

Legislation Details (With Text)

File #:	Res 2025-2013	Version:	*	Name:	Dept of Education to institute a moratorium on the opening of all new charter schools in NYC until the Dept of Education produces a detailed report of how the funding levels for charter schools will grow over the next 5 years.
Type:	Resolution	Status:			Filed
		In control:			Committee on Education
On agenda:	11/14/2013
Enactment date:		Enactment #:
Title:	Resolution calling upon the New York City Department of Education to institute a moratorium on the opening of all new charter schools in New York City until the Department of Education produces a detailed report of how the funding levels for charter schools will grow over the next five years.
Sponsors:	Stephen T. Levin, Gale A. Brewer, Margaret S. Chin, Inez E. Dickens, Lewis A. Fidler, Vincent J. Gentile, Letitia James, G. Oliver Koppell, Ruben Wills
Indexes:
Attachments:

Date	Ver.	Action By	Action	Result
11/14/2013	*	City Council	Introduced by Council
11/14/2013	*	City Council	Referred to Comm by Council
12/31/2013	*	City Council	Filed (End of Session)

Res. No. 2025

Resolution calling upon the New York City Department of Education to institute a moratorium on the opening of all new charter schools in New York City until the Department of Education produces a detailed report of how the funding levels for charter schools will grow over the next five years.

By Council Members Levin, Brewer, Chin, Dickens, Fidler, Gentile, James, Koppell and Wills

Whereas, At the close of the 2012-2013 school year there were 159 charter schools operating in New York City; and

Whereas, The number of charter schools will increase by 15 percent to 183 schools in Fiscal Year (FY) 2014; and

Whereas, In the City's Preliminary Budget, the Mayor proposed that expenditures for charter schools would grow by $70.9 million for FY14, to a total of $899.3 million; and

Whereas, The Mayor's Executive Budget, however, increased funding for charter schools by $210 million - an increase of 200 percent from the preliminary budget; and

Whereas, Spending on charter schools in the city will now exceed $1 billion in FY14; and

Whereas, Concerning the disparity between the January preliminary budget and the May Executive Budget, the City's Department of Education (DOE) officials have asserted that they did not know the full extent of charter schools that were phasing in at that earlier time frame; and

Whereas, Further, the DOE similarly underestimated charter school expenditure growth in FY13; and

Whereas, At the time, the City's Independent Budget Office (IBO) managed to make a more accurate projection; and

Whereas, In a March 2013 analysis, the IBO estimated that charter school payments would be significantly higher in FY14, totaling over $1.0 billion; and

Whereas, The June 2013 Adopted Budget for Fiscal Year 2014 includes funding for charter schools in the amount of $1.038 billion, an increase of more than 25 percent from the $828.4 million allocated in FY13; and

Whereas, A 25 percent increase in charter school funding in a single year, at a time when fiscal constraints threaten other programs that New York City residents depend on, is significant; and

Whereas, An increase of 200 percent from the City's Preliminary to Executive Budget shows that the cost to taxpayers in order to finance charter schools is only going to continue to increase; and

Whereas, Before continuing the current pace of opening charter schools with inaccurate projections of the total costs involved, the DOE should be required to provide a detailed report of how the funding levels for charter schools will grow over the next five years; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the New York City Department of Education to institute a moratorium on the opening of all new charter schools in New York City until the Department of Education produces a detailed report of how the funding levels for charter schools will grow over the next five years.

LS# 4878

JA

9/9/13