MAJORITY LEADER POWERS: Today's Land Use Call-Ups are adopted by a vote of 45 in the affirmative and zero in the negative.

We will now have Communication from Speaker Adrienne Adams.

SPEAKER ADAMS: Thank you, Majority Leader.

Good afternoon, everyone. I hope you and your families stay safe as we experience hazardous air quality due to the wild fires in Canada.

I want to begin by urging all New Yorkers to take this air quality health advisory very seriously, and follow the guidance of our public health officials. That means New Yorkers should continue to limit outdoor activities, and stay inside whenever possible with windows closed, and reducing indoor air pollution. If you must be outside, wear a high quality mask such as an N95 or K95. New Yorkers should also seek to avoid contributing to outdoor air pollution by using mass transit instead of vehicles, limiting energy use, and taking other conservation efforts. As a city, we must ensure that agencies are offering consistent guidance about these health hazards so that New Yorkers are equipped with the information they need to stay safe.

Earlier this week, I traveled down to Washington, D.C. with some of our colleagues in the Council to meet with the New York Congressional Delegation and members of the Biden/Harris Administration. We discussed our request for federal funding, support, and partnership to help meet the needs of people seeking asylum in our country and all New Yorkers.

We are very grateful that the day after our productive and fruitful trip to Washington, FEMA announced that it will allocate more than $104 million to New York City to help cover the costs of providing services for asylum seekers. I want to express my gratitude to Senate Majority Leader, Chuck Schumer, House Democratic Leader, Hakeem Jeffries, and all of our federal partners for helping to secure that critical funding, which represented the largest share received of any city in the country.

We know our city requires even more funding and support, and we will continue working in partnership with the Congressional Delegation and the Biden Administration to secure more for our city.

The continued death and violence at Rikers has been deeply disturbing, and we mourn the recent death of Joshua Valles. The tragic circumstances surrounding Joshua's death, and other disturbing incidents of violence at Rikers, are problematic and further exacerbated by the Department of Correction's repeated failures to accurately report the incidents to the Federal Monitor.

Even more outrageous and unacceptable has been the department's response that it will no longer provide public information about when someone dies in its custody. By choosing to withhold information from the public, the DLC continues its dangerous pattern of disregard for oversight.

The DOC cannot continue to operate without being accountable. And it is our role, along with other stakeholders to ensure that this is not the case.

I want to take a moment to plug our next New York City Government Hiring Hall to recruit New Yorkers into city agencies. It will take place on Saturday, June 10th, in my borough, at Queens Borough Hall. I urge all New Yorkers who are looking for opportunities to join the City's workforce to stop by and join us.

As we begin the month of June, I want to acknowledge some important holidays.

June is Alzheimer's and Brain Awareness Month during which we raise public awareness and support for more than six million Americans impacted by brain disorders.

June 12th is Loving Day, which marks the anniversary of the Supreme Court Decision Loving versus Virginia, which ended anti-miscegenation laws and allows interracial marriage in the United States.

June 14th is Flag Day, when we celebrate the adoption of our national flag back in 1777.

Over the past two weeks, the Council hosted an Africa Day Celebration and our Annual Pride Celebration here in the People's House! As we continue to celebrate Pride Month, it is critical that we uplift LGBTQIA+ New Yorkers through policies and investments. And I am proud that some of the legislations we are passing today will do just that. Thank you to all of the council members and caucuses who co-sponsored those events.

Next week, the Black, Latino, and Asian Caucus will be celebrating African-American Music Appreciation Month and the 50th Anniversary or HipHop. I hope all New Yorkers will join us on June

A package of twelve Preconsidered Resolutions to authorize Article XI exemptions for 27 buildings in Deputy Speaker Ayala's and Council Member Richardson Jordan's, Council Member Abreu's, Council Member Feliz's district, Council Member Stevens', and Council Member Salamanca's districts.

A Preconsidered Resolution to authorize an Article XI exemption for one new building in Council Member Salamanca's district.

A Preconsidered Resolution to authorize an Article XI exemption for one building in Council Member Velázquez's district.

A Preconsidered Resolution to authorize an Article XI exemption for ten buildings in Council Member Feliz's district.

A Preconsidered Resolution to authorize an Article XI exemption for six buildings in Council Member Abreu's district.

Lastly, we will vote on the following pieces of legislation:

First, we will be voting on seven Preconsidered State Legislative Resolutions.

Next, Resolution 512, sponsored by Council Member Julie Menin, calls on the New York State Legislature to pass, and the Governor to sign, legislation to create and independent commission to oversee hospital pricing for the purpose of increasing access to hospital services, promoting financial stability for hospitals, and lowering health care costs for New Yorkers.

Introduction 844, also sponsored by Council Member Julie Menin, would establish an Office of Health Care Accountability. This office would audit for the expenditures on employee related health care costs, and make recommendations on how to lower these costs. It would also require the City to create an online site to provide information on the costs of hospital procedures, and summarize the cost transparency of each hospital. We thank our Sara

Liss and Mahnoor Butt.

Next, Introduction 325-A, sponsored by Council Member Justin Brannan, would require the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, the DOHMH, to maintain a list of hospitals with emergency rooms and pediatric trauma centers in New York City. DOHMH would be required to provide the list to pediatricians practicing in the City, and DOHMH would also be required to mail the list to each address

2 designated for a child's birth certificate. Finally,

3 DOHMH would be required to provide this list to the 4 Department of Education and childcare programs for 5 annual distribution to parents and guardians of 6 children enrolled in childcare programs, 3-K and Pre-

 \parallel K, and grades K through 8.

2.2

2.3

Introduction 96-A, also by sponsored by Council Member Justin Brannan, would require DOHMH to establish a program providing vision testing and eyeglasses to New Yorkers whose income falls within 250 percent of the federal poverty level. This bill would make vison testing and eyeglasses more accessible to low-income New Yorkers, because these services would otherwise be expensive or inaccessible to individuals without vison insurance. Thank you to our staff members Sara Liss, Christopher Pepe, Sara Sucher, and Mahnoor Butt.

Next, we will vote on the following bills related to heart and cardiovascular health:

Introduction 814-A, sponsored by Council Member Shekar Krishnan, would require DOHMH to issue semiannual reports on the quantities and locations of automated external defibrillators placed in public places. Placing AEDs in public locations has been found to increase out of hospital cardiac arrest survival, improve patient health outcomes, and increase rates of return on a sustained hearth rhythm.

Introduction 975-A, sponsored by our Health Committee Chair, Council Member Lynn Schulman, would require DOHMH to make available on its website

information on free adult, child, and infant CPR courses available to the public in New York City, and to update such information at least once annually.

Introduction 996-A, sponsored by Council Member Mercedes Narcisse, would require DOHMH to post on its website the public places in New York City where blood pressure machines are located, and provide recommendations on locations for such machines in high need areas. DOHMH would also be required to support making at home blood pressure machines available and no cost to the public at federally qualified health centers in five high need areas in the City, and post the locations of such centers on its website. Thank you to our staff members, Christopher Pepe, and Sara Sucher, and Mahnoor Butt.

Introduction 831-A, sponsored by Criminal

Justice Committee Chair, Council Member Carlina

3 create a Resource Navigator Program to help connect

Rivera, would require the Department of Correction to 4 transgender, gender nonconforming, non-binary and

5 | intersex individuals as well as for cisgender women

6 in custody with alternatives to incarceration,

7 transitional, and permanent housing and reentry

8 programs. DOC would also have to submit

9 recommendations to the Mayor and City Council on how

10 to improve diversion and reentry resources for this

11 population. We thank our staff members Jeremy

12 Whiteman and Natalie Meltzer.

Introduction 976-A, sponsored by Council Member Althea Stevens, would require The Department of Homeless Services (DHS) and The Department of Youth and Community Development (DYCD) to report on data on the LGBTQ+ homeless population in New York City.

Despite the growing population of single, homeless adults, there is a lack of data on LGBTQ+ New Yorkers who are unhoused. To ensure this population is properly served, this bill would direct the City to collect data to help guide policy and ensure equity of treatment. Thank you to our staff member, Christina Yellamaty.

2 Introduction 977-A, also sponsored by Council 3 Member Althea Stevens, would require drop-in centers 4 to participate in a streamlined intake process for runaway and homeless youth to transition into adult shelters. Previously, runaway and homeless youth who 6 7 aged out or timed out DYCD shelters would stay in assessment intake shelters run by The Department of 8 Homeless Services for up to three weeks until a bed in a DHS facility became available. Many runaway and 10 11 homeless youth have expressed feeling unsafe in these shelters and have avoided the process. 12 This bill 13 amends the law to include DYCD funded drop-in centers 14 as a third type of originating facility, expanding 15 the ability for runaway and homeless youth to 16 participate in the streamlined intake process, and 17 further increasing access to services. We thank our 18 staff member Christina Yellamaty.

Finally, we will be voting on a package of Zero Waste Legislation that will advance our city's efforts to divert organic waste from landfills, fight climate change, and create a greener, more sustainable future for all New Yorkers. Introduction 280-A, sponsored by Majority Leader Keith Powers, would require The Department of Sanitation to establish community recycling centers in every borough to collect materials that are not regularly collected curbside, but which could be recycled or reused. These facilities would be required to be open for a certain number of hours per week, be in close proximity to public transit, and be easily accessible for people with disabilities. Information about each community recycling center, including its address, contact information, and hours of operation would be posted online. This bill also requires DSNY to submit regular reports to the Council on each center. This law would take effect immediately.

2.2

Introduction 281-A, also sponsored by Majority Leader Keith Powers, would require DSNY to establish a minimum number of organic waste drop-off sites citywide and in each borough. These sites would be required to be open for a certain number of hours per week, be near public transit, and be easily accessible for people with disabilities. Information about each drop-off site including its address, contact information, and hours of operation would be posted online. Finally, the bill would require outreach and regular reports to the Council. This law would take effect immediately.

2.3

Introduction 274-A, sponsored by Sanitation

Committee Chair, Council Member Sandy Nurse, would codify in law a goal of zero divertible waste for New York City by 2030. The Department of Sanitation would be required to report if this goal cannot be met.

Introduction 275-A, also sponsored by Council Member Sandy Nurse, would require the Department of Sanitation to report on their efforts to increase diversion rates as they work towards the goal of zero waste. The report must include information on specific materials and their recyclability as well as efforts to recycle or reuse materials collected through public litter baskets and other sources.
This law would take effect immediately.

Introduction 244-A, sponsored by Council Member Shahana Hanif, and me [Speaker Adams], would establish a permanent citywide residential curbside collection program to divert organic waste.

Approximately one-third of all residential waste is organic material that can be composted. Currently, most of it is not separately collected, so it ends up in landfills. This program would require residents to separate both yard waste and organic waste such as Health Care Accountability Office. This new office is going to list the prices of medical procedures by hospital, and it will increase transparency for patients, and make recommendations on how we can lower our health care costs. Currently, for example, a C-section in New York City can cost $55,000 at Montefiore or $17,000 at another New York City hospital. And the new office would harness the City's purchasing power to drive down skyrocketing

In 2017, our city spent over $6 billion on public sector employee, retiree, and dependent health care.

Today, that number is close ten percent of our city's budget or about $11 billion. It is simply unsustainable.

A recent study by Local 32BJ noted that we could potentially save up to $2 billion by creating this office. And other states that have enacted price transparency, such as New Hampshire and California, have seen enormous savings and reductions in their health care costs. That is money that we could allocate to affordable housing or education or other critical needs.

I first of all want to thank the Speaker for her support; I want to thank Health Chair Council Member Lynn Schulman; Hospital's Chair Council Member Mercedes Narcisse, the incredible Labor Coalition

Member Stevens.

COUNCIL MEMBER NURSE: Thank you. Hey,

Colleagues, hey pals, today as... What? I'm excited, I'm excited. Today as thick smoke from forest wildfires in Canada covers our city and threatens our public health, we are preparing to pass a monumental achievement in our beloved city, the passage of the Zero Waste Act. With the passage of this act, we are declaring and reaffirming our right to a sustainable future.

I want to take a moment to express my deepest gratitude to all the community organizers, activists, and every day heroes who made this victory possible.

I want to recognize National Resources Defense Fund,
New York Lawyers for Public Interest, Triage, We Act,
Big Reuse, Lower East Side Ecology Center, El Puente,

2 BK ROT, and all of the solid waste advisory boards across the boroughs.

I want to thank you Colleagues, this package of bills has 42 co-sponsors on all five bills making it the most cosponsored package this body has passed. Shoutout to Council Member Sandra Ung, for signing on yesterday. This is a clear commitment from us and New Yorkers for climate and environmental justice. And I am truly, truly so proud to be part of this historic body with you all.

A good waste system is not simply a matter of convenience, but a matter of environmental justice and equity. And this legislation will reach far beyond the boundaries of our city. These bills are an act of real solidarity with communities that are fighting for clean air and water like in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and upstate New York, where we send millions and millions of pounds of waste every day. It is the working class communities of color and indigenous people who have borne the brunt of toxic landfills, incinerators, and environmental racism. And this act is a rightful step towards healing the wounds inflicted by decades of environmental degradation. It is imperative that New York City, disposal and embrace a circular economy that values

I want to express my gratitude to Annel Hernandez for leading the [TIMER CHIMES] research and negotiations, from our staff side, the staff of Council Member Powers and Council Member Hanif, Jeff Baker, Brad, Ricky, Andrew, our new committee counsel, Morganne, and of course, thank you to Speaker Adams for throwing your full weight behind this package. Thank you so much for all of your work, and I ask for your support on these bills today.

MAJORITY LEADER POWERS: Thank you, congratulations.

We will now hear from Council Member Stevens, followed by Council Member Rivera.

COUNCIL MEMBER STEVENS: Today we are voting on two bills sponsored by myself, to expand the reporting service for runaway and homeless youth.

Introduction 976 will require the Department of Homeless Services and The Department of Youth and Community Development to report quarterly on the LGBTQ+ homeless persons who receive DHS or DYCD services -- as well as the number of shelter beds reserved for such persons. The data will empower the Council to pinpoint the number of LGBTQ+ identified persons served by the homeless system, so that we can take steps to identify their needs and expand services to this often marginalized group.

Introduction 977 would require drop-in centers to participate in the streamlined intake process for youths aging or timing out of shelters operated or funded by the Department of Youth and Community Development, and who intend to transfer to adult shelters.

Advocates report that it takes up to 21 days to identify a shelter bed in an adult system. This bill would enable drop-in centers to conduct the intake process so that young people can remain in the Runaway and Homeless Youth Services system until they identity an available bed within DHS.

I am proud that we are advancing these bills and calling attention to the needs of our City's most vulnerable youth. The Runaway and Homeless Youth Services system is under sourced and overlooked.

At the Youth Services Committee Hearing in April, we heard passionate testimony from youth and advocates about how the demand for beds exceeds the limited supply, and that growing demand for shelters is compounded by the influx migrant youth, and the City's obstructive, absurd directive banning of young people sleeping in drop-in centers. The Runaway and Homeless Youth Services system is facing multiple crises, and our young people need our help.

We celebrate the advancement of this legislation today, and we look forward to expanding more bold legislative actions in the Committee so that we can help runaway and homeless youth [TIMER CHIMES].

I would like to thank the staffers for all of their hard work, and I hope all of my colleagues will vote yes today, thank you.

MAJORITY LEADER POWERS: Thank you. Sorry, my microphone was not working.

We will now hear from Council Member Rivera, followed by Council Member Narcisse.

COUNCIL MEMBER RIVERA: Thank you so much, Majority Leader.

The legislation we are voting on today, my bill, will serve populations that are uniquely vulnerable in our City's jails. Women and gender expansive individuals, including transgender, gender nonconforming, non-binary and intersex people. These populations are especially likely to suffer from prior abuse and trauma, which can precipitate other mental health problems -- 70 percent are care givers, and incarceration has profoundly negative consequences for their children and families.

At jail intake, as many as 25 percent of women and gender expansive people reported that they were homeless before being jailed or had nowhere to go upon release. Coordinated reentry planning greatly impacts a detained individual's reintegration into society and can reduce recidivism rates.

My bill, Introduction 831-A, creates a centralized resource navigator program to assist women and gender expansive individuals in DOC custody in locating available and appropriate reentry services.

I want to acknowledge the TGNCNBI Taskforce, which has worked tirelessly to review the DOC polices and make recommendations to improve the treatment and housing of transgender, gender nonconforming, non-binary and intersex individuals in custody. Thank you for your service to ensure that everyone is treated with the dignity and respect that they deserve.

To close Rikers Island on schedule, in 2027, we must be diligent in reducing the jail population and ending the cycle of recidivism. With innovative policies, like the establishment of a Resource Navigation Program, this goal is in entirely within our grasp.

Thank you to committee staff, and of course, my team, in helping to draft this bill and getting it to this final stage. I am proud to carry this legislation, and I urge my colleagues to vote aye, thank you.

MAJORITY LEADER POWERS: Thank you, we will now hear from Council Member Narcisse, and Batting Clean-up, Council Member Krishnan.

COUNCIL MEMBER NARCISSE: Thank you, Majority

Leader Powers, and Speaker Adrianne Adams, and the team that makes it possible for me... under the leadership of Jeff Baker, Jeremey Johns, and all of the team, thank you.

equity gaps.

As a nurse, it brings me great happiness to speak today and vote to pass two bills, which will increase access to health care and help close health care

Health is wealth, so if health care is not affordable to all New Yorkers, our system is failing. Something is critically wrong when patients have to fight for their lives and hospitals are fighting for their [INAUDIBLE].

Health care is too damn high and hospital bills are too damn high in New York City. So, that is why I am proud to work with my colleagues including sponsors Council Member Julie Menin, and Health Committee Chair, Council Member Lynn Schulman to pass this bill. This is saving money and saving our city health care infrastructure.

Introduction 996-A, we must provide New Yorkers with every affordable recourse to combat hypertension, which effects about one in four New Yorkers, with higher numbers for Black and Latino communities. Many people with hypertension don't experience any symptoms, that is why we call the silent killer. As a former ER triage nurse, I know firsthand that we must diagnose before we can treat.

By placing automated self-administered blood pressure testing machines in public places, we will help educate New Yorkers about their blood pressure and make it more comfortable to talk about, thus providing a potentially lifesaving resource to many.

I am pleased that as a City Council member, I am taking this step to pass Introduction 996 to increase access to sphygmomanometers, which will help save lives and have an immediate impact on the health care of many New Yorkers. So, thank you, everyone who worked with me to make this possible, thank you.

[TIMER CHIMES]

MAJORITY LEADER POWERS: Thank you.

We are going to hear from Council Member Krishnan, and Council Member Hanif to follow.

COUNCIL MEMBER KRISHNAN: Thank you so much. Majority Leader.

In January of this year, America watched in horror as Buffalo Bills' safety, Damar Hamlin, collapsed onto the field, moments after making a routine tackle, during a game against the Cincinnati Bangles. Hamlin, 24 years old and in peak physical health, had suffered from sudden cardiac arrest.

Thankfully, he has fully recovered, and I just saw him earlier this week practicing with the Bills.

As Demar's story makes clear; however, AEDs save lives. Unfortunately, they are not as readily accessible for everyone as they were for him. That is why I am proud, as we mark the end CPR and AED Awareness Week, I am proud to have led the passage of The Heart Act that we are voting on today, Introduction 814-A, which will help more New Yorkers find AEDs to save the lives of their friends, family, and neighbors.

Heart Disease is a leading cause of death in New York City, claiming hundreds of our loved ones every year. But, by making AEDs easily assessable for all New Yorkers with all information available as to their locations and whether they are up to date in terms of their maintenance -- by doing that across the City, we can and will prevent countless deaths from cardiac arrests.

I would like recognize and give a special thank you to my friend and constituent, Sumana Harihareswara, who is here in the gallery, who I would ask to stand please? Thank you, Sumana, for your work and your advocacy. Sumana's father had

COUNCIL MEMBER HANIF: Thank you, good afternoon,hi all, I am on the Zoom today.

I share in excitement with my colleague, Council Member Nurse. Thank you so much to Speaker Adams and Chair Nurse for getting Intro 244-A on today's agenda and for your partnership on this bill over this past year. I want to express gratitude to the 42 sponsors of this bill, especially the 12 co-prime sponsors. I also want to thank DSNY and CLA for the collaboration in getting this bill across the finish line. And I need to shout out to the Progressive Caucus who have been avid champions of the Zero Waste Act.

Right now, more than a third of all trash that

New Yorkers produce is organic waste. Currently the vast majority of this waste is either incinerated - predominantly in communities of color -- which creates terrible health impacts, or it rots in landfills while emitting methane, a greenhouse gas 25 times destructive than carbon dioxide. As we have seen over the past few days, the climate crisis is here, and we must take action now.

This bill will create a citywide curbside composting program for residential buildings, diverting organic waste away from incarnation and landfills, towards productive uses like nourishing our city's soil or heating our homes. Collections will be mandatory weekly and year-round, allowing us to reach the needed environmental impact to meet the climate crisis and achieve economic efficiencies that will help the City financially. In order to ensure that New Yorkers have the information they need to participate properly, the bill requires DSNY to implement a language accessible and culturally competent outreach and education campaign.

NEW YORK CITY COUNCIL STATED MEETING

I want to close by thanking the countless advocates who have been instrumental in advancing this bill including Triage, React, NRDC, 350BK, Sunrise, NYCLV, and countless more.

I want to thank Alex Liao, Michael Whitesides, Nora Brickner, Musarrat Lamia, and Hannah HendersonCharnow from my team, and Annel Hernandez from Chair Nurse's team, and Hayley Brundige and Ben Jacobs from Council Member Powers' team, Brad Reid, Audrey Son,

And, by the way, I'm sorry, this is my son, John.

I think hopefully we don't have an Andrew Giuliani moment. Andrew is my friend, I say that in kindness.

But, New York City is now the most expensive the Just 16 hours ago, CNBC and other news outlets said, New York is now the most expensive city for expats, people who are citizens of foreign countries who are coming here to live. And, yet, we are passing what would be an extension of some of the highest taxes in the country, uh, specifically the income tax. For those of you who may not be aware, New York City is one the few municipalities in the country with an income tax. And we have had that for many years, because property taxes were very low. Very low comparable to our neighboring states and jurisdictions. Mayor Bloomberg, and some of our predecessors here in this room, no one here was there then, decided to almost double the effective property tax rate on all of our constituents. That affects homes. That affects condos. That affects co-ops, and that affects renters. Some of the affordability crisis we have today in housing is the direct result of these tax implications.

So, I would hope in the future that we do more deliberation on giving Albany this authority to pass taxes that continue... some of the highest tax rates in the country, in an unfortunate situation, where we do live in a city with an affordability crisis.

So, thank you... Oh, I vote age on all with the exception of M 159 and Intro 244, thanks.

MAJORITY LEADER POWERS: Thank you.

We will now go to Council Member Cabán, followed by Council Member Krishnan, and lastly Council Member Brewer.

COUNCIL MEMBER CABÁN: Thank you very much.

Today, alongside Public Advocate Jumaane
Williams, and my LGBTQIA+ Caucus co-chair, Council Member Hudson, I am introducing Introduction 10682023, to provide for the rights, protection, and economic security of some of our most marginalized, most criminalized, and most disrespected neighbors,
New Yorkers who engage in sex work.

In places like Australia and New Zealand, governments have taken this politically thorny issue and have established smart, compassionate, evidence based, and human rights affirming legal frameworks around sex work. And it is time for us to take a first step in the same direction. It feels especially appropriate to introduce this legislation in Pride Month as sex work constitutes one of the essential planks of the LGBTQIA+ Caucus' first of its kind Marsha and Sylvia Plan. And as the Marsha and Sylvia Plan notes: Whether a given person engages in sex work owing to economic desperation, and a lack of other employment options, or because they make good money, create their own schedule, and find it empowering, the City has a responsibility to protect the health, safety, and economic well-being of all New Yorkers regardless of what they do for a living.

And, let's be clear, sex work is work. Among other provisions, Introduction 1068 would prohibit housing discrimination against a perspective tenant on the basis of current or past sex work. It would create board within DCWP tasked with ensuring that sex workers know their rights in relation to specific workplace issues that they are particularly likely to face such as wage left. It would establish a program for awarding grants to community organizations that work directly with sex workers to provide economic support for mobility, health, housing, and social well-being.

These are common sense, cost effective strategies for making a New York with greater economic prosperity, greater public safety, and public health, more racial and gender equity, and more care and compassion. And I am excited to speak more about this vital legislation in the coming weeks and months, thanks, ya'll.

MAJORITY LEADER POWERS: Thank you.

We will now hear from Council Member Krishnan, followed by Council Member Brewer.

COUNCIL MEMBER KRISHNAN: Taxi workers are some of the most essential workers in our city. In my district of Jackson Heights and Elmhurst, I am proud that we have the largest population of driver residents in all of New York City. They are my neighbors, fellow parents, and friends. I see their cars parked on the side of the street, I see them eating at our restaurants, walking their kids to school with me, and praying at our local masjids.

However, despite being essential workers, unfair deactivations of drivers from billion dollar for-hire vehicle companies don't just cut into the income of drivers, they strand them with tens of thousands of dollars of debt. They also harm an entire community -- my community -- and so many others across this city. That is why I am proud today to be introducing Introduction 1078 to end the unfair and wrongful deactivation of high-volume for-hire vehicle drivers in this city; and Introduction 1079, to make sure

MAJORITY LEADER POWERS: Thank you.

Finally, we will hear from Council Member Gale Brewer.

COUNCIL MEMBER BREWER: Thank you very much.

I want to thank Council Member Krishnan and others regarding trees, and I hope that people will support Introduction 1066, which would require the Office of Long-Term Planning and Sustainability to consider the role of trees, tree canopy, and vegetation in its long-term sustainability planning.

And I think it mirrors and works with the bill that the Chair has suggested, along with Council Member Bottcher to create an Urban Forest Master Plan.

Number two, I just want to bring to people's attention that tomorrow we are doing a hearing in Oversight and Investigations about the Erie Basin

J

Storage Facility fire. But, when we did the investigation, thanks to the amazing staff at ONI, we are also learning that there are a lot of warehouse issues in our city, and I think we should pay a lot of attention to them.

And, third, I want to thank everyone who signed the letter to the President trying to get support for migrants being able to work in our city and in our country. Almost everybody signed it. And I hope that when the Speaker went to Washington and helped, I think that everyone should understand as much as we do, that that is what is what is needed.

Yesterday, some of us were at the Lincoln State

Facility, which is on 110th Street, many, many migrants men are housed there, supposedly temporarily, but I don't know what temporarily means anymore. And all they want to do is work. And we have got to figure out how they can do that. Thank you very much.

MAJORITY LEADER POWERS: Thank you.
