2 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Okay, good
3 afternoon ladies and gentlemen. My name is Daniel 4 Dromm and I'm Chair of the committee on 5 Immigration. Before I, [off mic] got to bring the 6 gavel twice. All right, good afternoon everybody.
7 My name is Daniel Dromm and I'm the Chair of the 8 Immigration Committee. I'd like to introduce my 9 colleagues who are here with us today, Council 10 Member Ydanis Rodriguez is here, Council Member 11 Peter Vallone is here, Council Member Brad Lander 12 is here, and I know that we will be joined by 13 other Council Members including Council Member 14 Gale Brewer who is on her way but we're going to 15 get started because we do have a very long list of 16 people who want to testify today. So, let me just 17 get started then and say I'd like to thank my 18 collage, Gale Brewer, Chair of the Committee on 19 Governmental Operations for co chairing this 20 hearing with me and giving the opproutnity for 21 intro number 410 to be heard and considered by the 22 Committee. If enacted Intro 410 would allow 23 immigrants lawfully present in New York City to 24 vote in municipal elections. This bill is of 25 great important to me, my constituents and many

1
2 other New Yorkers. I believe that this bill 3 speaks to something that the founding fathers of 4 this country considered of utmost importance, no
5 taxation without representation. Passage of this 6 bill would be a natural step in our nations 7 journey related to voting rights. The history of 8 voting in this country has been a turbulent one.
9 When this nation was founded only white property
10 owners were permitted to vote. As time progressed 11 voting rights were granted to non property owners, 12 to African American's and to women but this did 13 not occur overnight and not without a fight. The 14 demographics of voters have changed over time and 15 this bill would just be the natural step in our 16 nations voting history. This legislation is not 17 about undocumented immigrants so that should not 18 even be raised as a concern in opposition to its 19 passage. This is about immigrants who are legally 20 here in this country, whether they are here under 21 some kind of humanitarian visa or have chosen to 22 make New York City their home or those who have 23 been here for ten or 20 years and are still 24 waiting to be naturalized. They have played an 25 instrumental role in enriching the fabric of this

1
2 city. These individuals pay taxes, participate in 3 their communities whether it is being active in a 4 church, a synagogue or a mosque or active in their 5 local schools and community centers while business 6 owners and consumers. Whether they are in 7 Washington Heights, Wakefield, Castleton Corners, 8 New Springfield, Flatbush or my neighborhood of 9 Jackson Heights, these are New Yorkers who want to 10 make sure that their interests are adequately 11 represented since they too are committed to their 12 neighborhoods and to their city. I believe that 13 there is precedent for this legislation. For 14 example, up until 2001 all immigrants regardless 15 of status were permitted to vote in school board 16 elections in New York City. The number of 17 eligible voters under this legislation we believe 18 is between 750,000 and 800,000 people. We know 19 this because there are approximately 1.3 million 20 non residents, non citizens that call New York
21 City their home and approximately 500,000 of them 22 are undocumented. These non citizens are 23 taxpayers who contribute to society but are 24 ultimately disenfranchised because they cannot 25 vote. Passage of this legislation would encourage

1
2 community involvement and civic engagement and 3 promote democracy as intended by our forefathers.
4 This would change the way that candidates campaign
5 for office because they could no longer ignore 6 immigrants and communities of color. I would like 7 to thank my colleagues who have cosponsored this 8 important bill, and there are 34 of them. This 9 bill has been introduced and considered before but 10 it now has more cosponsors than ever before, which 11 is a clear indication that this legislation is of 12 much importance to us as elected officials. I 13 could also like to say how proud I am with the 14 coverage of this issue has received by everyone 15 from El Diario to New York One News. I would like 16 to point out that El Diario run an editorial in 17 support of this bill which I am also thrilled 18 about. Now, I'm looking forward to hearing 19 testimony from everyone here today on this very 20 important issue. We will have to limit most of 21 the people to three minutes because we have a very 22 long list of people who want to give testimony and 23 we also have questions to ask and questions that 24 need to be asked. So, we are going to limit 25 people to that. I want to give an opportunity for

1
2 my colleague, Council Member Ydanis Rodriguez to 3 also offer an opening statement and I want to 4 thank him personally for all the work that he has 5 done on this issue, for helping me gather sponsors
6 and for organizing the press conference. And I'm 7 very pleased and proud to be able to work with 8 you, Council Member Ydanis Rodriguez.

9 COUNCIL MEMBER YDANIS RODRIGUEZ:

10 Thank you. Thank you our Chairman on Immigration 11 Committee, a great leader, an advocate for 12 immigrant right, Danny Dromm and also Gale Brewer, 13 who is not here. And also for the - - and the 14 rest of my colleague. You know, it is interesting 15 that we are having, first of all, I used to be a 16 Social Studies teacher before being elected for 13
17 years. I love history. I love to see how great 18 city we have. As an immigrant that I am who come 19 in in 1983 at the age of 18, one of the thing that 20 I respect the most to the city that walking 21 through some avenue, like, 3rd Avenue, that it had, 22 like, five and six road. I say, when were this 23 road built? They were build decades ago when six 24 road was no needed. Probably they only needed one 25 or two. However, the men and woman who build the

1
2 road, the road with their vision for the next 3 hundred years. And that's one of the great thing
4 of this city and this nation, having men and women 5 with a vision, men and women that is looking to 6 correct thing they can do better. When we end the 7 segregation it wasn't only black and Latino who 8 joined the movement, it was also the youth, the 9 white community who say, segregation is wrong. We 10 have to correct it and we had to change it. Here 11 we have a great opportunity. People from all 12 nationality to see how can we improve a democratic 13 process in our city? I came in '83. I was 18.
14 First job, washing dishes at O'Hare [phonetic]
15 restaurant, 6th Avenue and 4th Street. No one asked 16 me if I had a right or not but I was paying taxes.
17 I had my green card. Then I became doing, I 18 joined another corporation providing sandwich,
19 food, Concert Corporation [phonetic] on the 96th
20 Floor to World Trade Center, paying taxes, yes, 21 having my green card. My brother joined the Army, 22 he only had green card, but no one asked when they 23 recruiting from the Armed Forces if they have, if 24 they can know, I mean, green card, people are 25 allowed to join the Armed Forces with green card.

1
2 Therefore, today we have a great opportunity to 3 provide that opportunity to 850,000 New Yorker's 4 that has green card, that pay taxes that are 5 raising family, that are preparing the next men 6 and women to be the workforce for the future.

7 Intro 410 provide us that opportunity, provide us
8 this opportunity to allow a sectors of New Yorkers 9 to be part of the democratic process, to elect the 10 Council Member, to elect the public advocate they 11 may or that they control. So, I congratulate all 12 my colleague, the 34 Council Members that has 13 signed this. I also congratulate the Speaker for 14 being open, for having the - - to look at this 15 bill. I also congratulate some of the other 16 colleague who are looking to get many in citywide
17 office, like, Bill Thompson, like, Bill Deblasio 18 [phonetic] who also has expressed that they are 19 open to consider this bill. So, New Yorkers, we 20 have a great opportunity to write another chapter 21 in our history that will have an impact for this 22 decades to come. This is going to be your Council 23 Member, Mayor and Comptroller, this is about 24 providing 150 New Yorkers that pay taxes, that 25 have the same responsibility as people that are US

1
2 citizen to also have the opportunity of elect the 3 local official. Thank you.

4 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Thank you,
5 Council Member Ydanis Rodriguez. And now I would 6 like to turn it over to Council Member Gail
7 Brewer, co Chair, Chari of the Council's Committee 8 on Government Operations and the recently most 9 successful Council Member in terms of passing 10 another piece of legislation of vital importance 11 to immigrant New Yorkers and that's the Paid Sick 12 Bill. Council Member Gail Brewer. [cheering and 13 applause]

14 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Thank you.
15 Thank you Danny Dromm. Danny Dromm is wonderful 16 and I am here with many colleagues to chair the 17 Committee on Governmental Operations and the bill 18 is actually in our Committee and it's really an 19 honor to be here with Danny Dromm in particular.
20 I think we've been joined by Council Member Mark-21 Viverito.

22 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Council Member
23 Mathieu Eugene is here.

24 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Wait, okay.
25 So, I'm not going to be long. This city is

1
2 obviously a place where immigrants have always 3 come, some stay for a short period of time, some 4 for a long time but one in five adult New Yorkers 5 are not allowed to vote in our city because 6 although they are documented immigrants and here 7 legally, they are not citizens. And those are the 8 individuals, who in my opinion, should be voting 9 in our municipal elections. They pay taxes, they 10 own businesses, they contribute to the cultural 11 and social fabric of our great city but they're 12 not allowed to vote for their representatives and 13 that's wrong. It takes maybe eight to ten years 14 to gain citizenship, if you're lucky sometimes.
15 And there's no reason why these hardworking New 16 Yorkers have to wait that long to be a part of how 17 our streets should be safe or what the quality of, 18 is and what the quality of schools is and what is 19 entailed in making sure they are high quality.
20 And it's also important to note that non citizen 21 voting has a history in New York City. Non 22 citizens were permitted to vote in school board 23 elections. I voted in them from 1970 on until 24 2002 when they were abolished. We all worked, 25 those of us who had kids in the school system at

2 that time. so, the legislation today would 3 restore voting rights to non citizens who legally 4 reside in our city. And it would apply only to 5 individuals who have lived in the city for at 6 least six months who are here legally and that 7 would apply only to elections for municipal 8 office, like Mayor, City Council, Board
9 Presidents, and so on. It's fair, it's equitable 10 and I certainly support it. It's not an easy 11 matter to pull this off but I know the New York 12 City Board of Elections could do it. And they 13 have figured out how to address significant 14 challenges in the past and they could do it again.
15 The Board is not here. Later on we will read 16 their statement. I'm proud to be a cosponsor and 17 I always enjoy doing anything with Council Member 18 Danny Dromm. [off mic]

19 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Okay, the 20 feeling is mutual. Thank you, Council Member Gail 21 Brewer. And with that, I'd like to bring up our 22 first panel, and that will be Ron Haddock
23 [phonetic] for PSC CUNY, Cheryl Wertz [phonetic]
24 from the New York Coalition to Expand Voting 25 Rights, and Jerry Vatamala [phonetic] from Asian

1
2 American Legal Defense and Education Fund. And 3 Cheryl would you sit to here and start us off?
4 Yeah? Whenever you're ready. Put that mic on 5 too. You have to push the red button.

6 MS. CHERYL WERTZ: Yeah?

7 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Yeah.

8 MS. WERTZ: Okay. Thank you so
9 much to all of you for taking the time to attend 10 this important hearing this afternoon. My name is 11 Cheryl Wertz and I'm one of the founding members 12 of the New York Coalition to Expand Voting Rights.
13 My role here today is to give you some basic 14 information about the New York City Voting Rights
15 Restoration Act and that you hear from the other 16 more eloquent speakers and experts that are here
17 this afternoon. The New York City Voting Rights 18 Restoration Act, or Intro 410, is basic civil 19 rights legislation that would reinstate municipal 20 voting rights for non citizens who've been legally
21 present in New York City for six months or longer.
22 As Council Member Dromm just eloquently pointed 23 out, the right to vote in this country has rarely 24 if ever been about citizenship. It has been about 25 controlling who has the right to have a say. At

1
2 this country's founding the right to vote belonged 3 to white men and with property. White woman and 4 poor white men, although clearly citizens, were 5 disenfranchised. Over time each and every state 6 has passed legislation that actively removed the 7 right to vote from non citizens. Always a hot bed 8 of mitigation, New York has also been a hot bed of 9 anti immigrant backlash. Some of the first 10 citizenship voting restrictions were passed here 11 in 1804, but Arkansas, the last state to 12 disenfranchise immigrants didn't do so until 1926.
13 This seemingly universal concept of citizenship
14 voting requirements is less than 90 years old.
15 Even now, 45 countries around the world have some 16 form of non citizen voting. Six towns in 17 Maryland, non citizen vote residents are currently 18 voting in municipal elections and in Chicago, non 19 citizen residents are voting in school board 20 elections. Of course, non citizen parents voted 21 in school board elections right here in New York
22 City until 2002 when mayoral control ended school 23 boards. The expression, no taxation without 24 representation is particularly relevant here.
25 There is no special tax bracket for being a non

1 citizen. All non citizens pay the same taxes that 2 citizens do. In New York State, non citizen
3 residents pay $229 billion in combined state 4 income taxes, sales taxes and real estate taxes.
5 Their economic output represents about one fifth 6 of the State's GDP. But most non citizens don't 7 qualify for Social Security, Medicaid, Medicare, 8 food stamps or the dozens of other programs that 9 they're helping to pay for. But this campaign 10 isn't really about taxation, it's about civic 11 participation and the right to have a say. In New 12 York City a full 20 percent of the adult 13 population can't vote in our civic process, that's 14 1.3 million people. And as you can see from our 15 map, which is also included in your packets, we 16 can map out very specifically where those 17 individuals are in New York City and what issues
18 are being impacted. Beyond individual voting 19 rights this campaign is about supporting our 20 neighborhoods. When one fifth of our neighbors 21 can't participate in the civic process our entire 22 community suffers. Immigrant New Yorkers are more 23 likely to have unaddressed healthcare needs, be 24 underemployed, attend public schools and pay a

1 higher portion of their salary in rent. But 2 elected officials can safely ignore these issues 3 when immigrants can't vote. By holding our 4 elected officials accountable for serving their 5 entire community, non citizen voting serves the 6 entire community. As a part of my introduction i 7 want to just touch on the concrete questions about 8 who would be enfranchised as we've said before.
9 This legislation is only for New York City
10 municipal elections. It does not cover County 11 Offices of District Attorney's or Judgeships. The 12 New York City Voting Rights Restoration Act would 13 enfranchise individuals who are legally present 14 and have lived in New York City for six months or 15 longer. It's important to note that individuals 16 with tourist visas are specifically excluded from 17 the legislation, both by virtue of the six month 18 time frame and the residency requirement.
19 Individuals with any other kind of visa, including 20 student visas, H1B visas, K visas, E visas, J 21 visas, L visas, U visas and the alphabet soup of 22 other visas created by the US Department of 23 Homeland Security are all included. A quick note 24 on the legal details which again, will be covered

1
2 by other experts here today. The legislation 3 leaves the details on voter registration and poll 4 administration processes to the professionals at 5 the Board of Elections rather than dictating how 6 they do their job, Intro 410 gives those 7 professionals the freedom to do their work 8 effectively and make sure that New Yorkers are 9 able to exercise their appropriate and legal right 10 to vote. New York State election law is quite 11 clear on protecting the right to vote for citizens 12 but there is nothing in the law that prevents 13 municipalities from expanding that franchise. As 14 a friend of mine used to put it, New York State 15 election law is a shield protecting citizens right 16 to vote rather than a sword preventing other 17 individuals from being enfranchised as well. I 18 want to end my testimony today with a personal 19 note of thanks. The idea that individual should 20 simply become citizens has certainly been raised 21 as part of this discussion. But as we've already 22 noticed, becoming a citizen takes a ridiculously 23 long time and there are a large number of 24 documented individuals who have lived here for 25 years with no viable path to citizenship. The

1 national immigration reform debate may result in a 2 path to citizenship for some individuals but 3 certainly a large number of people will be 4 included. And as individuals in Washington
5 continue to endlessly debate the issue the New 6 York City Council has an opportunity to set a 7 national example of inclusion. This hearing is a 8 testament to our healthy civic life. We are about 9 to become the most representative, democratic city
10 in the nation. As of today 34 of you have eco 11 sponsored 410. When myself and a collection of 12 activists in Queens, many of whom are here today, 13 started thinking about campaigns that could truly 14 impact the way that our community members
15 interacted with government we knew this was a 16 great idea but we were ready for a long haul.
17 From the Seneca Falls Convention to the adoption 18 of the 19th Amendment, women suffrage took 70
19 years, but with your leadership we're looking at a 20 real possibility of enfranchising 1.3 million New 21 Yorkers in less than ten years, that's 22 astonishing. But it's also a testament to your 23 leadership and to your collective vision. So, 24 thank you and I'm happy to take questions.

2 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Ron, your 3 testimony is very long so if you could just 4 summarize it if you can.

5 MR. RON HADDOCK: I certainly will.
6 [crosstalk] I know - - no, I won't. thank you for 7 the opportunity to speak with you today. My name 8 is Ron Haddock. I am a proud representative of 9 the Professional Staff Congress of CUNY, the 10 faculty and staff union, 25,000 members strong who 11 service the 270,000 students in CUNY, many of whom 12 are immigrants or the children of immigrants. I'm 13 also a member of the coalition to expand voting 14 rights and lastly, I'm a professor of Political 15 Science at Queens College. I'm the author of a 16 book called Democracy For All, not for some, but 17 for all, and the subtitle is, Restoring Immigrant 18 Voting in the United States. I strongly urge you 19 to pass intro 410. It's the right thing to do.
20 New York City's the perfect place to do it and 21 this is the right time. One out of five people, 22 adults, who are counted for districting purpose, 23 pay billions in taxes and contribute in countless 24 ways, socially, culturally, economically, to the 25 life of this city but they can't vote because

1
2 they're not US citizens. In some districts that 3 rises to one third to one half. That approximates 4 the political exclusion of women, African 5 American's and youth before laws were changed to 6 incorporate them. What do these conditions mean 7 for such basic democratic principle's such as 8 government rests on the consent of the governed, 9 no taxation without representation, one person,
10 one vote? Immigrant political exclusion
11 challenges the ideals of a modern democracy and it 12 cuts to the heart of our political practice. It 13 was wrong to exclude women, people of color and 14 young people from the vote and it's wrong to 15 exclude immigrants today. After all, we know what 16 happens when groups are disenfranchised;
17 discrimination, exploitation, marginalization
18 follow. That's why blacks, women and young people 19 fought for their voting rights and that's why 20 immigrants today similarly seek the right to vote.
21 Immigrant voting is part of a broader struggle for 22 the immigrant rights movement and for the movement
23 for human rights and dignity. Allowing immigrants 24 to vote in local elections would restore what was 25 a common and widespread practice in earlier times

1
2 and most recently here in the community school
3 board elections. Resident voting, immigrant 4 voting is one of the best and proven methods to 5 facilitate voter participation, immigrant 6 incorporation and government accountability.

7 There's three main points I want to encourage you 8 to consider in your deliberations. One, is this 9 is totally legal and there's precedent for us to 10 do this. The City has the authority and we have 11 strong historical precedent. It's rational.

12 There are moral and practical reasons to restore 13 immigrant voting including notions of equal right 14 and equal treatment and because it brings mutual 15 benefits to all community members. And lastly, 16 it's feasible. It's politically and 17 administratively feasible. It's possible and we 18 have experience doing it. Immigrants vote in 19 Maryland and you'll hear of from someone today in 20 Maryland about how they do it there, in Chicago 21 and we did it in the school board elections. Not 22 is immigrant voting particular to the United 23 States and New York City. It's a contemporary 24 phenomena world wide and it's a contemporary 25 trend. It makes a lot of sense in this era of

1
2 globalization. So, a little bit about their 3 history. Americans are usually surprised to learn 4 that immigrants enjoyed voting for the majority of 5 our history, from 1776 to 1946, that's 150 years, 6 not just in part of the country but in 40 states
7 and federal territories it was common practice, 8 not just in local elections which is what we're 9 talking about now but also in State and Federal 10 elections. Immigrants can also run for office and 11 held office such as Alderman, Coroner and School 12 Board Member. Our forefathers embraced the alien 13 suffrage as a logical way to encourage newcomers
14 to build a stake in America's emerging democracy 15 and it worked. It hastens civic integration and 16 eventual citizenship. Immigrant voting is as 17 American as apple pie and is older than our 18 national pastime, baseball, one of my favorite 19 sports. Another takeaway point is that voting is 20 not naturally or inevitably or intrinsically 21 connected to citizenship. Of course, this is why, 22 you know, women and blacks who are post
23 emancipation have, were citizens but were denied 24 the right to vote not because they weren't 25 citizens but because of racism and sexism. Sadly,

1
2 this sensible policy of immigrant voting became a 3 casualty of the anti immigrant backlash in wartime
4 hysteria during the turn of the 20th Century. This 5 is also a time, I want to point out, when other 6 barriers to the franchise were erected such as 7 poll taxes, literacy tasks, grandfather clauses,
8 restrictive residency and voter registration
9 procedures, all of which combine to disenfranchise
10 millions of voters. Thankfully, the Civil Rights 11 movement swept away many of the obstacles to 12 voting, poll taxes, literacy tests but the 13 movement for universal suffrage remains 14 incomplete, an alarming and large proportion of 15 the population remains disenfranchised. Most 16 immigrants want to become citizens but because of 17 red tape the average time to naturalize and obtain 18 citizenship is eight to ten years, according to 19 the US census. More than a two term mayor, City 20 Council members. Furthermore, many legally 21 residing immigrants are not eligible to become 22 citizens, such as students, long term holders of 23 work visas. Intro 410 would allow these New 24 Yorkers to participate in the political life of 25 the city, their new home, and at the same time

1
2 improve the quality of our democracy. I'm going 3 to skip over the contemporary situation because we 4 have some other folks who will talk about how it 5 works in other places. But just to note that this 6 trend, the last 30 to 40 years for places to 7 restore voting rights, New York City was the first 8 place to restore voting rights to immigrants in 9 the school board elections was part of the civil 10 rights movement, the community control movement.
11 Chicago followed our lead and still, to this day,
12 every two years and even number of years in April, 13 just past, immigrants vote in school elections in 14 Chicago. They do so in Maryland, six towns, for 15 all elections locally. In Massachusetts there's 16 four set towns that have enacted immigrant voting 17 at the local level. They wait state enabling 18 legislation to implement those laws. There's been 19 similar initiatives in San Francisco and 20 Portland, Maine in 2010 and a dozen other places 21 around the country. So, New York's not alone in 22 trying to restore voting rights for allowing 23 immigrants to vote. And globally, again, in the 24 last 30 to 40 years, this trend is increasing. I 25 was glad to hear Chairwoman Brewer say that the

1
2 Board of Elections can do this, that they have,
3 certainly, experience doing it. And, you know,
4 the Board of Elections is capable of making
5 changes when they've been challenged in the past, 6 whether it's for the Community School Board 7 elections, which they had to do historically or 8 adding protected language groups, the American's 9 For Disabilities Act, the National Voter
10 Registration Act, HAVA [phonetic], new voting
11 machines, you name it. The technologies available 12 and in place including computerization of voter 13 registration rolls and poll lists, other 14 jurisdictions do it and they can inform us how to 15 do it. A firewall can be built between the City 16 and other elections so to allay any concerns of 17 comingling. And thankfully, because municipal 18 elections take place in an odd year, as opposed to 19 even years when the State and Federal elections
20 happen, that's another built in separation. You 21 know, if there's the political will there's the 22 technological and technical way. To conclude, no 23 one believes that immigrant voting is going to be 24 a panacea to our problem of typical apathy and low 25 voter turnout. However, it's certainly a critical

2 step in creating local governor process that's 3 more inclusive, accessible and accountable and 4 certainly will increase the turnout. Resident 5 voting will not eviscerate the palpable fear and 6 distrust that many immigrant communities have for 7 government, nevertheless, by implementing a system 8 whereby government officials need to vie for their 9 support will give these vulnerable communities 10 more of an equal footing in the city in which they 11 have a vital stake. Resident voting will not 12 ensure that government is truly accountable to all 13 but New Yorkers will have recourse to the ballot 14 and that goes a long way to increasing 15 accountability. The vote is a tried and true 16 mechanism to keep government representative, 17 responsive and accountable. Elected officials 18 will have greater participation from their 19 constituents and therefore a greater mandate.
20 According to a public opinion poll conducted by 21 Baruch College in 2011, most New Yorkers support 22 the idea of restoring voting rights to immigrants, 23 so it's not just us advocates. In conclusion, 24 immigrant rights are the civil rights of today and 25 thus, non citizen voting is a suffrage movement of

1
2 our time. restoring voting rights to all its 3 residents would update our democracy for these 4 global times. New York is the home of the statue
5 of liberty, Ellis Island, we embrace our immigrant 6 nation, we are a city as an immigrant city. How 7 appropriate would it be for us to reaffirm this 8 leadership roll by restoring immigrant voting and 9 city elections? By doing so, we would make 10 history again. Thanks for your time.

11 COUNCIL MEMBER DROMM: Thank you.

12 Jerry?

13 MR. JERRY VATAMALA: Good afternoon
14 and thank you for the opportunity to address this 15 body and this Committee. My name is Jerry 16 Vatamala. I am a Staff Attorney and Democracy 17 Program and the Asian American Legal Defense and 18 Education Fund, AALDEF. ALLDEF is s 39 year old 19 national civil rights organization that protects 20 and promotes the civil rights of Asian American's 21 through litigation, advocacy, education and 22 organizing, AALDEF works with Asian American 23 communities across the country to secure human 24 rights for all. Today I'm going to testify on the 25 issue of whether New York City has authority to

1
2 extend the franchise and local elections to non 3 citizens. In short, it is our view that the City 4 does have the authority and does not require 5 authorization from the New York State Legislature.
6 Municipal authority to extend the franchise to non 7 citizens is supported by the terms and goals of 8 New York's Home Rule Law and by section 1-102 of 9 New York's Election Law. Local governments, such 10 as New York City, have authority to pass local 11 laws not inconsistent with the provisions of the 12 constitution, including any general law relating 13 to what's property, affairs or government and any 14 law related to the mode of selection of the 15 government's officers. Although there are 16 exceptions to the Municipal Home Rule Law the 17 selection of electors is not among the 12 topics 18 identified in the law as one on which a local law 19 which supersedes a State statute, cannot be 20 enacted. The City's broad power to define the 21 franchise for local elections is consistent with 22 the goals of the home rule doctrine in New York.
23 Home rule was intended to empower local 24 governments on matters of acute local concern, 25 like local elections. My colleagues had mentioned

2 that the New York City Constitution, the Federal 3 Constitution as well as the New York State
4 Constitution does not ban non citizen voting.
5 Indeed, New York Constitution, it guarantees 6 citizens the right to vote but does not limit the 7 electorate to citizens. So, in other words, the 8 New York State Constitution is a floor, not a 9 ceiling. Going onto the New York Election Law.
10 New York Election Law section 5-1021 states that 11 no person shall be qualified for. registered and 12 vote at any election unless he is a citizen of the 13 United States and is or will be on the day of such 14 election. And it goes on, so, at first blush it
15 would seem that the New York Election Law
16 prohibits non citizens from voting. However, 17 section 1-102 of the Election Law provides that 18 whereas specific provision of law exists in any 19 other law, which is inconsistent with the 20 provisions of this chapter, such provisions shall 21 apply unless a provision of this chapter specifies 22 that such provision of this chapter shall apply 23 notwithstanding any other provision of law. What 24 does that mean? What it means is that if local 25 jurisdiction such as New York City passes a law

2 such as this bill, which is inconsistent with a
3 provision of the election law which I just read, 4 section 5-102, the local election law will prevail 5 and supersede the inconsistent provision in the 6 election law. The only time this will not be the 7 case is if the inconsistent provision, in this 8 case the provision that says only citizens can 9 vote, explicitly states that that provision will 10 supersede the local law that is passed, and it 11 does not say that. The City's power to institute 12 non citizen voting for local elections depends on 13 whether section 1-102 allows the City to bypass
14 the restrictions I just read in section 5-102.
15 Section 1-102 allows municipalities to fashion 16 electoral rules that are different from and even 17 inconsistent with the rules chosen by the State.
18 Under section 101-102, New York's Election Law
19 Operates in Elections for Local Offices as a set 20 of default laws, which can be modified as needed
21 for particular elections. This default rule 22 structure is not unusual formulation in New York
23 Law and one can just think of the Uniformed 24 Commercial Code, the UCC, they are a set of 25 default rules in place under the UCC and parties

2 can agree to modify those rules. This is very 3 similar. And there's a very, I'll give you one 4 example here, the New York Supreme Court in New 5 York County was called on to interpret the scope
6 of section 1-102 while the 1988 Porter Revision 7 Commission changed the City's special elections to 8 a non partisan format. The charter provision that 9 had been imposed had conflicted with election law, 10 section 6-114 which allowed parties to place their 11 candidates party labels on the ballot. The 12 Supreme Court, nonetheless, held that election law
13 gives way to inconsistent local law provisions 14 relying on election law section 1-102. So, 15 there's an example where section 1-102 trumped the 16 contrary section in election law for special 17 elections. Now, there's no material difference 18 between a change in the electorate and the change 19 in the format of the ballot from partisan to non 20 partisan for purposes of section 1-102. So 21 therefore, the City's experience with nonpartisan 22 ballot in special elections demonstrates,
23 illustrates for this commission that section 1-102 24 allows local laws to supersede provisions of the 25 election law. So, in summary, New York Election

1 Law bars non citizens from the franchise.

2
3 However, it appears that and it's our belief that 4 election law gives local government the power to 5 override section 5-1021 in the context of local 6 elections. In light of the City's broad home rule 7 powers and the language of section 1-102 of the 8 New York Election Law AALDEF believes that the 9 City has the authority to extend the franchise to 10 non citizens without seeking special authorization
11 from the New York State Legislature. Thank you, 12 and I'd be happy to answer any questions.

13 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Thank you very 14 much. I want to make sure that we thank David 15 Seiser [phonetic] who's an attorney here and Tim 16 Matisoff [phonetic] who was certainly a great 17 policy analyst. I want to make a couple other 18 questions. Ron, when you were speaking you 19 mentioned some towns in Massachusetts that were 20 not able or do you know why they weren't given the 21 green light to do immigrant voting?

22 MR. HADDOCK: Yes, I do.

23 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: You mentioned
24 it, I don't think you talked about it 'cause you 25 were kind enough to summarize.

1
2 MR. HADDOCK: I was trying to get
3 through it. You know how us academics can be a 4 little longwinded. But it's all in the book and 5 my testimony.

6 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: We're not 7 reading the book right now, Ron - - .

8 MR. HADDOCK: The four towns
9 Amherst, Cambridge, Newton and Brookline passed 10 local legislation. Maryland requires that, it's 11 called a home rule petition, they file home rule 12 petition that they petition the State Legislature 13 to allow the home rule petition to go into effect.
14 They petitioned but they have not received the 15 grant to that petition. So, it's in the election 16 law committee in the State Legislature right now.

17 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Oh, so it has 18 to go to the State. I want to thank Council 19 Member Dickens, Council Member Williams, for being 20 here. So, I'm just wondering, for any of you, do 21 you have any idea as to the universe of potential 22 voters in our city who might be added to the rolls 23 of this wonderful law if it is to pass?

24 MR. HADDOCK: If I understand--

How many people would be eligible to vote?

MR. HADDOCK: There's different estimates. It's just a guess, it's just an estimate. I mean, the best science we have, the US Census and a number of other entities have different ranges, some say 1.3 million, some say 750,000. I always like the middle, ballpark figure of a million. Maybe Cheryl can help elaborate.

MS. WERTZ: The specific number that the New York Coalition to Expand Voting Rights uses is 1.3 million. To let you know where we arrived at that number that's the US Census figure for the number of adult non citizens living in New York City. That number is, of course, a flawed number. Any number coming from the US Census is, of course, a flawed number that undercounts low income communities, communities of color and non English speaking communities. That number also does theoretically include individuals that are undocumented because there is no check mark on the census form for your immigration status, it only asks your citizenship status. Given the very low number of people that are

2 undocumented that answer census forms and the very 3 high undercount of particular communities in the 4 census, we feel like the 1.3 number from the 5 census rounds itself out as a very legitimate 6 number. The reality is, of course, that there is 7 no actual number, therefore the census number is 8 the best that we can come to.

9 MR. HADDOCK: If I can add, the Pew
10 Hispanic Trust estimates and the Urban Center 11 estimates there's about 500,000 undocumented 12 individuals in New York City.

13 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Okay, the next
14 question is, the Board of Elections. In other 15 municipalities in Maryland, do they vote in the 16 same manner as other voting in municipal 17 elections? Do you have any sense of how it works 18 in those particular locations?

19 MS. WERTZ: [off mic] One of the 20 other panelists that's going to be here addressing 21 you later today is actually from Maryland and 22 Landon is going to be able to answer those 23 questions really specifically and in detail for 24 you.

25 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Okay. So you would you know--

MS. WERTZ: [interposing] The answer is no, that they're not treated differently.

CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Okay, 'cause you don't know, for instance, I mean, in New York is big, however, and with all due respect to the Board of Elections, it's a challenge for citizens to vote. So, my question would be that I should just ask Maryland if, I would like to ask you, though, just to get a sense in that we are so big, do you think it would make sense in order, if we were to move any quicker to have a different, I don't know if this is right or wrong, I'm just asking, I, as Governmental Operations oversee the Board of Elections so it's a challenge. So, one question would be whether you think it would make sense to have people sign in with the different system or should all be the same that the regular New Yorkers are voting in terms of the municipal elections.

MR. HADDOCK: That's a good question. I think there will be a couple of other answers. Jerry might want to weigh in. So, the

2 legislation calls for people to sign and initially 3 in terms of a new municipal voter registration 4 form that the Board of Elections will have to 5 design.

6 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Go around.

7 MR. HADDOCK: Are you referring to 8 the poll?

9 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: No, I'm 10 talking when you actually go to the polls.

11 MR. HADDOCK: At the polls?

12 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: When you
13 actually go to the polls. No, I know about that.
14 We're, I was just wondering if you think, I know, 15 for instance, you can, obviously we'd love to have 16 early voting in New York, we don't have it yet, at 17 least I would love to have early voting.

18 MR. HADDOCK: Me too.

19 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: And something 20 that would give people something similar at the 21 polls in order to expedite people who are not 22 citizens voting. I don't know if, just have any 23 ideas that you think that it should be?

24 MR. HADDOCK: I think it should be 25 one poll list. I think it should, they should be

1
2 integrated and the way that they do it in Maryland 3 is they integrate them on a single poll list on 4 election day and they separate them again for 5 subsequent elections. It's clean and simple.

6 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Okay.

7 MR. HADDOCK: You can build a
8 firewall between the two.

9 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Okay.

10 MS. WERTZ: And just to sort of add
11 to that, I can very easily create an Excel
12 document that lists people with markers in it so 13 that they can be sorted in and back out again. If 14 I can do it in an Excel document I don't think 15 it's too much to ask the Board of Elections to be 16 able to manage that, otherwise certainly 17 appreciate your question, Council Member, and 18 realize that it will, in fact, be a challenge, 19 although I am also happy to volunteer to be the 20 first person to testify in front of your 21 Committee, the Gov Opps Committee, in four years 22 after we've done, been through this process once.
23 I'm happy to testify about how we can help make it 24 better and tighter.

25 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: A little complicated but thank you very much.

MR. VATAMALA: You know, I just wanted to add also, I think the Board had raised concerns about having Chinese on the ballot or Korean or Bengali or whatever these new language requirements were required of the Board. We heard similar reasons why it couldn't be on but in the end it does get done. And we have a cooperative relationship with the Board and we are confident that they be able to get this done.

CHAIRPERSON DROMM: And just to also add to that discussion, you know, for the most part, City elections, Municipal elections are held in the odd years and the State election, Federal elections are held in the even years. so, even that would help them in terms of the sorting of who is eligible to vote during certain times. And there are some exceptions which is when you might have a special election or something like that. But I think that could be handled a little - - . I just want to go back to Jerry, you said that, if I'm wrong in summarizing what you said, but you said that you basically believe that the State Constitution does not specifically state

2 that the City is prohibitive from allowing non 3 citizens to vote and it's on that basis that you
4 believe that non citizen voting is legal. Am I
5 right.

6 MR. VATAMALA: Well, that's one of 7 the reasons. Because the New York State
8 Constitution does not forbid it, it does not 9 consent it to sealing. So, what it says is that 10 at the minimum citizens are protected their right 11 to vote but it does not limit the other electorate 12 as it is possible in this case, would be non 13 citizens. It's a home rule provision and section 14 1-102 of election law that allows for non citizens 15 to vote.

16 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: And so is that 17 the reason why parents are allowed to vote in 18 school board elections and do you know if that had 19 ever been challenged?

20 MR. VATAMALA: Well, I'm glad you
21 brought that up because the school board
22 elections, okay, the State Legislature acted, all 23 right? So, when the argument is made that the New 24 York State Constitution prohibits non citizens 25 from voting, okay, go to example number one,

1
2 school boards, the New York State Legislature 3 acted in accordance with the State Constitution to 4 allow for non citizens to vote. But we 5 shouldn't--

6 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: [interposing]
7 So, there's precedent for that?

8 MR. VATAMALA: --there's precedent
9 but I do want to make it clear, we don't want to 10 extrapolate that and say that only the State can 11 authorize non citizens to vote. It was nice that 12 the State Legislature did that but the City has 13 independent of the State, the authority to allow 14 non citizens to vote in local elections. We do 15 not need State authorization to do so.

16 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Okay, thank 17 you. And I think we have some Council Members 18 that want to ask questions?

19 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Council Member
20 Lander?

21 COUNCIL MEMBER LANDER: Thank you
22 very much to both Chairs and especially to Council 23 Member Dromm for sponsoring this legislation and 24 for your advocacy and championing of it. I find 25 it really intriguing and very enthusiastic about

1
2 the idea of really expanding and deepening our 3 democracy. One legal question and one substantive 4 one. On the legal one, and I think this goes to 5 what we were just saying, so, when the City
6 Charter Review Commission and separately the Mayor 7 quite a few times have proposed modifications to 8 our election system like instant run off or non 9 partisan voting, in particular, their lawyers have 10 found that the City would have the power to do
11 that without a change in the authorizing State 12 election law, am I correct?

13 MR. VATAMALA: Well, there are 14 certain provisions in the home rule statute and 15 that prohibit local law from superseding State 16 law. And for example, New York City could not, 17 under home rule, say we're going to change the 18 date of the general election and that's explicitly 19 stated in the home rule legislation. And the 20 same, the same vein, certain provisions in the 21 State election law have to explicitly state that 22 the provision in the State election law supersedes
23 local law. So, in instances where the City said 24 they did not have authority, instances where it is 25 explicitly stated in State election law that that provision will supersede any local law.

COUNCIL MEMBER LANDER: All right, that's helpful. And I'm relying here in part, I have a, I don't know, it's not Professor Haddock's book but a 20 page memo from the Brennan Center for Justice [phonetic] at NYU which found a very strong arguments that, against what the Mayor and others have said here, that we don't have the power, that under the charter, under State law and under the Federal Constitution that we seem to have the power to do this. And one thing that I found especially interesting was that the 2003 Charter review commission, when they were looking to adopt non partisan elections said that we do have this power, almost exactly the same powers, cited the - - and City of New York versus, the City of New York versus the Board of Elections, to support their position. So, I have that right?

MR. VATAMALA: Yes, yes.

COUNCIL MEMBER LANDER: That the Mayor, presumably in his charter review commission found that we had the power to adjust the elections to do non partisan voting?

MR. VATAMALA: That's right, and the court upheld that.

COUNCIL MEMBER LANDER: And as I read it, this is, as you say, because there isn't a specific bar on this practice, it's essentially in the same category of things that would be up to a city under the Barum [phonetic] and the City of New York cases?

MR. VATAMALA: Absolutely.

COUNCIL MEMBER LANDER: Are you aware that the City in this three page, not that detailed letter, or in any other place has given a reason why they think the things are different or why - - voting [crosstalk]

MR. VATAMALA: No, we are looking for that as well. We have not identified a document that explicitly states their reasoning. And it is a bit confusing 'cause the, it seems pretty strong in our view and some other legal organizations such as Brennan that New York City does have the authority to enact legislation and--

COUNCIL MEMBER LANDER:
[interposing] And I was just interested, it's not only, sort of, your case against their case but even the case that they've made about the powers

2 that the City has seems to support our power to 3 pass this law and that they have not made any 4 distinction between their previous argument that 5 we have this set of powers and the one here today.
6 I also note, I guess - - be read to the record a 7 little later that the Board of Elections 8 testimony, I don't know if you saw, it seems to 9 say that it's a lot of work to hold elections.
10 And I guess it's a fair point, I mean, I don't 11 know, I found it a lot of work to hold elections, 12 but does it seem like the fact that it's a lot of 13 work to hold elections and enfranchised voters 14 seem like a good reason not to hold elections and 15 enfranchise voters to any of you? That's a 16 rhetorical question.

17 MR. VATAMALA: An unfunded mandate
18 is what they call it.

19 COUNCIL MEMBER LANDER: Yes,
20 democracy is so...

21 MR. HADDOCK: It's an active, 22 participatory sport that takes some time and 23 effort and I know, as you guys know about the 24 participatory budgeting, it really has incredible 25 dividends that are hard to measure but are

1
2 palpable. And yeah, of course, it's going to take 3 a public education campaign. There's going to be 4 a need for some significant investment for a 5 public education campaign and, you know, there's a 6 lot of coalition partners, the government groups,
7 voting rights organizations, the City University 8 of New York, the professional staff congress, at 9 least, can join in helping to pull off what would 10 be a modest proposal. And certainly something 11 they've done in the past as well as other changes.

12 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: I did want to 13 note, we've head these arguments before in the 14 past with language access and translation that's 15 required under Federal and Local law. And in the 16 end through cooperation and sometimes litigation 17 they've been able to comply or at least 18 substantially comply. So, they can get it done.

19 COUNCIL MEMBER LANDER: So, my last 20 question is a little more substantive and it is 21 one that I've heard, I've been talking with people 22 a lot about this over the last few days. And I 23 wonder if you could go just a little more deeply 24 into the different categories and make the case 25 kind of across the board. I mean, I think most

1
2 people that I have talked to have said, okay, 3 permanent legal residents, you know, who are here 4 and who are on that path to citizenship and it's 5 going to take them eight or ten years to get here, 6 I get why that set of people, it really makes 7 sense to have a vote. And people have said, but 8 I'm not so sure about students. So I speak a 9 little more to the categories and make the 10 argument for why it should be expansive and how 11 you think about that set of issues.

12 MS. WERTZ: Sure, so, I'm from 13 California. I moved to New York City in 1999. I 14 moved to Queens and within 30 days of my arrival 15 in Queens I registered to vote. There was no 16 promise included in that in any way, shape or form 17 that I was going to stay in New York. I'm here, I 18 don't know, whatever, 15 years later but I may not 19 always be here. I may decide to move back to 20 California at any moment in time and there's 21 nothing about my voter registration status in New 22 York City that makes that a permanent promise. My 23 voting in New York City says, I'm a part of this 24 community right now, I contribute to this 25 community right now and, you know, this is my

1
2 home. The same thing is true of anybody else who 3 comes to the United States for any other reason.
4 One of the reasons that we, in sort of conceiving
5 of this campaign, wanted to be very, very careful 6 about naming specific categories and allowing 7 people to vote in some categories but not in 8 others, was that the United States Department of 9 Homeland Security is a bureaucratic and capricious 10 beast. And it changes the requirements and 11 categories for various visa statuses at a whim and 12 we didn't feel like an individuals right to 13 participate in the local government should be 14 based on, you know, a bureaucratic whim that 15 changes when what used to be a B visa gets renamed 16 as a W visa, suddenly we need to change a New York 17 State election law. That's not, we wanted to 18 support legislation that enfranchised people that 19 were part of communities and I a real organic way.
20 and that's individuals that are living here for 21 whom this is their home no matter what their 22 future plans or their, or sort of status. And so 23 that's why we felt very strongly in advocating for 24 this legislation that it needed to be for as broad 25 a group of people as possible. We, of course,

1
2 obviously also didn't want people that are 3 visiting New York City to have a right to vote and 4 that's the reason for the residency requirement and 5 the six month timeframe is to sort of address that 6 issue. But we wanted to support various broad 7 legislation that really got to the heart of what 8 we wanted to do which was enfranchise people who 9 live here, and not make it part of a, sort of, 10 bureaucratic this, that, sort of process. We 11 wanted to say, if you live here you should have 12 the right to participate in a very simple way.

13 COUNCIL MEMBER LANDER: Thank you.

14 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Thank you.

16 Williams?

17 COUNCIL MEMBER WILLIAMS: Thank 18 you, Madam Chair and thank you Mr. Chair and 19 particularly shout out to Council Member Dromm for 20 the work he's been doing on this. And I thank you 21 for testifying. I'm sorry I walked in in the 22 middle but I walked in as Professor Haddock was 23 speaking. And I'm glad I did. I signed onto the 24 bill because I thought it was the right thing to 25 do and it sounded right but I was always struck

1
2 when people brought up this thing of citizenship
3 and people were positing, well, this is what a 4 citizen was supposed to do. And I'm absolutely
5 fascinated by reading your testimony. I head you
6 say it's not intrinsically a citizen thing. I 7 read your testimony and based on history you're 8 correct. And I'm hoping that the advocates will 9 start using this more in a the talking points. I 10 think if we start talking about restoring non 11 citizens votes it's just like when I run for 12 election I'll say, reelect, does something with 13 the psyche, we're actually doing something again.
14 So, I think it will be fascinating to begin 15 pushing that these are rights that were taken away 16 and now we're just bringing it back 'cause I think 17 there is a belief. I kind of had it in the back 18 of my head, citizens equal voting and I think this 19 will help with the public if they start thinking 20 of it differently. I had a couple questions. Is 21 this something, is there anything intrinsically 22 different between school board elections and 23 mayoral elections or we just feel like it's 24 different 'cause one is more, is much bigger than 25 the other? Anyone - - ?

1
2 MR. HADDOCK: Well, I don't see any 3 big difference myself. The school boards were 4 created, you know, in 1969 as a part of the 5 community control movement. The idea there was 6 both registered voters, citizens, and any parent 7 of a kid in the schools could vote in those local 8 community school board elections. And people 9 exercised that right pretty substantially. It was 10 actually 20 years ago this month that there was a 11 community school board election. I was the 12 coordinator for the Voter Assistance Commission
13 and then Mayor Dinkins gave us a $6,000 to send a 14 notification to every registered voter in the city 15 letting them know that they could vote. And voter 16 participation jumped from seven percent the 17 previous election to almost 13 percent, so almost 18 doubled. And I think, you know, the sort of, the 19 basic principle, you have a kind in a school, you 20 should have a say about how that kids education is 21 going to, you should have a say about education 22 policy that that's the basic principle, we have 23 - - . We had that in Wisconsin in our laws and 24 elections for a long time and this is an attempt 25 to basically restore that and extend it to other areas, other public policy areas.

COUNCIL MEMBER WILLIAMS: Again, for everyone, are there any changes that you would make to the bill as written? Okay...

MR. VATAMALA: No, before we move on I just want to address, in case it wasn't clear when I said it previously, the School Board elections and allowing non citizens to vote in the School Board elections, that was done through State action, okay? And we believe that it's not required. We did it but it's not required. So, I this instance when we are allowing non citizens to vote in local elections it's without state authority and it's not required.

COUNCIL MEMBER WILLIAMS: And one thing I hear often, if it was addressed after I came, I apologize, do you believe the bill would disincentives or otherwise diminish the importance of going for citizenship?

MR. HADDOCK: If history is a guide it actually does the opposite. So, to give people a sense that they can make their place better, their adoptive home encourages people to make that leap to become a citizen. Most people, you know,

2 that are here are attempting to become a citizen.
3 Those that aren't should still have a say about 4 the policies that affect them on a daily basis.
5 And historically say, for example, congressional 6 legislation enacted said that if you declare your 7 intent to become a citizen we'll give you the 8 right to vote as an incentive to provide civic 9 education, civic engagement and ultimate 10 incorporation, and it worked.

11 COUNCIL MEMBER WILLIAMS: Okay.

12 MS. WERTZ: and just to add to that 13 quickly, people make citizenship decisions for a 14 huge number of practical and emotional reasons.
15 It's about where it is that they feel like they 16 belong and other, sort of, big picture issues.
17 There's a total of ten rights and freedoms that 18 come with the right to become a citizen, including 19 the ability to travel freely, the ability to have 20 a US passport, the ability to apply for and get 21 certain jobs. These are all tangible reasons that 22 people choose to become a citizen, in addition to 23 sort of the emotional basis for that. I don't 24 think that allowing people to have a right to say 25 in this, the public advocates race is going to

1
2 have that kind of impact on people's lives. What 3 we do here at a New York City municipal election
4 level is critically important to our communities 5 but I don't think it represents the reason that 6 people choose to become citizens.

7 COUNCIL MEMBER WILLIAMS: and just 8 two more questions from me. Do you believe that 9 New York City has the legal authority, I'm sorry, 10 do you believe this legislation should apply to 11 all non citizens who are here legally or only 12 permanent residents?

13 MS. WERTZ: The legislation as it's 14 currently written, which is what, and it has been, 15 you know, written with the support of the 16 community of advocates that support this work, 17 enfranchised as individuals who've been legally
18 present in New York City for six months or longer.
19 Those of us that are the advocates working on this 20 issue feel like at this, that that's the right way 21 to phrase this legislation. We're, they have been 22 working very closely with Council Member Dromm's 23 office and with his staff and strongly support 24 this legislation and it's currently written by his 25 office.

1
2 COUNCIL MEMBER WILLIAMS: Thank
3 you, and I agree with my collage Lander on some of 4 the Board of Ed stuff that I read here. They did 5 seem to have one legal thing that I wanted to 6 bring up was that there'd be differing
7 requirements for voters. I think now they say 8 that, for example, the residency requirements for 9 - - and proposals was six months whereas the 10 election law requires citizens to reside in the 11 city, state, country, for 30 days. Is there any 12 problem you see between those two requirements?

13 MR. HADDOCK: Yeah, we don't see 14 any conflict or any potential for a violation of 15 law by having the different requirements.
16 However, if this did turn to a larger issue I'm 17 not sure what, you know, we could maybe go back to 18 30 days. But it, we do not see an issue at this 19 time having those different requirements.

20 MR. WILLIAMS: Well, thank you, and 21 again, thank you for your testimony. I'm very 22 happy I was here to hear about the issue. Both of 23 my parents are immigrants. I'm really hoping 24 advocates will really push the rest of the - - 25 part when we're talking to the public. And I'm

1
2 glad we will be able to debunk many things that 3 the administration has been saying. I've learned 4 that they kind of just make stuff up nowadays.
5 But I'm glad, I'm happy when I have the tools to 6 push back. So, thank you very much.

7 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Thank you.

8 Council Member Rodriguez?

9 COUNCIL MEMBER RODRIGUEZ: Thank
10 you, Chairman. So, in your testimony you justify 11 that the right, you made it clear is in favor of 12 the New York City Council to have the right on 13 voting on this legislation, right?

14 MR. HADDOCK: That's correct.

15 COUNCIL MEMBER RODRIGUEZ: Correct.
16 And you testify that people with green card, it's 17 green card, we're not talking about different 18 groups, you're not talking about student visa, 19 you're not talking about anybody else, but people,
20 the group of 850 New Yorkers, that hold green card 21 should have the right to vote in local election, 22 right?

23 MR. HADDOCK: That's correct.

24 COUNCIL MEMBER RODRIGUEZ: Okay,
25 and those, well, is that legal, in that particular

2 group of voters will appear in a separate book in 3 a vote, election? Let's say when we go to vote, 4 right? In election days, in that day we go and 5 the poll workers, they look for us like, AD, ED, 6 and they follow, they have those book with the 7 address. Would that be okay if, I mean, I think 8 about question about the logistic that some people 9 putting on the table. If that be - - legal if 10 this group of voters the other voter that - - hold 11 green card are organized in a separate book.

12 MR. HADDOCK: I have another book 13 that I wrote, it's called Gatekeepers to the 14 Franchise, Shaping Election Administration in New 15 York. The Board of Elections can be a facilitator 16 of voter participation, it can also block or throw 17 roadblocks for participation. The Board of 18 Elections has lots of experience doing both.
19 Putting one single poll list at a polling place,
20 treating people the same would be a simple 21 solution, in my humble opinion. There's others
22 that can work at the Board of Elections to figure 23 it out.

24 COUNCIL MEMBER RODRIGUEZ:

25 [crosstalk] I'm sorry, I agree with you but from

1
2 the legal point of view, would that be legal, on 3 the Board of Election, you know, for that group of 4 voter that they are allowed to vote by holding 5 green card to be fine and organize in a separate 6 book?

7 MR. VATAMALA: At first blush, 8 without doing a full analysis it would appear to 9 be legal. We do discourage the Board of Elections 10 from having separate lists for limiting this - - 11 voters or newly naturalized voters or whatever the 12 case may be. But it, on it, without doing the 13 full analysis at first blush it does appear that 14 it would be legal.

15 COUNCIL MEMBER RODRIGUEZ: Okay, I
16 just want to ask, I wanted to ask this questions 17 because, you know, this is the first hearing we 18 have and we are committed to work in passing this 19 bill. And I know that when I read the borough 20 election letter most of the election is based on 21 the logistic. Even though the borough election 22 has to claim their - - that they have in house as 23 it is today and we had to be no looking and 24 passing legislation that we have, the Council, 25 looking to improve the Board of Election. But I

2 think that all I heard from some people is about 3 concern and rejection based on the logistic, not 4 on the merit. So, I think that if we are saying 5 that it is the legal thing to do that it is the 6 right thing to do, that people with green card 7 should have the same opportunity to vote on local 8 election. So, I am calling on any friend or 9 people who had the opposition to work on fixing 10 question regardless of the logistic and focus on 11 the merit on this bill.

12 MR. VATAMALA: Yeah, and I think we 13 are on strong legal footing and as you know, the 14 letter came from Steve Richmond who's an attorney 15 and I do believe that if there was some kind of 16 legal deficiency in our bill I think it would have 17 been addressed.

18 COUNCIL MEMBER RODRIGUEZ: Okay.

19 MR. VATAMALA: Or at least alluded 20 to in the letter, and it was not.

21 COUNCIL MEMBER RODRIGUEZ: What 22 about the major objection on, based on that we 23 need to have a referendum in order to move on this 24 initially?

25 MR. VATAMALA: No, we do not need a

1
2 referendum. The City Council, under the home rule 3 law, and under section 1-102 has the authority to 4 pass a local law enfranchising non citizen voting.

6 you.

7 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Council Member
8 Mark-Viverito?

9 COUNCIL MEMBER MARK-VIVERITO:
10 Thank you, Chairs. And I think it can't be said
11 enough in terms of thanking Council Member Dromm 12 and Ydanis Rodriguez for their leadership on this 13 and pushing it forward. A couple of quick 14 questions. The other thing about the letter, the 15 two, three page letter from the administration, I 16 mean, first of all I find it, I don't know, a 17 little bit dismissive, right, although the 18 administration supports the goals of increasing 19 voter participation and further including non 20 citizen New Yorkers within the fabric of civic 21 life we also believe that non citizens should be 22 encouraged to seek US citizenship in order to 23 participate in the full range of privileges, it's 24 a little dismissive as of, nobody's really 25 thinking about that, right? But it further

1
2 states, and we all talked about all the arguments
3 that they try to make about the State Constitution 4 and us not having the ability but then they also 5 say at the end that an expansion of the franchise 6 to non citizens would require a Department of 7 Justice preclearance for those counties within New 8 York City that are subject to Section 5 of the 9 Voting Rights Act. Now, do you believe in any way 10 that this bill, the proposed passage law, would 11 not get that clearance?

12 MR. VATAMALA: No, I mean, we're 13 enfranchising not disenfranchising, and 14 particularly groups that are protected under the 15 Federal Voting Rights Act. So, it would be just 16 the opposite. I think they would be precleared 17 and approved by the Department of Justice.

18 COUNCIL MEMBER MARK-VIVERITO: Now, 19 in light of, let's say we, you know,
20 hypothetically we're going to pass this. There's 21 some hope we're going to pass this, let's say, the 22 Mayor vetoes it, we override the veto. More 23 likely than to it's going to get challenged in 24 court, right? I mean, do you?

25 MR. VATAMALA: Possibly.

COUNCIL MEMBER MARK-VIVERITO:

Whether it's the Administration or not there might be a group out there that doesn't believe in what we are trying to do and may decide to take this to court and challenge it. Do you have any idea if that happens what length of time we'd be talking about to get a decision from a court on whether or not we can proceed?

MR. VATAMALA: Well, you can,

yeah--

COUNCIL MEMBER MARK-VIVERITO:

[interposing] I know it's not an easy question but...

MR. VATAMALA: Yeah, estimating a court decision is always very difficult. However, I think once the law is passed if it's through, you know, overriding the Mayor's veto, it would then have to be submitted for preclearance and the preclearance period is a maximum of 60 days. You could ask, request for expedited action on it but the timeframe is 60 days and after that is when, I guess, a potential litigation would be initiated. We would have, at that point, assuming that it is precleared, that sort of encouragement that the

2 Department of Justice precleared this law and 3 believe it to be constitutional.

4 COUNCIL MEMBER MARK-VIVERITO:

5 Right, so that would actually be helpful?

6 MR. VATAMALA: Yes.

7 COUNCIL MEMBER MARK-VIVERITO: In a
8 court case. And then the other thing that I just 9 had a questions about is just, you know, maybe I 10 don't believe it was asked before but in terms of 11 the logistical aspects, I know that the question 12 was asked about when people actually go to vote
13 but I'm talking about prior to that point, right?
14 We implement this law, now we are able to register 15 those that are, that fall under this law. So, the 16 registration aspect, has there been thought given 17 to how a process like that, in terms of setting up 18 a parallel process would look like, whether or not 19 it creates complications and who has oversight 20 over that? I'm assuming Board of Elections but 21 I'm not, - - either other entities involved. Just 22 talking a little bit about that aspect of it and 23 whether there's, the experience, maybe, of whether 24 municipalities or other areas that have done this.
25 I mean, we're talking about a much larger scale, obviously, here.

MR. VATAMALA: Well, you know, I think it, you correctly state that it would be the purview of the Board of Elections. And I think it would be our understanding that it would be, it would have to be a separate registration form, not the standard form that is used by citizens. And I guess I can't speak to the different jurisdictions that would do it.

MR. HADDOCK: Yeah, we're going to hear from Maryland come and talk about how they do it there.

COUNCIL MEMBER MARK-VIVERITO:
Okay.

MR. HADDOCK: But the City Council has the pro voter law where it sort of a - - voter idea through City agencies. We would hope that the municipal voter registration forms would be distributed through those mechanisms as well, try to make them as available to a many people who are eligible as possible.

COUNCIL MEMBER MARK-VIVERITO:
Understood. Yeah, I guess we'll wait to hear from Maryland in terms of how that process of the

2 actual voter registration card and that process
3 itself. So, I appreciate your testimony. I 4 appreciate everyone that has come out today to be 5 - - the steps and here. I think we have an 6 incredible opportunity now before us for us as 7 immigrant communities to exercise our power and 8 make this a priority. And hopefully we can help 9 our colleagues, those of us that have signed on to 10 expedite this, get a vote, and hopefully pass it 11 into law. So, thank you for your advocacy.

12 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Thank you all 13 very much. We appreciate it. The next panel is 14 Eric Freedman [phonetic] Campaign Finance Board.
15 [off mic] Go right ahead.

16 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: You have to 17 push the mic.

18 MR. ERIC FREEDMAN: Good? Ah,
19 there we go. Good afternoon Chair Dromm and Chair
20 Brewer and colleagues. I am Eric Freedman,
21 Director of External Affairs for the New York City
22 Campaign Finance Board. With me are Anita Carrit
23 Mayers [phonetic], Director of Voter Assistance
24 and Giovanni Mejia [phonetic] Associate Counsel.
25 As you know, the City Charter gives the Board the

2 mandate to encourage and facilitate voter 3 registration and voting by all residents of New 4 York City who are eligible to vote and to identify 5 groups or categories in such residents who are 6 under represented in those registered. We are 7 pleased for the opportunity to testify today about 8 Intro 410. For so many immigrants New York City
9 is their entry point to the American experience.
10 On their way to becoming citizens many stay and 11 put down roots in the five boroughs and take jobs, 12 pay taxes, enroll their children in public schools 13 and in many ways participate fully in the social 14 and civic life of New York, yet voting non 15 citizens are indeed quite literally an 16 underrepresented population among those registered 17 to vote. We are supportive of efforts to expand 18 voting to more New Yorkers and we applaud the 19 Council for holding this hearing. To ensure the 20 rights of non citizen New Yorkers are protected 21 throughout the voting process we believe the bill 22 can and should be improved. This section of the 23 bill that deals with confidentiality of municipal 24 voter information should be strengthened. Those 25 who have been around the election campaigns, as

1
2 many of you have, also understand that voter lists
3 do not live exclusively in the government office 4 building where they can be easily protected and 5 used to be carefully monitored. There are copies
6 of voter lists in every poll site. Campaigns, 7 political parties and other groups obtain them in 8 order to conduct better outreach, private 9 companies compiled it and they connect them with 10 other sources of data. This is only one piece of 11 the larger issue but it's important to strike the 12 right balance here between clarity and privacy.
13 Poll workers must be able to distinguish who can 14 vote privately in which election but non citizen 15 New Yorkers should also feel secure that their 16 citizenship status will not inadvertently become 17 public if they register to vote. We urge the 18 Council to consider clarifying strengthening the 19 bills language as regards confidentiality. It is 20 also important to acknowledge that Intro 410 would 21 present a serious set of administrative challenges
22 for the Board of Elections. Non citizen parents 23 who are eligible to vote in school board elections
24 for decades in New York City under the now defunct 25 Board of Election but those elections were held in

1
2 May, separate from other elections from, for 3 Local, State or Federal office. While most 4 municipal elections are held in odd, off years, in 5 those years there are generally also elections for 6 offices not covered by this legislation, like,
7 judges and District Attorney's. In even numbered 8 years when most State and Federal elections are 9 held over the last decade we have had municipal 10 offices on the ballot somewhere in the City, four 11 out of six election days. So, in most years
12 multiple sets of ballots will need to be printed 13 and ballot scanners will need to be programmed 14 separately to receive the ballots of two different 15 sets of voters. In short, two to four poll site 16 operations must be modernized. Basic use of 17 available technology could help surmount some of 18 these logistical obstacles. A system that employs 19 electronic poll books, for example, would be one 20 way to help streamline administration of the 21 requirements of this legislation. There must be 22 better trained poll workers at every poll site, 23 especially considering the sensitive nature of 24 this new information in the municipal poll books.
25 New Yorkers have the right to expect elections

2 that are reflective of the choice and convenience 3 they are used to in their every day lives. And we 4 urge you to take the time to consider the 5 administrative issues thoroughly before Intro 410
6 is elected. There are some more specific 7 suggestions that I'll leave in the written 8 testimony and just thank you for the opportunity 9 to testify and we welcome any questions you may 10 have.

11 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Eric, why
12 don't you make those specific 'cause I think it's 13 good for the public to hear them. So, I'm asking 14 you, if you had any other issues?

15 MR. FREEDMAN: Well, you know, I
16 think some of the other issues that we raised 17 talked about clarifying the language, and I don't 18 think there's anything here that is a bar to going 19 forward. It's, you know, it's clarifying the 20 definition of who exactly is a municipal voter to 21 ensure that the people who are part of this 22 population know precisely whether or not is it 23 appropriate for them to step forward and register.
24 You know, the residency requirement, you know, 25 could be more specific about the six months,

whether it is--

CHAIRPERSON BREWER: [interposing]

How does that work given earlier, I moved from California? I've never been to California but I know there's a California.

MR. FREEDMAN: It's nice.

CHAIRPERSON BREWER: It is nice.

From California to New York and I've been here six months. How is it done normally to clarify that, if at all?

MR. FREEDMAN: You know, I, how that applies to regular voter registration in can't quote to you off the top of my head. I think the more clarity, because this is a new area, but the more clarity, think, that the Council can offer in this regard, you know, the better to ensure that there is no confusion on the part of these people who, you know, folks who are non citizens, you know, stepping forward to give their name to the government agency to a poll book and get the right to vote. The more clarity here the better.

CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Okay, are there any other of these wonderful bullet points that you want to clarify or enhance?

MR. FREEDMAN: You know, one thought that came up in our initial analysis is just the question that of how stepping forward to claim the right to vote in New York City will impact voting rights in their country of origin. And that is an issue that, again, the New York City can't define it. I really don't claim a special expertise in but in this case it's a question we would like to put into the conversation and make sure that, again, for the sake of clarity that it's considered. You know, the definition of municipal elections covers, you know, actually covers the offices that the campaign finance program covers, Mayor, Public Advocate, Comptroller, City Council, Borough President, right? And as I mentioned in the testimony, there are, during those municipal elections years other positions on the ballot, you know, often we're voting on judges, we're voting on District Attorney's and some counties we're voting on party positions. And, you know, the Council may want to consider for the sake of clarity in this administration broadening the scope of the bill to include those office as well.

CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Okay, I just want to say thank you for the constructive criticism on this. I think that you raised some very valid points that we definitely would want to look at. And I say constructive as well, your support on the overall objective of the legislation. And an interesting bullet point that you did put in here that I don't think you mentioned, though, was to allow them to vote for district leaders or other party positions. Well, being a district leader I think that's important information and I just want to say thank you for coming in and for offering this very important but constructive criticism of what we need to look at, thank you.

MR. FREEDMAN: Thank you for that.

CHAIRPERSON BREWER: One other question, Eric, would be what, how do you suggest dealing with the keeping the lists private or do you have some suggestions about that? It's a good idea.

MR. FREEDMAN: You know, we, I, we don't have specific recommendations on that at

1
2 this time. It's something that in our initial 3 review of the bill was something that felt like it 4 could be strengthened. And we're happy to work 5 with you going forward on ideas to make that 6 stronger.

7 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Any other - -
8 Council Members? [off mic]

9 COUNCIL MEMBER RODRIGUEZ: I mean,
10 this is great to hear those recommendation. This 11 is what we need but knowing that in principle you 12 are supporter this is great thing and we applaud 13 and looking to continue with my colleague Danny 14 Dromm and - - and the rest of the team. So, thank 15 you.

16 MR. FREEDMAN: Thank you.

17 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: What kind of 18 fortunate immigrant who is voting, how would they 19 donate to campaigns, if at all?

20 MR. FREEDMAN: That is an 21 interesting question. And the, you know, Federal 22 law requires that citizens, you need to be a 23 citizen to, or rather, foreign nationals can't 24 donate to candidates. And we have generally taken 25 that as a guide. I think a little bit more

1
2 analysis would need to be done to speak
3 definitively to that question.

4 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Well, they 5 could be lucky. They wouldn't have to donate but 6 they could participate. I think that's great.
7 All right. Thank you very much. I'm going to 8 read while we're calling up the new panel, do you 9 want to call the panel?

10 MR. FREEDMAN: Thank you very much.

11 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Thank you very 12 much. You people are very ecstatic about your 13 testimony over here.

14 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Okay, so I'd 15 like to call for our next panel, Drew Spencer from 16 Fair Vote, [off mic] Anina Data [phonetic] from 17 AILA [phonetic] and Barbara Brandeis [phonetic]
18 from Immigrants for More than 30 Years?

19 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: While the 20 panel is coming up I just want to share a bit of 21 the letter that came from the Board of Elections
22 that was alluded to earlier. It is sent to Chairs 23 Brewer and Dromm and it states in short that the 24 Commissioner of Elections held a meeting and they 25 want to be able to indicate the following. I'm

1
2 just going to look at some of this. They said
3 that this proposed amendment to the New York City
4 Charter if enacted requires the Board of Elections
5 to provide all the information and materials it 6 issues including ballots to allow non citizens 7 lawfully present to vote in municipal elections in 8 New York. And they say these are the following 9 legal issues that are raised. For example, the 10 residency requirement for municipal voters in the 11 proposal is six months, whereas the election law 12 requires citizens to reside in the state, county, 13 city, for 30 days prior to an election in order to 14 be registered to vote. These different standards 15 may support an argument that municipal voters have 16 been treated differently and unfairly. It is also 17 unclear exactly what is meant by the phrase, 18 lawfully present in the US. Enactment of 410 may 19 also cause confusion on such issues on such as 20 whether the new municipal voters can run, sign 21 petitions and/or vote for party positions elected 22 within the city. The ambiguous terminology and 23 unaddressed consequences of the proposed charter 24 amendment leaves the Board and the city open to 25 legal, open to litigation. In the Board's opinion

1 the law is unclear as written, the proposed law.
2
3 The proposed charter amendment leaves unknown such 4 fundamental factors as the number of people who 5 may participate and who is eligible to participate 6 and ignores the potential overcrowding of poll
7 sites that would require relocations, extra 8 scanners and poll workers. The Board would have to 9 modify its current operational plans and there's 10 lots of issues regarding that. As stated, the 11 Board's 2013 recommended revisions to the State 12 Election Law, the Board estimates a minimum annual 13 operating cost of $25 per voter. These standard 14 operating costs include but are not limited to 15 ballot printing and rental fees and so on. And 16 the Board doesn't have the ability to determine 17 how many municipal voters would be added to the 18 rolls. Additionally, the Board is sure and I'm 19 shortening this, additionally the Board is sure to 20 incur significant cost for the development and 21 implementation of this amendment and they go 22 through printing, design, production and so on.
23 They talk about long hours that poll workers work 24 on election day and they'll have added challenges.
25 They say additional time will be required for

1 ballot layout, design, proofing and production.
2 They talk about the issues with the ballot 3 scanners and the ballot marking devices and 4 multiple versions of the ballot will increase and 5 they talk about the fact that given the foregoing 6 information and concerns that they are, wish to 7 convey their thanks for once again providing the 8 opportunity to discuss this bill but they do not 9 have a lot of, they have more questions than 10 answers, leave it at that. So, that's what's from 11 the Board of Elections. We also have a letter 12 that was alluded to earlier from the Mayor. It is 13 from the Deputy Councilor to the Mayor and it 14 basically says that they are, although the 15 Administration supports the goal of increasing 16 voter participation they talk, they do not have,
17 they have serious concerns with Intro 410's
18 legality and I think that was mentioned earlier.
19 So, these two pieces of correspondence will be 20 entered into the record. Thank you very much.

21 [off mic]

22 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Also in their 23 testimony which was provided, the letter states, 24 which I don't know Gail, which comes from - - it

2 mentioned that the Commissioners did indicate that 3 their view that this proposed legislation creates 4 another unfunded mandate which will present
5 enormous problems and limitation and I will have 6 something to say about unfunded mandates later on 7 but I just wanted to make sure that that was also 8 read into the record. So, we're going to begin 9 over here with the testimony of the next panelist, 10 for the next people. So, would you like to start 11 off, yes?

12 MS. NINA DATA: Good afternoon. My 13 name is Nina Data. Thank you so much to the 14 Council for listening to our testimony. I am 15 representing the American Immigration Lawyers and 16 Association, the New York Chapter. And we applaud 17 and support this bill 410 which would grant 18 immigrants lawfully present in New York City the 19 right to vote in municipal elections. Non 20 residents make up an enormous part of New York
21 City's community. These residents work, pay taxes 22 in full, live in the community and all without 23 having a voting voice. Being able to participate 24 in municipal elections would give these new 25 immigrants the power to be heard and to be able to

1
2 make a difference by using their vote. It would 3 also give these individuals the ability to affect 4 the local political process and decisions which 5 affect them personally and deeply. The current 6 visa backlogs mean that individuals who are not 7 eligible for US citizenship and therefore the 8 right to vote for sometimes as long as 15 years or 9 more in some cases, even though the individual has 10 maintained legal status ever since entering the 11 US, paid taxes and been a resident of New York 12 City. We are in the midst of a historic year for 13 immigration with the most significant immigration 14 reform bill currently being debated by the Federal 15 government. Should the current bill pass there 16 will be colossal changes to the system with many 17 unknowns. The Federal Government governs
18 immigration law and it is this Federal aspect 19 which can sometimes, unfortunately, negatively
20 impact a great local initiative. To be clear, 21 AILA New York is supportive of the introduction of 22 this bill. However, we have some serious concerns 23 about the administration of the law and the 24 practical ramifications. There are two major 25 concerns defining who falls into the category of

1
2 non citizen resident and the effect on the current 3 penalties for immigrants who vote in State or 4 Federal elections. In the definitions of the law 5 a municipal voter is defined as a person who is 6 not a US citizen but who is lawfully present in 7 the United States on the date of the election in 8 which he or she is voting and has been a resident 9 of New York City for six months or longer.

10 Certainly, similar to those eligible for work 11 authorization, legal permanent residents and 12 asylum grantees would qualify. Also, under the 13 Federal Law, there are many categories of working 14 visas which are very clear cut. Issues which are 15 more ambiguous are those who are in legal status 16 who might have physical presence but might not be 17 considered residents. For example, tourist or 18 business visas who have extended their stay beyond 19 this initial six month period, people who have 20 arrived in one status and who have applied to 21 change their status but those cases are currently 22 pending or those people whose cases are currently 23 in appeal. As well as immigration lawyers 24 experiencing practical circumstances such as 25 clients who go to the DMV and have a difficult

1
2 time proving their current status. We urge the 3 Council to consider detailed training for those 4 who will be handling the registration of voters.
5 We also urge the Council to sponsor routine
6 information sessions for potential voters in order 7 to clarify eligibility. Our second concern is the 8 increased likelihood of non US citizens voting in 9 State and Federal elections. And I know that 10 earlier we spoke that they're on alternate years 11 but this is still a great concern for us. Under 12 the Immigration and Nationality Act the person who 13 was voted in violation of a Federal, State, Local 14 Constitutional Provision, Statute, Ordinance or 15 regulation is inadmissible and/or deportable. And 16 the ramifications of those are extremely serious.
17 I see that my time is fast running out. We know 18 that from our experience with the New York City 19 Council that is certainly not the Council's 20 intention to do something that would negatively 21 impact an immigrants life. And so we are very 22 grateful for putting this bill forward. However, 23 we are very concerned about the different 24 categories and making things more defined and also 25 the ramifications for those who may inadvertently register over it.

MR. ANDREW SPENCER: Good

afternoon. My name is Andrew Spencer. I am from Maryland. I am a legal fellow at Fair Vote, the Center for Voting and Democracy. So, I'd like to talk for just a little bit about Fair Vote and our position on that and then about the experience of Maryland. So, Fair Vote is a non partisan, non profit organization that works principally on electoral reform of all sorts of different types of electoral reform. We're based in Maryland, in Takoma Park, Maryland, but we work locally, statewide and nationally. One thing we advocate for is understanding that the right to vote is a fundamental right and we've long advocated for an amendment to the United States Constitution stating that explicitly. And one thing we have been doing with towns and cities across the United States is advocating for Promote the Vote Resolution. This is a resolution that calls for a right to vote in the US Constitution and makes a commitment to both expand suffrage and expand access to voting. So, although we don't actually have a position on this particular issue yet we do

1 think that as more places begin considering
2 Promote the Vote Resolutions this will be a debate 3 that comes up more often and we're very glad to 4 hear the conversations taking place. We do think 5 that because the right to vote is fundamental any 6 law that restricts voting rights should be held to 7 strict scrutiny. So, really in many ways this is 8 a question of whether restriction still satisfies 9 that kind of scrutiny rather than a question of 10 expanding suffrage. So, there are several towns
11 in Maryland that do conduct non citizen voting 12 currently. Those towns include Chevy Chase
13 section three, Garrett Park, Somerset, Martin's 14 Addition, Barnesville and Takoma Park where Fair
15 Vote is located. I conducted short interviews 16 with the town clerks of several of those places.
17 I wasn't able to get through to all of them and 18 the universal thing that I heard was that this is 19 not difficult to administer and it is not 20 controversial. When I asked, for example, if the 21 town clerks had heard opposition or if there were 22 any repeal attempts many of them actually kind of 23 laughed at the idea. They said that no one would 24 think to bring up opposition to this. And this is

1
2 really where Fair Vote is coming from. Once you
3 understand voting as a fundamental right it 4 becomes very difficult to argue for taking 5 suffrage away from somebody unless you have a 6 really good reason to. So, they do have a 7 separate voter registration form, so non citizens
8 fill out that form. They are then added to a 9 separate roll but for the purposes of local 10 elections those rules are completely merged.
11 Several of the people I talked to emphasized that 12 on election day nobody knows who is a citizen and 13 who is not a citizen as long as they're registered 14 to vote. If the person owns property in the town 15 or pays rent in the town they can register to vote
16 and then they are treated exactly the same as a 17 citizen voter. There, yeah, nobody reported any 18 special attention being paid to this particular 19 issue and these places, again, the gist of the 20 conversation I had with people is that they're 21 treated exactly the same as they should be for 22 these purposes, their opinion, and there were very 23 few issues with the administration. Thank you - -

Barbara Brandeis. And

COUNCIL MEMBER DROMM:

[interposing] Can you turn that mic on, Barbara?

MS. BRANDEIS: Oh, okay. Is it, is, okay good. I never needed a mic before. Hi. I'm Barbara Brandeis and I'm here on the suggestion of Councilman Dromm and as an immigration lawyer practicing on 34 years and as a member of AILA since 1980, before I was born. Anyway, I have witnessed, of course, in my time of representing immigrants, countless numbers of immigrant and immigrant families who would benefit from voting. I mean, I see that they're paying taxes that full members of society in every single way except for the right to vote. And after hearing the previous panel, which was very informative to me as well, I suggest that when you pass this bill that it be more wide open rather than status dependent based on my immigration experience, almost like wehre and when they think of state versus out of state tuition because of adjudicating and going through the immigration laws and having a clerk try to decide who was lawful and who was not under the immigration laws

2 is hard even for a practitioner with 34 years of 3 experience, very often time. I mean, you have 4 very many different types of statuses from non 5 immigrant statue to lawful permanent residents and 6 then you have other quasi lawful statuses under 7 the code of law, such as a asyly's [phonetic] TPS 8 applications with persons granted relief under the 9 convention against torture, withholding of 10 removal, legalization applicants, people granted
11 TPS from countries from which they fled either, 12 you know, hardship, circumstances of was or 13 earthquakes, et cetera, et cetera, special 14 immigrant juveniles and U visa holders are given 15 the kind of provisional prima facie status of 16 individual approval. So, to those nuances, I 17 think, would be beyond local election people. So,
18 that if you instead, what if you would institute 19 this law to kind of, you've been residing in New 20 York City for a certain amount of time and you 21 could prove that, that should be the basis. In 22 that way I think it would limit the liability 23 under, you know, that provision that you have in 24 there that I just read that 18, 1057R, you would 25 get what, because that could be very detrimental

1
2 to a person if they willfully violate the law.
3 There may be many, many people in those that 4 aren't even sure of their own statuses in 5 situations like that and I don't think anybody 6 intends to violate the law by voting. But the 7 ramifications for somebody if they do that under 8 immigration law can have very severe consequences 9 such as inadmissibility or even a denial of 10 citizenship later on. I forgot to mention, of 11 course, everybody knows that the registered 12 provisional immigrant status bill is out of the 13 Committee in Congress. It's not passed yet so I, 14 those people who may be here for ten years under a 15 provisional status would be especially the kind of 16 people that I'm sure you would want to have the 17 right to vote. And I'm here to, you know, answer 18 any questions. I, but I also would say is that 19 some of these by voting or false statements on 20 applications can be considered cause of moral 21 turpitude that would contribute to the 22 deportability, determinability or necessitate the 23 need for a waiver in conjunction with the 24 adjustment of status applications so in my 25 esteemed opinion, the more open it is and the less

1
2 it is tied to the immigrant status of somebody, 3 adjudicating somebody's status, the better it will 4 be more open for your, for the City needs as well 5 as taking into consideration the interests of the 6 immigrant community.

7 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Well, thank 8 you. I want to state that that's part of the 9 purpose why we left it for those legal, in the 10 legislation saying for those who are legally 11 present in the United States for, or the 12 municipality, actually, for more than six months
13 and it kind of leaves it open so that the clerk 14 doesn't have to determine a status visa, what 15 ever, et cetera, so forth.

16 MS. BRANDEIS: Also, one other 17 thing that year or more or up to a year is very 18 problematic because what you have in Federal law, 19 Federal criminal law, immigration law is Federal 20 law, misdemeanors are year and a day or more. In 21 New York State Law misdemeanors include up into a 22 year and while I'm regulating time after time in 23 Federal Court and in Immigration Court and to the 24 Board of Immigration Appeals that when they 25 brought the law down to a year or more they meant

1
2 a year and a day or more and I'm winning on case
3 law, many people are losing it in the Immigration 4 Courts thinking that the one year, since our 5 misdemeanor includes a year, and there is coupled 6 provisions in immigration law that refer to the 7 year, I would at least bring that down to no more 8 than six months because there is a petty offence
9 exception for somebody who does no time and yet 10 the maximum crime that could be is six months.
11 So, I would absolutely lower that if part of the 12 bill.

13 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: So, just to 14 address a question that Nina Data brought up. The 15 Federal Government is more concerned, right, about 16 misrepresenting one's self as a US citizen than 17 they are about whether or not someone voted in the 18 election. I know that on the application for 19 citizenship it does ask, have you ever voted in an 20 election? I don't know, maybe if it is a Federal, 21 State or City election. However, there's room to 22 explain on the application if you answer the 23 question yes that you voted that you vote in a 24 legal, that you are legally allowed to vote--

25 MS. BRANDEIS: [interposing] Yes.

2 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: --in that 3 election. Am I right?

4 MS. BRANDEIS: Yes.

5 MS. DATA: That is true but it, a
6 lot of times what happens is people aren't well 7 enough informed and so the slippery slope is much 8 more open.

9 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: But immigration
10 officials could also be told that in New York 11 City, for example, that participation in the 12 municipal elections is allowed?

13 MS. DATA: Correct, yes.

14 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Okay. So that 15 would--

16 MS. BRANDEIS: [interposing] That's 17 2012A10D says, any alien who votes in violation, 18 I've - - and so I [crosstalk].

19 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: [interposing] -
20 - in violation?

21 MS. BRANDEIS: And so I understand
22 it's just like Ms. Data said is that the public 23 and immigration and everybody is very well 24 informed and that would--

1
2 Do you remember the other panel so I just want to 3 ask Drew Spencer as well, have you heard of any 4 instances if immigrants applying for citizenship
5 and encountering problems because they participate 6 in local elections in Maryland?

7 MR. SPENCER: I didn't hear
8 anything like that. [off mic]

9 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: I know it's 10 off topic but I could stretch it to state, do you 11 think immigrants who are 16 should be voting? I'm 12 a big supporter of 16 and 17 year olds voting, 13 immigrant and non immigrant. Have you had any 14 luck with that because I tried here and we were 15 not successful.

16 MR. SPENCER: Are you asking me?

17 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: I am.

18 MR. SPENCER: We have supported 19 voting rights for youth after they turn 16. We 20 don't have a position on immigrant voting so we 21 don't have a position on 16 year olds - - voting 22 either.

23 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Okay, I'm just 24 being a little facetious. I have a larger 25 question which is, in Maryland you indicated that

1
2 there were non problems in terms of the logistics
3 of the board of elections according to the clerks.
4 What, how long has it existed and so then do you
5 have any sense of how many elections have taken 6 place? And I know they're smaller locations but 7 they're good examples.

8 MR. SPENCER: They are smaller 9 locations. I'm actually not sure how long those 10 have been in place, I'm sorry. But I can 11 certainly provide that for you after 12 supplementally. And I'm sorry, what was the other 13 question, how long?

14 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: No, I just 15 want to know how long they've had experience doing 16 this but it doesn't matter, I was just curious.

17 MR. SPENCER: Okay.

18 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Thank you.
19 Thank you very much panel, thank you. [off mic] 20 Susan Lerner, Irma Rodriguez [phonetic] and 21 Michelle Walker. Go ahead, whomever would like to 22 go for the very powerful panel.

23 MS. SUSAN LERNER: Okay. Thank you
24 very much. I'm Susan Lerner from Common Cause New 25 York. I want to thank you for introducing this

1
2 bill and for raising the, and holding the hearing, 3 giving the public an opportunity to address this 4 very important topic. At Common Cause, as you 5 know, we were active on issues relating to 6 election reform and we're very supportive of all 7 attempts to encourage greater voter participation 8 but I do want to say at the very outset that 9 organizationally we do not have a position on non 10 citizen voting. And actually this introduction 11 gives me an opportunity to get my organization at 12 the national level focused on this issue. My 13 testimony, my written testimony focuses on the 14 historical antecedents, much of which has already 15 been discussed, so I'm not going to go into that 16 detail, except to say that there are plenty of 17 examples in our history locally and around the 18 country of non citizen voting being permitted and 19 different ways to handle it. But what I'd like to 20 focus on in my, just my oral comments are the 21 source of questions that I'm going to be 22 encouraging us at Common Cause to look at and 23 formulating a policy and I think that they're 24 relevant in terms of the City Council's enquiry as 25 well. Obviously, at the very top are the

1
2 questions of fairness and appropriate
3 representation, how do we define an appropriate 4 stakeholder? Obviously it is valid to define a 5 stakeholder as somebody who is a citizen. It's 6 also valid to define a stakeholder as has been 7 done in other jurisdictions and previously as a 8 resident to somebody who pays taxes. So, I think 9 that this is a very appropriate discussion for us 10 to be having, especially in the context that we 11 have right now and overheated immigration 12 questions. So, one of the things that we are most 13 interested in is that this be a factually based 14 discussion and not one that's emotional and 15 sensational and that's why I think history is 16 important. I think if the actual experience in 17 the jurisdictions that have it, including New 18 York's experience is very important. What kind of 19 voter turnout did we have? And I don't have the 20 answer to that question. It's something we're 21 going to be looking at with the school elections.
22 I would like to also echo what the Campaign
23 Finance Board said. It's easy to be flip about 24 the difficulties of running elections in the 25 largest jurisdiction and we certainly have plenty

1
2 of examples of how we feel our board of elections 3 is not up to the task. But that doesn't minimize 4 the fact that there would be some significant 5 administrative requirements here which should 6 carry with them, as we argue in any instance, 7 where there's an expansion, they should carry some 8 budgetary additions. The Campaign Finance Board 9 raised the issue of electronic poll books, it' 10 something that we're going to be advocating for 11 vigorously. It's a capital expense but it does 12 improve the ability of any board of elections to 13 track who the voters are and handles a lot of 14 administrative problems once it's been set up 15 correctly. It's easy to talk about Excel sheets 16 but anybody who has tried to handle an Excel sheet 17 with over a million entries, which I actually have 18 had the experience of doing, you can't do it. You 19 have to have systems which are set up to deal with 20 this. And that's why an electronic poll book is 21 a sophisticated technological response. You can 22 mark somebody in an electronic poll book as being 23 eligible to vote only in certain elections. I 24 think we also shouldn't minimize the amount of 25 education that's necessary. We are now running

1
2 regular registration drives geared to 3 disadvantaged communities, younger populations and 4 the amount of misinformation or lack of 5 information which people who may or may not be 6 eligible to vote have about what the requirements 7 are is kind of limitless. It's really amazing how 8 with the lack of what used to be called civics 9 instruction in schools people just really don't 10 have a clue. So, not only do I think that if this 11 bill is adopted ultimately by the City Council 12 that there should be provisions made in the budget 13 for additional costs for the Board of Elections, I 14 think there should be specific provisions made for 15 voter education through the Voter Assistance
16 Commission, which is now part of our Campaign
17 Finance Board. And I think that's very important 18 if we are, if the Council feels that this is a 19 very important initiative then it should be 20 adequately supported. I think the entire question 21 of voter acceptance is an important one and one 22 that we will be looking at. It's unfortunate 23 that, you know, the, we have some recent instances 24 where it has been placed in front of the voters 25 and not accepted and I think that that is

1
2 something that we should be factoring in when we 3 look at it. I think the question of potential 4 impact on naturalization is one that requires 5 further discussion. And, you know, it's 6 interesting, some of the commentators talking 7 about this, and there is an extensive legal 8 discussion on law review articles and others about 9 the legality and the history but one thing that 10 has been suggested is the phasing, makes it more 11 acceptable to the general population. I don't 12 know that that's practical in our situation but I 13 pass that on. And I cannot help but mention that 14 the number of co sponsors is significant and 15 encouraging and certainly in line with a unrelated 16 issue that we take up, we believe that measures 17 would have these numbers of co sponsors should be 18 entitled to a vote. So, I hope that we continue 19 this discussion in public, that there is 20 thoughtful commentary and that ultimately the 21 Council will have an opportunity to vote on this.
22 And when we do arrive at a formal position 23 regarding non citizen voting we will share it with 24 you.

25 MS. IRMA RODRIGUEZ: My name's Irma

1
2 Rodriguez and I'm the Executive Director of Queens
3 Community House, an organization that serves 4 25,000 residents a year that live in different
5 neighborhoods in Queens. Our program sites
6 stretch from Jackson Heights through Corona,
7 Elmhurst, Rigo Park, Forest Hills, Kew Gardens,
8 and into South Ozone Park and Jamaica. Everyone 9 knows that Queens is the most diverse county in 10 the United States but at Queens Community House we 11 live that diversity daily. In our school based 12 programs in our Queens child care network which is 13 an in home provider network consisting primarily 14 of immigrant women entrepreneurs. In our team 15 leadership and senior center program and perhaps 16 most acutely in our adult education program where 17 only one in four applicants wins a seat in our 18 ESOL program that seems nearly 600 students a day.
19 We develop community leaders and try to engage our 20 participants from the youngest to the oldest in 21 many aspects of civic engagement. Our 22 participants help develop the green agenda for 23 Jackson Heights and participated in many campaigns 24 for affordable housing in the borough. Our young 25 people have surveyed their communities and brought

1
2 issues of concern and solutions to elected
3 officials. We live diversity and we have seen 4 first hand how diversity has kept our 5 neighborhoods in Queens from falling into decline.
6 It has kept them strong, dynamic, developing and 7 economically healthy. I want to thank the members 8 of the City Council Committees on Governmental 9 Operations and Immigration and their Chairs, Gail 10 Brewer and Danny Dromm for holding this hearing.
11 I want to also thank Danny for his leadership on 12 this very important issue. Our support in Intro 13 410 grows from our experience as an organization 14 and from our deep belief in the importance of 15 expanding our democracy. Most of our program 16 participants are immigrants or first generation 17 New Yorkers. They bring vibrancy to our 18 communities. You know, New Yorkers boast about 19 the fabulous food and the cultural events and our 20 immigrant communities offer and depend on so many 21 of their small businesses and workers. We go to 22 other cities and states, in fact our Mayor does 23 that quite frequently, and encourage immigration 24 reform yet this city of immigrants has not taken 25 the step to expand the participation of our own

1 residents and civic matters. People have a desire 2 to participate fully in the decisions that affect 3 their community. Local elections may be the most 4 important form of this participation. We worry 5 about the decreasing numbers of voters who come 6 out for local elections. We worry because we 7 suspect that people feel their involvement doesn't 8 matter yet we know it does. It's been suggested, 9 and this is what I'm really here to talk about 10 today, it's been suggested that extending voting 11 rights may discourage residents from seeking 12 citizenship. Putting aside the many barriers, the 13 length of time, the cost of obtaining citizenship, 14 which do serve to discourage, we believe the 15 passage of Intro 410, then it's implementation 16 would actually encourage residents to seek 17 citizenship and greater involvement in civic 18 affairs. I'm actually sorry that Council Member 19 Lander left 'cause this actually occurred in his 20 district. But many years ago a colleague of mine 21 did a study in a Brooklyn neighborhood and it was 22 a dissertation for, a study around community 23 involvement for a dissertation. And she 24 discovered a bunch of things but among the things
25

2 that she discovered were two things that I think 3 were applicable to this issue. She found that 4 people who were involved in civic affairs in the 5 community were, felt more positively about their 6 community and they also felt that issues like 7 crime, graffiti, garbage, seemed less intractable 8 to solve, that those problems were solvable. The 9 other finding was one that is way more 10 understandable to old community organizers like 11 me. And that finding was that the more people get 12 involved the more they get involved. And that, in 13 fact, they could continue to find even more time 14 for civic engagement and for civic duties because 15 they recognized its value and importance. How can 16 we continue to ignore a vibrant resource that is 17 our immigrant community? Non citizens can and are 18 involved in many, many ways, such as serving on my 19 Board of Directors. And we've had forums in our 20 community and many of our community residents and 21 participants in our programs have been hugely 22 engaged in lots of different parts of the 23 political process. But they don't have the right 24 to vote and they don't have the right to be 25 involved in how our taxes and resources are

1
2 allocated to make decisions on issues that will 3 impact their children and their neighborhoods. We 4 all know that with rights come responsibilities,
5 the inverse is also true. Without rights there 6 can be little responsibility. Denying 7 participation in local elections to 20 percent of 8 our population is a situation in which we all 9 lose. Thank you.

10 MS. MICHELLE WALKER: Great. Thank 11 you for the opportunity to testify today on why 12 New York City should allow non citizens who reside 13 lawfully in the city to vote in municipal 14 elections. My name's Michelle Walker. I'm 15 President of the World Policy Institute. We're a 16 non partisan think tank. Migration and 17 citizenship are one of our core issues. In 2007 I 18 received Guggenheim Fellowship to write about 19 changing views of citizenship around the world and 20 I've written about non citizen voting both in my 21 book, Look Out, that came out in 2006 and in 22 another book that came out in 2009 called Getting 23 Immigration Right. I am a co founder of the 24 Immigrant Voting Project, which is dedicated to 25 documenting and analyzing non citizen voting

1
2 around the world. We're heard a lot to day about 3 rights and democracy and benefits to non citizens 4 themselves from being represented. But I want to 5 answer the question many New Yorkers are likely to 6 ask which is, what's in it for me? All New 7 Yorkers should care about whether or not non 8 citizen New Yorkers can vote in city elections for 9 the same reason that we care whether anybody votes 10 at all. I can only hope that this fall voter 11 turnout will be better than it was in 2009 when it 12 was a 40 year low. Economists note that it's 13 actually irrational to vote because the effort 14 that it takes to study the candidates, to go and 15 wait in line is much more than the marginal 16 benefit that any individual voter might get back.
17 And so, my question is, you know, if an individual 18 is willing to put more into the city than they get 19 out why wouldn't we want to encourage that sort of 20 behavior. I moved up from the Upper West Side to 21 Washington Heights several years ago, briefly, and 22 it was a majority non citizen neighborhood. I 23 found that the train didn't work right, that, you 24 know, there were crack dealers on the corner, 25 there were noise, there were lots more problems

1
2 and a big part of it was that many of the people
3 who lived there couldn't call up their City
4 Council Member, couldn't call the Mayor's office
5 and say, I am a voting constituent. They couldn't 6 answer yes to that question. I want to finish by 7 talking a little bit about the relationship 8 between the incentives for becoming a citizen and 9 the right to vote. There have been some studies 10 of the reasons why people choose to naturalize and 11 it's fairly far down the list, the possibility to 12 be able to vote or not. In addition, when people 13 think about voting they think about voting for 14 President, they don't think about voting for City 15 Council. So, it's not a disincentive that someone 16 would be able to vote for City Council without 17 becoming a citizen of the United States. The word 18 citizen, it's worth reminding, is, comes from the 19 word city. And by cultivating all immigrants and 20 citizens of this city the United, the New York
21 City will benefit immensely. And becoming a 22 citizen of a city is very different from being a 23 citizen of a nation. The minute that someone 24 comes here and takes a job, signs a lease, enrolls
25 their children in schools or begins a school

1 semester they become a citizen of the city.
2
3 Everyone has an interest in securing safe and 4 clean streets, good schools, reliable and 5 affordable transportation and healthcare and city 6 officials have immediate and tangible effects on 7 the daily life of every single resident. I also 8 want to emphasize the importance of not 9 discouraging the next generation of immigrants
10 children. I remember it was, when I was a child I 11 got so excited about voting day when I, you know, 12 cling onto my mothers skirts and go behind the 13 curtain of the ballot box and ask my parents about 14 the elephants and the donkeys and it was so 15 exciting. And I would hate to see generation of 16 children growing up without that experience. So,
17 I think that, you know, all of these reasons show
18 that there's a lot in it for new Yorkers as well 19 in cultivating the next generation of New Yorkers, 20 people who have been steeped in the culture of, by 21 voting and participating in municipal elections to 22 give more to the city than they get back, and 23 that's the best for all of us. Thank you so much.

24 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Well, thank you
25 everybody on the panel, all points very, very well

1
2 made. You know, Ms. Walker, I was a New York City
3 public school teacher for 25 years before being 4 elected to the City Council and I always had a
5 little bit of guilt in the back of my mind when I
6 would teach civics and elections in the classroom 7 and a kid would raise his hand and tell me that 8 his parents couldn't vote because they're 9 immigrants. And that was a major discouragement 10 to their participation as well in the process.
11 And you bring up a very valid point when you talk 12 about that. And Irma, I think the point that you 13 made in terms of the connection between community 14 empowerment and the right to vote is especially 15 important to me, you know, I represent the 16 community of, 68 percent immigrant community, 17 mostly all recent immigrants, many of whom, I'm 18 sure, if not the overwhelming majority of whom 19 would fit into the category that it is that we're 20 talking about today. And I really do believe that 21 the opposite affect of what some of the critics 22 are saying in terms of wanting to become citizens 23 and participation in our society would occur, we 24 would have many, many more people in the community 25 who would come out and who would participate and

1
2 who would become civically engaged if, in fact,
3 they had the right to vote. They had told me
4 directly that I can't vote so what does it matter, 5 you know? And I think that this would really 6 change that attitude. And Susan, of course we love 7 you too and we think that everything you did and 8 the words that you said were very, very well
9 spoken as well. And some of the concerns that you 10 raised have been raised also prior and I think 11 those are issues that I think definitely we need 12 to look into moving forward. We're open to those 13 changes and the suggestion that you made as well.

15 Rodriguez?

16 COUNCIL MEMBER RODRIGUEZ: First of 17 all, thank you to all members of the panel, 18 especially Common Cause for always, like, helping 19 also in getting the best knowledge when it came to 20 educating our New Yorkers to, on the importance of 21 participating in voting election. And always, 22 like, trying to bring more reform to the election.
23 I - - say, like, I think that my concern or 24 interest right now is only to look at the merit of 25 this and I hope that the - - is just look at, not

1 based on the logistic because I question if those 2 people if green cards should have the right to 3 vote in voting election. You should know that the 4 logistic problem that we have with the Board of 5 Election, the number of poll worker that is 6 needed, everything that has to be in place, should 7 not be the reason why we should not - - the right
8 if they would have the right to voting. Like, I, 9 you know, we are, we always had to celebrate what 10 we are. And it is interesting, you know, like, we 11 had the great, great grandfather who was 12 immigrant, who came from another places. As I say, 13 even myself now, now I can celebrate that the 14 first not immigrant who settled New York City was 15 an Dominican, Juan Rodriguez. And we can name in 16 some area of Broadway after his name. So, that's 17 historically for us to know that, you know, this 18 is what we are. Like, and when it comes to 19 immigrant people to become a US citizen, as I said 20 before, we were - - , 13 brothers and sisters in 21 my family. We came with green card. Today, all 22 of us are US citizens. And now we raising the 23 second and third generation having two daughter 24 born here as American as anyone that whose great

1
2 grandfather was a - - immigrant. But you, we went 3 through the whole process. We can in the '60 and 4 the '70's when my father and brothers and sisters,
5 myself in '83. And today all the 13 of us are US
6 citizen and we participated in the voting process, 7 in the democratic process. So, the question is,
8 people that has green card, we pay the same taxes, 9 as I say, driving taxes, working any place, like,
10 we pay the same taxes. There's no different type 11 of taxes for people that are US citizens and those 12 that have green card. We pay the same percentage 13 and we contribute at the same level. Even 14 Washington Heights, as you say, no, I was born, I 15 came to that neighborhood and in the '80's and the 16 '90's it was that new group of immigrant who would 17 stay there when the neighborhood was infected by 18 drugs because of the location of that community 19 being under the George Washington Bridge. And 20 that community, when many people left, stay there, 21 and paid their due, and many of them they came 22 with green card today, it's a different story.
23 When I came in my airplane through the DR, 24 different from the '80's - - was people with green 25 card--

2 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: [interposing]
3 Council Member, do you have a question though for 4 them, question?

5 COUNCIL MEMBER RODRIGUEZ: Well, 6 it's more a comment on--

7 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: [interposing]
8 Okay.

9 COUNCIL MEMBER RODRIGUEZ: --first 10 of all thinking and hoping that you contribute 11 with your analysis and also get the best bill at 12 the end before we make these things happen. Thank 13 you.

14 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Thank you.

15 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Okay, so we're 16 ready for our next panel. Thank you, panel. And 17 I'm going to call up Peter Geffen [phonetic] from 18 the Coalition for Voting Rights, Kevin Douglas 19 from the United Neighborhood Houses, Cesar
20 Palomeque from Make the Road and Angela Fernandez
21 from Northern Manhattan Coalition for Immigrant 22 Rights. And, okay. [off mic] Yeah, pull up a 23 chair. Let, if we don't manage this Angela is 24 going to just quickly do her thing and then go.

25 MS. ANGELA FERNANDEZ: That's

1
2 right. I very much apologize. I have a 4 o'clock 3 meeting.

4 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Okay.

5 MS. FERNANDEZ: And I have no way,
6 able to change it. So, thank you very much for 7 the opportunity. Good afternoon. I want to thank 8 the members of City Council for this opportunity 9 to speak. My name is Angela Fernandez and I'm the 10 Executive Director of the Northern Manhattan
11 Coalition for Immigrant Rights, a 30 year old 12 community based organization that services 13 thousands of immigrants a year. The majority of 14 individuals served by our organization are legal 15 permanent residents of the United States who 16 reside primarily in the Bronx and the Northern 17 Manhattan Neighborhoods of Hamilton Heights,
18 Washington Heights and Linwood. And MCIR serves 19 6,000 immigrants annually, a large proportion of 20 them being legal, permanent residents who pay 21 hundreds of thousands of dollars in income, sales, 22 city and state taxes yet they do not have the 23 ability to vote for those who administer and 24 control those taxes. Many of the legal permanent 25 residents we serve are enlisted in the US Army and

1
2 fight for our wars and also die because of the 3 wars. They work for the New York City Department
4 of Education and are employed by our city
5 hospitals and also own businesses yet they do not 6 have the right to vote. Their economic 7 contribution to the City of New York runs in the 8 millions yet they do not have the right to vote.
9 In addition to providing high quality legal 10 services we promote civic participation and 11 responsibility to educate and prepare our members 12 for eventual citizenship. We cannot think of a 13 better way to increase government accountability
14 through civic participation than by enfranchising
15 legal permanent residents who are so deeply woven 16 into the fabric of our economy and community.
17 Currently non citizens vote in Chicago and in six 18 towns in Maryland for a total of seven 19 jurisdictions nationwide. In Massachusetts four 20 towns have passed local laws but await state 21 enabling legislation to implement. More than a 22 dozen other cities are considered restoring 23 immigrant voting rights including San Francisco
24 and Portland, Maine. And in 40 countries around 25 the world immigrants have the right to vote and

1
2 have had that right for decades. New York City, 3 the immigrant city, should be a leader in 4 immigrant voting rights. I commend the co
5 sponsoring City Council Members for this bill, for 6 their vision in embracing universal 7 enfranchisement. Thank you very much. And I'm 8 sorry that I ended up repeating a lot of what 9 other folks have said, but thank you very much.

10 CHAIRPERSON DROMMN: You got it in 11 three minutes. [laughter] Great. Mr. Geffen.

12 MR. PETER GEFFEN: My name is Peter 13 Geffen. I am a native New Yorker. I was born in 14 1946 at Beth Israel Hospital. I was raised in 15 Rigo Park, Queens. I went to outstanding public 16 schools including Forest Hills High School in 17 Queens College. I have lived here all of my life.
18 I left only to travel and for two extraordinary 19 experiences as a civil rights worker in 20 Orangeburg, South Carolina in the summers of 1965 21 and '66. I worked for Dr. King's Southern 22 Christian Leadership Conference's Scope Project.
23 And what was my work? In 1965, attempting to 24 register local African American's to vote. By 25 1966 with the Voting Rights Act Passed we had

1
2 assisted them in the process of legal 3 registration. I have never fully appreciated the 4 importance and the power of the right to vote
5 until those powerful encounters in the South and I 6 have never forgotten. In my professional life in 7 our wonderful city I have worked as a Jewish 8 educator, a universalist in a particularist world.
9 I am the Founder of the Abraham Joshua Heschel
10 School in the Upper West Side here in Manhattan.
11 Rabbi Heschel, as some of you may know and/or 12 remember was remarkable, prophetic religious 13 leader. He and Dr. King became fast friends from 14 the moment of their meeting in 1963 until King's 15 tragic assassination in 1968. Both were 16 profoundly committed to securing basic human 17 rights for all people. It was my privilege to 18 learn from both. Now I travel with college age 19 students to many parts of the world studying the 20 various religions and cultures of our richly 21 diverse world. I listen to young people all over 22 the world speak often with envy of the absolute 23 right to vote inherent in the American dream.
24 They look to us as beacons of their future, a 25 future of human rights that center around the

1
2 right to vote, to express your opinion and to be 3 fully represented in the halls of government.

4 With this background I come before you today with 5 a very simple purpose, to lend my small voice to 6 the groundswell of support for the expansion of 7 voting rights here in our great international 8 city, to the many non citizen residents who do not 9 have the right to vote for their local 10 representatives, how cannot have their needs and 11 their aspirations heard in the decision making 12 halls of our local government. They live amongst 13 us. They work with us. They pay their taxes.
14 They spend their often hard earned money in our 15 stores and businesses. They send their children 16 to our schools, participate in our PTA's, attend 17 our churches, mosques, temples and synagogues, 18 volunteer in our many not for profit 19 organizations. In other words, they are fully 20 functioning as if citizens but they cannot vote.
21 The most essential and elementary human right is 22 not theirs. Those of you who support this 23 proposed legislation have my deep appreciation but 24 for those who are not yet sure how you will vote 25 and certainly to those who are determined to

1
2 oppose it, I ask you to reach deep down inside
3 your heart and the privacy of your own conscience
4 and think of those who ride the buses and subways 5 with you each day but cannot vote for you or 6 cannot ask you to represent their needs and their 7 wishes. I ask you to join in extending the voting 8 rights for which we all fought decades ago for one 9 segment of our community, for one segment of our 10 society, extend those to all who live within our 11 community. I thank you.

12 [Spanish Language 2:11:16 -
13 2:13:54]

14 MR. CESAR PALAMENQUE ANDRADE: Good
15 afternoon. I will be translating this statement 16 that's - - . Good morning. My name is Cesar
17 Palamenque Andrade [phonetic], an Ecuadorian
18 immigrant and a member of the Board of Directors 19 of Make the Road, New York. Thank you for the 20 opportunity to testify today. Also, thank you to 21 Council Members Dromm, Rodriguez and Mark-Viverito
22 and many others for their imitative on Intro 410.
23 I think this is a great proposal for the residents 24 in this city and believe we should pass it as 25 quickly as possible. I was a permanent resident

1
2 in New York City for many years before becoming a
3 citizen. And I know what this proposal would mean
4 to my community and others like me. Believe me, 5 there were many times, there were times in the 6 past when I wish residents could vote. I'm happy
7 we are discussing it today. I also want to share 8 the perspective that I heard, have heard from many 9 members in my community about this subject.

10 Permanent residents have obligations but do not 11 have certain rights. Even though they work hard 12 to sustain their families, pay their taxes and 13 abide by the rules to live in this country but 14 they feel excluded in the case of elections, which 15 are a topic that are very important when we decide 16 who will represent us. Every time there are 17 elections our representatives make decisions about 18 health, housing, education, transportation,
19 security, et cetera. But the reality is that it 20 is that they only represent the citizens without 21 taking into account that there are over a million 22 permanent residents here using all types of city 23 services. They have a voice but not a vote, and 24 it is more difficult to address some of the 25 injustices that they are confronting. We want to

1
2 participate in decisions about workers, schools, 3 housing, taxes and more. And in order for New 4 York City to really practice what it preaches that 5 it is a democracy, we all need to participate in 6 such important events as elections. As an 7 immigrant I spent 16 years without being able to 8 exercise the right to vote and I support this 9 proposal for all the good it would do for those 10 that live in this city. Together, we are going to 11 keep working 'til we all have the same rights in 12 New York City. Thank you.

13 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Kevin?

14 MR. KEVIN DOUGLAS: So, good
15 afternoon, Chair Dromm, Chair Brewer and Council 16 Member Rodriguez. I really want to thank you for 17 holding this hearing and giving us the opprountnity 18 to testify. My name is Kevin Douglas and I'm with 19 the United Neighborhood Houses of New York. Many 20 of you are familiar with this probably from our 21 budget advocacy related to social services and the 22 city budget. And as Melissa Mark-Viverito said 23 earlier, we're very happy to have the opprountnity 24 to not just be here to talk about lack of funding 25 but to affirm the democratic right for non

1
2 citizens to vote in our city here. So, one of the 3 things about United Neighborhood Houses is that 4 our members serve communities all across the city
5 whether they are permanent residents, citizens, 6 regardless of status. And it kind of ranges the 7 gamut from early childhood education to after 8 school programs, senior centers and these are 9 things that benefit communities regardless of 10 their status. But a particular subset of our 11 services are really designed to help immigrants 12 integrate into the society so that includes adult 13 literacy classes, basic equation in native
14 language and legal services that help people 15 pursue the best legal status for them. And we 16 really owe a debt of gratitude for the Council for 17 providing the funding to do that whether it's the 18 immigrant opportunities initiative or other 19 funding streams. However, despite the work of our 20 members and it is very good work, they know that 21 regardless of the however many legal services they 22 provide, how much literacy service they provide, 23 they can't truly help the people in the 24 communities integrate as long as the fundamental 25 right to vote is withheld from them. So, we're

1
2 really happy that the Council is looking at the 3 proposal to expand voting rights and we're happy
4 to be here in support of it today. This was said 5 earlier but voting is, it's so important and it's 6 to prevent tyranny, it's to prevent oppression and 7 most importantly it's to make sure that everyone 8 in a community has their voices heard and their 9 concerns recognized in local processes, whether 10 that's how tax revenues are portioned, school
11 board policies, that sort of thing. So, this is a 12 very critical right for people and it's kind of 13 unfathomable that this hasn't been done sooner in 14 New York City. I know we had the Board of 15 Elections thing but that, I'm sorry, the 16 Department of Education where people could 17 participate through the school boards. But the 18 fact that we're here now is that we're very 19 grateful at this point in time. And I want to 20 quickly talk about some of the arguments people 21 have raised against non citizen voting and really 22 just kind of discount them. One of them is this 23 idea that voting should remain for citizens and 24 it's just something they should have and you 25 should work toward your citizenship and therefore

1
2 it shouldn't be expanded. And this is really 3 faulty for a couple of reasons; one, as was 4 earlier mentioned, the link between citizenship
5 and voting has not always necessarily been clear 6 and we know in our history that there's been many 7 instances of discriminatory withholding of the 8 right to vote regardless of someone's citizenship 9 status. So, to assume that that status should 10 inform whether someone has a right to vote or not 11 really doesn't make a lot of sense. The other 12 part is to just really recognize that in our 13 country right now there is recognition that our 14 immigration system, whatever you want to call it, 15 is really flawed and there's attempts to reform it 16 and we're certainly hopeful those take place. But 17 in the interim we know that there are many people 18 who are here legally, they contribute to the 19 society and they don't have a voice. And even if 20 this reform passes it doesn't necessarily mean 21 that it's going to speed up the process for those 22 people to become citizens and be able to vote.
23 So, it's critical that New York act now to give 24 these people a voice. One of the other things 25 that's really important is that immigrants aren't

1
2 this kind of separate group that's in New York
3 City and need some special privileges. Immigrants 4 make up this city and they do a really good job of 5 supporting or economy. We know that over a third 6 of the residents of New York City are foreign 7 born, two thirds of the students in our school 8 system are either first or second generation and 9 even though they are about a third of the 10 population the immigrants make about 43 percent of 11 our workforce. They make up 49 percent of 12 entrepreneurs in the City and they generate about 13 $215 billion in economic productivity every year 14 in the city. So, they're critical to the economic 15 life of the city, the social life and the cultural 16 life and they're really want makes New York an 17 international destination. So, it's really 18 important to remember that immigrants are not an 19 aside, they are a critical part of the city and 20 they deserve as much right to participate as 21 anyone else. So, in conclusion, really, I want to 22 thank Council Member Dromm for your leadership on 23 this as well the other Council Members that have 24 signed on. We're really happy to be here to 25 affirmatively support the right to vote and we

1
2 certainly will do what we can to work with the 3 Council to advance this. Thank you.

4 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Thank you very 5 much. We really appreciate your being here and 6 waiting. I'm sorry it's so long. And next panel, 7 it's James Hong [phonetic] David Anderson, Landra
8 Raquina [phonetic] and Ahot Ahmad [phonetic], 9 Bahol Ahmad [phonetic], sorry, Bahol Ahmad. Go 10 right ahead, whomever would like to begin.

11 MS. LANDRA RAQUINA: Good
12 afternoon. My name is Landra Raquina. I'm a 13 member of - - in Action and also Make the Road New 14 York. Thank you for Daniel Dromm, your Council
15 Member for Jackson Height and I live there. Thank 16 you for lead this bill that is very important for 17 us. I thank you other - - for the Council Members 18 that I, they already sign it and I hope they, it 19 was extended for the rest of the Council Members 20 to support this bill, this very important. I am 21 going to give my testimony. It's about my 22 experience like immigrant people. I came in 1979
23 and when I came here the first thing that I heard 24 was that you had to pay the taxes because they 25 give me an example of, Al Capone went to the jail

1
2 because he avoid to pay taxes, not for the crimes
3 that he did. And since I was immigrant the first 4 time I find to pay my taxes. During the five 5 years I was here legally and I pay my taxes when I
6 get to my green card, that's my tax, I was a 7 taxpayer, it was easy for me to get my legal 8 paper. And finally, I was in thinking, how in my 9 country we get the first and we have the card, 10 that tributary tax, when we went 21 years with 11 this we have the right to vote, we have the right 12 for everything because we are taxpayers. When I 13 came here, when I get my green card, well, this is 14 my license but green card, there, I become 15 citizen, right? I gave my green card. And I
16 have, I pay the taxes and I always say, my husband 17 pay, have the second woman is the IRS because most 18 of you work, most of you gain, most they get it 19 from you. But whether you receive during 20
20 years, because after 20 years I become a citizen, 21 I said, during those 20 years I live in a 22 community of Jackson Heights, I am, in that 23 occasion I said, I don't know, I didn't 24 interesting in the politics around me. Why?
25 Because I didn't have any rights. I just was a

1
2 taxpayer. I was a consumer and I see I have two 3 sons who was born here. I said, they are citizens 4 but mother who I am not citizen, I don't have the 5 right to vote, to concern in their lives from 6 them. And I was asking why? Why we have, it 7 looks like it considered a second class of people.
8 But we have the same right like I heard, we pay 9 the taxes, like I said, Ydanis Rodriguez, is that 10 we pay the taxes and the money, the taxes, the 11 money is no difference between the citizens and a 12 legal resident. And that's why I encourage, I 13 demand, to pass this bill, this very important for 14 the life of many people, especially because in our 15 community, Jackson Heights, there is hundreds of 16 people who was passing maybe the same thing that I
17 was passing the immigrant people here. And I 18 encourage all of you to pass this bill. This is 19 very important, is our right to have the right to 20 vote for the rest of the people. Thank you so 21 much.

22 MALE VOICE 1: So, on behalf of the 23 New York Coalition to expand voting rights I would 24 like Council Member Gail Brewer and Danny Dromm 25 for your leadership and giving us the opprountnity

1
2 to have this discussion today on resident voting 3 right. I would like to speak today on the 4 legislation vote to expand the vote - - in New 5 York City. If you are not continually focused on 6 the right to expand the vote, on bringing it to 7 the higher ground we will, in fact, see a 8 weakening of our democracy. This has already 9 happened in New York City with abandonment of 10 local school board election. We are also seeing 11 recent years in the effort of in many state to 12 suppress or make more complicated access to voting 13 through the requirement of photo ID's, proof of 14 citizenship and so on. It will be a natural step 15 for New York City to reject this regressive trend 16 to instead extend the right to vote and doing so 17 politically empower the vibrant immigrant 18 community that has played such a role in keeping 19 the city alive and economically vibrant for the 20 past 30 years. For many years now the 21 Administration has been very proud to sell the 22 city as a diverse capital of the world. But in 23 reality little has been done to enfranchise and 24 it's newest and poorest resident. New York City 25 is among the top city in the world in income

1
2 disparity. Those with economical power control 3 more and more of the political establishment and 4 little has been done to strengthen our democracy.
5 The city - - situation it's one reflection of 6 that. How can a city with an annual budget of $17 7 billion justify a lack of resources for new 8 affordable housing? This is clearly not a fiscal 9 problem but a resource - - problem. The majority 10 of people are not represented and the expense in 11 voting bills would be a counterweight to that 12 disparity. After all, what is the future we want 13 in New York City? Do we want a democracy
14 representative of this population where every day 15 it's a new fight to resist discrimination, 16 poverty, illiteracy and violence or do we want a 17 city where a small voting population and an ever 18 growing number of disenfranchised and marginalized
19 people? In - - our democratic system is a 20 reference for many around the world. We have not 21 yet reached the apex of democracy. Our system
22 need to be improved and developed. The question 23 is, will this - - save the opportunity to move the 24 process of democracy one step forward. Many other 25 country have implemented enfranchisement. And the

1
2 immigrant population with different forum and 3 different level is the number of this country is 4 growing. Today 65 nation have - - granting the 5 exercise of voting right to foreigners and at 6 least at some level and some categories of 7 resident and you have a table in your 8 documentation with a list of the country. We are 9 not living in the - - world and there is 10 recognition that the new model need to be found 11 that reflect the new reality. We all know what 12 happened in New York as repercussion far beyond 13 the border of the United States. Passing 14 legislation will be a beacon and will provide an 15 enormous boost to process already in motion in 16 other places. What a nice way for New York City 17 to give back and keep it title of world capital.
18 Thank you for your opportunity and thank you so 19 much for your attention. Thanks.

20 Mr. AHMAD: Good afternoon. Thank 21 you for holding this very important, critical and 22 timely hearing on Intro 410. My name is - - 23 Ahmad, I'm the Legal and Policy Director of - - 24 Rising up and Moving and I'm Honored to Represent 25 this testimony on behalf of our nearly 2,000 South

1 Asian Members. Since 2000 DRUM has been a leading 2 community organization in New York City with a 3 membership of almost 2,000 low income South Asian 4 immigrant families, workers, youth, many of whom 5 are also Muslims. DRUM has been mobilizing
6 thousands of South Asians, immigrant New Yorkers 7 for the past 12 years for - - rights, workers 8 rights, educational reform and for civil rights.
9 And being firmly rooted in our communities DRUM
10 has directly seen and experienced how communities 11 can be effectively engaged for civic engagement, 12 participation and social change. There are over 13 800,000 South Asians who call New York City their 14 home. While for New York City as a whole almost 15 half of the households have some foreign born 16 individuals within them. From the South Asian 17 community that number is significantly higher.
18 Even within DRUM's own membership almost 75
19 percent of our households have one or more people 20 that are non citizens. And the South Asian 21 Community is currently one of the fastest growing 22 communities in New York City, particularly for the 23 Bangladeshi and the Nepali communities. As an 24 immigrant myself who was a non citizen for many 25

2 years having had such an opportunity to vote in 3 local elections would have made a great difference 4 in my ability to be active and social and economic 5 change. Today, I serve as a community organizer
6 and an attorney in immigrant communities because I 7 see the immense potential and the need for 8 engaging in civil and social economic reform in 9 these communities for the generations to come.
10 For the past 12 years DRUM members have been 11 involved in reforming immigration policies locally
12 and nationally, worked to improve New York City 13 public school systems, improve the quality of 14 education, secure unpaid wages and rights for low 15 wage workers in the city and advocated for the 16 civil rights of all New Yorkers, such as the 17 community safety act or the student safety act.
18 This has meant that our immigrant members have had 19 constant engagement with City agencies like the 20 Department of Education, the Department of Labor, 21 the local offices of the Department of Homeland
22 Security as well as the local City Council 23 Members. Yet through the years of engaging to 24 improve our city by thousands of immigrants they 25 themselves have not had the ability, perhaps until

1
2 now to vote or choose a local representatives or 3 to hold them accountable. As full tax payers and 4 important contributors for the fabric of New York 5 City non citizens deserve the right to engage 6 fully in our city. New York City is known 7 globally as an international city and we are proud 8 that members of our City Council have led this 9 historic legislation as a model nationally and as 10 our nation advances immigration reform to secure 11 the full rights and participation of millions of 12 non citizens. The passage of Intro 410 and the 13 ability for residents to be able to vote will be 14 critical for the development and expansion of 15 democracy in this city. It will improve the 16 engagement and the empowerment of immigrant 17 communities. And earlier statement was made that 18 with responsibilities come rights and we would 19 like to flip that, with rights come
20 responsibilities, we flip that. Immigrant 21 communities have been carrying their 22 responsibilities, not only as taxpayers but as 23 civically engaged people in these communities.
24 Many in our communities have already been carrying 25 out the responsibility as New Yorkers, it is high

1
2 time that they also have their rights as New 3 Yorkers. Thank you.

4 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Okay, well,
5 thank you very much. I don't have any questions
6 and since I know all of you, if I do I'll ask you 7 in the neighborhood. Thank you.

8 MR. AHMAD: Thank you.

9 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Thank you.
10 Okay, next, Aga Mohammed Salai [phonetic] from 11 SUKI [phonetic] New York, Jose Shufino [phonetic]
12 from the New York City Labor Council for Latin 13 American Advancement, Mozedo Udein [phonetic] from 14 ASAL [phonetic] Jackson Chin from Latino Justice
15 and Pedro Alvarez from the Bronx Merchants
16 Association.

17 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: This is the 18 Danny Dromm fan club. I'm in it too.

19 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: This is my 20 immigrant community.

21 CHAIRPERSON BREWER: Yeah.

22 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Jose, you want 23 to start?

24 MR. JOSE SHUFINO: Yes, thank you.
25 I am here today to give testimony in the name of

1
2 the New York City Chapter of the Labor Council for 3 Latin American Advancement. Our organization has 4 been involved with the Resident Immigrant Voting 5 Rights Initiative for many years and we are 6 gratified to see it come to a hearing in the 7 Council. We would like to thank Chairs Danny 8 Dromm and Gail Brewer for allowing us and the 9 members of the Committee as well as the cosigners
10 for bringing this Intro to a hearing and giving us 11 this opportunity to speak on the issue. - - is an 12 organization for Latino labor leaders from a broad 13 sector of the New York City labor movement. We 14 have within our membership of native born and 15 immigrant workers. We also have many associate 16 members who are unorganized but committed to 17 justice in the American workplace. Over many 18 years we have joined in our lives as many other 19 immigrant rights and social and economic justice 20 organizations to more policies of justice and 21 inclusion for all workers regardless of ethnicity.
22 We are proud to be here today with so many of 23 these allies to assure passage of Intro 410 into 24 law. Unfortunately, our President, Sonya Ivani 25 [phonetic] could not be here today due to a prior

1
2 commitment outside the city and she has entrusted 3 me as Chair of the Immigration Committee to speak
4 on our behalf. It is the belief and fervent hope 5 of the New York City Chapter of the Council for 6 Latin American Advancement that this Committee and 7 Council will make Intro 410 into law. I know that 8 we speak for the House of Labor in this for it is 9 our house and through our organizations that many 10 of the individuals that will benefit from this 11 law, participate now in the social and economic 12 life of this, our great city. They participate in 13 a limited way through collective bargaining and by 14 their activism on issues. Many have even 15 participated in electoral politics through their 16 unions. But this is not enough, immigrants 17 account for the majority of the constituents in 18 many of our Council Districts with foreign born 19 residents comprising over 60 percent of the 20 homeowners in this City together since 2008. The 21 ten neighborhoods with the highest immigrant 22 populations also show some of the highest economic 23 growth in our city. Immigrants to our city 24 overwhelmingly have shown that they are here to 25 work, to earn a better life for their families and

1
2 to contribute to the economic growth of district - 3 - city. Our unions swell with the ranks of 4 immigrant workers. As of 2010 - - and hospitality 5 industries, 82 percent of all maids and 6 housekeepers and 64 percent of all janitorial and 7 building clearing staff are immigrants. 79
8 percent of all food preparation workers, 77 9 percent of all cooks, 74 percent of all chefs and 10 head cooks are immigrants. You would be hard 11 pressed to have a meal in a New York City 12 restaurant that does not have the hands of an 13 immigrant involved in its preparation. And this 14 is served to us by a wait staff that are also 64
15 percent foreign born. When it comes to childcare 16 we entrust the care of our children to a workforce 17 that is 64 percent immigrant. When it comes to 18 educating them we turn to workforce in our 19 elementary and middle schools that is 21 percent 20 foreign born immigrants. The participation of 21 immigrants in the city's healthcare workforce, 22 having always been strong, has now reached truly 23 epic proportions with an estimated 72 percent of 24 all nursing, psychiatric and home healthcare aids
25 being immigrants to this country as more than 50

1
2 percent of our licensed practical and vocational 3 and registered nurses, physicians and surgeons 4 that are foreign born constitute 46 percent of the 5 workforce at this time. In the constantly
6 changing and developing landscape of our city, 72 7 percent of all construction laborers are 8 immigrants, adding by their labor to the 9 engineering and architectural wonder that is New 10 York City. They have come to work and participate 11 in the economic growth of this city and New York 12 City has prospered because of their vitality and 13 energy. This city owes immigrants a place at the 14 table where decisions are made that effect their 15 work life, their family life and their place and 16 status in our society. They have earned that 17 right and their coworkers and neighbors and 18 friends to experience the - - of the democratic 19 society that we so proudly proclaimed and to 20 participate as equals in the governing of our, no, 21 of their city. It is right and proper that this, 22 in a city of immigrants built on the labor and 23 aspirations of countless individuals and families 24 that have arrived to this city in their millions 25 over the last 200 years in hope and with a

1
2 wiliness to strive for something better for 3 themselves and their children that this historic 4 and just proposal be made law and we at the House
5 of Labor, the voice of the workers urge this 6 Council to take action in this historic moment, to 7 make the brave and just decision to make the - - 8 of suffrage to these lawful and deserving 9 residents of out city. Thank you.

10 MR. AGA MOHAMMED SALAI: Good
11 afternoon, honorable Council Members, Chairman
12 Dromm and the Members of the Committee. It's a 13 great honor and privilege and historic day for me.
14 My name is Aga Mohammed Salai. I came to the 15 United States in 1996 sponsored by my wife who won 16 the diversity immigration visa lottery. I was 17 reluctant, I was scared to move from a place of 18 birth where I have struggled with my people for 19 the human rights and democracy since my early 20 childhood. The day I came to this country and I 21 realize that the picture she showed me over the 22 phone convinced me to join her here that this is 23 the greatest democracy and you must live and 24 experience the greatest democracy of the world in 25 this country. The day I came here I remember that

1
2 the elections for following in the coming years
3 and I realized that being legal, lawful resident 4 of this country, taxpayer, I do not have a voice 5 to be heard. I do not have a personality to be 6 counted in the system and that makes me feel bad.
7 And it looks me long to understand this. It was a 8 dream, perhaps, this democracy of the United 9 States may go into an ideal democracy towards 10 everyone should have a voice to heard. It was a 11 dream, it was a nightmare almost in those days and 12 I never had an idea that one day I'll be sitting 13 for the same dream in a hearing and addressing my 14 concerns being a person who lived through the 15 shadows of hopes and darkness's in this country 16 which is a great nation. And everyone knows this 17 nation is a nation of immigrants. This nation is 18 a nation of immigrants and this honorable
19 Committee is sitting under the goals of Abraham 20 Lincoln who says, a government of people, by the 21 people, for the people. What does it mean what 22 our Constitution says? Human dignity, equality, 23 and that's what we stands for. And recently we 24 form an organization which is SUKI New York, SUKI 25 stands for Social Uplift through Knowledge and

1
2 Hope Initiatives and working for the empowerment
3 and equality in the New York City. And I urge 4 this Committee to take these things and I was 5 really today hearing, reading this Mayor's 6 concerns on this legislation and Board of 7 Elections concern on this legis--, if there is a 8 will there is a way. thank you very much.

9 MS. MAZIRA EHRUDI: [phonetic]

10 Thank you, everyone. Thanks for me to hear also.
11 Voting right is the vital instrument of democracy.
12 To our honorable government official I am urging 13 to approve Intro 410. My name is Mazira Ehrudi
14 and I am the one of the Director of Service,
15 Health Education, Bread and - - , that help - -
16 English and immigrant adult - - for job. I am 17 also Women's Coordinator Talents of South Asian 18 Labor Organization an organization that is those 19 workers who are unrepresented in both votes and 20 labor unions. Not only that, human rights
21 activist - - discrimination, religious persecution 22 and economics explosion and quality - - . New 23 York City is comprised five boroughs, boroughs 24 Manhattan, Queens, Brooklyn and - - Island which 25 are home to more than two fifth of the - -

1
2 population of New York City. With the Census
3 estimated population of over 8.3 million 2012, 4 alone it makes up over 40 percent of the 5 population of New York State as many as 800
6 language are spoken in New York making it the most 7 linguistically and diverse city in the world. Our 8 new city community is very pleased to work with 9 all elected official to reintroduce the voting
10 right Intro 410 registration act. The legislation 11 will give non citizen the right to vote to local 12 election more than one million out of New York 13 City residents cannot participate in local 14 election, that is 20 percent of - - New Yorkers 15 and the population of - - is this really 16 democratic? Thinking is not knowing and knowing 17 is not doing. Let's work together to pass into 18 410 - - . - - strongly support Intro 410 asking 19 all City Council to pass the bill as soon as 20 possible. It is an important - - by our immigrant 21 or - - - - the right to vote in local election.
22 New York City democracy is only as strong as the 23 ability of these people to vote. New York City's 24 immigrant communities pay taxes and work hard to 25 provide for their families but far too many do not

1
2 have the right to vote. Intro 410 will strengthen 3 our democracy and the lives of immigrants who each 4 day are contributing to the city vitality - - all
5 of the New York City is - - . Democracy is better 6 serviced and everyone benefits, hence more than 7 half of the New York City Council now support
8 immigrant voting rights, - - . Opportunity for us 9 to emphasize in the growing support for the 10 expansion of democracy throughout New York City 11 that pay taxes like us, they should enjoy same 12 like us. They are 1.3 million strong, non citizen 13 resident and they bring $229 billion of economic 14 output in our state. Over 30, 70 percent of the 15 City - - American's immigrate. Many are long tiem 16 hard working, tax paying resident who not have 17 eligible to vote. They are long time green card 18 holder, professionals here to extend visas simply 19 by citizen who have not registered. Half of the 20 people of some neighborhood are allowed to make 21 decision for the entire community. Our democratic 22 process is crisis. Immigrants pay more than $18.2 23 billion a year in New York City income tax. Is 24 they are not human like us? If they are they 25 should be treated like us also. As the Alliance

1
2 of South Asian American Labor, Women's Coordinator
3 I am - - to our government official that is about 4 human - - and all must all agree to Intro 410 B.
5 - - as an instrument building a better community,
6 better city, instead a nation. There is nothing 7 is either US or the - - Constitution that 8 prevents us from changing the law to allow 9 immigrants to vote. Thank you.

10 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Thank you, Mr.
11 Chin, definitely last but not least. So, 12 definitely not least.

13 MR. JACKSON CHIN: Well, certainly 14 the last speaker. I'm a little disappointed to 15 see that most of the Chamber is emptied now but I 16 do understand. My name's Jackson Chin and good 17 afternoon. I am very pleased to provide my 18 comments on behalf of my organization, Latino 19 Justice, which is a national non partisan civil 20 rights organization that has been based in this 21 city for the last 40 years. just a personal note, 22 I am a child of immigrants, low wage working 23 parents who sweated and sacrificed like so many of 24 our friends and families and neighbors that we see 25 here today. And I, based on 28 years of legal

1
2 experience as an immigration lawyer, as now a 3 civil rights and voting rights litigator I would 4 like to share some of my experience having 5 represented hundreds of immigrant clients in 6 Federal Courts as well as in the Immigration
7 Courts. I'm going to depart from my comments
8 because I feel like it would be repetitive and I'm 9 sure a lot of the good social policy and public 10 policy comments that I've provided in the written 11 testimony have been repeated earlier. I think 12 that universal suffrage is the trend as you've 13 heard. I think that also that there is great 14 suffering when there is no suffrage. There is 15 great suffering when there is no suffrage because 16 people live in fear when they feel that they don't 17 have a voice. I have represented victims of 18 crime, victims of domestic violence and now, 19 certainly, Latino's of various stripes from 20 various countries, including Puerto Ricans, who 21 are US citizens. They have no, many of them have 22 no voice and yet they are the backbone of our 23 labor force. This global city and it's the 24 comment made earlier. If we pass this legislation 25 other cities, other towns, will look to us as the

1
2 model of an advanced democracy that truly believes 3 that everyone should have a voice in their local 4 community, in the governance, in the choices that 5 are made on day to day bread and butter issues.

6 How should my schools be renovated or not? Where 7 does this money go? Why am I not getting certain 8 services? And these are the same type of issues 9 that every single one of us in this city, whether 10 you are a US citizen or not shares and has the 11 common goal of trying to find a solution to 12 address many of these day to day issues. I think 13 that as we know more than 20, 40 percent of our 14 city's population is born outside of the United 15 States and then the majority of our city's 16 residents, almost 60 percent are either immigrants
17 or the children of immigrants and I count myself 18 in that group. I'm sure many of you are also part 19 of that class. Latino Justice supports Intro
20 number 410 and I'm going to just depart and say 21 that [Spanish Language 2:49:16 - 2:49:36] which in 22 English means that we support this very important 23 initiative because it is a sound and rational one.
24 It is prescient. We want to restore some of the 25 experience that we've had with community board

1
2 elections where we allowed immigrant parents to 3 have some say on these community boards. And 4 unfortunately, for 30 years that went well and 5 then it was dismantled. We think that this bill 6 will more than promote civic engagement and reduce 7 marginalization in local governance and in our 8 neighborhoods. It will support inclusion and help 9 draw upon the vast knowledge, skills and 10 motivations of our city's residents. And then it 11 further promotes the quality of life of our New 12 York City through advancing these political and 13 non political processes which would engage and 14 contribute to the common good. Now, I want to 15 tell you a little bit of something about what 16 Latino Justice does. We, for the last 40 years 17 we've been engaged in landmark litigation, in the 18 advancement of defending the rights, civil rights 19 and constitutional rights of Latino's and we have 20 been involved with voting rights, redistricting 21 litigation, we use the constitution and Federal 22 laws to defend our clients, Latinos, in terms of 23 access to education, employment discrimination, 24 workplace justice, these are some of the very 25 things that we all may take for granted but we as

1
2 an organization deal with these issues day to day
3 on behalf of the Latino community. And oftentimes 4 we do things that end up benefitting the rest of 5 the city and that's what civil rights is. And 6 this is a very important civil rights piece of 7 legislation no matter how you look at it and as I
8 said before, there is suffering with out suffrage 9 and this is not just a dramatic appeal, I think 10 this is something that I see through my clients 11 eyes and I know it. I think you know it and 12 that's why I commend these two committees and the 13 Chair's and the various officials who've sponsored 14 this. I think the time is right. Now, speaking 15 about some of the other issues, before I do that, 16 Puerto Rican Legal Defense and Education Fund was 17 our previous name and so I think some of the other 18 generations will recognize that and our history 19 and our fantastic record. We now have in our 20 litigation agenda a companion case in the Federal 21 Courts, stop and frisk. This affects our 22 communities, the youth, men in our Latino
23 communities as well as others. We have litigation
24 on the State Senate plan and the redistricting 25 maps. We have a Latina's at work project which

1
2 deals with wage theft and also with workplace
3 rights and justice issues. And we also have a 4 numerous types of advocacy and other issues that 5 concern the community. So, I'm happy to have this 6 opportunity to speak about why we need fair and 7 equal treatment for all members of our society and 8 I think that when we have laws and policies which 9 deal with stop and frisk or police practices, for 10 example, or deal with how employers and employees 11 have to negotiate what is fair and many other day 12 to day things, economic justice, how we have used 13 resources, in fact, to build or not to build 14 affordable housing. I mean, these are the various 15 kinds of issues that all people in this city need 16 to be involved with and I think this bill allows 17 others with a significant majority of people who 18 are affected by our laws. So, the civil rights 19 agenda of our office is consistent with what this 20 bill is speaking to create and it is again, I say, 21 it's prescient, it is visionary, it is important 22 and there should be no way that we should retreat 23 from this very important bill. The advantage of 24 coming last, as I've been listening to some of the 25 questions you've raised with your earlier

1
2 panelists and I can perhaps offer some comments
3 and extemporariness because it's not in my 4 prepared remarks. As an immigration lawyer and as 5 an immigration lawyer as well as a litigator on 6 civil rights matters, we in 2005 sued the New York 7 State commissioner of motor vehicles because at 8 that point they were attempting to suspend 9 250,000, 300,000 drivers licenses because of 10 immigration status, et cetera. Now, as a result 11 of that litigation we have clarity. One of the 12 questions you asked is will our Board of Elections 13 be overwhelmed with these, you know, registration 14 matters and looking at documents and I think the, 15 one of the ways to understand it is that you can 16 piggyback on the screening and eligibility kind of 17 vetting that takes place at the DMV because the 18 DMV requires that you have proof of legal status.
19 And so that will cover quite a lot of these 20 various immigration categories that you're 21 concerned about and trying to understand and I do 22 understand there are some categories that are not 23 common, like, we've talked about green card
24 holders, that's the most basic, common knowledge 25 category of immigrants but there are many other

1
2 categories so people are going to worry about 3 well, what kind of documents do I present, how do 4 I know if these are real or not? The DMV can be 5 your ally in handling a good number of that. My 6 concern only is that, as you may know, with the 7 DMV they work on six point system, so you have to 8 have the necessary type of documents. So, it may, 9 in fact, leave out a certain portion of immigrant 10 residents who would normally qualify for this 11 eligibility to vote under your law. So, I can see 12 that there are a sector of immigrant statuses that 13 may get, you know, they may be unable to meet the 14 six points that are required by the DMV because 15 they don't have a credit card. They may not have 16 certain type of documents that the DMV would 17 require. Another issue comes up, my friend and 18 colleague Ms. Brandeis talks about the concern 19 that some people might vote in violation of the 20 law and therefore risk removal under the 21 immigration laws. And I can only say that the key 22 there is willfully violate the law. And if 23 someone is not willfully violating this law then 24 there should be no threat or risk of true 25 deportation on that front. But certainly if they

1
2 are not US citizens, which is not this 3 requirement, then they're not at risk in terms of 4 saying I'm a citizen when I'm not. So, I just 5 think the other concern that I feel like you've 6 raised is whether you have the legal authority to 7 enact this law and I would concur with my previous 8 colleagues in the earlier panel that you have, I
9 believe, under the home rule and other authority, 10 the right to determine membership in the political 11 communities of New York City. You can determine 12 that locally. I really believe that. And so, I 13 just kind of wanted to say that, you know, this 14 law will mitigate the fear of authority, the fear 15 of engagement. I think people would love to and 16 they already do in many ways, participate in civic 17 engagement but the most pressing and the most 18 fundamental feature of a democracy is their right 19 to vote, which is the one thing that we do not 20 have under the current laws for our immigrant 21 brethren, families and friends and neighbors that 22 we live with day to day. And this bill, Intro 23 410, will meet that gap. Thank you.

24 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Well, thank you
25 very much. And actually, it wound up very good

1
2 that you were our last speaker and it was quite 3 informative and I thank you. I thank all of the 4 panelists on the last panel as well. I will say 5 to the people who are remaining here in the room
6 that much work remains to be done and I'm sure 7 because of this hearing we can now hear a lot of 8 what the opponents to this type of legislation 9 will have to say and that's why I say that much 10 more work remains to be done. So, I look forward 11 to working with you as we move forward on this and 12 thank you all for coming.

13 MR. CHIN: Well, Chairman Dromm, if 14 I may just indulge you for one moment. I was not 15 aware before coming today that the Mayor's Office 16 and others are opposing this--

17 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: [interposing]
18 Neither was I.

19 MR. CHIN: --legislation. And I
20 want to make one further comment which is in my 21 testimony which I failed to acknowledge and which 22 is that this Mayor, Mayor Bloomberg, has indeed 23 said, proudly said that immigrants are the 24 lifeblood, quote, unquote, of this city and make 25 significant contributions to the city's economic

1
2 strength and cultural vitality. Moreover, this 3 Mayor has also observed, quote, yet immigrants are 4 generally under represented in this city's civic 5 fabric. So, I think it would be very consistent 6 for this Intro 410 to pass so that immigrants are 7 indeed part of the basic civic fabric of our city.

8 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: I mean, I
9 couldn't agree. I tried to be somewhat neutral in 10 the hearing today but I have to tell you, I don't 11 understand why anyone would oppose those who are 12 living in this community, in this city, you know, 13 our neighborhoods.

14 MR. CHIN: Mm-hmm.

15 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Or try to deny 16 anybody the right to participate in that 17 democracy. If you truly believe in democracy, all 18 right?

19 MR. CHIN: It's a very odd
20 situation, he's saying one thing and then--

21 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: [interposing]
22 Exactly.

23 MR. CHIN: --nothing, he's doing 24 something else.

25 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Exactly.

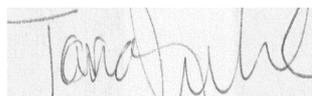

1
2 MR. CHIN: But thank you very much
3 for your persistence.

4 CHAIRPERSON DROMM: Thank you,
5 thank you. And I guess, with that, this meeting 6 is adjourned. Thank you.
