

and senior personnel positions; and

Whereas, Disparities within the senior ranks of the workforce inevitably lead to salary disparities, as well; and

Whereas, Eighty-five percent of all municipal employees earning over $85,000 a year are White; and

Whereas, Over the last decade, there has been virtually no improvement in the number of African-Americans in senior or executive positions; and

Whereas, During that same period, Whites improved their representation in the senior ranks from 70% to 79%; and

Whereas, The United States Department of Justice has opened an investigation of the hiring practices in at least one city agency; and

Whereas, There may be multiple reasons for hiring disparities, including overt racism, as well as societal and institutional factors; and

Whereas, It is incumbent upon any just government that it represent and address the needs of all members of society; and

Whereas, Exclusion of any group from governmental policy and decision-making undermines the democratic process; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the appropriate Committee of the Council of the City of New York hold hearings on the findings announced in the 2005 Report of Blacks In Government showing that minorities are underrepresented in management positions within the municipal workforce.

JP
Res 950/2005