INVOCATION

The Invocation was delivered by Reverend Cécé Alfred Salomon Loua, Trinity Church, 75 Broadway, New York, NY 10006.

Thank you Speaker, Corey Johnson,
Public Advocate Letitia James and Council Members
for this opportunity to offer the Invocation for this meeting.
I'm honored and humbled.
I'm conducting this Invocation
as a clergy and a staff member of Trinity Church Wall Street.
My name is Cece Alfred Salomon Loua.

Let us pray.

Holy and undivided Trinity, one God,
I thank you for your presences among us,
and in our hearts here at this moment.
Please look upon us.
In the city of New York ,
we are women and men with different sexual orientations;
we are citizens, immigrants documented and to be documented;
we are believers of different faith traditions and non-believers;
we are from different horizons;
we are people of color and white;
we are of diverse opinions;
but you have brought us together to live and work with you.
All of us in this room have homes to return to where we can stay warm and relaxed after this meeting, but many of your children in New York lack that chance.
We are at work in this room,
but many of your - of our brothers and sisters - are jobless,
and they lack food and drink,
and they count on the decisions that this Council is about to make.
You love all and each of us equally.
I ask your blessing upon your trusted servant leaders,
the Council Members of New York City
as they gather to do the work you have given them to do.
May their meeting be governed by your pastoral spirit of righteousness, inclusiveness, compassion, social justice and stewardship.
Assist them in their humanness.
Give them your supreme wisdom to mend their differences, and be open to others' ideas and beliefs
so they can find common ground when they reach agreement on what is best for our community and beyond.
You who protected them, Almighty God when they return home.
I pray in your holy name,
Amen.

Council Member Chin moved to spread the Invocation in full upon the record.

During the Communication from the Speaker segment of this Meeting, the Speaker (Council Member Johnson) asked for a Moment of Silence in memory of the following individuals:

On February 14, 2018, a mass school-shooting took place at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, Florida where seventeen individuals lost their lives and another seventeen were wounded. The Speaker (Council Member Johnson) offered his thoughts and prayers to the victims and their families as well as to the all of the students, faculty, and staff of the high school. He also acknowledged that thoughts and prayers were not enough in the wake of this eighteenth school shooting of 2018. The Speaker (Council Member Johnson) called upon the President of the United States and the Congress to act to ensure that these tragedies are prevented in the future.

Felix Palacios, a former staff member of the Council's Community Engagement Division, passed away in February 2018. Mr. Palacios was born and raised in Brooklyn. He came to public service through his work with the Districting Commission of the early 1990s. Mr. Palacios subsequently joined the staffs of former Council Members Angel Rodriguez and Sara Gonzalez of the 38th Council District which is presently represented by Council Member Menchaca. For over twenty years, he was committed to serving the neighborhoods of Red Hook, Sunset Park, Greenwood Heights and portions of Windsor Terrace, Dyker Heights and Borough Park. The Speaker (Council Member Johnson) noted that Mr. Palacios's wonderful smiling grin and knowledgeable social and political discourse would be sorely missed.

ADOPTION OF MINUTES

Council Member Chin moved that the Minutes of the Stated Meeting of January 11, 2018 be adopted as printed.

Report for M-18 & Res. No.193

Report of the Committee on Finance in favor of a Resolution approving a Communication from the Office of Management & Budget regarding the transfer of City funds between various agencies in Fiscal Year 2018 to implement changes to the City's expense budget, pursuant to Section 107(b) of the New York City Charter (MN-5).

The Committee on Finance, to which the annexed preconsidered communication was referred on February 15, 2018 and which same communication was coupled with the resolution shown below, respectfully

REPORTS:

Introduction. At a meeting of the Committee on Finance of the City Council of the City of New York (the "City Council") on February 15, 2018, the Committee on Finance considered a communication, dated February 14, 2018, from the Office of Management and Budget of the Mayor of the City of New York (the "Mayor"), of a proposed request, attached hereto as Exhibit "1" (the "Modification"), to modify units of appropriation and transfer city funds in the Fiscal Year 2018 expense budget as adopted by the Council on June 6, 2017, and modified on September 27, 2017 and January 16, 2018, pursuant to Section 107(b) of the Charter of the City of New York (the "Charter").

Analysis. The Council annually adopts the City's budget covering expenditures other than for capital projects (the "expense budget") pursuant to Section 254 of the Charter. On June 6, 2017, the Council adopted the expense budget for Fiscal Year 2018 (the "Fiscal 2018 Expense Budget"). On September 27, 2017, and again on January 16, 2018, the Council modified the expense budget for Fiscal Year 2018. This Modification reallocates appropriations that were reflected in the Fiscal 2018 Expense Budget, by transferring $2.6 million from the Miscellaneous Budget (unit of appropriation 003) to the Department of Small Business Services (unit of appropriation 011) for construction safety training.

The net effect of the Modification is zero. For more detail on the funding transfer between agencies, see Appendix A of the report attached hereto as Exhibit "1".

Procedure. If the Mayor wishes to transfer part or all of any unit of appropriation to another unit of appropriation from one agency to another; or when a transfer from one unit of appropriation to the another, and such transfer results in any unit of appropriation being increased or decreased by the greater of five percent or $50,000, section 107(b) of the Charter requires that the Mayor must first notify the Council of the proposed action. Within 30 days after the first stated meeting of the Council following receipt of such notice, the Council may disapprove such proposed action. If the Council fails to approve or disapprove such proposed action within such 30-day period, the proposed action becomes effective and the Mayor has the authority to make such transfer.

Description of Above-captioned Resolution. In the above-captioned resolution, the Council would approve the Modification pursuant to Section 107(b) of the Charter. Such resolution would take effect as of the date of adoption.

Report for voice-vote item Res. No. 182

Report of the Committee on Immigration in favor of approving a Resolution calling upon the United States Congress to pass, and the President to sign, H.R. 4937, which would provide immigration relief for New York resident Ravidath “Ravi” Lawrence Ragbir and denouncing the unlawful targeting of immigrant rights activists for deportation by the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE).

The Committee on Immigration, to which the annexed resolution was referred on February 14, 2018 (Minutes, page 825), respectfully

REPORTS:

I. INTRODUCTION

On February 15, 2018, the Committee on Immigration, chaired by Council Member Carlos Menchaca, held a public hearing and vote on Resolution No. 182, which calls upon the United States Congress to pass, and the President to sign, H.R. 4937, which would provide immigration relief for New York resident Ravidath “Ravi” Lawrence Ragbir and denounces the unlawful targeting of immigrant rights activists for deportation by the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE). Advocates and stakeholders were invited to testify about the challenges immigrant communities face, and the continued need to defend the first amendment rights of community activists and leaders. The resolution passed with four votes in the affirmative and three votes in the negative.

II. BACKGROUND

In February 2017, the Department of Homeland Security (“DHS”) issued new immigration enforcement guidelines no longer exempting classes or categories of “removable aliens” from potential detention and deportation.¹ This directive was a notable departure from previous immigration enforcement policies that prioritized individuals with significant criminal history for deportation, effectively putting all non-citizens at higher risk of deportation. In Fiscal Year 2017, Immigration and Customs Enforcement (“ICE”) officers apprehended 143,470 immigrants.² More immigrants were arrested in the months immediately following the new DHS guidance than in all of Fiscal Year 2016.³

In light of the new directive, there was a significant rise in ICE arrests of immigrants with no criminal record, as well as those with only minor, low-level offenses.⁴ The directive also led to the increase in apprehension of individuals, with final orders of removal, who had been allowed to stay in the United States due to their strong ties to their communities and lack of serious criminal history, and conditioned on check-ins in with ICE.⁵ The roughly 900,000 individuals present in the United States under these supervision requirements, are again vulnerable to deportation as reports show an increase in immigrants detained at once routine ICE check-ins.⁶ In the midst of increased immigration arrests and deportations, the Washington Post, the New York Times, and many other major media outlets reported a series of high-profile ICE arrests of prominent immigrant rights activists, alleging that they may have been politically motivated.

Ravidath “Ravi” Lawrence Ragbir, activist and Executive Director of the community organization the New Sanctuary Coalition of New York was detained during the course of a regular check-in with ICE, without any prior notice, and despite both his pending challenge to the criminal conviction underlying his deportation order and his tireless work on behalf of immigrants across the nation. Up until the time of his recent detention, Ravi followed the terms of his deferral of deportation by attending regular check-ins with ICE, paying taxes, and abiding by the law.⁷ Ravi was released on January 29, 2018 when Federal Judge Katherine Forrest of the Federal District Court for the Southern District of New York found his detention without warning unnecessarily cruel, stating “there is, and ought to be in this great country, the freedom to say goodbye.”⁸ On February 6, 2018, United States Representative Nydia M. Velázquez introduced H.R.4937, legislation that would provide relief for Ravidath Lawrence Ragbir by renewing his eligibility for an immigrant visa or for status adjustment to permanent residence.⁹

Like Ravi, other highly visible immigration activists have been abruptly detained and deported in spite of their strong ties to the United States and positive contributions to their communities.¹⁰ Jean Montreuil, activist and co-founder of the New Sanctuary Coalition of New York, was detained at his regular check-in and quickly deported to Haiti, a country still struggling to recover from recent natural disasters and health epidemics.¹¹ Eliseo Jurado, husband to an immigrant rights activist in Colorado, was picked up by ICE at the grocery store and has been placed into deportation proceedings.¹² Maru Mora Villalpando, an immigrant rights activist in Washington, has been warned by mail from ICE that she may soon be deported.¹³

On February 8, 2018, Ravi filed a lawsuit in federal court alleging that ICE is selectively targeting immigrant rights activists for removal and claiming that such conduct violated his rights under the First Amendment.¹⁴ Ravi was granted a temporary stay of deportation pursuant to this new First Amendment lawsuit. Despite his release from ICE custody and temporary deferral of deportation, his profound support from elected officials, faith leaders, and community members and his pending claims for relief, Ravi remains at risk of deportation.

III. CONCLUSION

Expansive deportations and the detention of immigrants cause significant harm and trauma as families are torn apart and individuals are often repatriated to countries to which they no longer have strong ties or where their safety may be at risk. The deportation and detention of highly visible advocates not only has a destabilizing effect on immigrant communities, it can also be construed as politically motivated based on the activists' outspoken positions contrary to current policy. Community leader and activist Ravi Ragbir engenders the need for compassionate, fair and just immigration policies and the protection of First Amendment rights for all New Yorkers.

Accordingly, this Committee recommends its adoption.

(The following is the text of Res. No. 182:)

Res. No. 182

Resolution calling upon the United States Congress to pass, and the President to sign, H.R. 4937, which would provide immigration relief for New York resident Ravidath “Ravi” Lawrence Ragbir and denouncing the unlawful targeting of immigrant rights activists for deportation by the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE).

By Council Members Williams, Rodriguez, Menchaca, Richards, Cumbo, Espinal, Dromm, Barron and Rose.

Whereas, In February 2017, the Department of Homeland Security (“DHS”) issued new immigration enforcement guidelines no longer exempting classes or categories of “removable aliens” from potential detention and deportation; and

Whereas, This directive was a notable departure from previous immigration enforcement policies that prioritized individuals with significant criminal history for deportation, effectively putting all non-citizens at higher risk of deportation; and

Whereas, In Fiscal Year 2017, Immigration and Customs Enforcement (“ICE”) officers apprehended 143,470 immigrants; and

Whereas, More immigrants were arrested in the months immediately following the new DHS guidance than in all of Fiscal Year 2016; and

Whereas, In light of the new directive, there was a significant rise in the immigration arrests of immigrants with no criminal record, as well as those with only minor, low-level offenses; and

Whereas, The directive also led to the increase in apprehension of individuals with final orders of removal who had been allowed to stay in the United States due to their strong ties to their communities and lack of serious criminal history, and conditioned on check-ins in with ICE; and

Whereas, The roughly 900,000 individuals present in the United States under these supervision requirements are once again vulnerable to deportation as reports show an increase in immigrants detained at once routine ICE check-ins; and

Whereas, In the midst of increased immigration arrests and deportations, the Washington Post, the New York Times, and many major media outlets reported a series of high-profile ICE arrests of prominent immigrant rights activists, alleging that they may have been politically motivated; and

Whereas, Ravidath “Ravi” Lawrence Ragbir, activist and Executive Director of the community organization the New Sanctuary Coalition of New York was detained during the course of a regular check-in with ICE, without any prior notice, and despite both his pending challenge to the criminal conviction underlying his deportation order and his tireless work on behalf of immigrants across the nation; and

Whereas, Up until the time of his recent detention, Ravi followed the terms of his deferral of deportation by attending regular check-ins with ICE, paying taxes, and abiding by the law; and

Whereas, Ravi was released on January 29, 2018 when Federal Judge Katherine Forrest of the Federal District Court for the Southern District of New York found his detention without warning unnecessarily cruel, stating “there is, and ought to be in this great country, the freedom to say goodbye;” and

Whereas, Like Ravi, other highly visible immigration activists have been abruptly detained and deported despite their strong ties to the United States and positive contributions to their communities; and

Whereas, Jean Montrevil, activist and co-founder of the New Sanctuary Coalition of New York, was also detained at his regular check-in and quickly deported to Haiti, a country still struggling to recover from recent natural disasters and health epidemics; and

Whereas, Eliseo Jurado, husband to an immigrant rights activist in Colorado, was picked up by ICE at the grocery store and has been placed into deportation proceedings; and

Whereas, Maru Mora Villalpando, an immigrant rights activist in Washington, has been warned by mail from ICE that she may soon be deported; and

Whereas, On February 8, 2018, Ravi filed a lawsuit in federal court alleging that ICE is selectively targeting immigrant rights activists for removal and claiming that such conduct violated his rights under the First Amendment; and

Whereas, Ravi was granted a temporary stay of deportation pursuant to this new First Amendment lawsuit; and

Whereas, Despite his release from ICE custody and temporary deferral of deportation, his profound support from elected officials, faith leaders, and community members and his pending claims for relief, Ravi remains at risk of deportation; and

Whereas, United States Representative Nydia M. Velázquez introduced H.R.4937, legislation that would provide relief for Ravidath Lawrence Ragbir by renewing his eligibility for an immigrant visa or for adjustment of status to permanent residence; and

Whereas, Expansive deportations and the detention of immigrants cause significant harm and trauma as families are torn apart and individuals are often repatriated to countries to which they no longer have strong ties or where their safety may be at risk; and

Whereas, The deportation and detention of highly visible advocates not only has a destabilizing effect on immigrant communities, it can also be construed as politically motivated based on the activists’ outspoken positions contrary to current policy; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the United States Congress to pass, and the President to sign, H.R. 4937, which would provide immigration relief for New York resident Ravidath “Ravi” Lawrence Ragbir and denouncing the unlawful targeting of immigrant rights activists for deportation by the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE).

Res. No. 188

Resolution determining that a public emergency requiring regulation of residential rents in the City of New York continues to exist and will continue to exist on and after April 1, 2018.

By The Speaker (Council Member Johnson).

Whereas, The City, acting by the Mayor, has caused a survey to be made of the supply of housing accommodations and the need for continuing the regulation and control of residential rents and evictions within the City, and such survey has been submitted to the Council in accordance with the law; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council hereby determines that the public emergency requiring the regulation and control of residential rents and evictions within the City continues to exist and will continue to exist on and after April 1, 2018, and that an acute shortage of dwellings continues to exist and will continue to exist on and after April 1, 2018, that such shortage constitutes a threat to the residents of New York City and creates a special hardship to persons and families of limited and moderate means; that unless residential rents and evictions continue to be regulated and controlled, there will be excessive rent increases and evictions for failing to pay such increases, which will produce serious threats to the public health, safety and general welfare, that to avoid such perils to the public health, safety and general welfare, preventive action through local legislation of the City continues to be imperative; that such action, as a temporary measure to be effective until it is determined by the Council that such emergency no longer exists, is necessary in order to prevent threats to the public health, safety and general welfare; that the transition from regulation to a normal market of free bargaining between landlord and tenant, while still the object of State and City policy, must be administered with due regard for such emergency; and be it further

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York, for the reasons hereinabove set forth, hereby determines that the continuation of the regulation and control of residential rents and evictions on and after April 1, 2018 is necessary to protect the public health, safety and general welfare and that such regulation and control should be continued as now or hereafter provided pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 3 of Title 26 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York, subject to such amendment as may be enacted into law.

Res. No. 190

Resolution calling on the United State Supreme Court to protect public sector collective bargaining in Janus v. American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME).

By Council Members Torres, Miller, Lander, Rivera and Dromm.

Whereas, Collective bargaining is the process in which working people, through their unions, negotiate contracts with their employers to determine terms and conditions of employment, including factors such as pay, benefits, and job health and safety policies; and

Whereas, In 1962, President John F. Kennedy granted federal employees the right to collectively bargain by signing Executive Order 10988, leading to a rapid increase in public sector union membership; and

Whereas, According to a 2016 news release from the Bureau of Labor Statistics, 7.1 million public sector employees in the United States belonged to a union, representing 34.4 percent of public sector workers; and

Whereas, According to the Union Membership and Coverage Database created by Barry T. Hirsch and David A. Macpherson, which uses Current Population Survey (CPS) data, New York State, in 2016, had 967,889 workers in the public sector that were members of a union and/or covered under a collective bargaining agreement, representing 70.2% of all employed workers in the public sector; and

Whereas, According to Ruth Milkman, Academic Director of the Joseph F. Murphy Institute for Worker Education and Labor Studies, using CPS data for 18 months spanning January of 2016 to June of 2017, there were 359,255 public sector workers that were members of a union and/or covered under a collective bargaining agreement within New York City; and

Whereas, The State of the Unions 2017 report by Ruth Milkman and Stephanie Luce states that New York State's Taylor Law requires every New York State public sector union to represent all members in collective bargaining agreements, including non-union members, allowing these unions to collect mandatory dues and fees to cover the cost of representation for both union members and non-union members; and

Whereas, According to the Washington Examiner, the United States Supreme Court has agreed to hear Janus v. AFSCME, which deals with the constitutionality of public sector jobs requiring employees, regardless of union membership, to pay a fee (fair-share fee) that covers the union's costs in negotiating contracts for those employees; and

Whereas, A ruling in favor of the plaintiff could be a costly setback for public sector unions in 22 states, including New York, where such fees are authorized by law; and

Whereas, The United States Supreme Court has ruled on fair-share fees in the 1977 case of Abood v. Detroit Board of Education, in which the Court upheld the legality of fair-share fees; and

Whereas, In 2016, the United States Supreme Court was deadlocked, with a 4 to 4 vote, on the case of Friedrichs v. California Teachers Association, which dealt with fair-share fees; and

Whereas, According to the State University of New York (SUNY) Rockefeller Institute of Government, five of New York State's largest public employee unions collected nearly 500 million dollars in 2016 in dues and fees from the employees they represent; and

Whereas, If Janus v. AFSCME successfully overturns the 40-year old Abood Supreme Court Case, automatically deducting dues from employee paychecks could become unconstitutional, causing public sector unions, nationwide, to lose members and revenue, which could diminish union's power to collectively bargain for their workers; and

Whereas, The Economic Policy Institute claims that prohibiting fair-share fees could negatively affect millions of public sector workers in efforts to negotiate and improve their terms and conditions of employment; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls on the United States Supreme Court to protect public sector collective bargaining in Janus v. American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME)

Referred to the Committee on Civil Service and Labor.

Rev. 2.12.2018

During the Communication from the Speaker segment of this Meeting, the Speaker (Council Member Johnson) wished a very Happy Lunar New Year to his colleagues and to all Asian-American New Yorkers. He thanked Council Members Koo and Chin for providing a New Year's holiday lunch to the Council Members and staff. The Speaker (Council Member Johnson) also wished a Happy Purim to his Jewish colleagues and all Jewish New Yorkers. He also acknowledged that the Legislature and the Governor were moving New York's 2018 Primary Day from September 11 to September 13 so as not to have it coincide with the 9-11 anniversary as well as with Rosh Hashanah.

Whereupon on motion of the Speaker (Council Member Johnson), the Public Advocate (Ms. James) adjourned these proceedings to meet again for the Stated Meeting on Wednesday, March 7, 2018.

MICHAEL M. McSWEENEY, City Clerk
