The Mayor of the City of New York, by written authorization dated May 24, 2019, a copy of which is annexed hereto at Exhibit B, has provided for the preparation of this Amended District Plan pursuant to authority granted by Local Law 96 of 1989 (the "Law") for the District.

II. DISTRICT PROFILE & PRESENT USES OF DISTRICT PROPERTY

A. DISTRICT PROFILE

Main Street and Roosevelt Avenue is a major transportation and retail hub in northeast Queens. It is one of the largest commercial and residential areas in northeast Queens in terms of retail per square footage as well as sales generated. Flushing is bordered on the west and north by Flushing Meadows Corona Park, Flushing Willets Point Corona LDC, Citi Field Stadium, and the Flushing River; to the east and south by Kissena Corridor Park. Stakeholders in the area are primarily residents who work in Flushing and the neighboring communities. Flushing also attracts numerous visitors from the greater metropolitan region and abroad due to the various Asian dining options and various commercial services available.

Today, Downtown Flushing serves as a vibrant commercial neighborhood to various minority communities throughout the City of New York and continues to be a substantial transportation hub for the region.

B. PRESENT USES OF DISTRICT PROPERTY

1. ZONING

The Flushing BID District is zoned from C-4-2 through C-4-4/5X; to the southwest as c2-6A with the residential perimeters to the south, east and north as R6 to R7-1 and the manufacturing perimeter to the west and north as M1-1 to M3-1

2. COMMERCIAL/RETAIL

Today, Downtown Flushing is a strong, dynamic community of small business operations and real estate properties with few vacancies. Buildings within the District are structurally sound, predominately low rise buildings used for various retail and commercial purposes. There are several mixed-use building complexes with shopping malls. Located in the area are international and national retailers such as Macy's, Modell's, Starbucks, Michael's, Uniqlo, Bed Bath Beyond, Target, Marshall's, Burger King and McDonald's and Hong Kong jewelers. There is a new growth industry of out-patient clinic support services for the many medical and dental practices in the area.

The District contains approximately over 2,000 small businesses including restaurants, food courts, supermarkets, green grocers, clothiers, jewelers, pharmacies, optical, personal care salons, and a miscellaneous variety of convenience and specialty stores. The retail business in the District is home to a variety of professional practices which includes banking, insurance brokerages, realtors, medical, dental, and secondary medical testing centers. There is also limited office space above and below sidewalk level storefront businesses.

Flushing Commons, a new mixed-use residential business office shopping parking complex replaced the five acre 1,000-space Municipal Parking Garage on 39th Avenue between Main Street and Union Street. Other mixed-use building complexes in Flushing are Skyview Parc, Queens Crossing, One Fulton Square, and One Flushing. Additionally, several hotels have been built in the area.

3. RESIDENTIAL

The District serves a predominately low to moderate- and middle-class-income population in central Flushing and Northeastern Queens. Approximately sixty percent of the housing units in the local area are homeowner occupied. The area also has a strong rental market. Although many of the dwelling units in the area are 30 years old or older, most buildings are structurally sound. There has been a growth of sub-leasing and sub-dividing of apartments due to the high rental demand and high rents.

4. GOVERNMENT and NOT-FOR-PROFIT

St. George (Episcopal) Church, a notable example of Gothic Revival design, built in 1853-1854, is a City landmark. There are several Protestant and Roman Catholic churches sharing space with Chinese and Korean congregations, a synagogue, Hindi temples, and a Mosque.

The Chinatown Planning Council and the Flushing Chinese Business Association are established not-for-profit institutions in the District. Since 2012, the Chinese Community Center of Flushing is another social welfare non-profit with afternoon hours at the Flushing Library.

Social and health care centers addressing a variety of domestic and family issues include the Charles B Wang Community Health Center, Selfhelp Benjamin Rosenthal and Nan Shan Senior Center.

The Flushing Community Campus is made up of six affordable senior residences including SelfHelp Benjamin Rosenthal-Prince Street Innovative Senior Center; its Virtual Services Center; and the Charles B. Wang Federally Qualified Health Center. The six residential buildings have 809 apartments.

Other government owned properties include a fire house, two small city owned parking lots and the Flushing Library, a major regional branch of the Queens Borough Public Library system. There is a Parks Department public park with a children's playground on the corner of Kissena Blvd and Maple Ave.

The Al Oerter Recreation Center and Flushing Meadows Corona Park Pool and Rink Complex is located off College Pt Boulevard and the Meridian Road.

The public schools in the District are P.S. 20 Q, 120 Q, 24 Q with enrollments in excess of 1,000 students from Pre-K to Grade 6, and P.S. 244 from Pre-K to Grade 3.

5. TRANSPORTATION

Downtown Flushing is a major transit hub and serves as one of New York City's leading transportation centers for northeastern Queens, with clients traveling to jobs or visiting the greater New York metropolitan region. The District is serviced by the #7 subway line, which runs from Roosevelt Avenue and Main Street in Flushing to 34th St and Hudson Yards in the west side of Manhattan. The Long Island Railroad Port Washington Line maintains a station on Main Street and 40th Road. There are also about 20 bus lines provided by the Metropolitan Transit Authority New York City Transit (NYCT), and 1 Long Island bus line provided by MTA Long Island Bus of Nassau County. Of these 21 bus lines, 15 originate in Flushing and bus routes includes a stop at LaGuardia Airport.

Private car/van service serving the public is available to major airports in the Greater Metropolitan Region. The District contains one municipal parking lot with 87 spaces along with several private parking lots.
