FISCAL 2021 ADOPTED BUDGET

The New York City Council, under the leadership of Speaker Corey Johnson, presents the Fiscal 2021 Adopted Budget at the confluence of historic events and movements that will forever shape our great City. At this moment, the City is reeling from the health impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic, dealing with the resulting economic decline, and grappling with the sweeping social movement to reform policing and to reinvest funding in our youth, social services, housing, healthcare, and other community needs.

COVID-19 has hit our City hard with over 219,000 confirmed cases and almost 22,000 deaths. As a result of the State's order for business closures to contain the spread of the virus, in a matter of three months, economic activity in the City plummeted and unemployment skyrocketed from 4.1 percent to 14.5 percent. This has had an enormous, unexpected, and immediate impact on the City's budget due to both the need for increased spending on COVID-related expenses and the decrease in revenues from falling tax collections and projections on a magnitude that the City has not previously experienced in such a quick timeframe. Moreover, the pace of recovery is uncertain given the unpredictable course of the ongoing pandemic. In all, this has led to the worst fiscal crisis that the City has seen since the 1970s.

While the federal government has provided some aid to the City to date, most of it categorical, it is not sufficient. Even though the City is adopting a balanced Fiscal 2021 budget, many of the cuts that had to be made to maintain that balance could have been avoided, and could indeed be restored, with a robust federal aid package. The economic crisis will not end in Fiscal 2021. It is not too late for Washington to act. The Council hopes and continues to advocate for our federal leaders to do right by New York.

Moreover, what has been laid bare by these extraordinary forces is that the root of all these issues is the persistent inequities faced by communities of color and other marginalized populations. Over the past few months, we have seen our black and brown friends and neighbors die at a higher rate from COVID-19, have more negative employment consequences, and lead a nationwide discourse to once and for all establish that Black Lives Matter.

Addressing any one of these crises in a single budget would be difficult. Navigating budget negotiations while juggling all these issues simultaneously, and while social distancing and conducting work and public hearings remotely, was an overwhelming task. Yet, throughout it all the Council has stood for equity. The Council has fought for progress. And the Council has remained resolute in its efforts to protect the social safety net. The Fiscal 2021 Adopted Budget presents a path forward to address the City's financial realities, invest in the social safety net, and continue a deliberative process of re-envisioning the public safety system to create a more resilient and equitable City.

The Council's Budget Response

When the Council released its response to the Mayor's Preliminary Budget on April 7, it was already clear that New York City was the epicenter of the COVID-19 pandemic in the United States. As a result of the social distancing measures imposed by the State and the City, the Council was unable to complete approximately half of its scheduled budget hearings and had to cut short its customary agency-level, public review of the Preliminary Financial Plan. But it was also clear that the impact of COVID-19 on our economy was much like the effect of the virus itself – sudden and with a quick decline.

The economic decline put extreme pressure on the City’s fiscal position just when the need for City’s social supports became more critical. Recognizing that budget cuts would be necessary to meet the Charter-mandated balanced budget requirement, and with continuing uncertainty around the worsening economic landscape, the Council’s response to the Preliminary Budget was focused and contained our estimation of the components of the baseline budget that are essential and must be preserved while navigating the fiscal pressure.

Specifically, the Council identified six critical area where funding should be prioritized:

- Public health by continuing to prioritize and maintain services that focus on the prevention and identification of infectious diseases; providing needed mental health supports; addressing health disparities in New York City’s communities of color that cause an excess burden of ill health and premature mortality, including obesity, diabetes, and maternal mortality; supporting the full range of health services; and conducting surveillance of environmental-related diseases.
- Food insecurity by bolstering the food pantry by $25 million, expanding all feeding programs, and increasing food allowances for all emergency housing programs.
- Senior services by ensuring that every older adult who requests a meal receives one and to adequately fund the enhanced need for senior services, prioritizing services for socially isolated older adults who have no support structure to care for their physical and mental health, and preparing senior programs to address the long-term impacts of COVID-19.
- Housing and homelessness by funding a robust rental voucher program, moving families out of shelters into vacant units, investing in homeless street solutions, expanding anti-eviction services, and preserving the New York City Housing Authority’s (NYCHA) affordable housing stock.
- Human services providers by continuing to support human services providers by ensuring that workers feel protected, safe, and properly compensated; providing contracts that reflect the increased costs associated with COVID-19; and guaranteeing that agencies allow flexibility in contract scope and services.
- Small businesses, small property owners, and their tenants by providing adversely impacted small business and property owners cash flow supports through low cost loan programs and tax deferrals; leverage these deferrals and take other steps to ensure that adversely impacted tenants are supported.

The Executive Budget and the Road to Adoption

On April 16, the Mayor released his $89.3 billion Fiscal 2021 Executive Budget, which was $6 billion less than the Preliminary Budget. At the time, the Administration forecasted a $7.4 billion revenue loss over Fiscal 2020 and Fiscal 2021. Compounding that loss was $800 million in State aid cuts spread over the same two years. In order to balance the budget, the Administration proposed to nearly exhaust the reserves that the Council fought for so many years to accumulate, with $6.7 billion in reserves used between Fiscal 2020 and Fiscal 2021.

The Mayor also introduced a $2.7 billion Program to Eliminate the GAP (PEG), with $1.5 billion of those savings occurring in Fiscal 2021. Undertaking this exercise was a step that the Council strongly supported, but what quickly became clear was the execution of the PEGs were not well targeted and resulting in inequitable and unacceptable cuts. For example, the cuts proposed for the Department of Youth and Community Development (DYCD) would have slashed its City tax levy budget by 32 percent and eliminated this year's Summer Youth Employment Program and summer camp programs for a $175.3 million savings. In addition, the Mayor proposed to severely reduced other social services spending including $470.1 million in cuts at the Department of Education (DOE), $40.5 million at the Department of Sanitation (DSNY), and $38.4 million at the Department of Parks and Recreation (DPR). Meanwhile, the cuts proposed to the New York Police Department (NYPD) and the Department of Information Technology and Telecommunication (DoITT) each amounted to less than one percent of each agency's budget.

For the first time in its history, the Council began its review of the proposed Executive Financial Plan with a set of remote hearings throughout the first few weeks of May. Although, through a different medium, the hearings provided an opportunity for the Council's committees to delve into the agencies' budgets and examine the proposed spending and savings.

We also heard directly from the people, and their voices were loud. At the final public hearing, the Council heard testimony from hundreds of members of the public, including so many inspiring young people, who urged us to restore equity to the adopted budget. This oral testimony was supplemented by thousands of pieces of written testimony submitted for the record calling for the same thing.

Yet, as the weeks after the release of the Executive Budget elapsed, the City's fiscal outlook continued to worsen. On May 26, the Mayor released the estimate of all non-property tax revenues for Fiscal 2021, which showed a further revenue estimate reduction of $1.6 billion. In addition, the City faced the possibility of additional draconian cuts from the State which is itself struggling to address large budget gaps. To help balance the budget, the Council submitted a proposal of more than $1 billion in alternative cuts package to the Administration for consideration.

Then on May 25, George Floyd was killed by a Minneapolis police officer. This horrific event sparked a national outcry for meaningful public safety reforms, an issue the Council has championed most recently with the closure of Rikers Island. The public's attention became focused on the deployment of the NYPD, how it executes its core mission of public safety, and how that fits into the larger public policy goals of the City. Hearing the call, the Council sought to rethink how funding within the City's budget should be allocated to free the Police Department of non-core responsibilities to allow it focus on reworking how its approach to public safety ensures the welfare of all New Yorkers. Further this budgetary shift also provides the City an opportunity to leverage the expertise of its various City agencies to reimagine the critical roles that they play in ensuring the public's safety and welfare. It also highlighted what the Council had fought for so many years - the need to invest in our youth and education, to shore up the social safety net, to protect jobs, and to target resources to disadvantaged communities.

The Adopted Budget

The Council will be the first to recognize that the City's financial position as a result of COVID-19 had real, deleterious impacts on the ability to fund all the worthy items and organizations that should be funded in an ideal world. Heart-wrenching choices had to be made and after weeks of intense budget negotiations and rigorous debate, the Council and the Mayor reached an agreement that, even in the midst of a fiscal crisis, protects and preserves vital programs and services, including:

- Saving Summer – The Council has secured the restoration of $115.8 million for the Summer Youth Employment Program; Work, Learn, Grow; and Compass, Beacon, Cornerstone and SONYC summer programs. As many as 35,000 younger people will get the opportunity to participate in SYEP and more than 70,000 summer camps will be available.
- Transforming the NYPD – Through a series of headcount reductions and transfers, a historic reduction in overtime, and other budgetary savings, the Fiscal 2021 Adopted Budget will reduce NYPD spending by $1 billion. Specifically, the July police academy class will be canceled; supervision of School Safety Officers, School Crossing Guards, and homeless engagement staff will be moved out of the NYPD; and there will be a $352.2 million overtime reduction program. While these changes are only the first piece of a long-term discussion that needs to take place in our City about the role of policing, these are consequential, short-term measures to help us get started on the road to reform.
- Promoting Public Health and Mental Health – While the City continues to deal with the health and emotional fallout from the COVID-19 pandemic, the Council is proud to support $18.6 million in health initiatives and $16.5 million in mental health initiatives.
- Preventing Food Insecurity – In addition to the $25 million that the Council had previously negotiated to prevent food insecurity, the adopted budget will include $11.5 million in food initiatives to ensure that New Yorkers do not go hungry.
- Restoring Education Spending – The Council recognized the need to protect public schools and support student's social-emotional well-being and fought to restore $100 million in Fair Student Funding, $11.6 million for the Single Shepherd guidance counselors, $4.8 million for 38 social workers, and $1.8 million for other social-emotional supports for students.
- Preserving Youth – The Fair Futures campaign for foster youth will receive $2.7 million, childcare vouchers will get $4 million, and discretionary childcare contracts will receive $8.7 million.
- LGBTQ Rights – Particularly during Pride, the Council is proud that the budget will include $1.8 million for the LGBTQ curriculum at the DOE and $1 million at the City University of New York (CUNY), as well as $1.4 million for LGBTQ senior services in every borough and $1.9 million for Trans Equity Programs.
- Maintaining Culture and the Arts – Culture and the arts drive tourism and will contribute significantly to our economy and our recovery. The Adopted Budget will include $20.2 million for cultural programs and Cultural Institutions Groups, $14.3 million and $1 million for the CASA and SU-CASA initiatives, respectively, and $3.7 million for the Coalition Theaters of Color initiative.

- Supporting Libraries – The Adopted Budget will include $11.9 million to support the City’s three library systems. With this funding, the libraries will be able to manage an increase in programming and circulation, cover the rise in operating expenses, and cover repairs and upkeep that are not eligible for capital funds.
- Helping College Students Graduate – Because of the Council’s Advocacy, the CUNY Accelerated Study in Associate Programs (ASAP) will be maintained with $34.3 million to help students stay on track and graduate and the CUNY Remediation Program will be funded at $1.7 million.
- Strengthening Small Businesses and Workers – In this economic climate, it is imperative that we do what we can to support the small businesses and workers who will help New York City recover. The Fiscal 2021 Adopted Budget will provide $1.6 million to Chamber on the Go, $3 million for Worker Coop Business Development, $1 million for Construction Site Safety Training, and $2.8 million for the Day Laborer Workforce Initiative.
- Engaging Our Seniors – The Fiscal 2021 Adopted Budget will include $8.4 million for senior centers, $6.5 million for Naturally Occurring Retirement Communities, and $4 million to support Holocaust survivors.
- Securing Housing – Because the eviction moratorium put in place as a result of COVID-19 will soon be lifted, securing housing is imperative. Due to the Council’s advocacy, the adopted budget will include $3.2 million for Foreclosure Prevention Programs, $3.1 million for Community Housing Preservation Strategies, $1.7 million for the Home Loan Program, and $637,500 for the Community Land Trust Initiative.
- Providing Legal Services – The Fiscal 2021 adopted budget will include $4.9 million for legal services for low-income New Yorkers and $2.7 million for legal services for the working poor, as well as $1 million for the Family Advocacy and Guardianship Support initiative.
- Assisting Our Immigrant Communities – COVID-19 had a disproportionate impact on many of the City’s immigrant residents, made worse by an inability to access many federal programs intended to help. The Council fought to include $9.8 million for adult literacy, $2 million for the Immigrant Health Initiative, $4 million for unaccompanied minors and families, and $16.6 million for the New York Immigrant Family Unity Project to be included in the budget.
- Promoting Criminal Justice – In continuation of the Council’s longstanding push for criminal justice, the adopted budget will include $11.9 million for Alternatives to Incarceration, $2.2 million for diversion programs, $4.1 million to support people involved in the sex trade, $3.2 million for the Initiative to Combat Sexual Assault, and $2.9 million for the Crisis Management System.

Schedule C

Schedule C reinforces the Council’s commitment to supporting our communities above and beyond the core services already provided by City government. Our spending plan complements the long-term stability, performance, and transparency measures the Council negotiated for as part of the larger budget.

Discretionary Funding

Each year, Council Members allocate discretionary funds to not-for-profit organizations and designate funding directly to City agencies in order to meet local needs and fill gaps in City services. While not a large part of the budget, this funding allows the City to take advantage of Council Members' localized knowledge to better target services to residents. Council rules adopted in 2014 raised the already high standard of transparency by which this funding operates in requiring that the method used to allocate funding among Members be publicly disclosed.

In this budget, each Member is allocated a base $400,000 in expense funding. Members are further allocated an additional $25,000; $50,000; $75,000; or $100,000 depending upon the level of poverty in the district.

Procedure and Requirements for Designation

Schedule C designates funding for community-based, not-for-profit and other public service organizations and to City agencies. For funds designated to organizations, the expenditure of any funds for each organization identified in Schedule C is contingent upon the satisfactory completion of: 1) a detailed initial review process; and 2) all applicable City procurement requirements at the time of contract award. Even then, funding may be used only for appropriately reimbursable expenses, as determined by the administering agency.

For-profit entities may not receive discretionary funds, except when the primary not-for-profit funding recipient subcontracts with a for-profit entity as part of the delivery of services. Such proposed subcontracts, however, must be:

- only an ancillary part of the program to be funded - not the primary basis for the discretionary award; and
- pre-approved by the contracting agency and the City Council.

The New York City Council and the Mayor's Office of Contract Services (MOCS) have established the following review for all organizations listed in Schedule C:

- The Council reviews the public purpose, potential conflicts of interest, compliance with the New York State Charities Bureau, past performance, compliance with laws, rules, regulations, and policies, including not-for-profit status, any reported investigations, audits, inquiries, and other relevant information; and
- MOCS reviews organizations which were allocated more than $10,000 cumulatively in this fiscal year to confirm whether the organization has been prequalified, indicating organizational capability to establish a business relationship with the City of New York and deliver specific services.

While approved subcontractors of organizations that receive discretionary funding are not generally required to submit a prequalification application, they are subject to conflict of interest disclosure requirements, as are not-for-profit organizations. Prior to the designation of community-based not-for-profit and other public service organizations, members disclose on the record any potential conflicts of interest with organizations funded by other members.

For organizations requesting funding in excess of $10,000, MOCS conducts an additional review. MOCS reviews each such organization to determine whether the organization has the ability to establish or maintain a business relationship with the City and can demonstrate experience or capability to provide services to New Yorkers. MOCS prequalification is administered through HHS Accelerator and renewed every three years. Each organization's compliance with annual filing requirements is reviewed each year to maintain prequalified status. In addition, the Department of Cultural Affairs (DCLA) administers the Cultural Development Fund to establish prequalification for organizations awarded cultural funds through DCLA.

Further restrictions to ensure the appropriate use of City funds will be incorporated through the City's procurement process.

All organizations receiving funding pursuant to an initiative will be subject to prequalification review and approval by the Mayor's Office of Contract Services.

FISCAL 2021 ADOPTED EXPENSE BUDGET ADJUSTMENT SUMMARY

Anti-Poverty

When allocating funding this year, the Council used a poverty indicator to provide a basis for which to fund programs. Poverty was estimated at the Council District level using 2016 American Community Survey data, specifically the number of individuals below the federal poverty level. Funding to the listed organizations will help to address income disparities throughout the five boroughs.
