, not every 13 single case. If there's something that we can deal 14 with, that's just like someone made a phone call, the 15 phone call wasn't returned, it immediately came to 16 us. Sometimes there's a voicemail message, hey, Bob, 17 it's Sheila, I used to work there, and it immediately 18 comes to Ethan's shop who's, in addition to being 19 General Counsel, supervises the Legal Advice Unit.
20 Our goal is to prevent violations before they occur 21 so if we can reach out to a former public servant and 22 educate them about the Conflicts of Interest Law, 23 we're trying to solve these problems sort of one 24 public servant at a time.

2 COUNCIL MEMBER CARR: Understood. So in 3 the event that you have a clearcut violation of the 4 Conflicts of Interest Law being alleged to you, a 5 complaint is submitted to you, what level of 6 verification do you engage in about whether or not 7 this is, at what point does it become actionable in 8 your view because it's possible someone makes a 9 frivolous complaint, it's some possible someone just 10 makes something up and it may even get reported on 11 publicly so what kind of assessment do you engage in 12 whether or not that specific allegation is even 13 credible?

14 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: Yeah, so if 15 something is reported in the press, almost always 16 it's going to require a formal investigation by the 17 Department of Investigation obtaining documents, 18 interviewing witnesses and the like. In the post-19 employment context uniquely is that often when we get 20 complaints, the person who was the sort of recipient 21 of the prohibited communication is telling us, hey, 22 former employee Sheila was at this meeting and she 23 just left the agency six months ago so both for the 24 goals of that's enough evidence for us to establish a 25 violation and because we want to prevent the former

1 employee from engaging in any additional prohibited 2 conduct, we would proceed with that evidence that we 3 had already so the post-employment one-year ban 4 violations are the ones we can move most quickly on.

6 COUNCIL MEMBER CARR: This is for COIB and 7 perhaps also the City Clerk's Office. There are 8 plenty of folks who leave City service, right, who 9 were maybe civil service employees, they took tests
10 to get their positions, but then there's the folks 11 like us in the Committee, the elected officials, high 12 ranking members of agencies and the Mayor's Office.
13 Are there particular people that you monitor upon 14 leaving City service based on what they do, whether 15 they're going to not-for-profits or into the lobbying 16 field in order to make sure that they're complying 17 with lobbying registration and whatnot, if they're 18 engaging in those activities, or is it purely 19 reactive to complaints and allegations?

20 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: The first line
21 of proactiveness is always education so to the extent 22 that the City Service Departure Checklist includes a 23 handout that we've created about the post-employment 24 restrictions. That's the ideal scenario. There's no
25 monitoring that we do. Again, we're a staff of 22

2 people. We have no investigators. As Chair Restler
3 noted, 20,000 or so public servants leave City
4 service every year so this is way beyond the capacity 5 or really probably appropriateness of the agency, but 6 we try to educate as much as we possibly can.

7 COUNCIL MEMBER CARR: Thank you, Chair.

8 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I'd like to turn
9 over to my friend and neighbor, Council Member Hanif.

10 COUNCIL MEMBER HANIF: Thank you, Chair
11 Restler.

12 I'll start with the City Clerk's office
13 and just thank you so much for being here. This is a 14 topic of great interest but, also if I wasn't a 15 Council Member, I'd be tuning in to this hearing.
16 Specifically, the 2013 Lobbying Report suggests that 17 the Lobbying Bureau should have a designated full-18 time staff person responsible for conducting 19 education and outreach, not just to registered 20 lobbyists, but in venues where there are likely to be 21 people who may be subject to the requirements of the 22 lobbying laws but may not be registered. Do you have 23 a staff member or members who are responsible for 24 conducting outreach?

2 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: We did hire a staff
3 person after the enactment of Local Law 129 of 2013.
4 That person ended up leaving, and we had difficulty 5 retaining another person to perform the training
6 function so my Deputy City Clerk and Deputy General 7 Counsel have been conducting the training and some of 8 the outreach, but we kind of got into the habit of 9 training those people through those two people so 10 that we've met our training requirement, but it just 11 got easier to make sure we met our training 12 requirement and, after having difficulty in retaining 13 that person, we haven't successfully gotten back to 14 that.

15 COUNCIL MEMBER HANIF: Got it, so two 16 members of the team who are not the outreach 17 representatives are right now filling that role or 18 have as a part of their portfolio. Could you just 19 walk me through what the extent of the outreach looks 20 like and the trainings that you're fulfilling?

21 DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: As part of the 22 amnesty program, there were very specific activities 23 that we were required to undergo. We were required to 24 take out advertisements, attend public meetings, 25 distribute materials, public commercials, and we

1 fulfilled all of those activities that were 2 specifically mandated by the law, but there's other 3 activities that we conduct on a yearly basis, 4 quarterly basis to conduct outreach and to train, and 5 we continue to do those activities even without that 6 staff position, so examples include every year we 7 contact every single agency that receives
8 discretionary funding and inform them of the lobbying 9 law and invite them to communicate with our office if 10 they need more information. In addition, we review 11 every single report filed with the New York State 12 lobbying entity to make sure that if they are 13 lobbying in New York City, they're also reporting 14 with our office. For example, last year, we reviewed 15 approximately 9,000 reports filed with the State, and 16 we compared them with the approximate 3,000 reports 17 filed with the City and made sure that anyone that 18 wasn't in our system came into our system and, as a 19 result of that, we contacted approximately 94 20 entities, but we definitely haven't been able to 21 physically go out there and attend as many meetings 22 and conduct as much community outreach as we did when 23 we had the trainer because, for example, when we had 24 the trainer, the trainer along with other staff

1 that's sitting here, we went to every single 2 community board meeting, every single borough board 3 meeting to publicize the information, so we've had to 4 cut back a little bit on some of our field
5 operations, but certainly we continue to review all 6 publicly available information to make sure if we see 7 evidence that there's unreported lobbying, we 8 investigate and we haven't decreased those efforts 9 even without that staff person.
10

11 COUNCIL MEMBER HANIF: But would it be, of 12 course, better to have the staff person?

13 DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: Of course,
14 right? More help is always going to be beneficial.

15 COUNCIL MEMBER HANIF: And now is somebody 16 in the process of being hired or could you just walk 17 me through what are the proactive steps to make sure 18 that folks who were not meant to do this specifically 19 are not bearing the obstacles?

20 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: We actually could 21 not because of the PEGs that our agency had endured, 22 our headcount was reduced. Our headcount was 62, and 23 it went down to 55 in the last PEGs so we cannot hire 24 anyone new at the present time.

25 COUNCIL MEMBER HANIF: You said to fifty...

CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: 55.

CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: 62.

COUNCIL MEMBER HANIF: Got it.

DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: Sorry, I just want to add we are the marriage bureau, right, that's the love side, and also the lobbying bureau, which I

8 call the non-love side so just to clarify, the

Lobbying Bureau has five staff that full time work on 10 the Lobbying Bureau.

11

COUNCIL MEMBER HANIF: And then the, I was 12 about to say the love bureau, but...

13

DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: Right, the love

14

Bureau so that number includes both bureaus in addition to our other functions, such as our esteemed

15

16

Commissioner who presides over City Council meetings,

17

Commissioner of Deeds, Oaths of Office. We conduct

18 bonds and certainly my General Counsel could speak

19 more to that so we have multiple functions that we 20 are performing with that headcount, and it's five people that are performing in large part the activities and functions of the Lobbying Bureau.

21

22

23

COUNCIL MEMBER HANIF: Thank you. Chair, I

24 have a few more questions. Turning now to COIB, and I

25

1 do have to of course celebrate the social media
2 presence, really appreciate it. I want to just get 3 some clarity on the two pieces of legislation. Are 4 you making a recommendation that we pursue a Charter 5 Revision and go through that route as opposed to 6 these two pieces of legislation?

8                   GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: We're 9 recommending that if the City Council wants to 10 contemplate changing the restrictions in Chapter 68, 11 in particular the post-employment restrictions, that 12 would be the better process because it would really 13 provide the sort of multiple public hearings and sort 14 of massive outreach to get all the people who are 15 stakeholders in this the opportunity to get a way in, 16 in particular the public servants who are going to be 17 affected by this who when they become private 18 citizens are going to have their speech restricted 19 with regard to their communications with City 20 government and the people in City government now who 21 do the hard work of trying to recruit good people 22 into the City positions that hearing what those 23 people think is a thing that the Charter Revision 24 Commission could do, and it could really take its 25 time to figure out how changes to this post-

2 employment restriction fit into what is really an 3 interrelated set of post-employment restrictions, the 4 lifetime particular matter ban and the confidential
5 information ban work with this restriction, and so 6 when you alter one piece of that, trying to make sure 7 it fits in with the others, which is not to say that 8 there might not be room for some improvement, though 9 we did just have changes come into effect just over 10 two years ago, some pretty substantial ones, and our 11 thought is it might make more sense to, at least in 12 large part, let's see how those go. The last version 13 was worked for 32 years. Let's see how this version 14 works for more than just a couple of years before we 15 start changing it again, but the Charter Revision 16 process, we feel like is a sort of better way of 17 doing the hard work of getting this right, and it's 18 also the way that the Chapter 68 has always been 19 changed in the past so it feels like that the best 20 process.

21 COUNCIL MEMBER HANIF: And could you for 22 everybody who's listening in on this great hearing 23 who would be leading that process? Would it be on 24 COIB to identify the public hearings? Would that be 25 staff capacity at COIB?

GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: A Charter

Revision Commission should be independent even from us. We would obviously be eager testifiers and providers of information to a Charter Revision Commission, but that should be a Commission that really also has a cross-section of people with different points of view and so forth who are trying to take testimony from everybody and kind of figure out what's best for the City so it shouldn't be us who's doing that, but it should be a nice diverse set of people who constitute a separately created Charter Revision Commission.

COUNCIL MEMBER HANIF: Got it. Then for what types of organizations are former elected officials and public servants lobbying in your experience?

GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Oh, well that's an interesting question. So this prohibition, I don't know the answer to that question because we don't regulate lobbying. We regulate former public servants who are communicating with the City under this post-employment restriction, which is both sort of broader and narrower. It's not all lobbyists, because probably most lobbyists are not former public

1 servants, I'm guessing, I'm assuming most of them are 2 not, but our concern is only about those former 3 public servants. And it's broader in that it's 4 communication of all different kinds, not necessarily 5 stuff that would qualify as lobbying, though I'm not 6 expert in what requires somebody to become registered 7 as a lobbyist, but it's all kinds of communications 8 as long as you are paid by somebody to communicate so 9 not just classic lobbying, but also routine business 10 communications, seeking non-ministerial licenses and 11 permits from the City, lots of things that I think 12 people would not normally think of as being 13 necessarily the kind of advocacy kind of thing that 14 maybe we think of when we think of lobbyists so this 15 is just a different kind of restriction. It's really 16 mostly focused on only former public servants, and 17 it's mostly focused on trying to make sure that 18 government officials, who might know those former 19 public servants because of the work that they did, 20 are not being unduly influenced so it's a cooling off 21 period, would be maybe the way to describe it.

23 COUNCIL MEMBER HANIF: Thank you. Thanks 24 for being here.

25 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Thank you.

CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Thank you so much.
Council Member Hanif.

So just to do a little bit of a recap, you testified that the Mayor's Chief-of-Staff, the widely recognized most powerful person in City government shy of the Mayor, could appear before 99 percent of City government the day after he left office, and you've also testified that you believe the current laws on post-employment restrictions are appropriate and good, that they've worked well, I think was your language, over the last series of decades. I could not more strongly disagree. You've testified in opposition to the bills that we're considering today to impose further restrictions and recommended that the appropriate way to consider modifications would be through a Charter Revision Commission. I have to ask, you're appearing before the City Council, we're the duly elected representatives, we pass bills every single month, why are we not equipped to pass legislation here?

GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: I certainly did not say that you're not equipped to pass legislation.

CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Okay.

2                   GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: I'm just 3 suggesting that for a change that's going to impact 4 so many public servants and that is a really 5 complicated change in the post-employment
6 restrictions that there are a lot of different 7 stakeholders who should be heard from and that it 8 should be done over some time where people really get 9 to spend a lot of time, like a group of people really 10 get to spend a lot of time sort of thinking about 11 this and hearing testimony from a lot of people and,
12 as Charter Revision Commissions are the entity that 13 have done that for Chapter 68 in the past, it just 14 seems like the best process for us. It's not to say 15 there might not be other processes, just that would 16 be the best practice.

17                   CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Yeah. You also 18 testified that you had a limited time to review our 19 bills. We introduced them well over a year ago so I 20 believe there was more than ample time to review
21 them.

22                   I just have to dig in a little further.
23 As you noted, we had the 2019 Charter Revision 24 Commission that imposed a more extensive ban on 25 Deputy Mayors, Directors at OMB, Corp Counsel, DCAS,

2 Finance, DOI, CPC Chair, now they all have a two-year 3 ban from appearing before any agency in the branch of 4 government that they served. Why should that not 5 apply to the Mayor's Chief-of-Staff or the Mayor's 6 Chief Counsel or the HPD Commissioner?

7           GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Oh, I'm not 8 actually saying that I don't think it should.

9           CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: You just don't think 10 that it's appropriate for us to move forward with 11 that change at this time so it may be something that 12 you could support in the future, you just don't 13 support it today. Is that right?

14           GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: I'm saying two 15 things. One, I think that, because we've just had 16 these changes in the post-employment restrictions, it 17 would be good to see how they work out because we 18 really haven't had the sort of big turnover of an 19 Administration to see what the impact of these new 20 changes would be because these changes came into 21 effect in the first year of this this current 22 Administration so seeing that sort of big turnover 23 moment and what the implications are of that for the 24 future recruitment and how well that's working I 25 think it's a little bit yet to be seen. Then the 1 second thought is just one about process, right? We 2 just want to make sure that we have good process and 3 that we've really heard from everyone. Certainly, the 4 law has always required and should require that 5 higher level public servants are subject to greater 6 restrictions than people who have lesser authority or 7 authority...

9 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: But haven't you
10 testified today that isn't the case? We've 11 acknowledged 10 times on the record today that the 12 most powerful person in the City of New York, shy of 13 the Mayor himself, in City government, could lobby 99
14 percent of City officials hours after leaving public 15 service. How is the current law working well? How do 16 we have the appropriate restrictions in place? I'm 17 flabbergasted by COIB's approach to this.

18 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: We didn't write 19 the law that exists today...

20 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Right, but you're 21 saying that you don't want to see changes to it at 22 this time, and that is shocking to me, considering 23 that we can all see that the current law is broken.
24 We have far greater restrictions in Albany, New York,

1 in the biggest swamp of the entire United States than 2 we do here at City Hall. How is that acceptable?

4 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Council Member,
5 I think that you've identified one position in City 6 government that may need greater restrictions. It's 7 not to say that the...

8 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: No, I'm just giving 9 an example. I want to be clear I could keep going if 10 you'd like me to. It's just a very ripe one.

11 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: What I'm trying 12 to say is, we've had a newly enhanced post-employment 13 restriction in effect for just a couple of years.
14 There is no such thing as a law that fits perfectly 15 for every person, right? There's always going to be 16 some people for whom the law is applying, perhaps too 17 strictly or perhaps not strictly enough, and I'm not 18 disagreeing with you about its application in the 19 example that you've provided. I'm not disagreeing 20 with you that there may be other people for whom it's 21 not applying very well at the moment either, but I'm 22 saying overall for 300,000 public servants, overall, 23 it's working pretty well we think. We would like to 24 see what the changes that happened just a couple 25 years ago, how they work out, particularly once we've

1 made it past perhaps another changeover in 2 Administration and just see if they're really doing
3 the job. As I said in my testimony, it's not to say 4 that there may come a time when we need to look at 5 the post-employment communication ban to see whether 6 or not there should be some changes. We're just 7 saying that perhaps this particular moment is not 8 quite right yet.

10 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Mr. Carrier, as you 11 testified, the mission of COIB is to preserve the 12 trust placed in the public servants of the City, to 13 promote public confidence in government, to protect 14 the integrity of government decision-making, and the 15 current laws do not allow for that. They allow for 16 legal corruption, and so I'm just shocked that COIB 17 wouldn't come before us today to say, yes, there are 18 clearly improvements we need to make, yes, when the 19 Mayor's Chief-of-Staff is leaving City government and 20 has a 24-million-dollar-a-year lobbying practice 24
21 hours after leaving City government, he is building a 22 lobbying book while working in this building, that is 23 egregious. It is egregious, and you're telling me 24 that you don't think it needs to be changed. I could 25 give you 100 examples just like this, but I'm shocked

1 that considering the mission of your agency, you 2 wouldn't be here testifying, saying you're right, we 3 do need to close these loopholes, we do need to work 4 and do more together to ensure the integrity in our 5 local government because that is not what I heard 6 today. I heard you testify in opposition to these 7 issues and to claim that it's going to undermine 8 recruitment and retention in City service, but Mayor 9 Adams was able to recruit Deputy Mayors, Finance 10 Commissioners, Investigation Commissioners, and all 11 of these other positions subject to these new 12 restrictions that we are advocating for in this 13 legislation to expand to get more positions so what 14 proof or evidence do you have beyond your anecdotal 15 insight that modifying post-employment restrictions 16 would have any impact on recruitment and retention?

18           GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Council Member,
19 I'm sorry that's the message that you've taken away 20 from my testimony today. I don't think that's what 21 I've testified to. I think that what we've been 22 trying to articulate on behalf of our Board is just a 23 slower approach to making changes to this restriction 24 to make sure that we're getting it right because we 25 think that there are a lot of public servants who

1 would be affected by, a lot of positions in City 2 government, who would be affected by this proposal in 3 a way that would have some significant unintended 4 consequences.

6 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I hear you, but when 7 I see corruption taking place, I don't believe that a 8 slow approach is appropriate. We have to step up, 9 intervene, and fix it. I'm not here to sit around and 10 watch paint dry to see if maybe in a few years things 11 might get better. We see broken systems today. They 12 need to be fixed today. That is my approach to 13 governing, and it's the approach of the City Council.

14 I do want to recognize my friend and 15 neighbor, Council Member Gutiérrez. Thank you for 16 joining us. If you have any questions, just let us 17 know. We'll jump in whenever.

18 Okay, I have a couple more questions, and 19 then I'd like to shift to the other agencies who've 20 been gracious enough to join us today but, just to 21 clarify on the recruitment and retention piece, do 22 you have any evidence to underscore your concern that 23 these policies will undermine recruitment and 24 retention?

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: I think, Chair Restler, the testimony is clear that we're identifying issues and concerns, and the process of a Charter Revision Commission, we are not hiring managers, we don't work in appointment offices, we're not involved in the recruitment and agency heads. This is not our field of expertise. That is exactly the reason your identification of what evidence is in fact why we think the Charter Revision Commission is the proper process because it would allow the opportunity for those individuals who work in those fields, who have the experience who are in City government to be able to provide that testimony and information.

CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Okay, so I heard we don't have proof or evidence to this effect. You're just expressing that these are potential concerns that you think could exist.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: We're not a research agency. We care...

CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I understand, but you're that your opposition to this legislation is because you think it could undermine recruitment and retention. I'm saying we don't have a record of that

2 with the Mayor's recent round of appointments that 3 have been subject to these expanded lobbying
4 restrictions that we think should be expanded yet 5 further.

6 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: They weren't 7 subject to the restrictions that are in this bill.

8 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: They were not, but 9 they were subject to the 2019 Charter Revision 10 Commission restrictions that are similar to the 11 restrictions that we would impose in this bill to 12 more public officials and, relatedly, you're saying 13 we should go through a Charter Revision Commission 14 process. The Charter calls for COIB to review Chapter 15 68 and submit recommendations to the Council at least 16 once every five years. It appears the last 17 recommendations we received were in 2014. Could you 18 explain?

19 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR MILLER: The Board has 20 had a substantial amount of turnover in part because 21 of the changes to the Board that were implemented by 22 the 2019 Charter Revision Commission. We have 23 multiple Board Members who've served less than two 24 years on the Board so the Board is working to 25 acclimate themselves to the Conflicts of Interest

2 Law. Also, we had a very experienced Board put before
3 the Council extensive recommendations to the Charter
4 that were not taken up by the Council at that time so 5 the Board still believes that those extensive 6 proposed revisions to the Charter remain worthy of 7 consideration.

8 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: We share your 9 assessment. We think that many of the recommendations 10 that you made in 2009 were smart and appropriate, and 11 we do hope to revisit them.

12 One item that I believe you considered 13 back then related to pre-employment restrictions and 14 a proposed cooling off period for public servants 15 when they enter City service. We'll stick with the 16 example of the day because it's just easier to use 17 specifics. Mr Caron famously was an attorney for many 18 different clients with business before the City when 19 he was appointed Chief-of-Staff. Are there currently 20 any restrictions that are in place for someone like 21 that who has been an attorney for clients with 22 business before the City, lobbyist for real estate
23 clients, lobbyist for others when they enter City 24 Hall? Can they continue to talk to their former 25

1 clients and advocate for their interests from the 2 inside?

4 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: So Chapter 68, 5 you're correct, and that was one of one of the 6 proposals I believe in the 2009 Charter Revision 7 recommendations from our Board. Chapter 68 does not 8 contain a pre-employment restriction. There are other 9 jurisdictions that have such pre-employment
10 restrictions, but that's not to say that the Charter 11 doesn't restrict conduct of public servants who 12 recently entered City service with regard to some of 13 their prior interests insofar as they continue to 14 have any kind of financial connection, bills that 15 haven't been paid yet, continuing to have say if 16 they've dissolved their membership in a partnership, 17 the time that it takes to dissolve that membership 18 and have their be paid out for that. When those 19 financial interests continue to exist for that 20 duration of time, a public servant still is 21 prohibited under Charter Section 2604(b) (3) from 22 being involved in matters involving whoever that is, 23 whether a person firm they still have that, but there 24 isn't an express pre-employment restriction.

2           CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: We appreciated the 3 recommendations that you made in 2009 to consider 4 greater pre-employment restrictions, and I think we'd 5 be very interested in working together with you to 6 revisit it.

7           I do just have one last question for you 8 all, at least for the moment. I apologize, I may 9 think of others, but I wanted to ask you about a 10 comment you made, Mr. Carrier, that relates to a 11 lifetime particular matter ban for issues that 12 somebody works on when they're in City Hall. For 13 positions like Chief-of-Staff to the Mayor that touch 14 just about everything of consequence, what review is 15 conducted by COIB or otherwise to determine what are 16 the issues that individual X is not permitted to work 17 on subsequently following their service in local 18 government.

19           GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Chair Restler,
20 because we are just an agency with currently 22 21 people, we do not conduct a review of that type. We 22 don't go out to do that, but many public servants 23 come to us to seek advice about that subject and then 24 we will review the questions they've got and try to 25 help them.

2           CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Like for a position
3 like this one, just as an example, or a Deputy Mayor, 4 that's touched so much in City government while they 5 work here, how can you evaluate the scale of issues 6 that they should no longer be engaged with?

7           GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Really, the 8 information about what they have worked on, what 9 particular matters they have worked on, and the 10 standard is worked on personally and substantially is 11 information that they or their agency would have to 12 provide to us. We're an independent agency. We don't 13 know what the day-to-day work of every public servant 14 is.

15           CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: No, look, I'm super 16 sympathetic, you've got 22 people and dozens of folks
17 asking you every single day for advice and guidance 18 is a lot on your plate with a relatively limited 19 capacity. I appreciate the longstanding 20 recommendations you've had to have more investigative 21 capacity in-house to be able to take ownership for 22 more of this work, but it feels like a Sisyphean task 23 to be trying to hope that all 20,000 people that are 24 leaving City government every year are following 25 their post-employment restrictions. Indeed, we're

1 only identifying three people a year who are and, for 2 something like this on the issues that the most 3 senior officials are unable to work on or should not, 4 it's very challenging to have any oversight to inform 5 what those issues are, and I think it would be 6 helpful to work together to think about how you all 7 could be resourced to actually provide that oversight
8 in a rigorous and effective way.

10 Last one, and I told you that you
11 couldn't trust me when I said last one so last one 12 for now. The Mayor's previous Counsel said in an 13 interview that his office had worked with COIB to 14 provide a set of guidelines to senior officials, and 15 I know you won't provide a specific guidance for an 16 individual and that that could be considered 17 confidential, but for something like this where the 18 Mayor's Chief Counsel said that he worked with COIB 19 to provide guidance to senior City Hall officials on 20 related matters, are those guidelines that could be 21 shared with us or could you confirm that you worked 22 with the Mayor's Chief Counsel to craft those 23 guidelines?

24 GENERAL COUNSEL CARRIER: Any read any 25 documents or records that are in our possession are

1 not things that we can provide and, when we provide 2 advice, including by working with General Counsels at 3 City agencies, Chief Counsel, the Mayor, and General 4 Counsel here at the City Council to help provide some 5 advice about policies that agency might be interested 6 in working on, I couldn't answer the question of 7 whether we've done that for any particular agency, 8 but the confidentiality is for them, so they are free 9 to disclose that sort of guidance. Now, all that 10 being said, we work with any City agency's General 11 Counsel or Chief Counsel who comes to us who would 12 like some help in trying to comply with the conflicts 13 of interest law. We are, of course, eager to help. We 14 want to help people comply with the law. Our goal is 15 to take whatever steps we possibly can to do that.

17 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Okay. Thank you very 18 much.

19 I'd like to shift to the Clerk and your 20 team. Thank you again for being with us today.

21 As I wrote noted in my opening remarks, 22 last year, lobbyists were paid 131 million dollars, 23 almost double what they were paid a decade ago. Could 24 you just remind us on exactly how many staff Lobbying 25 Bureau has overseeing this industry, how has the 1 staffing capacity of the Lobbying Bureau changed over 2 the past decade, and do you think, given that we've 3 seen a doubling in the amount of lobbying activity, 4 should the City Clerk's Lobbying Bureau have doubled 5 as well in that intervening time, and then lastly, 6 just on that, could you let us know if the recent 7 PEGs that you've been subject to by the Mayor have 8 impacted the Lobbying Bureau's operations?

10 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: The Lobbying Bureau
11 currently operates with Damaris Acosta, our Deputy 12 City Clerk. She oversees the Lobbying Bureau, our 13 Deputy General Counsel, Chief Investigator, an 14 Investigator, and a Paralegal. In addition, my 15 General Counsel, my Deputy City Clerk overseeing the 16 Marriage Bureau and myself, we contribute to the work
17 of the Lobbying Bureau together. After Local Law 129
18 of 2013, as I said before, we did hire a full-time 19 trainer to assist us with rolling out the amnesty 20 period and doing the outreach for that and, 21 unfortunately, that person departed and we do need to 22 fill that vacancy. Before that, we've had a couple 23 more investigators at one time, but we found that 24 it's been very difficult for us to retain people for 25 these tasks. The people that are working that I have

1 described are very hard-working people, and we've 2 been doing a lot of juggling to make sure that we 3 carry out our mandates. Would we like to see the 4 number of staff doubled? We would welcome any 5 increase of resources that we could get.

6 Unfortunately, our PEGs, as I mentioned before, have 7 been substantial, and we're not even in compliance 8 with our headcount because, when the PEGs were given, 9 we couldn't lay anybody off so things were done on an 10 attrition basis, but between the fact that we haven't 11 met our attrition goals and we've had three people 12 returned from maternity leave who went on maternity 13 leave prior to the PEGs, we're actually over our 14 required headcount, and the one other person who's 15 still out on maternity leave contacted us recently 16 and expressed that she would like to return earlier 17 so, with the PEGs that are in place, there's no way 18 we can hire anyone new until we meet those goals. It 19 would be nice if the PEGs that have been extended 20 into the outyears can be addressed during the budget.
21 I would love to see that. That would be huge for us.

22
23 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: We will do our best 24 and focus on that as we enter into the budget 25 negotiations.

2           Could you just remind us how many audits
3 are conducted each year? How is that changed over 4 time? Our review found that these audits generated 5 between 50 and 130 findings that required actions
6 annually. Is that a high rate of findings? Do you
7 think more audits would be beneficial to help
8 identify more issues that exist within these lobbying 9 reports?

10           CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: Yes, we do think 11 more audits would be helpful. The audits help us to 12 find where lobbyists are not providing information 13 about their targets, they're not identifying the 14 Local Law, they're not identifying the borough, 15 block, and lot number which is required for any kind 16 of real property or land use lobbying, and we make 17 corrections to these lobbyists and notify them that 18 these are very important things that they're required 19 to do and often do not do so the audits are very 20 helpful. When we first had the law changed, I think 21 it was Local Law 15 of 2006, that incorporated the 22 random audit program, we started with 30 audits and 23 then, in 2012, we increased that number unilaterally 24 to 45 audits and we definitely think it was worth 25

1 raising the number and we definitely should consider 2 raising it again.

4 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: We're still at 45
5 audits a year, despite significant increase in the 6 amount of lobbying activity. It's a staff capacity 7 issue...

8 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: That's correct.

9 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: But we would benefit
10 from clearly having more audits in place.

11 DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: Excuse me, 12 Chairperson. Just to add, we review every single 13 statement of registration and retainer agreement 14 filed by every single lobbyist, even if they're not 15 selected for audits, and we do that every year so 16 even everyone else, the information in their 17 registrations is still being checked. Anything that's 18 missing is, they're served notice of secure, asked to 19 correct it and provide it so it's not as though there 20 are 45 entities that are being examined and everyone 21 else is not.

22 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: No. I appreciate it.
23 You're looking at everything, but in the 45 audits 24 you're doing, you're identifying on average one to 25 three findings that require action, that's a not

1 insignificant amount, annually, and we've seen a 2 great increase in the amount of lobbying, and it 3 would clearly be helpful if we had capacity to 4 conduct more audits.

6 I just wanted to ask specifically on the 7 question of a what it would take to ban somebody from 8 being a lobbyist in New York City, knowing and 9 willful violations. Could you expand upon that?

10 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: In terms of knowing 11 and willful violations, first of all, we've actually 12 tried to look at a standard for knowing and willful, 13 and we've actually talked to the Law Department about 14 that, and there's no standard that they were able to 15 identify in anywhere in this structure of what 16 constitutes willful so we would have to look at case 17 law in the criminal context to find that. We haven't 18 found where someone's conduct was so egregious that 19 it rose to the level of willfulness that we said this 20 is clearly willful without that standard, because for 21 the most part, we find that most lobbyists in the 22 system do try to comply and, when there is an issue
23 when it comes to late fees or with a failure to file
24 a certain report, the Lobbying Law contains a 14-day 25 cure period so before we can take any further action,

1 we have to send out notices to cure for any 2 discrepancy in a lobbyist's filing, so that kind of 3 limits our ability. You know everybody has a chance 4 to cure their lobbying so that kind of can hide a 5 multitude of sins as it were.

7 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: The Clerk's Office
8 with a five-person Lobbying Bureau, I don't imagine, 9 has the ability to conduct proactive investigations 10 so could you share with us a breakdown kind of year-11 over-year of how many cases, if any, have been 12 referred to DOI maybe in the last few years and, if 13 it's easier to follow up in writing, that would be 14 fine. Similarly, I think we'd be interested in a 15 breakdown of how many cases were pursued for 16 different types of violations, failure to report, 17 filing incorrect information, or is that something 18 you could follow up with us in writing perhaps 19 subsequent to the hearing or if you have any of that 20 information today?

21 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: Generally speaking, 22 we could definitely follow up with you on the 23 investigations. It seems that we have one to three 24 investigations a year that come up usually due to 25 somebody...

2 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Get referred to DOI...

3 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: In terms of 4 referrals to DOI, we have a lot of contact with DOI,
5 but it's mostly DOI contacting us for information 6 about lobbyists. We have not found any knowing and 7 willful violations that were required to be reported 8 to DOI. In fact, there haven't been a lot of 9 situations on the lobbying side where we've had to 10 call DOI in. There was one situation I think 11 involving pension lobbying that we contacted them and 12 that was it, but there haven't been really any 13 incidents to speak of that required that to happen.

14 DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: And just in 15 terms of the violations, it's actually reported. It's 16 included in our annual report so we'd be happy to 17 compile it and provide analytics on it, but that is 18 something that we include in our annual reports.

19 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Thank you, and I did 20 review last year's annual report and found it to be 21 very helpful so thank you for that.

22 I'd like to ask about the topic of 23 unregistered lobbyists, which I think was a major 24 goal of the '06 and 2013 lobbying reforms, and my 25 sense is we made some meaningful progress at that

2 time on this issue. I'd imagine it's impossible to 3 estimate the scale of unregistered lobbying or to 4 know how many people may be lobbying without properly 5 filing with the Clerk's Office. I just wanted to 6 think about it from a little bit of a different 7 direction. Is there education that's required of City
8 employees on lobbying laws and reporting
9 requirements? Do you think if people like us, folks 10 on the Mayor's side, and the City agencies were 11 better trained, if the targets of lobbying activity 12 were better trained, we could help ensure that or we 13 could help flag for you all potentially unreported 14 activity?

15 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: We believe it would 16 be helpful because we don't conduct training of City 17 employees with respect to lobbyists so it would 18 definitely be helpful in our opinion.

19 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Great. I think it's 20 something that we should think a lot about whether 21 there are opportunities for us to require more 22 training of the targets of lobbying so that we can do 23 a better job of informing you all. I think it would 24 be an interesting case study to look at who I've 25 talked to in the last four months and who reported it

1 to you and who is missing, and I imagine that there's 2 quite a few people that are.

4 We really appreciate the data that's 5 included in the annual report and the data that's 6 accessible in Open Data. Is it possible to update the 7 data from the Clerk's Office on the Open Data portal 8 on a more frequent basis?

9 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: In preparation for 10 the hearing, I reached out to our contact at OTI, and 11 they would be more than willing to look at it. We've 12 talked about doing it, and it's something that 13 they'll be happy to look into. They have the same 14 resource issues that every City agency has, but 15 they're definitely willing.

16 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Great. We will 17 definitely follow up with you all on that.

18 This is another issue that I think is 19 probably mostly a technology issue, the fundraising 20 and political consulting reports. I have to say I did 21 not know much about these until Courtney Gross' great 22 reporting on them, was that last year, but I found it 23 very insightful and looked into it a bunch in advance 24 of this hearing. I know Council Member Brewer has 25 known about this for a very long time, but I learned

1 about it last year. I guess just help me on these,
2 just on the record, if I wanted to know how much 3 money lobbyists raised for Mayor Adams in 2023, could 4 you describe the process for how I would access that 5 information?

7 DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: It can be 8 accessed two different ways. You could go to Campaign 9 Finance and look at their filings, or you could go to 10 our public system, NYC Lobbyist Search, and you could 11 obtain the information. The limitation is that you 12 have to enter the lobbyist and then you have to 13 basically select their report and then, if they filed 14 one for the year, you look at one. If they filed up 15 to six, you look at six. We've been aware of this 16 issue and we have been in consultation with OTI, and 17 they are expecting that by December 31st they're 18 going to expand the Open Data platform to include 19 those reports.

20 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Oh, great.

21 DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: So that would 22 be really helpful.

23 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: That would be very 24 helpful.

DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: And also we are looking into whether they can update Lobbyist Search to add a left navigation field so that it can just be accessed directly. Also, for now, we willingly provide the information to anyone that requests, if they want the reports or if they want a spreadsheet, we've provided that information, but we are looking to so hopefully...

CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: That's great because it is quite a cumbersome process to go report by report, to dig in and find it and even to know where to look is, it's not straightforward, and I'm thrilled to hear that you've been successfully working with OTI and expect to have that information on the Open Data portal by the end of the year and that you're looking into a navigation system to make it more easily accessible for everyone. I think that's great.

Just relatedly, is the Clerk's Office on track to publish the lobbyist fundraising and political consulting data on the NYC Open Data portal by December 31st of this year, which I believe is what's required of you all?

2 DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: It's not 3 currently required, but we have been wanting to 4 implement it regardless, and we are on track to do it 5 by December 31st.

6 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Oh, great. Okay.
7 That's great. Okay. I think I misunderstood.

8 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: We're cautiously
9 optimistic.

10 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Cautiously
11 optimistic. Every technology project...

12 DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: I think maybe 13 you meant to include it in our annual report.

14 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I did. I am
15 interested in that too. Is it something that you 16 would all consider inclusion?

17 DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: Yes.

18 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Yes? Great. That 19 would be terrific. Relatedly, and maybe this is a 20 question for Mr. Ryan as well, but are these reports 21 proactively shared with the CFB or could they be, 22 should they be? What do you recommend?

23 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: There is 24 information from our reports that DoITT shares 25 automatically with Campaign Finance Board to our

1 knowledge so I don't see any reason why we couldn't, 2 one of the things we would have to work with OTI on,
3 so that it could be done automatically, but sometimes 4 certain things are done automatically and certain 5 things are done manually and, for manual things on 6 their end, it could be more time-consuming.

8 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Maybe I'll shift to 9 Mr. Ryan for a moment, and we're hoping to have a 10 future hearing to dig into this topic in much greater 11 detail, but my understanding is that a lobbyist
12 operating as a fundraiser for the Mayor is required 13 to complete these forms, submits the forms to the 14 Clerk's office that they raised X amount of dollars 15 for the Mayor over the previous time period but, 16 depending on how the fundraiser is structured, they 17 may or may not be required to report to CFB that the 18 lobbyist was raising money for the Mayor, that they 19 may not be required to be reported as an intermediary 20 in CFB's process. Is that right?

21 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR RYAN: Sounds like it's 22 correct, but I want to make a couple things clear.
23 First of all, the intermediary disclosure
24 requirements are imposed upon the Campaign Committees
25 so it is incumbent upon the Committees to ascertain

1 who is serving as an intermediary with respect to 2 contributions that that Committee receives and then 3 the Committee submits to us an intermediary report.
4 Probably the most important reason we receive 5 lobbyist data is to enforce our lower contribution 6 limits that apply to those doing business with the 7 City and to lobbyists..

9 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: And because those 10 funds are not matchable.

11 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR RYAN: Correct, not 12 matchable. They also don't count towards 13 qualification for the thresholds for the public 14 funding program.

15 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Do you know, does 16 the CFB proactively crosscheck with the information 17 that is submitted in the lobbyist reports?

18 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR RYAN: With respect to 19 eligibility and match, yes, we scrutinize those 20 contributions quite carefully, and my excellent team
21 at the Campaign Finance Board has gone pretty deep 22 into the trees, so to speak, on Intro. 742, but I 23 want to make sure we don't miss the forest for the 24 trees. I have two pretty significant concerns with 25 the bill, one constitutional, one with respect to

1 administration of the bill that I would love to speak 2 to...

4 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Please.

5 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR RYAN: If I may. So one 6 of those concerns relates to the constitutionality of 7 the law. The other relates to the administrability of 8 the law and, if addressed, I think would likely 9 address many of the more granular issues that my team 10 flagged for me and perhaps would address some of the 11 more pointed questions you might have for me today.
12 As clearly stated in the title of Intro. 742, this 13 law would prohibit certain lobbying by individuals 14 engaged in campaign fundraising or political 15 consulting activities. This framework turns the 16 conventional approach to regulating in this arena on 17 its head. The conventional approach is to regulate 18 particular activities of lobbyists. The bill's 19 framework, prohibiting certain lobbying activities by 20 those engaged in fundraising or consulting, could 21 have significant constitutional law and 22 administrative implications. First, regarding the 23 constitutional law implications, applying campaign 24 finance restrictions on lobbyists is fairly common.
25 These restrictions have largely withstood

1 constitutional scrutiny here in New York City, for 2 example, when lobbyists challenged the City's reduced 3 political contribution limits for lobbyists and those 4 doing business with the City, a Federal District
5 Court and the Federal Second Circuit Court of Appeals
6 upheld the City law against First and 14th Amendment 7 challenge. The case was Ognibene v Parkes, which the 8 Second Circuit decided in 2012. The Parkes, who is 9 the named defendant in this case, was the Campaign 10 Finance Board's Chair at the time, Joseph P. Parkes.
11 In considering the constitutionality of these lower 12 contribution limits applicable to lobbyists, the 13 Courts applied a heightened intermediate scrutiny 14 that is routinely applied to contribution limits 15 across the board. By contrast to political 16 contribution limits, many other types of laws that 17 burden First Amendment activities are subjected to so 18 called strict scrutiny, and there's a saying among 19 First Amendment litigators, strict in theory, fatal 20 in fact, and that's because once a Court decides to 21 apply strict scrutiny, the challenge law rarely 22 survives that scrutiny but, in Ognibene, the Second 23 Circuit rejected the plaintiff's argument that strict 24 scrutiny should apply, and instead the Court applied 25

1 what it called the more lenient heightened
2 intermediate scrutiny and found that the challenged 3 law was constitutionally permissible because it was 4 closely drawn to address the significant government 5 governmental interest in reducing corruption or the 6 appearance thereof.

8 My constitutional law concern with this 9 proposed law is that rather than applying 10 restrictions on fundraising by lobbyists, which would 11 be subject to this more lenient heightened 12 intermediate scrutiny, this law would prohibit 13 lobbying and would likely be subject to strict 14 judicial scrutiny, making it much harder to defend in 15 court if it's challenged. This differential treatment 16 in constitutional law is because lobbying is 17 considered core First Amendment activity. The First 18 Amendment explicitly protects the right to petition 19 the government and, by contrast, making political 20 contributions has been deemed by Courts to be a form 21 of indirect speech. Making a contribution is an 22 expressive act, but it is not itself speech.

23 My second concern is an administrative 24 one. There are administrative implications to this 25 unconventional approach of prohibiting certain

1 lobbyist activities of those who engage in 2 fundraising or consulting rather than regulating the 3 fundraising and consulting activities of lobbyists.
4 The law would mandate that the Campaign Finance Board
5 work with agencies and the Council to develop notices 6 and advertisements intended to reach persons that 7 engage in fundraising activities or political 8 consulting activities that will inform such persons 9 of the prohibition set forth in this law. The 10 universe of people engaged in fundraising and 11 consulting activities is a largely unknown universe.
12 To my knowledge, there is no database or list of 13 people engaged in fundraising or consulting and, by 14 contrast, if the Council were to take the more 15 conventional approach, applying fundraising and 16 consulting restrictions on lobbyists, then 17 educational efforts could focus on the known universe 18 of registered lobbyist, and that database obviously 19 does exist. The Clerk has been discussing it today, 20 and the Clerk's office maintains it. The new law's 21 starting point would be the known universe of 22 lobbyists, prohibiting them from fundraising or 23 consulting for any officeholder they have lobbied or 24 reasonably expect to lobby, which is the thrust of 25

1 the law even in its present form. Such an approach 2 would be on sounder constitutional footing and would 3 also be easier to administer. There are some 4 foreseeable potential shortcomings in my suggested 5 more conventional approach and, if the starting point 6 for this regulatory regime is registered lobbyists as 7 I suggest it should be, there could be instances in 8 which someone isn't a registered lobbyist at the time
9 they do the fundraising or consulting and they later 10 decide to lobby. One policy solution would be to 11 include the concept that's in the current bill as a 12 backstop of sorts, prohibiting such an individual 13 from lobbying the elected official they raised funds 14 for or worked for and, admittedly, this would raise 15 the same constitutional concerns I flagged moments 16 ago. However, the number of people falling into this 17 category would be relatively small, I think, and I 18 believe that including this type of provision in the 19 law as an anti-circumvention backstop rather than as 20 the entire legal framework of the law is more 21 constitutionally defensible. Even if this backstop 22 provision were challenged and held unconstitutional, 23 the rest of the law would remain in effect, which 24 would effectively regulate most of the people the law 25

1 is intended to regulate, the professional political 2 class. By contrast, in its current form, I think the 3 entirety of the law may be vulnerable to 4 constitutional challenge and, if invalidated, the 5 entire regulatory regime would be wiped out.

7 My team has flagged some other more
8 granular issues, but I really just wanted to get out 9 there on the table this constitutional concern, and I
10 think this change would be significant in its impact, 11 particularly in the ability to defend this law 12 against constitutional challenge, but it would not 13 substantially impact the purpose of this bill as it's 14 been proposed.

15 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I'll start and then 16 kick it over to Council Member Brewer. Thank you for 17 sharing your insights, Mr. Ryan. We welcome them.

18 We do have post-employment restrictions
19 in place currently, as COIB graciously testified 20 today, that have been in place for decades in New 21 York City, that are limitations imposed on what 22 former colleagues you're allowed to lobby. Why could 23 there not be similar restrictions for paid political 24 consultants and fundraisers on former colleagues that 25 they are permitted to lobby?

2 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR RYAN: My fundamental 3 point is that would be an untested approach. I don't 4 know of any jurisdiction that does it quite that way, 5 and that it would likely, if enacted and then 6 challenged, be subject to strict scrutiny. I've 7 litigated some of these cases, and I know from 8 experience those cases are very difficult to win, and 9 I think there's an easier way, which is to use as 10 your starting point the known universe of lobbyists 11 and to regulate their activity so it's more 12 predictive on my part of what type of analysis the 13 courts would apply, what type of scrutiny and, if 14 there is an easier road and a more defensible road 15 constitutionally, I'm struggling to see a downside in 16 taking that.

17 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Just making sure I 18 follow. If the Clerk's Office, hypothetically, were 19 tasked with confirming that a registered lobbyist had 20 worked on a political campaign or conducted 21 fundraising for an elected official within the 22 previous period of time, then it would be noted in 23 their lobbying reports that they are prohibited from 24 lobbying those individuals during that period of 25

2 time, whatever the designated period of time is. Is 3 that essentially what you envision?

4 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR RYAN: Yes, and that is 5 what I would describe as the backstop, because the 6 first line of improving or increasing integrity in 7 local government would be to simply say that those 8 who are lobbyists can't raise money for or serve as 9 consultants to the individuals they lobby or 10 anticipate lobbying, and that the restriction on 11 their ability to contribute is a lesser burden on 12 their First Amendment rights than the prohibition on 13 their lobbying so it's really creating what is in the 14 heart of the structure of the current bill as the 15 backstop, making the most constitutionally vulnerable 16 aspect of this proposal into this backstop and a 17 small piece of it and have a slightly different 18 structure capture most of the people we're trying to 19 get at with regulation.

20 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: To the Clerk's 21 Office, do you think that that could potentially work 22 from your all's perspective if we were to pursue a 23 model along those lines?

2 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: I think we could 3 definitely do it. It would be a matter of how to 4 track down the data, but I don't see why we couldn't.

5 COUNCIL MEMBER BREWER: I also want to 6 always thank the Clerk's Office because no matter
7 what gets thrown at you, you always say yes, so I 8 want to tell you it is true, and Mike Sweeney has 9 been our savior from day one on that topic so thank 10 you and your staff. I want to say that.

11 I think what you're saying, Mr. Ryan, is 12 that there is already a built-in possibility for 13 enforcing what we're trying to achieve, and I don't 14 have a problem looking at that. I do think hopefully 15 it could be expanded as time goes on because you have 16 the other side of the coin where there is no list, as 17 you suggest, of people who do the campaign 18 consulting. We don't have that list. I assume that we 19 sort of have half the coin that we could work with 20 and then see if that achieves our goal. I understand 21 what you're saying. I don't want to throw the baby 22 out with a bathwater, which is what you're saying is, 23 and it is the First Amendment issue as we know from 24 the Supreme Court also, a little Citizens Union in 25 there, is a big problem that we have to address on

1 many levels. We don't want to lose it on the positive 2 side, as opposed to the Supreme Court with their 3 Citizens Union challenge so I'm certainly willing to 4 look at this and see if it accomplishes what we're 5 trying to accomplish. I think if the word gets out 6 that there is concern and a mandated prohibition 7 about basically, what I would call double dipping, 8 that's what I would call it, then you have a way to 9 approach it that would be constitutionally upheld. I 10 would love to look at that. Thank you very much.

12 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR RYAN: And I'd be happy 13 to share a little bit about what information the 14 Campaign Finance Board does presently have in its 15 possession relevant to this bill as it's currently 16 drafted. If we're talking about outside of the 17 universe of lobbyists, simply the universe of non-18 lobbyists, consultants, and fundraisers, we don't 19 really have much of that information, not available 20 to us in any sort of comprehensive or usable format.
21 There's no requirement that Committees report their 22 fundraisers or consultants to us in any systematic or 23 uniform way. We do see some of this information, 24 though, for example, on candidate registration forms, 25 candidates can, but are not required to, identify

2 their consultant. Some of them do, many of them, most 3 of them do not. We also see some of this information 4 on disclosure reports when campaigns report the 5 purpose of their expenditure, but the quality and the 6 consistency of campaign reporting of expense purpose 7 codes is, to put it bluntly, pretty poor. The most 8 commonly used purpose codes for this type of expense 9 are funder or consultant or professional or, the 10 hardest to deal with for the purpose of administering 11 this type of law, other. Making use of this data as 12 it's presently written in this bill would require 13 manual inspection, I think, particularly of 14 expenditures coded other and perhaps cross-15 referencing with invoices and other documentation to 16 determine whether the activity done by that person 17 paid by the campaign constitutes consultation as 18 defined in the law or fundraising activity defined in 19 the law. That would be a heavily manual project and 20 it would be a difficult one.

21 COUNCIL MEMBER BREWER: I can promise you 22 there's no such list of those who do campaign, I've 23 tried to find such a thing and there's no such thing.
24 You're right, it's very haphazard, as you just 25 described, but if you look at it from the other side,

1 prohibiting from those who have a list, that's 2 something to look at. Thank you very much.

4 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: That is very 5 helpful. Thank you, Mr. Ryan.

6 I do think that you've offered some smart 7 suggestions for how we might be able to achieve our 8 policy goals and appreciate the thoughtful 9 recommendations for alternative ways of getting 10 there.

11 I'd like to return to ask just a few more 12 questions of the Clerk and the team, if that's okay.
13 For the purposes of ensuring that City employees are 14 compliant with restrictions on who they can appear 15 before, do you track if newly registered lobbyists 16 recently left City employment? Do you have access to 17 that information to be able to evaluate whether there 18 may be an issue?

19 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: We do not track
20 that information, and we've kind of been operating 21 under the assumption that we have jurisdiction over 22 the lobbyist, COIB has jurisdiction over employees 23 and former employees, etc. so it's not something that 24 we've really looked at to any extent. I mean I'm sure 25 that we would have to and would be able to figure out

1 some way of looking at that or at least trying to 2 establish how to track that down looking at the 3 universe of lobbyists. I think we were talking about 4 maybe inserting questions into e-Lobbyist where you
5 would have to certify if you've worked for the City 6 before, what office did you work for, what was your 7 title and, and to have it kind of loaded in on the 8 front end, but that would be one way. We would also 9 probably contact our colleagues at COIB and ask for 10 their help and advice on trying to learn that better.
11

12 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Appreciate your 13 openness to it.

14 I think the other area that I'm 15 interested in drilling down on a little bit more is 16 some of the definitions that we have in reporting. We 17 looked online just to see how many folks had lobbied 18 me and my staff over the course of the year to date 19 and found that there were over 150 entities that 20 reported lobbying our office so far this year but, in 21 the reporting, it doesn't indicate whether it was a 22 mass email that was just sent to 51 Council Members 23 or if I had four sit-down meetings with them, which 24 are really different types of interactions. Have you 25 considered in these reports tracking with a little

1 more specificity the type of interaction that's made, 2 whether it be mass email or phone call or meeting or 3 multiple meetings to give more insight to the public 4 on how lobbying is working.

6 DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: Currently, the 7 Administrative Code doesn't require that they enter 8 that information. What's required is subject matter 9 details, and the law says they have to include 10 information sufficient to identify the activity so, 11 as the Commissioner mentioned in his openings, for 12 example, if you're talking about a property you have 13 to include an address, if you're talking about a law 14 you have to include an Intro. and a year, but that's 15 really it. The Admin Code doesn't go into more detail 16 but, certainly, whatever is mandated by the Admin 17 Code, we'd be happy to enforce and carry out. When 18 organizations are audited specifically, the subject 19 details are reviewed in more detail and they often 20 are asked to include more information, but the law 21 does not require that they state that.

22 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I think it's 23 something that we should take a look at because I do 24 think it would be helpful and they're already 25 submitting the information. It's just not in the 1 reports, right, and you're looking at it on the 2 audits, right, so we should be able to gather that 3 information and synthesize it for a public review.

5 I'm always frustrated by the times in my 6 experience working in City government where people
7 will call me and say I'm an attorney for this client 8 and they're doing everything that looks, smells, and 9 acts like lobbying, but it's not lobbying because 10 they're there as the attorney for the client rather 11 than the lobbyist for the client. I'm just going to 12 say that is something that I find very frustrating 13 and would like to try to figure out a way to capture 14 that information more accurately for public review 15 and really bring more scrutiny to that issue.

16 Another area that I don't think the 17 Lobbying Law currently has appropriate clarity is, as 18 I understand it, around Mayoral discretionary 19 decision-making and so just to confirm if a lobbyist 20 calls the Mayor or his team and lobbies them to not 21 support a given project one way or another, it's not 22 rulemaking, it's not local law, it's let's say a 23 street safety project on McGinnis Boulevard, as an 24 example.

2 COUNCIL MEMBER BREWER: I was wondering if 3 it was going to come up.

4 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I'm very 5 predictable, I guess that's the thing. What you see 6 is what you get.

7 Is that subject to lobbying disclosures?
8 Is a lobbyist required to disclose that?

9 DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: Sorry, we're 10 just fighting to, we're both...

11 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Everybody wants to 12 answer all the questions.

13 DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: With the way
14 that the law is drafted, right, each of the 11 15 definitions is very specific, right? It lists a 16 target and it lists an activity, and then there are 17 11 exclusions, right, so that's what makes it so 18 complicated. They're only required to report exactly 19 what's listed. That's why we always say there's no 20 such thing as illegal lobbying. There's plenty of 21 lobbying that is not captured. It's a question of 22 what's reportable so our Admin Code does not capture 23 indirect attempts to lobby so, in that circumstance, 24 it would depend on what agency is making the 25 determination and how those determinations are made,

1 for example, is there a pending rule, is it a matter 2 of a contract or public funds or is it a matter of 3 limited discretion per existing laws, rules and 4 regulations and, in those situations, there are 5 exclusions for what is termed to be an adjudicatory 6 determination so that's the hardest question that we 7 get ironically, is this lobbying? That's the most 8 complicated.

10 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I can't fathom that 11 we have a large employer in Greenpoint, Broadway 12 Stages, that's very famously been advocating, 13 spending hundreds of thousands of dollars, sending 14 out mailers, robocalls, lobbying the Mayor 15 aggressively, reporting on meetings with the Mayor to 16 not support a DOT-proposed street redesign that's got 17 every elected official, 10,000 community members have 18 signed a petition in support. This entity is 19 aggressively lobbying the Mayor, spending in a very 20 public and explicit way, against a DOT proposal, and 21 it's not lobbying so we need to update the laws to 22 capture that kind of activity for something that 23 walks and talks and quacks like a lobbyist, but 24 doesn't actually fit the bill.
25

2 CITY CLERK MCSWEENEY: I think what you're 3 talking about is the indirect lobbying, and I don't 4 think that's captured in the 11 types of activity
5 that constitutes lobbying.

6 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: It's the phrase
7 indirect lobbying, which I'm sure is the technical 8 phrase, it's hard to stomach because there's nothing 9 indirect about it. It's a public campaign where 10 they're openly walking out of City Hall saying we met 11 with the Mayor to discuss this issue and he's changed 12 his mind because of his meeting with us and he's no
13 longer supporting the Department of Transportation's 14 Street Safety Plan and, yet, it's not lobbying.

15 DEPUTY CITY CLERK ACOSTA: We do not 16 disagree, and I will say that the Commission in 2013, 17 the Commission did add a new definition, which would 18 be similar to adding a definition of indirect. They 19 added a provision that stated if anyone that attempts 20 to influence a New York City elected official or 21 officer or employee on any state or federal rule, 22 regulation, or resolution was captured and, before 23 2013, that was not part of the law so I do think 24 there is like a precedence for adding that type of 25 definition into the regulations.

2           CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I want to just thank 3 you all for being so patient and doing two-plus, two 4 and a half hours of questions with us. I really 5 appreciate you all coming in. I think we certainly 6 got a bunch of really good suggestions from each of 7 you for ways that we should be working to update some 8 of these laws that weren't officially under 9 consideration today, but this was really our first 10 lobbying oversight hearing as a Council since Gale 11 was here before her Borough Presidency days so that 12 was some time ago, and I'm really glad that you all 13 were willing to take the time, appreciative that 14 you're willing to take the time, answer our 15 questions, engage with us constructively, and look 16 forward to being in touch with each of you in the 17 near future. Thank you so much.

18           I remind members of the public that this 19 is a formal government proceeding and that the quorum 20 shall be observed at all times. As such, members of 21 the public shall remain silent at all times unless 22 you're testifying.

23           The witness table is reserved for people 24 who wish to testify. No video recording or 25 photography is allowed from the witness table.

2 Furthermore, members of the public may not present
3 audio or visual recordings as testimony but may 4 submit transcripts of such recordings to the 5 Sergeant-at-Arms for inclusion in the hearing record.

6           If you wish to speak at today's hearing, 7 please do fill out an appearance card with the 8 Sergeant-at-Arms and wait to be recognized. When 9 recognized, you will have three minutes to speak on 10 today's hearing topics, New York City's Lobbying Laws 11 and Necessary Reforms.

12           If you have a written statement or 13 additional written testimony you wish to submit for 14 the record, please provide a copy of that testimony 15 to the Sergeant-at-Arms. You may also email written 16 testimony to testimony@council.nyc.gov within 72
17 hours of this hearing. Audio and visual recordings 18 will not be accepted.

19           Council Members who have questions for a 20 particular panelist, please let me know, and I will 21 call on you after the panelist has completed their 22 testimony.

23           Once again, thank you for those of you 24 who are testifying in person and registered in 25

1 advance. Please fill out an appearance card with the 2 Sergeant-at-Arms.

4 For panelists on Zoom, once your name is 5 called, a Member of our Staff will unmute you, and 6 the Sergeant-at-Arms will give you the go-ahead to 7 begin upon setting the timer. Please wait for the 8 Sergeant to announce that you may begin before 9 delivering your testimony.

10 I am now privileged to invite our first 11 panel to come up. We have some exceptional good 12 government groups with us. I'd like to invite Ben 13 Weinberg of Citizens Union, Susan Lerner of Common 14 Cause New York, Rachel Faus of Reinvent Albany, and 15 on Zoom, Blair Horner of NYPIRG, who is, I believe, 16 surviving the Albany budget. Thank you all for being 17 with us and feel free to testify in whatever order 18 you all prefer.

19 SUSAN LERNER: I've been elected to go
20 first. Thank you very much.

21 I'm Susan Lerner, Executive Director of 22 Common Cause New York. I want to thank you for a very 23 lively and informative hearing this morning. From our 24 point-of-view and as really explored in Zephyr 25 Teachout's excellent book regarding the history of 1 lobbying and anti-corruption measures in our country, 2 for many decades, if not centuries, lobbying was 3 considered illegal, and actually the constitutional 4 status of lobbying is quite murky as she explores. I 5 think what we heard this morning and what we've seen 6 in the 2013 Charter Revision is a lack of 7 understanding of the real way in which influence is 8 wielded in City government and the fact that 9 lobbyists and those who are part of the revolving 10 door have a real interest in ensuring that any 11 restrictions are very limited. We need to rebalance, 12 and we believe that these three measures help to 13 rebalance between the public interest and being sure 14 that our government makes good decisions based on all 15 information with integrity and the right of those to 16 petition the government, perhaps as a paid employment 17 so we very much approve the impetus behind these 18 measures. We have no problem responding to some of 19 the concerns this morning. I think that the measure 20 76 and 77 could certainly be crafted to exempt some 21 of the Commissioners, some of the Executive Directors 22 but, when we're dealing with elected officials and 23 particularly in a revolving door situation, we are 24 dealing with a position of unusual trust as well as 25

1 those who are appointed to high administrative 2 positions, and I believe that people who have the 3 privilege of serving as public servants and being 4 paid as such need to keep in mind that they have a 5 position of unusual trust in the public, both while 6 they're on the payroll and after they go off the 7 payroll. We support the impetus. We are certainly 8 open to seeing Intro. 76 and 77 restrictions nuanced 9 a bit more, but the idea that there should be two-10 year ban bringing us in line with the State ban, and 11 that there are individuals who should have a ban on 12 any communications with any City agency is a good 13 one. I personally am very excited to see the 14 introduction of 742 because the way in which campaign 15 consultants and lobbying firms have merged and have a 16 confluence is an issue that I've been talking and 17 writing about for the last 10 years so we very much 18 support that effort. Thank you.

19
20 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Thank you so much.
21 Really helpful.

22 RACHEL FAUS: Okay. I was going to say 23 good morning as that's what my testimony says, but 24 good afternoon, Chair Restler and Council Member 25 Brewer. My name's Rachel Faus. I'm the Senior Policy

2 Advisor for Reinventing Albany. We advocate for a 3 more transparent and accountable New York government, 4 both in the city and the state, and thanks again for 5 holding this hearing. Definitely struck that it's 6 been 10 years. I was wearing a different hat at the 7 time that the changes went into effect, actually his 8 hat. We support the intent of the three bills you're 9 considering today to reduce the undue influence of 10 deep pocketed political interest and slow the 11 revolving door of City government employees lobbying 12 their former employer, the City of New York. However, 13 we urge you to aim much higher. At a minimum, New 14 York City should have a three-year lobbying revolving 15 door ban. Just to put things in perspective, Florida 16 has a six-year ban, and this is on elected officials 17 and very high-ranking folks. This was passed by 18 public referendum in 2018. I'm going to repeat that a 19 six-year ban so surely New York City can pass a ban 20 half as long as Florida's, and the two-year ban, I 21 think, exists in many states where there's two-year 22 terms. We have a four-year term, so I think that's 23 something to think about in how this is crafted. Just 24 to speak to the three-year ban, I think we'd like to 25 see it apply to all three of the bills, what category

1 of people, the policymaker list. I think we heard a 2 lot of discussion today about who to get, but I think 3 a bright line of three years and also a bright line 4 that it's not just your former employer, but also the 5 entire City is really important because when you have 6 different standards for different individuals, it
7 gets very confusing, and we know that enforcement's 8 challenging when there's extremely limited staffing 9 levels so the brighter the lines are, the better.
10

11           On a couple of other matters around 12 lobbying activity, just want to draw to your 13 attention in 2013, the City Council passed the major 14 changes to Lobbying Law, and one of those was that 15 smaller lobbyists, those that spend less than 10,000 16 dollars and do not hire outside firms, they should 17 only have to report twice a year rather than six 18 times. It's not that their lobbying reporting 19 activity is not reported. It's absolutely reported.
20 It's just the filing burden was reduced. From our 21 understanding that has not been implemented. That's 22 something I think you should consider looking at. We 23 crunched the numbers in the e-Lobbyist open data. It 24 looks like there's about 140 groups who fall into 25 that, some of them are notable, Community Service

1 Society, Habitat for Humanity, New York Botanical 2 Garden, Queensborough Public Library, a lot of non-3 profit institutions. Full disclosure, Reinvent Albany 4 is also on that list.

6 Other piece, while I've got seven 7 seconds, I'm glad to hear that the fundraising and 8 political consulting data is going to be reported as 9 Open Data, that's great. We'd like you to introduce a 10 bill that would specify whether lobbyist activity is 11 in support or opposition to bills. Right now, you 12 only know they lobbied on the subject. You don't know 13 whether it was in support or opposition. This is done 14 in other states like Montana. We think you should 15 introduce a bill to help tighten up the law. Thanks.

16 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Thank you so much. I
17 totally agree. That's a very good recommendation.

18 I just want to say just prior to your 19 testimony, Ben, we just wanted to thank you for your 20 expert kind of analysis and guidance that you 21 provided to our office in advance of the hearing.

22 BEN WEINBERG: I was happy to help, and 23 now it's on me to thank you, Council Member Brewer, 24 both for introducing these bills and for bringing us 25 all together to discuss this important issue.

2           As was mentioned here, since 2007,
3 lobbyists have been required to disclose information
4 about their political consulting and fundraising 5 activities in their periodic reports. Now, that 6 disclosure was a necessary first step, but we're 17 7 years old, and that hasn't really led to any 8 reduction in the number of these kind of dual service 9 firms that serve campaigns and lobby City government.
10 In fact, our analysis as and, as the executive 11 director of the CFP mentioned, is an imprecise 12 analysis because the numbers are imprecise, but our 13 analysis did find that of the top 50 companies that 14 provide campaign consulting and professional services
15 provided in the 2021 election, 24 percent of them
16 were lobbyists, almost a quarter of the top campaign 17 consulting firms in that cycle were lobbyists, and 18 that's actually higher than had existed 10 years
19 before. Our written testimony includes some clear 20 examples of those conflicts where lobbying firms help 21 candidates to win and then go on to lobby those same 22 people in office so that's why we very much support 23 Intro. 742, which would limit the ability of firms 24 and individuals to lobby the candidates they helped 25 get elected. It was mentioned earlier that this might

1 be an unconventional approach. I should point out 2 that San Francisco has a similar restriction. They 3 actually have a stricter one of five-years ban, and 4 places like Philadelphia, Alaska, and Maryland all 5 have rules against the direct involvement of 6 lobbyists in campaign or fundraising for campaigns.
7 Some of them have been litigated. We have three 8 recommendations to strengthen this bill, or I should 9 mention two here. First, it currently covers only 10 elected officials that are former clients, and we 11 think it should cover also staff members or 12 appointees of those elected officials. This is 13 especially important for mayoral candidates and 14 really most of the kind of recent news we've seen 15 around this are about lobbying Commissioners after 16 you ran a mayoral campaign. The other one is really 17 to ensure that lobbying firms can't avoid this bill 18 by either setting up a new division or a new LLC, and 19 we have some proposed language in the bill on how to 20 counter that.
21

22           Short of time, I will just mention that 23 we also support better transparency on the lobbying 24 disclosure of fundraising and political activities.
25 As Chair Restler mentioned, it is very difficult to 1 access that information nor is the information 2 reported in the annual reports. It would be great to 3 see aggregated data of those disclosures, how many 4 fundraisers are held by lobbies, top lobbying 5 (INAUDIBLE) political consulting. I'll wrap up. I'll 6 be remiss if I won't mention that we also support 7 another important way to close a pay-to-play loophole 8 in our lobbying laws, and that is to ban lobbies from 9 bundling donations. Lobbyists and people on the Doing 10 Business Database are severely restricted in terms of 11 the size of the contribution they can give 12 candidates, but they can freely bundle donations, and 13 we have examples of lobbyists donating more than a 14 hundred times of their individual limit. In fact, in 15 the last election, from what we saw, nine of the top 16 ten bundlers were either lobbying firms, their 17 employees, or officials and companies that do 18 business with the City. As imperative, we make sure 19 we close that ban. Lastly, on the two bills on post-20 employment bans, we support the proposal to extend 21 those restrictions for the Mayor's Office for two 22 years, which would be in line with the rules at the 23 Executive Chamber in Albany, and we also support 24 expanding the post-employment restriction to any 25

2 agency for policymakers at the Mayor's Office and the 3 City Council and any other high-ranking government
4 officials with broad interagency powers. We do 5 recommend not to include all public servants on the 6 policymaker list and all members of boards and 7 commissions from appearing before any agency, and 8 that is because of actually what was mentioned here 9 earlier, our concern of the effect it would have 10 about the ability of the City to recruit and maintain 11 personnel as well as the size of that group. Thank 12 you so much for the opportunity to address you today.

13 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Thank you so much.

14 I'd just like to ask, oh Blair, sorry, I forgot about 15 you. I forgot about Zoom. Mr. Horner, are you with 16 us?

17 BLAIR HORNER: I am. Can you hear me okay?

18 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: We can hear you.

19 BLAIR HORNER: You're still hearing me?

20 I'm just being muted and unmuted at the same time.

21 Maybe that's Ben doing that, I don't know.

22 Good afternoon, my name is Blair Horn,
23 I'm the Executive Director of NYPIRG, a non-partisan, 24 not-for-profit research and advocacy organization. We 25 appreciate the opportunity to testify on the

2 proposals to strengthen the oversight of the lobbying 3 industry and to curb conflicts of interest that can 4 impact New York City government.

5           We applaud you for holding the hearing,
6 and I'll summarize our written comments, which you
7 have already received. NYPIRG supports the measures
8 under consideration by the Committee. New York City 9 has been the state's leader in tackling conflict of 10 interest issues, and this package will boost public 11 participation in the City and help advance reform in 12 Albany. As you can see in our written testimony, the 13 growth of lobbying in the City has been staggering, 14 and the temptation for public servants to cash in on 15 their governmental contacts has never been greater.
16 Thus, it makes perfect sense to strengthen revolving 17 door limitations. While the City has been a leader in 18 the regulation of lobbying and curbing conflicts of 19 interests, the growth of state lobbying and ethics 20 regulations has become deeply entwined with that of 21 the City. As a result, New York has two parallel 22 systems, similar but different. Those differences can 23 lead to confusion and may, unintentionally, create 24 obstacles to policy participation by those who simply 25 cannot handle compliance requirements that are

2 complex at both the State and City levels but are 3 also different. Those voices can be silenced by these 4 two systems. Our observations are not, however, a 5 call for City policymakers to weaken standards in 6 order to mirror the State. State law should be viewed 7 as a floor, not a policy ceiling, and City 8 policymakers should continue to innovate in order to 9 help the evolution of ethics and lobbying oversight, 10 both at the City and the State. Your measures to curb 11 the revolving door between public service and 12 lobbying are important and deserve support. Approval
13 will meet the policy floor standards set by the State 14 and then raise the ante. Given the enormous amount of 15 money that has spent on lobbying and the lucrative 16 nature of paid advocacy, it is critically important 17 that those in public service are restrained in their 18 ability to cash in when they leave to join the public 19 sector. Thank you for this opportunity to testify.
20 Would love to have been there in person but, 21 unfortunately, I am stuck in Albany dealing with the 22 State budget. Thank you.

23 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: We really appreciate 24 you making time with everything that's going on in 25

1 Albany so thank you for that and your sharp
2 testimony.

4 I just wanted to ask one general question
5 to the panel. With regard to, and I appreciate Ben, 6 your comment that there is a model on Council Member 7 Brewer's bill in San Francisco that is being 8 emulated. What did folks think of the alternative 9 approach suggested by Mr. Ryan from the CFB in trying 10 to tackle this issue of regulating this through the 11 Clerk's Office, and do you think that could be an 12 effective approach or do you prefer how this was 13 drafted originally by Council Member Brewer?

14 BEN WEINBERG: I'll preface this by saying 15 I'm not sure I understood the entire proposal, but I 16 do think we do have already a system where lobbyists 17 disclose their political activities and their 18 fundraising activities. We have a definition in the 19 lobbying law and they must report that. If their idea 20 is to build on top of that system and those 21 disclosures, I think that totally makes sense and if 22 it would streamline the process. I will say we have 23 concerns about whether these activities are being 24 disclosed. There aren't a whole lot of them that are 25 filed, or at least that we can find. If you look at

1 the political expenses side and the CFB side, you see 2 way more companies receiving money for political 3 consulting than lobbying companies reporting their 4 political consulting. I think that we can definitely 5 use that disclosure system. We just have to make sure 6 that it is enforced, and those activities are 7 actually disclosed.

9 RACHEL FAUS: I totally agree. I think the 10 enforcement is really important. I know something I 11 meant to mention earlier is we absolutely support 12 independent budgeting for enforcement agencies like 13 the Conflicts of Interest Board. The City Clerk has 14 an enforcement function that clearly is being 15 hampered right now with the PEGs so I think 16 bolstering enforcement as part of passing these bills
17 is clearly very important. I think we have a Doing 18 Business List, right, and that is crucial to the 19 campaign finance program to enforce the limits.
20 Having a list of political consultants and 21 fundraisers that is just as tight and checkable is 22 important, and I think putting this out in Open Data 23 is going to help a lot as well because right now it's 24 harder to access and there's fewer eyes on it. You 25 want watchdog groups, journalists, the Council, you

2 want everybody to have their eyes on that so making 3 it tight, public in Open Data is going to, I think, 4 help with that effort.

5           SUSAN LERNER: Actually hearing the 6 comments from the Campaign Finance Board reminds me 7 that there is another way to approach this, which is 8 when you accept public money, you accept various 9 restrictions, and so it could be possible to look at 10 having a condition of accepting matching funds that 11 you have a contract with your consultants that they 12 will not lobby you, that neither they nor firms they 13 were associated with will lobby you and that gets you 14 around any constitutional challenge.

15           CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: That is a really 16 smart idea.

17           COUNCIL MEMBER BREWER: Great idea.

18           CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I like that so much.
19 Was there anything you'd like to add?

20           COUNCIL MEMBER BREWER: No, I was going to 21 ask the same question, and I appreciate both the CFB 22 and your responses because, in the totem, we've got a 23 real package that I think people can be supportive of 24 so thank you very much.

2 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Yeah. Agree on both
3 accounts. I really appreciate it. Thank you. Anything 4 else this panel would like to add?

5 SUSAN LERNER: I did have a comment on a 6 possible timeframe on 742. I love, as Council Member 7 Brewer knows, starting it with certification but you 8 might want to, whatever timeframe we end up with, one 9 year, two year, three years, you might want to make 10 it to December 31st so that we don't have to worry 11 about when it starts and when it ends, of the year 12 after the certification.

13 RACHEL FAUS: I just wanted to add one
14 point on 742. We totally agree with Citizens Union 15 that you should expand it not just to the individual 16 but their direct staff. You've got to get the Mayor's 17 Office Staff, you've got to get the Council Members' 18 Office Staff and then Department Heads so I just 19 wanted to verbally say that.

20 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Strongly agree.
21 Thank you very much both of you for noting that.

22 BEN WEINBERG: One last comment. Susan
23 mentioned timeline. I think it's clear to all of us, 24 but we should say how important this is as we head 25 into a new mayoral election in a new citywide

1 election, which is not very soon, but not very far, 2 some of the practices that we have mentioned here, if 3 that's lobbyists that run political campaigns or 4 organize fundraisers, lobbyists that bundle, are 5 already happening now for that election, and it will 6 just increase. We should definitely not wait too long 7 to move these things forward.

9 CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: Great. Anything
10 else, Blair, on your end?

11 We're good. Thank you each for joining us
12 today. We really appreciate you each for joining us 13 today and for your expert insight. Thank you so much 14 and have a good weekend.

15 We've got one more panel before we close 16 out this hearing today.

17 I'd like to invite up Laura Abel from the 18 Lawyers Alliance of New York and Christopher Leon 19 Johnson who's testifying on behalf of himself.

20 Thank you, Gale.

21 You have three minutes. Go ahead, Mr.
22 Leon Johnson.

23 CHRISTOPHER LEON JOHNSON: All right. Hey,
24 Lincoln. My name is Christopher. Hey, Chair. JQ said, 25 what's up, and Puni said, he said, what's up? I want

2 to know where do you have the balls to come up with a 3 bill about this to regulate lobbying when you're 4 brazenly engaged in a fake protest and rally with 5 Open Plans, TransAlt, Riders Alliance, and Los 6 Deliveristas lobbyists and let their agenda items
7 influence your policies and other programs. Now, I'm 8 against this bill because you're introducing this 9 bill. A lot of you Members of the City Council are 10 captive to these lobbyists, such as Transportation 11 Alternatives and Open Plans and the Riders Alliance.
12 Now, what needs to start happening is, Members like 13 you and Members like Shahana Hanif, need to start 14 condemning Kathy Park Price, who's a lobbyist, who 15 need to be registered as a lobbyist. If I had my way 16 in the City Council, I would have made a bill, 17 introduced this bill to have people like Kathy Park 18 Price register herself as a lobbyist because she does 19 indirect lobbying, but we all know that she has a big 20 influence in the City Council, and we want to know 21 why that you have no problem standing next to seven-22 time stalker, Kevin Lacherra, why are you not 23 condemning the guy? He's in a lawsuit for stalking 24 seven women, and you have no problem standing next to 25 the guy and you're not condemning the guy for what

1 he's doing as a Council Member. One more thing is 2 this hearing is nothing but a show. This bill will 3 not go through the City Council. Majority of you
4 Members are for are for standing next to corrupt
5 lobbyists such as Kathy Park Price and Kevin Lacharra 6 and Danny Harris and Jackson Chabat (phonetic) and 7 Elizabeth Adams and Derek Holmes and Betsy Plum and 8 Laura Shepard and Katie Denny Horowitz. It's a big 9 issue in the City Council when you have Council 10 Members standing next to lobbyists that are hellbent 11 on destroying the city so this bill is a sham. This 12 bill is not going to pass the City Council. You 13 instituted this bill for clout. This bill has been 14 standing for the past two years, and you wait until 15 2024 to do it because of Frank Carone. Yeah, Frank 16 Carone is corrupt, but you're just as corrupt as him.
17 When you're standing next to dirty lobbyists of 18 Transportation Alternatives and Open Plans and the 19 Riders Alliance and Los Deliveristas so, like I said, 20 man, I know you don't care, you're only going to 21 listen to the lobbyist. This is nothing but a clout 22 bill, this is nothing but a farce bill, and this not 23 going to pass. I'm against this so that's all I gotta 24 say. Thank you, Lincoln. Thank you.
25

CHAIRPERSON RESTLER: I'd like to just express my strong disagreement with those remarks, but we thank everyone for coming to testify today.

If we've inadvertently missed anyone who is registered to testify today and is yet to be called, please use the Zoom hand function and you'll be called on, but I don't think we have anyone. We're okay.

I just want to say in closing how appreciative I am to the Conflicts of Interest Board, the Clerk's Office, and to the Campaign Finance Board for coming before us today to testify and each of the good government groups that offered such thoughtful feedback and testimony and input on this legislation.
It's really important that we provide ongoing and consistent oversight of lobbying activity in New York City, and it's been far too long since we had a hearing like we did today, and it was, I think, a healthy and productive conversation for us to identify opportunities that are considered in the bills for which we heard, but also new ideas that really require our attention, and so I hope that we'll be able to introduce some new legislation generated from the discussion today and really look

3 forward to working with each of the agencies who had 4 the opportunity to join us in crafting that 5 legislation and hopefully signing it into law. Thank 6 you all for making the time and hope everybody has a 7 wonderful weekend.

8                   With that, I will adjourn the hearing.
